THE WAR.

The progress of the war in Europe up to the 8th, is summed up as follows:

The Russians have commenced the bombardment of the Turkish town of Widin from Kalafat, on the opposite banks of the Danube.

The Turks are bombarding Kalafat from Widin, and Roumanian batteries are returning the fire.

The Turks ceased cannonading Kalafat on account of the vigorous reply by the Roumanians.

A St. Petersburgh dispatch says the Russians have taken Kars and captured 17,000 prisoners.

A terrible battle took place at a place called Batoum, on Friday, the 11th. At 5 o'clock that morning the Russians, largely augmented, advanced with field artillery and made a furious attack on the hights defending Batoum, on the land occupied by the Bashi Bazourks. The Ottoman troops were entrenched and opened a terrible and well sustained fire of cannon and musketry which literally mowed the Russians down in swathes. They fell by scores and hundreds on the plain below the Turkish position. During their attempt to make way against this fire, a body of Turkish horse and foot, taking advantage of a thick forest, broke forth upon the flank of the Russian column and effected great slaughter, the Muscovites being upon ground perfectly open, and having no chance but to fight or fly. In a short time the spot which was the scene of this flank movement became covered with the dead and dying Russians. But the enemy quickly brought up reinforcements, and the battle was renewed with much determination for many hours. The efforts of the assailants were desperately maintained, but towards mid-day their artillery fire gradually slackened, and they at length withdrew after suffering considerable losses. An eye witness of this important engagement testified that the Ottoman soldiers behaved admirably. They had, however, during the great part of the action, the advantage of intrenchments and of high ground, and it is due to this fact, no doubt, that their losses, compared to the Russians, were insignificant. Their victory was won by the extraordinary courage of the Bashi Bazourks. The dead and wounded Russians exceed 4,000. The engagement lasted over eight hours of actual fighting. The last of the Russians did not withdraw until near midnight. The Russians lost many guns. The only Turkish officer of note killed was Khalim Bey, Major of the irregulars.

NEW MEXICO will again make application for admission into the Union at the next session of Congress. Arizona is agitating the same question, and if the emigration to that Territory keeps on as heavy as it has been lately, the chances are that she will have enough inhabitants to demand admission. The great argument againt New Mexico, and which prevented her admission at the same time with Colorado, was her people was known to lack the intelligence necessary for self-government. This claim cannot be truthfully made against Arizona, and that Territory will soon be applying for permission to make the 39th star on the American flag.

A Salt Lake special of the 10th says: In the Tabernacle, day before yesterday, the Prophet arose at an unexpected moment and broke forth in an address to the saints and sinners, which gave the latter to understand that if they wanted blood they could have plenty of it, and indeed they were likely to have more of it let out of their veins than they could spare, at an early period. Many discreet Gentiles are quietly arranging for the removal of their families at the first sign of an outbreak.

THE Turkish Naval force is now composed of two Imperial yachts, six ironclad frigates, nine ironclad corvettes, two ironclad monitors, four frigates, five ironclad gunboats, four ships-of-the-line, seven corvettes, fifteen coast guard vessels, five schooners, four cannon sloops and four nondescript vessels—in all 146, with 750 guns and 16,038 men.

THE Argonaut, which has been laboring to ascertain the intrinsic value of the average mining stock on the market, places it somewhere between the glimmer of a moonbeam in a quiet pool and the reflection of a dollar greenback in a looking-glass.

IN London the most pronounced friends of Turkey begin already to forebode an easy victory for the Russians.

PEOPLE VS. JOHN BUCKINGHAM.

Defendant, John Buckingham, was put on trial last Thursday for the murder of John Anderson, at the time and place set forth in the following synopsis of the evidence:

Nicholas Smith, sworn.—Never saw defendant but at the Lucky Jim mine, this county and State, on the 1st of last December. The last time I saw him was between 12 and 1 o'clock on a porch of a saloon at the Lucky Jim mine, about four miles from Darwin; was slightly acquainted with a man named Anderson; heard the men quarrelling at the time and place stated; didn't know what they were quarreling about; saw Buckingham catch the man (Anderson) by the collar and stick a knife into his heart at the same time; when I saw him draw the knife I felt bad all over, and turned my back and walked about ten paces; I got sorry and turned around; I saw the deceased on his knees on the ground and defendant plunged the knife into him again; I walked down about 30 feet where another man was standing and said it was a shame, so we both walked up; Buckingham, when we approached, went into the sleeping tent; I picked Anderson up by the head, and saw that he was dead. * * * I examined the wounds in the morning, there were three cuts—one on the right side, one in the left side of the breast, near the heart, and one in the neck.

[The cross-examination of the witness elicited nothing to weaken his first statement, and with this the prosecution closed.]

William Dolan sworn for the defense. I was present that night, being bar tender in the saloon; deceased and one Quinn came into the saloon and had a quarrel with the defendant; the first I knew of the quarrel Buckingham was playing cards at one table and Anderson at another; Buckingham came out of the back room to get a drink of water and Anderson followed him out and asked him if he said he, (Anderson) would have to leave the county; Buckingham said he did not say so; Anderson said, "You are a lying — — — —, and I can lick you, and can prove that you said so." Then Quinn came out of the room and said Buckingham did say so; Buckingham called him a lying — — — —, and they commenced to fight. They all made other remarks: Anderson said "now you've got him, give him the fall."

[Anderson continued to abuse Buckingham in language too obscene and abusive to repeat, much less to print.]

He continued the abuse for about three hours; he was continuing the abuse at this time and trying to get the defendant to fight; defendant told deceased he would fight him in the morning. I told them I was going to close and for them all to go out; they did so, and the final difficulty took place on the porch; I did not see it as the door was closed.

Patrick Kirby testified to about the same facts as regards the above, as the preceding witness, adding that deceased was a larger man than defendant.

James Findlay, foreman of the Lucky Jim mine, testified that he heard the quarreling in the saloon, and got up and went to see about it; saw Dolan, the barkeeper, ejecting Buckingham, and some one in the back end of the saloon holding Quinn; asked what the trouble was and deceased replied, pointing to defendant, "That — — — — says he is going to run me off the hill." Buckingham came to me and said, "Findlay, I have nothing against Anderson, and never said anything of the kind;" to which Anderson rejoined, "You are a lying — — — —, your mother is a — and you are a bastard, and Quinn has licked you for denying it and he will do it again, and I will lick the belly off you, you — — — — for it yet." I caught hold of Anderson and told him I would not allow him to talk that way and for him to go to bed; I told Buckingham to wash his face; he was all covered with blood; they both went off then as I supposed; I went home again and I suppose had been in bed about a quarter of an hour when a man came and told me a man was killed; I dressed myself and went to the saloon porch and found Anderson dead. Witness soon after arrested defendant, took him to town and delivered him over to Deputy Sheriff Pattie.

John Buckingham sworn in his own behalf.—Was standing in the saloon taking a drink of water; Anderson came up and asked me if I did not make the remark of running him off the hill, said that I did not make the remark and that he was a better man than I was; I told him that the man who told him that I said I was going to run him off the hill was a lying — — — —; told him that if he thought I had made the remark I would fight him in the morning.

[Here follows a repetition of the obscene and abusive language by Anderson before referred to, and given by other witnesses.]

The lights were blown out in the saloon and we started to go out when Anderson reached and got a tumbler and put it in his pocket; I sat down on the bench outside the door a crying; he commenced to call my mother names; I told him it was a shame to abuse a man like he had abused me; that I had never spoke to him before; if he thought I had made the remark of running him out of town I would fight him in the morning; he asked me if I did make the remark, and I told him no; he told me I was a — — liar; that I would fight; he got a hold of me by the coat collar; I told him to let go of me; he wouldn't let go; he was going to take the glass out of his pocket; knew he had a glass, for I saw him take it. I told Smith to take him off after I had cut him first; I stepped back a step or two on the porch and fell off backwards; Anderson tried to jump on top of me; I cut him again, when he jumped off the stoop and tried to jump on top of me, and was reaching out for me with his hands; I was on one knee and one foot when I cut him the last time in the neck; when I straightened up he fell; I made a cross cut; my impression or belief was that Anderson was going to kill me; I saw him take the tumbler.

[Other witnesses testified that they found no tumbler on or about the body.]

OUR MONO LETTER.

BENTON, Cal., May 15.

MESSRS. EDITORS—As 'tis agreeable to Rural Jake to occasionally drive a quill or "sling ink," as some say, he therefore thought a synopsis of matters and things in general, in and around Benton would be acceptable to the editors and read by the readers of THE INDEPENDENT.

PRESTO CHANGE.

A change in the administration of the Comanche Mill and Mining Co. took place last week. Mr. Weber, of San Francisco, took charge in place of John Howell, who resigned. Mr. Weber, we believe, is a practical man at both milling and mining, but he will have to be an extraordinary expert to exceed Mr. Howell in any or all branches of milling and mining. However, we hope Mr. Weber will prove himself equal to the emergency, and a profitable employé of the company, as the prosperity of Benton depends upon it.

MINING INTEREST.

The Comanche mill has shut down for two or three weeks while the main shaft in the mine is undergoing a thorough repairing, which requires time, talent, capital and labor, but when completed will be large enough to lower a train of cars through. The Diana mine is looking up with plenty ore in sight and a good supply on the dump. The Diana mill has just completed a very successful run; the mill has shut down for a short time awaiting the arrival of chemicals, which are indispensible in working rebellious ores. With a few more successful runs the Diana Co. will pay a small dividend. Prospecting is carried on in various parts of this vicinity. Hightower and Tregembo, at the Yellow Jacket, have struck water in their mine in sufficient quantity to compel them to quit work on the mine to get rid of the water. Bickman & Murer have struck a lead on the saw mill range at the head of the Yellow Jacket, which bids fair to reward the owners thereof for the seven or eight years of their life they have spent in prospecting.

POLITICAL OUTLOOK.

Of all the officers to be elected this Fall either in Mono or Inyo county, or both, the Assemblyman is of the greatest interest in this vicinity for various reasons: The people of Benton place considerable emphasis upon the question of re-establishing the old Mono and Inyo county line, dividing the two, and ultimately removing the county seat of Mono to Benton. Hence the interest they take in these parts are decidedly personal, and the candidate who will pledge himself to this enterprise or project, will receive almost the unanimous vote of the people of Benton, regardless of ticket, and the knotty problem of "Who can we elect?" is propounded on every corner. From present appearances the contest between the two parties are liable to be pretty evenly counted, as the Democratic candidate will be nominated from Inyo and the Republican candidate from Mono county according to previous rules and customs; last election the case was vice versa. But however knotty the problem, or whoever is nominated, it is deemed best in the opinion of "Rural" to cast his one horse influence in favor of the candidate who will work for the interest of the majority of his constituents.

PERSONAL.

Henry Jackson got judgment against Mrs. E. J. Moran last week in Justice Decker's court, for the sum of $100. Justice Decker commenced an action in Justice Cross' court for the sum of $100; the case was compromised. Last Sunday morning a man whose name we did not learn was arrested on charges of petit larceny, and rumor says that the District Attorney ordered the Constable to release him because of insufficient evidence, in his opinion, to convict the prisoner; such characters are traveling through the country in droves. Barristers Almond and Mitchell have taken a passear to Bridgeport on professional business. Dr. Fetterman, of Belleville, has located at Benton and sent for his family. The doctor is very much of a gentleman, and will no doubt prove himself as much of a physician as he is a gentleman. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan arrived a few days ago and are stopping at the Golden House. Training for the June races have commenced; Dusty Robert and a few other prominent turfers have arrived. Corn and wheat crops in Benton are looking rather backward; but it is more than an average year for dogs and Piutes. Old dog "Prince," well known to old Bentonites, passed over the valley of death about two months ago, and S. C. H. and old B. McM. are expected to follow him soon. Saloon keepers would do well to examine the Penal Code.

RURAL JACOB.

A LONDON correspondent says the army clothing factory at Pimlico is worked without intermission, and numerous shifts are being employed. It is the general conviction in military and naval official circles that England is on the brink of war. Arrangements have been made to embark 25,000 men within six days, if necessary, and 20,000 more within a fortnight.

FIFTY-FOUR horses shipped rom California to England have reached there in good condition, and their coming is believed to presage a large importation in the future.

ELEVEN hundred and fifteen Chinese passengers arrived in San Francisco on the steamship City of Tokio on Sunday, the 13th.

ALL SORTS.

Mexican border troubles have been the subject of discussion at a Cabinet meeting lately. It was agreed that organized cattle stealing and other depredations upon property in Texas, on American citizens must be effectually stopped, without further delay or inattention on the part of Mexican authorities. Correspondence with the Mexican government will be immediately reopened by the State Department, and unless proper steps be promptly taken by Mexico to prevent further incursions upon our Territory by bodies of her citizens, our military forces, under Gen. Ord, will probably be authorized to cross the Rio Grande to pursue and capture the marauders.

The Post Office Department has contracted with Clarence Van Tassell, of Dakota, for a mail service from Fort Pierre, on the Missouri river, to Deadwood, 180 miles, tri-weekly, until September 30, at the rate of $9,919 per annum. It is established in compliance with a general demand to give the people of the Black Hills country direct communication with Yankton.

The Archbishop of Quito was poisoned on Good Friday, at Panama, while saying mass, by means of strychnine introduced into the wine in the ceremony. There was great excitement and indignation over the sacrilege. The perpetrators have not yet been discovered.

Ex-President Grant, on his arrival in London, will have a special audience with Queen Victoria and be the guest of Disraeli and other eminent men. It is said that in deference to the high office he has filled, the Queen will pay him a visit.

It is rumored that Attorney-General Devens is to retire from the Cabinet and be sent to Constantinople, and that Secretary McCrary will succeed him, and McCrary will be succeeded by Senator Gordon as Secretary of War.

A special to the Union from Tuscon, Arizona, says: Indian agent Clum left Hot Springs, May 1, with 423 Indians for San Carlos. The military authorities of New Mexico and Clum agree that a complete removal has been made.

Only about half of the canneries on the Lower Columbia are in operation, owing to the light run of salmon. The warm weather will soon cause a rise in the river, when the fish will commence running in great numbers.

The financial earnings of the Central Pacific Railroad Company for the first four months of this year, amount to $4,734,600. This is an increase of $111,000 over the corresponding month of last year.

Pinney was arraigned in the Municipal Criminal Court on the 9th, on two charges of forgery, and pleaded not guilty, but reserved the privilege of interposing a demurrer before the following Saturday.

A dispatch to Gen. Sherman from Gen. Miles, dated at the latter's headquarters on Tongue river, says 300 hostile Indians surrendered on the 22d of April.

Activity still prevails in the British dock-yards. Several iron clads and nearly a dozen gunboats will be ready for sea in a short time.

Notwithstanding Turkey's action, Russia unhesitatingly permits Ottoman subjects to remain in Russia under British protection.

Of all the emigration from England during the past three month, 48 per cent. has gone to America and 35 to Australia.

A Texas stage-robber has been caught and has employed a lawyer, who was one of his latest victims, to defend him.

The Czar has apologized to the Roumanian ruler for entering his territory before the meeting of the Chambers.

The river Dnieper, Russia, has overflowed at Kremenchers. Twenty thousand inhabitants are homeless.

The steamer for China which sailed on the 16th, carried about $1,000,000 in fine silver.

The daughter of a Californian is to marry a French Count. He demanded $100,000.

Senator Sargent and Congressman Page deny in toto the charges made against them by Pinney.

At a recent meeting of American glass manufacturers, prices were advanced 5 per cent.

Admiral Popoff will take command of the Russian armament in the Black sea.

Senator Booth will deliver the oration on Memorial day at Sacramento.

Max Oberfelder is constructing gas works to light the town of Eureka.

The West Side Irrigation Scheme carried by a majority of about 250.

The latest quotation of silver in London was 54d.

Transvaal has been annexed to the British empire.

A TERRIBLE REVENGE.—A special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune of the 14th, from Streator, Illinois, says that the coal miners of that place who struck some time ago, and whose places were supplied with new men, and who subsequently were for the most part taken back, so that only about 100 of the new men were retained, have for a long time been kept separate from "the blacklegs," as the novices were called, lest trouble should occur from their jealousy. Of late, however, the two gangs have been allowed to mingle, and to-day the rankling hate found expression by some of the old miners poisoning the food in the dinner-buckets of the new ones, and to-night some 60 of these unfortunates are in the throes of agony, and many of them will undoubtedly die from the effect of the poison, and the lives of all hang upon a thread. Arsenic was the drug used, but in some cases was so plentifully administered as to counteract its own action. The whole matter is a mystery, and it is not even known when or how or in what article of food the dose was placed.

A CARD.

AS THERE HAS BEEN SO MUCH TO DO about that Graves' letter in trying to prove that it was Mrs. Martin's hand writing—there has been a good deal of swearing and comparing, but not one that has tried to prove it knew anything about it. She took her oath that she did not write it; but if the question had been asked who did, she would have explained it.

She commenced to write a letter, and she got it on it (blotted). She had to go to her work; Emma, our dear one that is gone to heaven set down and wrote every word of it, and then took it to Mr Graves. That is the truth concerning that letter.

Yours, respectfully, J. W. MARTIN

☞ Political announcements will be charged for at the rate of $10 each, with absolutely NO EXCEPTION to the rule of advance payment.

THE CENTRAL COMMITTEES. — Now that another political movement is approaching it is well to call the roll of the respective County Central Committees appointed at the election of 1875, and yet in commission. Democratic—P. Reddy, Chairman, H. M. Isaacs, Secretary. J. A. Lank, A. N. Bell, Joseph Schalten, C. H. Parsons, James Jones, J. L. Bourland, W. A. Baker, P. G. Gelcich, J. R. Hughes, John M. Murphy, S. P. Moffat and Charles Keppler. Republican—Nathan Rhine, Chairman; G. H. McCallum, Secretary. R. L. Peterson, T. F. Hanley, Joseph Hayes, J. M. McManus, Horace Bellows, W. R. Johnson, W. G. Russell, Jas. Shaw, Duncan Campbell, Sr., Paul Houard, R. Hilton and John Kispert. All the Democratic members, save one, (Murphy) are yet residents of the county. Of the Republicans, two if not three have gone elsewhere, among these Secretary McCallum, whose virtues will not soon be forgotten.

NOTICEABLE.—We had occasion to drop into the Court room for a brief period during the argument of the libel suit, in which two of our attorneys who have not hitherto had much opportunities to do much speech-making, delivered their arguments in a style and manner that constrains us to offer them a special word of congratulation for the oratorical and legal ability displayed. We refer to Judge Conklin and H. W. Woods. We did not hear the arguments of the latetr in defense of Buckingham, but are told it was a fine and quite an effective effort. The powers of the two old war horses, P. Reddy and R. M. Briggs were called forth on several occasions, but are too well recognized to need special reference, except to illustrate the remark that our Inyo bar can, we think, boast of a larger proportion of good speakers among its members than that of any other outside county in the State.

HELD TO ANSWER. — On Thursday night a purse containing some $80, was stolen from the counter drawer in the Aldine saloon. Suspicion fell upon Wm. Mason, who had put in a good portion of the night in a losing gambling game. On Thursday he was arrested and taken before Justice Schalten who, after a full hearing of the case, held him to answer before the next Grand Jury, his bail being fixed at $1,000, in default of which he now reposes in the county sweat-box. Mason is a young man of good address, and ought to have been above such an act as this, but it looks as though he is going to have a big job on his hands to prove that he didn't do it.

HUNG UP.—It is reported that the Surprise Mill and Mining Company of Panamint have stopped work in that place "for good." It was only a few days ago that it was reported as a matter of fact that prospects at the lowest depths attained in at least two of the mines, were encouraging in the highest degree. We have always entertained great hopes for a big outcome for Panamint, and will regret very much if this last report proves true.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS. — Mrs. A. Lowe, teacher of the Milton District school at the Post, has organized two Sunday schools there, one for Protestant, the other for Catholic children. The hours are from 10 to 11 for the first named and from 11 to 12 every Sunday for the latter. Both are quite well attended and Mrs. Lowe's effort in the interest of morality is generally highly appreciated.

MAN KILLED IN DARWIN. — Word comes that on Tuesday evening last, George Hirsch was shot and instantly killed in the streets of Darwin by some person as yet not identified. Hirsch has been a resident of this county for several years past, coming here from Pioche, where he distinguished himself as the first to kill a man in that town.

THE MINING SUIT.—As the District Court will adjourn for the term to-day or Monday at the latest, it is hardly probable the Union Con. Mining Co's' suit against the Tax Collector will be brought to issue this term. The issue involved is one of unusual interest in its bearings upon county finances.

FOR SALE.—The Coso Mining News, our Darwin contemporary, is offered for sale, on account of failing health of the proprietor. It is good property; pays as well as country newspapers ever do, and is a splendid opening for some good printer or editor man with some capital.

TAKEN BELOW.—Deputy Sheriff W. L. Moore left on Thursday with John Buckingham for San Quentin, where the latter, pursuant to sentence received the day before, is to sojourn for the next ten years, the shortest time allowed by law in such cases.

GONE EAST.—S. A. Densmore, one of our old time citizens, late of the Exchange Hotel, Darwin, some time since became quite seriously affected with paralysis. Despairing of relief here he, a short time since, departed for his old home in Maine.

FAREWELL PARTY.—Thursday night a fine social party came off at the Blaney House, being a sort of a farewell party to Mesdames Reddy and Rhine, on the eve of their departure for San Francisco.

ADMITTED TO CITIZENSHIP.—Jacques Dudac, a native of France, and Joseph Diaz, a native of Portugal, were admitted to citizenship in the District Court this term.

LODGE NIGHT.—Inyo Lodge No. 221, F. & A. M., holds a stated meeting on Saturday evening next.

Silva vs. Diaz. Continued for the term by consent.

PERSONAL.—Mrs. P. Reddy came up from Darwin last week on a visit to her home and home folks in this place. She only remained till Wednesday of this week when, on account of poor health, she started for San Francisco to seek medical advice..... Mrs. Rhine departed to rejoin her family in the city the same day. She desires us to express her great regrets to many friends for her inability to visit them, as she would have taken pleasure in doing so had time permitted.

A GOOD MAN GONE.—In the death of P. G. W. C. T. Jabez Walker, just announced, temperance and morality generally lose a friend and advocate without a peer in the State, for persistent zeal and unselfish devotion. It is not too much to say that he gave his life to those twin causes, and that his loss becomes nearer personal to many friends here as elsewhere, than would that of any other public man or comparative stranger.

WHAT CO. D LOSES.—Under the order to reduce the United States army 2,500 men, just promulgated, Co. D, at this Post, will lose four men. This order affects only artillery and infantry, their maximum hereafter to be 37. A cavalry company or troop consists of 100 men, the same as heretofore.

SENSIBLE.—Charles Johnson, of Lone Pine, went to the Centennial and fooled around through Michigan and Ohio awhile, and now, a day or two since he came back home with a young Mrs. C. J., all of which indicates that Charles takes the right view of things.

LIFE INSURANCE. — Parties holding policies in the Connecticut Mutual and Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Companies, or either of them, will please see what Mr. Rhine, under "New advertisements", requests them to do.

WEATHER. — It looks as if Winter was going to crush Summer out entirely. It has been cloudy, showery and cold for the season all week. Thursday night there was quite a heavy frost.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

Proceedings of May Term.

SATURDAY, May 12.

Present, Meysan and Curtis, Chairman.

County Auditors' and County Treasurers' quarterly reports, ending April 30, 1877, duly approved and accepted and ordered published one time in THE INYO INDEPENDENT.

S. P. Moffat, Esq., gave notice of intention to present motion to set aside the contract of this county with Mrs. M. Lewis for care of indigent sick, and requested the Board to fix time and place for hearing said motion, and issue a citation to said to Mrs. M. Lewis to appear and show cause why said contract should not be annulled and set aside.

In the matter of the application of J. F. Dillon, County Assessor, for permission from this Board to appoint one or more Deputy Assessors, permission granted.

After noon recess, the matter embraced in Mr. Moffat's notice in relation to the hospital contract, citation refused on the ground that this Board is not the proper party to try the issue, being a party to the contract.

Petition to rebuild Bend City bridge denied. Aye, Curtis; no, Meysan. Further consideration of said petition laid over to next meeting.

Ordered, that the County Auditor draw warrants on the Expense Fund and deliver same to County Treasurer, with which said Treasurer will pay witnesses' fees and incidental expenses of defendant connected with the tax suits of Union Con. Mining Co. vs. Thos. Passmore, Tax Collector.

The following bills were allowed and ordered paid: R. W. Woolard, rent for District Attorney's office, $44; D. B. Curtis, Supervisor, service and buggy hire, $58; Chas. Meysan, Supervisor, service, $48 40.

Adjourned for the term

MORE SHOOTING,—Just as the stage for this place was on the point of starting from Darwin Thursday morning, some men came into that place bringing a man who had been shot the evening before at the Minnietta mine. All that could be learned about the matter was that a miner and some one engaged about the company's cook house had quarreled about some bread the latter had put up for the miners' lunch, and to which he took exceptions, saying it was the same he had had the day before. The upshot was numerous shots, both parties taking a hand and both receiving wounds, the one brought into town having been shot three times. We have no names or further particulars.

THE GREEN MONSTER.—During the week Mr. James M. Kane, a mining man of note, was here examining the famous Green Monster mine across the river. He pronounces it an immense property, one destined to create a stir in the land at no distant day. Out of some 300 assays made from the vast body of ore, we quote the results of the highest and lowest: Silver, $32, gold, $19 per ton, and 66 per cent. copper; silver, $17, and 38 per cent. copper, with a trace of gold.

A COMMUNICATION from Mrs. Luna Hutchison, together with considerable other matter, is unavoidably crowded out this issue, but will appear next week.

W. T. GRANT is here, and vigorously denies the soft imputation of being a professional chicken thief—but then he always could lie.

THE Democratic County Central Committee is billed for a meeting next Monday night.

CARRIERS OF BULLION, GOLD DUST, ETC.—The Idaho Avalanche reports that in the case of the People vs. Wells, Fargo & Co., submitted upon an agreed state of facts, by F. E. Ensign, attorney for the plaintiffs, and Huston & Gray for the defendants, Judge Hollister has decided that the act of the Legislature, passed January 12, 1877, requiring all carriers of gold dust, bullion, and gold and silver coin to take out licenses for the transportation of these articles, is repugnant to that part of the Constitution of the United States which provides that "Congress shall have power to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several States and with the Indian tribes," and is void in so far as it affects the carriage of these commodities from parts outside of the Territory into it, or through it, and from the Territory beyond its boundaries, as it operates in effect as a tax upon interstate commerce. As the regulation of such commerce belongs exclusively to Congress, neither States nor Territories can impose any tax upon it in the shape of licenses or direct impost upon the articles transported, or in any case to cast burdens upon the transportations within the limits prescribed. His opinion has been placed on file with the Clerk of the District Court of Ada county, and can be examined by anyone interested in the question.

A BILL has passed the Illinois Legislature authorizing railroad conductors to stop trains and put off everybody playing cards for money or using obscene language.

THE feeling of the Administration is that our citizens must be protected from the Mexican border outrages, if not by the Mexican Goverment, then by our own.

PARTIES in the City of Mexico are pressing the concession of a railroad from Sonora to Arizona.

THOS. CHAMPION, a miner working in the south drift of the Belcher 1,600-foot level, fainted Sunday night on account of the excessive heat. He was taken to the 850-foot level and a physician was called. It took some time to bring him around sufficiently to admit of his being brought to the surface. The drift in which Champion is working is so hot that few men can be found who are able to endure it.—Virginia Enterprise, May 1.

PROPOSITION FOR A TELEGRAPH.

A correspondence is in progress between leading man of Mojave and Darwin, and Mr. R. R. Haines, Superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company, relative to the building of a telegraph line connecting these two places. The new wire which Mr. Haines is now engaged in putting up southward along the line of the Southern Pacific Railroad will soon be completed to Mojave, and no better time could have been selected for approaching the Telegraph Company. We understand that a proposition has been made by Mr Haines to string a wire as described, if the citizens will subscribe one-third of the amount expended in the work of construction. The cost will not exceed $14,000 and the requisite subscription will probably be immediately forthcoming. We are not quite clear as to what consideration the Company will render subscribers, and the citizens themselves do not appear to have any definite idea. A letter from Max Cohn, of Mojave, says: "Each subscriber can telegraph over the line, to any point, for three years, free, after which the company will derive the benefit of the line." But this, without some sort of pro rata, would discriminate in favor to the most limited contributors of the enterprise. The matter will be adjusted on the basis of subscribers agreeing to expend the amount of their subscription for telegraphing, receiving a rebate of from 20 to 40 per cent. from the regular rates of transmission. We hope our neighbors in Inyo county will conclude to avail themselves of this requisite prelude to prosperity.—L. A. Express, May 9.

AN ELECTRIC BIT.—The French papers describe an invention for driving a horse by electricity. The coachman is to have under his seat an electro-magnetic apparatus, which he works by a little handle. One wire is carried through the rein to the bit and carried to the crupper, so that a current once set up goes the entire length of the animal along the spine. A sudden shock will, we are gravely assured, stop the most violent runaway or the most obstinate jibber. The creature, however strong and vicious, is transformed into a sort of inoffensive horse of wood, with the feet firmly nailed to the ground." Curiously enough the opposite effect may be produced by a succession of small shocks. Uunder the influence of these the veriest "scrub" can be endowed with a vigor and fire indescribable, and even the Rosinante of Don Quixote would gallop like a Derby winner.

PRINCE BISMARCK, speaking recently of the Russians, said: "The Russians are very amiable; they are gifted with wit, imagination, pleasing manners, social talents." To which a great English writer says: "All that and much more may be truly said in praise of the Russians' abilities. But these are, nevertheless, of small practical value, because they are rarely associated with those moral qualities that mark the man and the gentleman—with dignity, earnestness, veracity, fidelity, assiduity, self-control, lofty aims and moral courage. The recklessness and blind fatalism, the childish pretension and freakish willfulness, common among all classes in Russia, cannot be imagined by Europeans.

A SPECTER haunts a considerable portion of the men engaged in Britsh commerce in the form of the danger of spontaneous combustion of coal in ships, consequent upon a lack of proper ventilation. The number of coal-laden vessels which are missing is becoming very great. The worst of it is that the ships blow up at sea and founder, and no one is left to tell the sad tale. There is a chance for another Plimsoll in England to stop the massacre of sailors and destruction of property through the improper handling of coal. There is already some agitation about it.

SUN BUNNITS.—A woman from the country walked into a Main street dry-goods store to-day, and pointing her finger at a latest style, full-length, double back-action bustle, asked the storekeeper how he sold "them sun-bunnits." When the nature of the article was explained to her she exclaimed, "Well, I never! I s'pose the next thing the women of this country will be having inj'y-rubber brains." —Austin Reveille.

ELDER EVANS, a Shaker, says: For the past ten years we have treated felons with hot water and with unerring success. No cutting, no blistering, no anything bnt immersing the finger, hand or even the whole arm, if necessary, in water as hot as can be borne, until the pain is gone and the core is loosened and drawn from the bone. When rusty nails have produced wounds pursue the same course—keep in hot water.

THE new jury law of Florida provides that when in any case, civil or criminal, a knowledge of reading, writing and arithmetic is necessary to enable a juror to understand the evidence to be offered, he may be challenged if he does not possess such qualifications.

NEWSPAPER men are requested to send in their five-twenties to the Treasury, they having been "called in." It is hoped that the call will be heeded, as the government is forced to rely upon our profession in this hour of financial peril.

SHARON is said to own one-third of the Spring Valley Water Company, which is now trying to sell out to the city of San Francisco for $16,000,000.

A SERIOUS outbreak of cholera has occurred in Akyob, Bengal. Twenty-five per cent. of the European people died in thirty hours.

THE Kern County Democrats want the Senatorial Convention to be held at Bakersfield, that being the most central point in the District. We agree with the Kern Democrats; Bakersfield is the place for the Senatorial and Fresno the proper point to hold the Judicial convention.—Fresno Expositor.

The New Paper-Making Material.

There is considerable probability that the recent discoveries connected with the tree popularly known as the Desert Palm will enure greatly to the industrial wealth of California. The scientific name of the tree, whose fibres show a peculiar adaptability for paper-making, is the yucca dragonis. The existence of the tree has long been known to teamsters crossing the Mojave Desert bordering on the counties of Los Angeles and San Bernardino. They had noticed the peculiar toughness of the fibre, but never dreamed that it could be put to any practical use. The discoveries of its wonderful properties for paper-making was reserved to Judge George B. Walker. For nearly five years he was experimentfng with it, but the isolated place in which the yucca dragonis was found growing in abundance, prevented him from introducing the material to the attention of capitalists.

The construction of the Southern Pacific railroad has afforded the opportunity to Judge Walker to make known his discovery. The road passes through the Mojave desert, where, for something like 40,000 to 50,000 square miles, there is little vegetation except this desert palm. The tree grows to the hight of about twenty feet, and frequently possesses a diameter of fifteen or eighteen inches. There is little fear of the supply becoming exhausted for a generation, even though this California product should supply paper-making material for the whole United States. And the trees have the same properties which characterize the cedars and pines of the mountains. When one is cut down there will spring up around the stump a host of smaller trees.

All the tree except the bark and leaves are available for paper-making. The fibre bleaches very easily, and what is very desirable in paper-making substance, it felts well and cooks well, as the phrases are. From the fact that this desert where it is so prolific is mainly alkaline, the fibre contains no resinous substance, and therefore turns out a clear quality of paper. Some specimens manufactured at the Lick Mill, near San Jose, have been brought to this office for inspection. The white paper appears suited for newspaper purposes, and the browner descriptions are equal to any wrapping paper we have seen. Mr. Walker has erected a mill in the Soledad cañyon, six miles from the entrance to the desert, and having enlisted capital in his enterprise, proposes to manufacture paper with the process properly secured by letters patent. W. S. Flick, a gentleman well-know in San Francisco, has connected himself with Judge Walker in this business.

This class of vegetation is not an entire new thing in paper-making. The proprietor of Lloyd's, a penny paper published in London, with a circulation running up into the hundreds of thousands, has a plantation and paper mill in Algeria, where a similar tree flourishes. Mr. Walker is confident that a superior class of writing paper can be made from the yucca dragonis on account of the facile manner in which it receives the clay necessary to produce a smooth finish. The pulp from this fibre has been tested in Philadelphia with results quite as satisfactory as attended the experiments at the Lick Mill. The promise is, therefore, that an important industry will be developed, and that thousands of acres in the Mojave desert heretofore conceived to be useless, will have considerable value. It is also probable that the fibre can be turned to account for other purposes. Its felting qualities which render it valuable for paper-making, are equally important in the manufacture of rope and such like fabrics.

Assessing Growing Crops.

The system of putting a prospective value on property, or assessing growing crops, has always worked more or less hardships, but when farmers have good crops they are not inclined to object. But the present season has given ample proof, if any were needed, of the inconsistency and injustice of such a system of taxation. How the rich cattle lords would writhe and conduct themselves should the Assessor insist on putting a prospective value on their calves and bullocks. Two-year-old steers, according to the same interpretation under which the farmers' young wheat is taxed, would be rated as three-year-olds, calves would be called yearlings, and every cow would be charged with her calf, whether she had one at the time of the Assessor's visit or not. The comparison is a good one. There is as much justice in taxing embryo calves as embryo wheat. Where are the farmers who have been assessed at $6 an acre for growing crops, whose fields are not to-day as bare as a desert? Three dollars an acre is in many cases more than the gross product of the land will be this season. Is it any wonder that the poor are growing poorer and the rich richer every year? It it any wonder that a class of landed aristocrats are taking the place of the toiling sovereigns of the soil? Is it any wonder that the small farms are plastered over so thickly with mortgages that they can never be redeemed?

It seems the utmost folly for the farmers to sit down quietly and uncomplainingly submit to these things. They have an organization in this State that if used to right a great wrong, would overthrow this villainous system. But it seems there is no unison when it comes to matters which conflict with political arrangements. If the farmers of this State would rise up en masse and declare against such oppression, who doubts their terms would be acceded to? The small farms are the making of a country. It is not the thousand-acre tracts of unimproved cattle ranges and sheep walks that build school-houses, and roads, and churches, and supply the oil to keep down the friction of the Government machine. It is the small, well tilled farms, the little orchards and vineyards, the gardens and berry patches that pay the taxes, and it is suicidal policy that imposes undue burdens upon them. — S. F. Chronicle.

IF we die to-day, the sun will shine as brightly and the birds sing as sweetly to-morrow. Business will not be suspended a moment, and the great mass will not bestow a thought upon our memories. "Is he dead?" will be the solemn inquiry of a few, as they pass to their work. But no one will miss us except our immediate connections, and in a short time they will forget and laugh as merrily as when we sat beside them. Thus shall we all, now active in life, pass away. Our children crowd close behind us and they will soon be gone. In a few years not a living being can say, "I remember him." We lived in another age and did business with those who now slumber in the tomb. Thus is life! How rapidly it passes!

THE great gold mine of Los Cristales at Cauquenes, in Chili, which has been lost for forty years, has been found by three Englishmen. It was abandoned at a time when the Chilians were shooting each other and trying to overturn the Government. It then filled up with water, and an avalanche slid into and over it, and confounded all the geographers for forty years in regard to its whereabouts. Now that it has been found, it will be worked again by English capital.

A MAN bought a gallon of gin to take home, and, by the way of a label, wrote his name upon a card, which happened to be the seven of clubs and tied it to the handle. A friend coming along and observing the jug, quietly remarked, "That's an awiul careless way to leave that liquor!" "Why?" said Tom. "Because some one might come along with the eight of clubs and take it."

AFTER a christening at church, while the minister was making out a certificate, he happened to say, "Let me see, this is the 30th." "Thirtieth!" exclaimed the indignant mother; "indeed, it is only the 11th!" The minister was alluding to the day of the month—the lady to the family statistics.

ONE evening at the opera, in Dublin, a gentleman sarcastically asked a man standing up in front of him if he was aware that he was opaque. The other denied the allegation and defied the alligator, and said he was O'Brien.

A NEW HAMPSHIRE man having spoken disrespectfully of a venerable Sucker as an "Illinoyster," the latter retorts by calling his defamer a "New Hampshyster."

THE secret of running a boarding-house profitably is to find out just what your boarders don't like, and then feed them lots of it.

WHEN a man wants to learn Chinese, to hit the right accent he must hear a school girl trying to chew jujube paste.

AN Irish lover remarks: "It's a very great pleasure to be alone, especially when your sweet heart is wid ye."

CHAMBERLAIN signed himself Gov. up to the last, and then Gov. it up.

A MORE dastardly act than that which is announced as having been committed by miners in Illinois has not shocked the public for a long time. That there should be enmity between strikers and those who fill their place at reduced wages, is not strange; but when most of the willing workers are displaced to make room for those who voluntarily left their work, the enmity should have at least partially subsided. That the poison was placed in the food with the knowledge and by the consent of the great body of the old miners, we cannot believe; for it would be hard to find a collection of several hundred men who would wilfully attempt to murder sixty of their neighbors and associates. But whoever the originators of and participators in the dreadful plot, if loss of life follow, but one sentiment can exist in the mind of every man who values security of life—they must expiate their crime speedily. For inhuman coolness and devilness of purpose it rivals anything that has ever resulted from mining troubles. The crime will probably be traced to its perpetrators, for so large a quantity of arsenic could scarcely have been procured without attracting the notice of the druggist from whom it was purchased, whether at home or abroad.

PRETENTIOUS MEN.—We never met a pretentious man who really amounted to anything. Pretentiousness is ever a sign of vulgarity and emptiness, as modesty is of refinement and culture. The would-be big man in some little mushroon village or city, to escape being utterly ignored by his contemporaries, must make up by blustering and pretence what he lacks in genuine worth and nobility. As is the measure of the lack, so will be that of the bluster, and nobody will be deceived. All great men are modest. Our poets, our artists, our thinkers, our writers, in proportion as they reach higher and higher intellectual stature, grow simpler in manner, think less and less of self and more of their possible attainment in it. All great agencies are silent—sleep, death, light, thought, than which nothing is more potent. They who are living, vital sympathy with what is real and genuine, who drink from the sources of power, show more by deeds than by words of what they are made. The man who strives to become great by words only, is a sham.

A COUPLE of singular cases of the explosion of giant powder caps by the electricity of the human body are recorded by the Sutro Independent as having occurred in the Sutro Tunnel. By careful experiments Mr. Sutro has demonstrated beyond a doubt that these accidents by which two men were severely injured, arose from no other cause than the accumulation of animal electricity in the human body, and its conveyance by handling to the exploders. Precautions have been adopted since this discovery to obviate as far as possible the recurrence of such accidents, such as placing an iron floor in the exploder-room, and always interposing india rubber or some similar non-conductor when handling the dangerous little things, but there can be no doubt but that the natural electricity, especially in air or rarified atmosphere, accounts for many an apparently unaccountable accident with these exploders.—S. F. Stock Report.

SHE was sweetly dreaming of bright golden fields where flowers breathed perfume, and she thought she was chasing butterflies. Up and down hill and dale she ran, and then she caught a beautiful red-winged butterfly, and awoke to find she had nearly twisted her husband's nose off.

THE WAR.

It is only in times of some heathen war in Europe or Asia that we are for the time being reconciled to the lack of telegraphic communication with the out side world. Tranquil peace and a calm sense of delightful immunity pervades the office, from editor to devil, when there is no danger of having to wrestle with telegraphic garblings about Oltenitza, Soogoom Kaleh, Giurgevo, Sinnitza, Karakalissa, Bougdjardjar, Skuptchina Nikoprolis, Krajova, etc., etc., not taking into the count the jaw-breaking nomenclature of the rulers, generals, priests and chansellors. On both sides the banners indicating a religious war have been raised—which in effect means that for religions sake either one side or the other is to be totally destroyed. Two or three columns of war news daily, of this class, is too much to digest and compile from and we don't want to digest yet.

MASONIC REVIEW.—The April number of this sterling magazine, now in its 50th Volume, and the oldest Masonic Periodical in the world, contains an article by Rev. L. F. Van Cleve, Prelate of the Grand Commandery, on the Masonic Learner; a story of persecution of an old Mason, John Coustos, for opinion's sake, in the early part of the last century; a valuable article on the study of Masonic history, by W. W. Morgan, an English writer; two editorials; one on the lamented fate of George Frank Gouley, the Grand Secretary of Missouri, who lost his life in the Southern Hotel fire; the other on Love and Masonry, where a man's Masonry, off in far Java, prevented his getting a wife. A large budget of Masonic intelligence from this country and all parts of the world makes the Review an excellent mirror of Masonry, keeping its readers well posted in Masonic affairs in all parts of the globe. Thos. J. Melish, Editor; Wrightson & Co., Publishers; $2 a year.

MEXICAN ANNEXATION SCHEME.—Private advices received at New Orleans by last steamer, report a strong party forming in Mexico relative to American protection and intervention. The present condition of affairs is represented as very unsettled, and leading land owners from the Northern Mexican States are largely in favor of annexation. It is proposed that the United States take the five Northern States and assume the payment of the Mexican bonded debt, which is largely held in this country, and upon which no interest has been paid for several years.

THE Winchester Company has for five years been furnishing the Turkish Government with arms at the rate of five cargoes per year until within the last six months, since which time the shipments have been much larger. The firm of Remington & Co. are filling contracts for the Russians, and the Colts Manufacturing Company have lately shipped over 200,000 of their patent revolvers to the same power. Evidently the war in Europe is a Bonanza to the manufacturers of war material in America.

THE proclamation of a religion war of faith on the part of the Crescent will arouse the ferocity of fanatacism in all Mohammedan countries, and bring to the ranks of Turkey's armies hordes of enthusiasts, ready to sacrifice themselves on the altar of their religion. The Czar of Russia was the first to declare a religious war, and Turkey has accepted the gage he threw down. This phase would seem to make English intervention impossible, even in support of her established policyin the Eastern question.

THE GRAND JURY of Story county Nevada, have been unearthing some ugly things in official circles. They say there was a swindle of many thousand dollars in the new court-house; the hospital has been paying three prices for provisions, and the city government is full of rings and jobs from one end to the other.

THE Enterprise says that during the past three months no less than thirty-five mines on the Comstock have shut down altogether. Of those still working, some are not employing more than four or five men.

NEITHER General Sherman nor the War Department have any advices of steps being taken by the Mormons for an uprising, and such reports are discredited.

THE Russian fleet at San Francisco has sailed under sealed orders, but its destination is understood to be the Persian Gulf.

LAW IN INYO.

An important question is to a considerable extent occupying the minds of our citizens. Cannot the people secure some one in the District Attorney's office whose legal talent and ability will be adequate to cope with the smart lawyers arrayed for the defense of a criminal, and with the attorneys employed by private parties, in actions where the common treasury is menaced? It would seem not. Of course there is but one answer to the proposition, so long as the salary paid such officer is so low that no fully competent man can afford to take it. It remains to be ascertained to what extent this small county can go in the way of paying such salary; but we believe it can be demonstrated that in the last ten years the county treasury has suffered to the amount of $50,000, just through the dead loss of having costly legal proceedings quashed for irregularities, Grand Juries thrown out, etc., saying nothing of about $5,000 in fees paid to special counsel.

The only way to lessen the number of costly criminal proceedings is to make the people's prosecution so vigorous and unerring that after while crime will become odious.

Within the memory of all, out of eighteen homicides, but six of the perpetrators reached the point of actual trial. In two cases the murderers were not discovered; in six or eight, the committing magistrates took the responsibility of refusing to hold over the accused for examination by Grand Jury, and in one—Norton's—it never appeared exactly why his discharge from custody came about. Of the whole Welch alone received sentence of death for murder in the first degree, and then escaped. Payne and Ashim were cleared; the cases of Boyd and Buckingham are too recent and familar to need recalling.

It is not possible to hold contrary to the fact that some homicides are perfectly justifiable, legally and morally; but suppose that through all these costly and generally futile prosecutions the county of Inyo had had Mr. Reddy, for instance, on the side of the people instead of for the defense as usual, in place of the line of District Attorneys which the people have had. Where conviction could have been had at all it would have certainly followed.

If the thing could be brought about at all, that plan would be well worth trying. No matter at what cost. If the political Conventions which meet in July should pledge their Legislative nominees to procure an amendment to the salary bill giving that official $5,000 a year, perhaps Mr. Reddy would consent to take the nomination.

Let the plan be well considered, and ascertain if it is possible to get an action upon it. We believe it would save the county $10,000 per annum.

Will Mr. Reddy tell the public, through THE INDEPENDENT, what he thinks about it?

A PARISIAN manufacturer has received an order from Turkey for a large number of white shirts upon which extracts from the Koran are to be printed in sky-blue letters. Upon a number of white woolen undershirts is to be stamped the signature of Mohammed. The articles are intended for distribution to Turkish soldiers when upon especially dangerous duty, to stimulate their courage, under the impression that they are tailsmans.

THE Attorney-General of New York has returned Tweed's papers and declines to release him, claiming that the information thus far given by the Boss cannot be used in the prosecution against the old ring thieves.

THE Carr-Pinney investigation is going on at San Francisco and amounts to little more than a tilt of assertions and contradictions. The case is reduced largely to a question of the relative veracity of the contestants.

THE Emperor William, since his return from Alsace, has received the French Embassador and commissioned him to forward a message to President MacMahon expressive of his good wishes for France.

THE Baron Rothschild, who is at the head of the Vienna firm, is said by the papers of that city to possess the trifling annual income of $30,000,000. This is the small sum of $75,000 a day.

THE eruption of Vesuvius is slowly increasing. Subterranean rumblings are heard, and during the night the fire lights up the dense volumes of smoke which issue from the crater.

THE green three-cent postage stamp is to give way, some day this month, to one with more white upon it, which cannot be so easily washed and set afloat a second time.

THE Illinois Senate recently passed House bill making silver coin a legal tender for all debts in the State, public or private.

Two new suits have been brought against Trenor W. Park in connection with the Emma mine.

WANTS SOMETHING.

Josiah must be in need of a small raise again, when he applies to the settlers about Camp Independence for the customary sum of $50 each to enable him to procure an act of Congress authorizing setlers to file upon and get a patent to the lands which they have so long held in peace by actual possession. Josiah is of course interested himself to the extent of his own claim, and may have an unseen filing upon or prior right to the water now so evenly divided between the citizens and soldiers, or might possibly be figuring on the McLaughlin school land claim; nevertheless, the sum of $50 must be had from each settler; in his opinion the effort will be worth chancing that much, anyhow. We know of a man who used up in traveling and incidental expenses about $150 on an equitable and reasonable proposition in the same matter, who never asked the settlers for a cent. Because it didn't exactly suit Josiah's plans for hogging the water, etc., he claims that his Congressional friend Houghton quashed it; but the fact is that the United States War Department, through reports to both Congressional Committees on Public Lands squelched both the bill of Houghton and that of the gentleman referred to, and the same powers will do the same thing again, notwithstanding Josiah says that Sargent, Booth and Wigginton will advocate a relief for the settlers.

But Josiah says there is another reason why the people interested should move in the matter, and that is that Major Egbert and Dr. C. B. White, former officers at the Fort, have soldiers' scrip ready to lay on the land just so soon as the Post is abandoned, and that unless the grangers get the right to pre-empt and homestead before such abandonment, said gentlemen will do so and swindle the settlers out of their homes. All of this happens to be absolutely false. No men worked harder for the relief of the settlers than did Egbert and White; but so long as the post was maintained they did not want the Government to legislate away all its right to what water there was and is now flowing in the north branch of Oak Creek. The Major and Doctor are men of reputation and impulses so pure that Josiah couldn't live in the same country. Even were these facts otherwise, THE LAW gives actual settlers the preferred right to obtain a patent for the period of thirty days—no matter how many attempts to steal that there might be.

We are afraid that Josiah's plan is too thin, and we know that the interested citizens did well when at the meeting last week they did not decide to be taken in and done for. Further, it will be found to be by far the best plan to let alone, for a time, these speculations upon getting any better titles than they now have; and fully as well not to do anything looking toward a removal of the Post.

DEBTOR LAWS.—There should be a modification or amendment of the attachment laws of this State.—Los Angeles Herald.

A far better plan would be to abolish all laws for the collection of debts except debts due for wages and on written contracts. There would then be a curtailment and much needed improvement in the credit system which would result in improved business relations, and generally less hazardous and expensive methods of transacting business.—Sacramento Bee.

Then the social salutation of the Webfooter must be, "Will you exercise your license?"

THE reported invasion of Mexico by filibusters will, it is said, be effected under the guise of an emigration movement.

VIRGINIA CITY FIRE DEPARTMENT.—Monumental Fire Company, No. 6, has as yet taken no steps looking to disbandment, and persists in turning out to fires as of yore. Prior to the organization of the Paid Department the Monumental Company had three reels, containing 300, 500 and 800 feet of hose respectively. It had, besides, one hand and one steam engine. The two small reels belong to the city, but they are left in the Monumental engine-house; and whenever a fire alarm is given the Monumental boys turn out. The company was organized in 1864. It now has fifty-eight active, and about twenty honorary, members on its roll. Its steam engine is reckoned the best in the State, if not on the Coast. It cost $7,000. The offer of the Monumental Company to remain in the new Fire Department, if the city would pay them $200 per month, has been accepted.—Pacific Life.

A ROCHESTER man proposes that a ship railroad be built across the Isthmus of Panama. He claims that it can be done at one-tenth of the cost of a canal, and in two years' time; and that the largest vessels can be drawn across in half a day with perfect safety. They would be carried in a tank, the road running down into a lock at each end of the route.

"COME TO JESUS."

COMMUNICATED.

MESSRS. EDITORS—Having recently been made the recipient of a small tract headed with the above kind invitation, and having no other way to thank the unknown friend for the interest thus manifested in my salvation, I wish to make a brief reply. I have not waited half a century to accept this invitation so urgently set forth by preachers of the gospel; for I went in my youth, knelt at the foot of the cross, and begged for mercy and the remission of my sins. I was not satisfied with conversion alone, but, after being received into the church I strove also for justification and sanctification, and finally I believed I had attained them. The effect was to make me feel as if holier than others not so sanctified, and I would often reprove those much older and wiser than myself for saying and doing things which I had been taught were sins, which really were only innocent amusement or healthy recreation. I did not know then that sin or wrong was alone committed by violating either the physical, organic, mental or moral laws of life, and that each had their appropriate penalties which had to be paid down by the transgressor, and not by another innocent person, much less the reputed son of God. This truth I was long and painful years in learning; or rather unlearning the teachings that had perverted my reason by belief in the justice (?) of God in sacrificing his son that he might be propitiated and reconciled to man. I do not now attend church from principle, since the Omnipotent and Omnicient being of the whole Universe is to me quite a different character than the Bible God, the conception of the ignorant, barbaric, nomadic, warlike Jewish tribes of Egypt and Palestine, 3,000 years ago. Crude religious beliefs must give way before the light of truth and scientific research. "The great need of the age," says Emerson, "is for a religion that the reason can endorse, since thinking minds cannot long be made to subscribe to doctrines they are forbidden to investigate."

But there need be no quarrel with those who think differently; churches, like the cradles of infancy, have had their uses, and still have, so long as there are those not able to walk alone, and choose to wear the long robes of ceremonial religion. But there is a spirit of investigation abroad, and, like the Yankee baby, some are getting out of their cradles and examining them to see if they cannot make some improvement upon them. I would most reverently respect the feelings of those who still find consolation in the belief of being saved and admitted to heaven by the blood of Jesus, but it would seem far nobler for God and man to have all stand or fall on their own merits which alone can justify the ways of God to man. L. HUTCHISON.

Bishop Creek, May 15, 1877.

DIDN'T SEE ANY.—A stranger yesterday called upon the Chief of Police to tell a little story. When he was told to go ahead, he pointed to his buttonless coat and said:

"If a fellow falls asleep in a saloon, and some one cuts the buttons off his coat, is that a joke?"

The chief didn't see any joke in that, and the man pointed to his boots, and continued:

"If a feller falls asleep in a saloon, and some one paints one of his boots red and the other blue, is that a joke?"

The chief looked down at the novel "shine" and remarked that the boots should have been tipped with white to make a patriotic job of it.

"If a feller falls asleep in a saloon," continued the man, "and some one cuts off half his gotee, pours varnish into his overcoat pockets, and cuts a hole in the top of his new plug hat, is that a joke?"

The chief said he didn't see any joke in that, but the stranger's countenance suddenly melted, and he chuckled as if greatly pleased, as he remarked:

"The joke is on the saloon! The fools thought I was asleep, but I wasn't. I was awake all the time—ha! ha! ha! Don't you see the joke now?"

The chief didn't see it but the stranger laughed all the way out of the office.

LAYING FOR HIM.—It having come to the ears of the United States officials at this point that Big English, the boot black, had a handful of lead nickles in his possession, the boy was yesterday interviewed on the subject.

"Yes; I've got nineteen bad nickles in my trowsers pocket," was his prompt reply.

"And what are you doing with them?"

"Holding right on to 'em. You needn't think you've got a case against me, for you haven't."

"How did you get those bad pieces?"

"Rich man, who shall be nameless—black his boots every morning—hands me out a lead nickel—thinks he's got a soft thing on me, but I'm laying for him!"

"How?"

"Why, he's got a daughter 'bout my age, I'll be thinking of marrying in two or three years more, and I'll shoulder a bag of his nickels, walk into the parlor, and gently say: 'Mister man, I love thy fair daughter, and I demand her in marriage. Behold the proof of your vile perfidy, and come up to the rack or go to the jug!" You just keep still and let him shower out his bogus coins. I ain't handsome, but I'm a terror to plan!"

PERHAPS the happiest moment in a man's life (says the Oil city Derrick) is when he wakes up from a life-and-death struggle with a collar that won't stay buttoned behind, to find that it is only a dream, and remembers that he kicked the collar under the bed when he retired.

AN eye-witness gives a graphic picture of the Russian method of forwarding guns to Rustchuck. Ten yoke of bullocks to a gun, and never more than an average of four miles a day; while in rainy days no progress is made at all, bullocks and gun sticking fast in the mud.

The Outlook in France.

It is the opinion of some of the best informed Paris journals that President MacMahon's ministerial and legislative coup is the first step in a programme involving foreign war. The foreign Embassadors at Versailles appear to entertain the same apprehensions and are unanimously opposed to the step taken, though several of them are not friendly to republican institutions in France. In Germany the g avest apprehensions exist, because the movement is credited to the Ultramontanes, who, deriving their animus from the Vatican, are regarded as the implacable enemies of the policy of Bismarck, which rules the German Empire. Indeed it is difficult to interpret a purpose and preparation for foreign war by the French who support the MacMahon Government as threatening any other Power than Germany and Italy. And such a threat must come from the Papal party of France, since it is the well-known policy of the Republicans to preserve peace with all nations, and if possible restrict the conflict to Russia and Turkey. It can hardly be that even so dull a politician as MacMahon would venture into a foreign war against both Italy and Germany without strong allies; and the only allies at all available are England and Austra, with a possible demonstration in Poland. If this is the arrangement, then indeed will all Europe be involved, and no man can foresee the end of the conflict or the changes of the boundaries of existing nationalities. The Republicans of France in their best efforts to defeat the insidious purposes of the traitor President, stand at the disadvantage of having no control of the army. If it shall prove the passive creature of the Commander-in-Chief and his Ultramontane advisers, the Republic must be inevitably lost as the preliminary to a great catastrophe.—S. F. Chronicle.

WHEELER EXPEDITION.—Lieutenant Wheeler starts next week to resume the War Department surveys in the West. One party will begin an elaborate survey on the Comstock lode, preparing a contour map, establishing a number of sections, and making, so far as possible, an exhaustive report of the present condition and of the future prospects of the mines, as to their productiveness, etc. Wheeler says that this survey will be more elaborate than any yet had of a mine in this country, and, in the case of the Comstock, the first examination by parties without interest in the mine.—Reno Journal.

THE UNION CON. TAX CASE.—The decision of the District Court in sustaining the demurrer interposed by counsel for the county in the case of the Union Con. M. Co., vs. Thomas Passmore, Tax Collector, has so far as present indications go, disposed of the matter. Mr. Bennett, of the resident counsel for plaintiff, says he does not know what further action, if any, that the Company will take. The case was dismissed simply because the action was brought against the Tax Collector instead of the county proper, through its legislative power, the Board of Supervisors. The Union Con. paid in taxes, under protest, the sum of $6,600, and brought suit to recover $5,800, the amount paid on alleged over-valuation of property. Of this amount the State was a party in interest to the extent of her regular proportion, and steps should be taken to the end that she stands in on the cost of counsel fees.

DISCHARGED FROM CUSTODY.—Wm. Mason, arrested upon a charge of stealing a sack of coin from the money drawer of the Aldine Saloon, and who was upon examination committed by Justice Schalten to the County Jail (in default of $1,000 bail) to await action by the Grand Jury, was released by Judge Hannah on petition of habeas corpus, on Monday last. In ordering his discharge on the ground of insufficient evidence, it is of course to be presumed that the County Judge acted in accordance with law on the subject, or at least upon his opinion as to what would be the ultimate finding of a Jury; the testimony may leave a bare doubt as the man's guilt, and another theory as to the really guilty party is open. Nevertheless there remains a general impression that Mason should have been held for trial.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.—Our record of proceedings in the District Court closed last week with the Boley-Givens case on Thursday. The cases disposed of before final adjournment consisted of: D. Campbell vs. R. Diaz, dismissed; J. and F. Silva vs. Dorgan M. Co., continued for term; Francis Silva vs. Joseph Diaz, demurrer overruled and case continued for term; Martin Mee vs. Defiance M. Co., judgment for plaintiff; J. W. Sharp vs. W. M. Lent, continued. On Saturday, the case of J. S. Rothschild & Co., vs. Broder Bro's. and Moffat was dissmissed on motion of plaintiffs; Ellen E. Matlack vs. A. C. Matlack, divorce granted; Union Con. M. Co., vs. Thomas Passmore, demurrer sustained. Adjourned for the term.

THE BALL IS OPENING.—There was a very full attendance at the called meeting of the Democratic County Central Committee, held Monday night. The principal results of their deliberations will be found embodied in a proclamation calling the unterrified to meet and do battle for the spoils of office in the regular old fashioned way—primaries, Convention and all that sort of thing. Consult the advertisement.

FIXED.—Deputy Sheriff Moore returned a day or two since, having deposited Buckingham safely at San Quentin. The prisoner had hoped for a chance of escape until chained to the car seat at Mojave, when he got nearly wild. At the prison he told Dad it was his intention to have jumped from the boat into the bay and drown himself, had he got a chance.

RUSTICATING.—Our senior and County Treasurer Isaacs are off on a trip to Jim Smith's new saw-mill, under the tender care of Childs. The manifest-reason for the proceeding, on Chalfant's part at least, is to get a brief respite from the dissipations of city life; said he wanted to get where he could get something else than whisky to drink.

PRACTICAL.—During his present stay at Smith Saw Mill, the suggestions of our mechanical senior—who is more familiar with the workings of a saw than those of a gin-mill—are reported as being invaluable, even to the experienced machinists of that concern.

SHOOTING.—One half-drunken fellow, standing in front of Joe Harris' saloon on Tuesday night, thought he could get even on another chap by depositing a few bullets into his coporeal system. After missing the first shot he gracefully retired. No cards.

AFTER HIM.—Billy Welch of Darwin and Detective Paul were in town during the week, having started after the Mexican murderer of Boyd, but their game had been notified by an advance messenger and was out of reach.

COMMITTEES MEETING.—The Republican County Central Committee is called to meet at the Court House on Monday evening next. Names of the members were given last week, and it is to be hoped that all will attend.

OYEZ!—A heavy consignment of Glidden's barb fence wire just received at J. S. Rothschild & Co's, which they are selling at the reduced price of 22½ cents per pound.

GONE BELOW.—H. C. Wright and family started on Tuesday by private conveyance to Mojave, from whence Mrs. Wright goes to the Coast for her health.

SOLE TRADER.—On last Monday, in the County Court, Mrs. Sarah Boultinghouse, of Darwin, was granted the privileges of sole tradership,

NEW CITIZENS.—In the District Court on Saturday last O. B. Wilson and Thomas Brothers, were admitted to citizenship.

SCARCE.—Why don't some granger man bring into this market a supply of spuds?

MILTON SCHOOL REPORT.—School opened April 19, with fifteen pupils. Whole number of pupils enrolled during the month ending May 15, 43. Total number of days attendance, 614. Absence, 11 days. Tardy, 3. Average number belonging, 31. Average daily attendance, 30.7. On the roll of honor, 21—Louis Shearer, Minnie Walters, Louisa ——, John Schalten, Thos. Gill, L. Schaltan, Jerusha ——, L. Gerrish, Emma Countz, E. Marton, Lillie ——, J. Schalten, Mary and Maggie Muldawney, H. Walters, Annie, Mary and Theresa Malone, Maggie and Willie Schalten, Julia Ackley. The roll of honor is based on 100, and during this month was divided into two classes—deportment and lessons. In order to be placed on either it was necessary to reach at least 85 per cent in deportment or lessons; to be on both required 90 per cent in conduct and recitations. Only four pupils obtained the required per cent, the first four on the roll. Parents will confer a favor on the teacher by paying attention to number of tickets the children obtain each day, as this is a pretty sure indication of their conduct and progress. Parents, guardians and all who take an interest in the youth of the District are cordially invited to visit the school at any time. With parents and guardians this is not a matter of choice but duty. The teacher takes pleasure in testifying to the exemplary conduct of the majority of the pupils and is convinced the list on the roll of honor would have been larger had the pupils all entered at the same time. Many thanks are due from the pupils and teacher to Capt. Macgowan of the Post, for favors conferred and kindly interest taken in their comfort; also to Mr. Walters, Trustee; to the Trustees of the town school for the loan of desks, charts, etc.; to Judge Conklin for procuring the loan, and to Thos. Gill and Lew Schalten for hauling out and arranging desks and seats and making themselves useful in many ways in fixing up the school house.

TO BE PROBATED.—Most of our citizens will recollect the fact, if they ever knew it, that upon the death of Mrs. George in this place some years since the Blaney estate fell to the management of S. P. Moffat, John Broder and P. Reddy, for the benefit of the heirs. It was found to be somewhat involved, and after the earthquake it became necessary to erect what is now the main building of the Blaney House. For this purpose Mr. Broder loaned the estate some $3,000, without interest. Mr. Reddy made no charge for legal services; Mr. Moffat charged no fees as County Clerk, and THE INDEPENDENT published all notices gratis. Well, the Blaney property has been rented right along, and has about paid back the borrowed money, besides what has been turned over to the children, and we shall next hear of the Executors final settlement and the placing of the property into the hands of the Trustees, for the sole benefit of the children in the future.

OUR LOCAL TELEGRAPH.—Upon the completion of the lumber flume at the Smith saw mill Mr. Childs proposes to build and equip a substantial telegraph line from that institution to Camp Independence, connecting with Mr. Ackley's office at that point. While doing that we venture to say that for the three miles this side of the Post Mr. Childs will saw out sufficient poles and deliver them at actual cost. Then if our citizens will chip in a few dollars each a thoroughly good and reliable line can be established. The present one is costly and troublesome enough to keep up, on account of its very unsubstantial character; yet there is scarcely a citizen of the place but who has had some benefits from it, and without cost save to the very few original projectors. We think that while the other line is being built the business men here ought to build the rest of it and maintain it free for all, as heretofore.

EMPTY.—The County Jail is now without an occupant, which is a state of affairs desirable under any circumstances, but the more so if we speak of it from a humanitarian point of view. In any weather confinement in one of the black holes is bad enough, but to put a man in one of them during Summer heat seems like imposing a punishment "cruel and unusual." So far as light or ventilation are concerned the cells might as well have been fixed up as underground dungeons, in the first place. It is not absolutely necessary to exclude both light and air for the sake of security, and after the recommendations of two or three Grand Jurys on the subject the Board of Supervisors should have ordered the place fixed.

THE NEW STEAMER.—The new steamer tug built for the Stevens Company to ply on the waters of Big Lake is said by competent judges to be an undoubted success, although during a heavy wind storm a night or two after launching she met with a mishap—managed to sink, in fact. The Bessie Brady was called upon and the new boat was soon raised. She had never been decked over, which fact accounts for the accident. That work is now being done, and she will then be ready for business. The tug is small but powerful, and formerly belonged to the United States steamer Pensacola. The new craft is without a name as yet, and we beg to propose that of Mollie Stevens.

RETURNED.—Lieutenant Wotherspoon reached home from Carson on Wednesday last. He reports that the work of the Wheeler Expedition for the present season will be of the greatest interest and practical value.

DENTISTRY.—Dr. W. H. Walker, Dentist, will start from here to the northward on a professional tour in a few days. He will make a short stay at each of the different towns, and attend to any work in his line.

GETTING CIVILIZED.—Benton is said to have indulged in a regular ring prize fight, a day or two ago.

GONE.—Grant has left town, and what few poultry which still remain here breath easier.

OUR MONO LETTER.

BENTON, Cal., May 21.

MESSRS. EDITORS—We still live and our little bergh is gaining some pretentions towards the title of a city. Quite a good number of trees have been set out in the different streets, adding to the beauty of the town and which will afford shade and comfort in the future.

AGRICULTURE

looks somewhat backward in consequence of a severe frost last week; the corn crop will be almost a total failure; but small grains are looking fine and will yield a handsome return to those who have been fortunate enough to take time by the forelock. A deep feeling of sympathy exists among the people for old man ——, whose corn crop was destroyed by the late frost. We are slowly but surely becoming a strong rival of Bishop in agriculture, and the day is not very distant when we will crowd out her products, supplying our own market. A happy future awaits us, and our new industry, coupled with mining, will add vastly to the importance of Benton.

MINING

at the Commanche has had a set back in consequence of the large amount of water; last Saturday all of the men were discharged excepting four, but the delay is only temporary. As soon as a pump can be rigged operations will be commenced with renewed energy.

The Kerrick mine is furnishing a goodly supply of rich ore. There has been a rich strike in the Modoc, owned by Messrs. Leeper and Albright. The strike is about three feet wide and of a character that will net $500 to the ton. The Diana is looking splendid and has proved itself to be a true fissure vein and a mine of great value. The Laura, Fryburgh, Alps, Eureka and other mines are looking excellent.

MILLING

is at a stand still, as neither of the two mills here are running, through local causes. Both mills are expected to start up in a few days.

PERSONAL.

C. W. Cross, Esq., departed for San Francisco last week. Hon. J. C. Mitchell returned from Bridgeport a few days ago, where he went in company with Frank Almon, Esq., to attend matters pertaining to law. Frank did not come nor neither the long eared horse which carried him there; in consequence the owner feareth much. This legal gentleman was admitted to the bar by the county Judge, giving to Benton one of the finest legal firms this side of the mountains. James Morgan, Esq., and the new Superintendent, Mr. Webber, have arrived from San Francisco. Mr. Webber entered upon his duties as Superintendent of the Commanche mill and mine some days ago.

SPORTING.

Horse talk now is all the go, and from present appearances there will be some fine racing. The Benton Jockey Club have used its utmost endeavors to make a success of the enterprise. There will be three days of sport, 8th 9th and 10th of June.

IMPROVEMENTS.

G. W. Hightower has under construction the finest building in Mono county. It is intended to be two stories and of rural cottage design. As soon as lumber can be had several other buildings will be erected.

SAW MILLS.

Hightower's mill is expected to commence turning out lumber in a few weeks. A new saw mill has been built by Messrs. Mack and Fays; they expect to be able to deliver lumber here very soon.

POLITICAL.

Candidates for office are anxiously canvassing the possibility of their nomination for the different offices. Joseph Absquash hungereth not for official cares, and such subject concerns him not.

HOSPITAL.

Dr. Fetterman, who has located here, has with praisworthy zeal undertaken to build a hospital, and if the good people extend to him a helping hand Benton will have that which she has so long needed.

JOSEPH ABSQUASH.

DARWIN.—We extract the following items from the News of Saturday last;

Deputy Sheriff Dad Moore, with his prisoner, Buckingham, who stabbed Anderson up at the Lucky Jim mine some time ago, passed through here, en route to San Quentin, last Tuesday. A number of Lucky Jim miners were at the stage office, on the arrival of Buckingham, and although the prisoner was pretty heavily ironed, and it being understood that he was going down to stay ten years, we could not see that there was much sympathy exhibited for him.

Last Thursday morning another shooting took place at the Minnietta boarding house, between a man by the name of Sullivan and another named Tarble. The former received a shot in the region of the abdomen, and the latter in the foot. Tarble came in and gave himself up to Deputy Sheriff John Pattie, and is desirous of having an examination, pending which we shall defer any comments until the facts are fully ascertained.

An assessment (No. 4) of five cents per share has been made by the Board of Directors of the Coso Consolidated Mining Company, delinquent in office June 18th. We understand the Bella Union mine of this company shows decided signs of improvement, and the amount to be raised by this assessment will probably be sufficient to develop ore bodies to make her self-sustaining soon.

Arrangements for delivery of coal from Wild Rose to the Modoc furnaces are not yet in that state of perfection to warrant a full supply, and coal is now being ordered from Crystal Springs, at Potts' Station, to make up for the deficiency.

THE Grass Valley Union is authority for the statement that ex-Governor Leland Stanford will be a candidate for the United States Senate in the event of the Republicans electing a majority of the next Legislature

EX-SURVEYOR GENERAL BOST writes a very feeling letter to the Merced Express, in which he asserts his innocence of the charges made by the State Commissioners.

SHOW YOUR HAND.—Wouldn't it be a good idea for our local candidates to announce themselves? In all contests heretofore, we have had a dozen announcements by this time. In many other counties of the State the local papers are full of them.

RETURNED.—Supt. Nelson of the Eclipse reached here during the week, having examined into the systems of gold working at Grass Valley and elsewhere, and engaged the services of experienced mill-men and engineers, who are soon to arrive.

CROQUET.—The most sylph-like form we have lately seen upon the lawn was Uncle Abe Parker, whose fairy proportions graced the perspective as well—as well, well, not quite as well as they do in the ball room.

DEATH.—A man by the name of Roach, who reached the County Hospital a day or two since, died yesterday morning at 10 o'clock.

APPOINTMENT.—Charley Dale has gone over to the Eclipse to take charge of the mine as foreman.

MASONIC Lodge meeting to-night.

APPLETONS' JOURNAL for June contains several noteworthy papers. The freshest, perhaps is an article entitled "The War with the Turkomans," which is a racy and highly-enjoyable humorous picture of oriental manners and Persian warfare, derived from the French of the Comte de Gobineau. This sketch has not only timely interest just now, but at any period its keen satire and racy humor would be highly relished. Eastern affairs secure further attention in an article called "The Suicide of the Ottomans," in which the causes that have led to the decline of Ottoman power are investigated and graphically described. In the way of fiction there are the continuation of "Cherry Ripe;" a dramatic short story by M. E. W. S., called "Honor's Slave," in which figure a Russian princess, and English and American characters; and a Philadelphia sketch by Rebecca Harding Davis, called "Doctor Pajot," which is very charming. The illustrated article is a picturesque paper on "The Harbor and Commerce of New York," with numerous fine engravings. Mr. Towle gives a good paper, based on Mrs. Oliphant's "Makers of Florence," which he calls the "Reign of Poetry, Art, and Eloquence, in Florence." Junius Henri Browne tells in an effective manner the remarkable story of one of the French poisoners of the time of Louis XIV. Mr. Matthews makes the centenary of the comedy, "The School for Scandal," the occasion for an entertaining paper on that famous play. Among the poems we find "Forty to Twenty; a Drawingroom Drama," by Kate Field, which is, we believe, that lady's first appearance in verse. Under the head of "Collectanea," a cluster of good, short papers on various topics is given; and the editorial departments maintain their usual standard.

WHAT'S broke loose, Charley? Where are you going in such a hurry?

"I'm going to the store."

"Trade must be active with you."

"It's not the trade that has called me out."

"It's not a woman, is it?"

"No; of course not. But I'll explain the thing to you, to keep down your infernal suspicions. There are three partners in our store, and we have only two chairs. The last man that comes in the morning has to stand up all day. It is very important for me to be at the store early this morning. Good day.'

THE Turks have remained in undisturbed possession of Constantinoble for about 425 years. On the 29th of May, 1453—the city was then the capital of the Byzantine empire—it was stormed and captured by the Turks, Constantine the Third, the last of the Byzantine Emperors, losing his life in defense.

Can an honest meal be made off a "boned" Turkey?

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, MAY 26.....1877.

THE Princess Bismarck is said to be radiant over her husband's retirement. She considers his health and doesn't want to hear anybody talk of his taking up active political life again. At a dinner party given by the Prince recently on the occasion of her birthday, one of them proposed a toast on the early return of the Chancellor to politics. Bismarck rose and touching glasses with his guests said: "To my deliverance."

A NORWICH man has invented a plan in three parts by which no one need to lose his life in a burning hotel. The first plan states that a man should never stop at a hotel. Omitting the other two parts the plan is generally conceded to be a success.

Why is a drunkard like a bad politician? Because he is always poking his nose into measures that spoil the constitution.

SUMMONS.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE SIXTEENTH Judicial District of the State California, in and for the County of Inyo. Ellen Porter, plaintiff, against William Porter, defendant. Action brought in the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Inyo, and the complaint filed in said county of Inyo, in the office of the Clerk of said District Court.

The people of the State of California send greeting to William Porter, defendant. The Reporter Ahead.

Among the bummers who entered Savanna with Sherman's army was a well known Boston reporter, who went through the march with him, taking notes, and contriving to steal enough poultry and other things for his support. Tom Miles—though that was not his name—went prospecting around the city, and by that mysterious attraction known to print-craft, found himself in a vacated printing-office. It presented a golden opportunity. There were presses and all the paraphernalia essential to business, with a form on the press; and Miles, taking out the editorial and other offensive matter, filled its columns with healthy Union sentiment, with the aid of one or two of the craft whom he had discovered in the army. His leader was a rich specimen of crowing over the victory, in which he extolled General Sherman as the greatest hero since Alexander, and his army the finest and best disciplined that the world ever saw. With this grand flourish of trumpets the first number was issued, and Miles lay back in his editorial chair, contemplating his work with the belief that he had achieved the next triumph to Sherman's, and wondered what the conqueror would say when he saw the praises he had heaped upon him. The next morning as the General and his staff were about taking breakfast a paper was handed to him—the Savannah Republican, I think—and he commenced to read the leader which was so lavish in his praise.

"Look here!" said he, red and furious, "what the d—l does this mean? Who knows anything about this paper?"

His orderly, who had known something about its preparation, explained to him that it was the work of one of the literary gentlemen who had followed the expedition.

"Well," said the general, "go down to the office and tell him to discontinue his paper or I'll put him under guard. I won't have such cursed stuff printed about me when I can prevent it. Abuse is bad enough, but this is a deused sight worse."

Down went the orderly, and the confusion of poor Miles was overwhelming when he got the squelcher from the general commanding.

"Why, it was all praise!" he said.

"No matter for that. If it had been the other way, it would have been treated just the same."

So Miles moved a compromise, and urged the official to express his regrets and beg the removal of the injunction, which was promised. The appeal was successful, and soon the officer came back to inform him that permission was granted him to run his paper, on condition that he should never mention the general's name again. This was agreed to, and the paper appeared.

After a day or two, an aide came down one morning with an order from General Sherman for publication. Miles glanced over it, and handed it back."

"It can't go in, sir."

"Why not?" asked the astonished messenger, who was a stranger.

"Because it has Sherman's name to it," was the reply.

"That's the reason why it must go in," urged the aide.

"And that's the reason why it sha'nt. He stopped my paper for praising him, and I promised him that his name should never appear in my columns again, and hang me if it shall."

Miles stood resolute, and the officer returned for orders, expecting the ordering out of a file of men and an arrest, but was astonished to see the general burst into a hearty laugh, and hear him confess that the printer had the best of it. The messenger was sent back with a conciliatory note, and there was no more trouble.

General Grant.

The sailing of General Grant and family for Europe was duly chronicled in the telegraphic columns of Sunday's Sentinel, including his neat little farewell speech. And speaking of that speech it must be admitted by all men who are willing to be just that it did great credit to both the heart and the head of the ex-President. No such magnanimous utterances ever fell from the lips of a man in distinguished position in the United States. All men, and especially those of small caliber, are as vain as peacocks, and when they attain to prominence they are as a rule too much puffed up with their own importance to do justice to others. General Grant, however, appears to be notable exception to this rule. Replying to a shower of compliments from admiring friends on board the vessel steaming down the Delaware, see how nobly he spoke:

"The compliments you have bestowed upon me are not altogether deserved. They should not all be paid to me either as a soldier or a civil officer. As a General your praises do not all belong to me, and as Executive of the Nation they were not due to me. There is no man who can fill both or either of these positions without the help of good men. I never flattered myself that I was entitled to the place you gave me. My Lieutenants could have acted better than I, had the opportunity been presented. Sherman could have taken my place as a soldier or in civil office, and so could Sheridan and others I might name. I am sure if the country ever comes to this need again there will be men for the work; there will be men born for every emergency."

Now, after reading these noble words, who can ever again accuse General Grant of being conceited and narrow-minded? We confess frankly that the more we see and know of the character of this remarkable man, the more we are inclined to accord him the first place among all the great men this country has produced.

General Grant is the first ex-President, we believe, who has left this country for a season of foreign travel. Honors, such as were never before bestowed upon an American citizen, await him on the other side; but we have no fears that these marked attentions will make a fool of him. Personal vanity is not his weakness, and we should not be much surprised if he insisted upon being allowed to move along, while abroad, in the most unostentatious manner possible. His military achievements will make him an object of especial interest in all military countries, and there can be no doubt that he will be surfeited with distinguished honors.

The Queen of England, it is said, will tender him a public reception, and Germany and France will vie with each other in according to him such marks of high consideration as never before, perhaps, fell to mortal man. Americans, generally, without regard to party, will watch his triumphant progress and the honors showered upon him at every step with a lively sense of gratified pride; and we know in advance that the General will pass through the trying ordeal with the same modest demeanor that has always characterized him in every station of life. The great heart of the whole nation will wish him godspeed on his journey and a safe return to the land for which he has done so much.—Eureka Sentinel, May 22.

Walk Softly.

The tiniest pebble, thrown sea-ward from the beach, causes a wavelet, whose influences are felt for unnumbered leagues out upon old ocean's bosom. The softest whisper excites vibrations in the atmosphere around us, which cease not this side the boundless ether; so the act and thought of an immortal man, however insignificant, may color a lifetime, may leave influences which shall not cease until time shall be no longer; influences for good or ill, to millions of immortals like himself, for unending ages. These things being so, it would seem that every act should be felt a responsibility and every thought a prayer. Let us all walk softly then, or at least with a motive and a wish for good.

A crust of bread, thrown thoughtlessly by a fellow student, made Prescott, in a measure, sightless for near half a century. An ill-timed jest has severed many a warm friendship and planted bitterness for a lifetime, where ought to have welled up the warmest and purest and lovliest springs of our nature. Many a time and oft has a frown, a harsh word, an unfeeling or contemptuous gesture, crushed resolves forever, which were budding to a new and changed and better life. Reader, let us all walk softly then by day and by night, at home and abroad, inasmuch as for every step in life we must give account at the judgment.

A SIMPLE paragragh in a newspaper will sometimes arouse in men's minds strong convictions of which they never before even dreamed. Before us, staring us in the face with an impudence quite revolting to a sensitive nature, is a paragraph which states that the president of the Equitable and the Mutual Life Insurance Companies of New York receive salaries of $37,000 and $30,000 a year respectively, and there can be no doubt this brief paragraph will arouse in the mind of many a man the conviction that in not starting out as the president of an insurance company was one of the saddest mistakes of his life.

A very modest young lady who was a passenger on board a packet ship, it is said, sprang out of her berth and jumped overboard on hearing the Captain, during a storm, order the mate to haul down the sheets.

INFINITESIMAL SHARES.—The 26 leading mines on the Comstock extend 24,736 feet continuously along the lode. These feet of mineral ground are represented in the market by 2,431,200 shares of stock, being an average of 138¾ shares to each foot of ground. If the shares were equally apportioned to the ground each share would represent about the thickness of a half a dollar in length on the lode; that is, if as many half dollars as there are shares in the 26 mines on the Comstock were done up in rolls the rolls would reach from one end of the mines to the other. But there are 900 shares to a foot of the California mine; each share represents abut as much on the lode as can be covered by the edge of an ordinary card-board. Yesterday (Friday) California was selling at $23 50 per share—upwards of $20,000 a foot. Even at this price, considered to be very low, it would require about four rolls of $20 pieces, each roll a foot in length, to purchase a foot of the mine. Consolidated Imperial contains 1,070 shares to the foot. It sold yesterday at 45 cents a share—$481 50 a foot. At this low price it would require three rolls of half dollars, each roll a foot in length, to purchase a foot of the Consolidated Imperial mine. And still the price of mining ground on the Comstock lode is ruinously low—to those who paid eight times as much as it is now selling for.—Bee.

KARS is one of the gates between Turkey and Persia, and opens to the invaders a road to the great route to Teheran on the southeast; toward Erzeroum and the Euphrates on the southwest; and, most important of all, to Trebizonde on the East—which could not be long defended by land, and which, once invaded by the Russians, could render effective assistance to the Czar's Black Sea squadron. Kars is, in fact, the key to Russian success in Asiatic Turkey. Its fortifications cover an area of ten square miles. The town is on a plain nearly seven thousand feet above the level of the sea, and is surrounded on three sides by rugged hills which form natural bases of defense. A little stream of the same name flows by on the southeast. The population is about 12,000, chiefly Armenian, who make a scant living, out of the through trade between the East and West. The climate is so severe that travelers are glad to get on the road again, and the surrounding hills furnish hospitality for so large bands of robbers that armed guards accompany merchants stock to the plains. The city was the capital of an Armenian kingdom, but Turkish conquest, Ottoman administration, and taxation by the Porte have reduced it to a mere half-way house.

A DIALECT STORY.—An English clergyman and a lowland Scotsman visited a school in Aberdeen. They were strangers, but the master received them civilly and inquired, "Would you prefer that I should speer these boys, or that you should speer them yourselves?" The English clergyman, having ascertained that to "speer" meant to question, desired the master to proceed. He did so with great success, and the boys answered satisfactorily numerous interrogations as to the exodus of the Israelites from Egypt. The clergyman then said he would be glad in his turn to "speer" the boys, and at once began "How did Pharoah die?" There was a dead silence. In this dilemma the lowland gentleman interposed. "I think, sir, the boys are not accustomed to your English accent; let me try what I can make of them." And he inquired in his broad Scotch, "Hoo did Phawroah dee?" Again there was a dead silence. Upon which the master said, "I think gentlemen, you can't speer these boys; I'll show you how I do it." "Fat cam to Phawroah at his hinder end?" The boys answered promptly, "He was drooned;" and in addition a smart little fellow commented, "Ony lassie could hae teld you that."

WHAT MAKES A SEA-SHELL SING. When the sea-shell is held up to the ear there is a peculiar vibratory noise which children assure each other is the roar of the sea, however distant they may be from it. Philosophically investigated the peculiar sound thus recognized is a phenomenon that puzzled scholars for a long time. The experiment is easily made by pressing a spiral shell over the cerebra of either ear. If a large shell, the sound is very much like that of a cataract. Now, what causes it? Every muscle in the body is always in a state of tension. Some are more on the stretch than others, and particularly those of the finger. It is conceded that the vibration of the fibres of those in the fingers being communicated to the shell, it propagates and intensifies them as the hollow body of the violin does the vibration of its strings, and thus the acoustic nerve receives the sonorous expressions. Muscles of the leg below the knee are said to vibrate in the same way, and if conducted to the ear produce the same result.—Boston Watchman.

THE following is given as a specimen of the conversation of Chicago young men: "Do you abbreve?" "Why cert. Don't you?" "Bet. I think its splend.; don't you?" "Macnif." "Going to hear Carl Schurz' lec?" "No; he's on Hayes' Cab, and won't lec. here." "Is that pos.?" "Dead cert." "Well, it makes no diff. to me; I wasn't going."

THE Board of Regents of the State University has commenced ten new suits against parties who are delinquent in the payment of interest due the Land Department of that institution. These are on similar complaints to several already commenced, and will be followed up by others.

ABOUT twenty years ago, in Peru, a drunken Indian killed another. About two months ago the Supreme Court of Ayrencho decided his case, sentencing him to five years' imprisonment, which is the extreme penalty of the law. The fellow has endured four times that length of punishment already while waiting for the law to take its course, and he now very naturally supposes that the law is just fifteen years in his debt. The Attorney-General has been directed to investigate the case, but if he does not move faster than the Courts the unfortunate Indian will serve his five years' time before it is found out what to do in his case. In that event, he will have twenty years of imprisonment to his credit.

SOLD AGAIN.

The transfer of the Los Angeles and Independence railroad to the Central Pacific corporation, which was to take place yesterday, ends all idea of such a thing as an opposition or Independent railroad or steamship on this Coast. No blame can attach to Senator Jones for selling; he was not compelled to continue the Santa Monica road in operation at a loss to himself, even if he did benefit the city of Los Angeles $1600,000 a year by so doing. The fact that Jones took hold of the Los Angeles and Independence railroad franchise and built the Santa Monica division, was the direct cause of millions of money being poured into that country in the purchase of ranches by San Francisco capitalists. With the chance of building the road through to her back country. Los Angeles had the most golden opportunity ever given to any people, but—

Well, words can scarcely express our profound contempt for the utter inaction of the wealthy men of that city to whom the franchise was originally given. Of course their money, obtained by cent. per cent. operations, is their own; but such shortsightedness on their part is not calculated to make their own people wish them well in a continuous enjoyment of it.

TO OUR READERS.

For the next two months or thereabouts the senior, Mr. Chalfant, will be compelled to devote the most of his time to other than newspaper matters, so closely as he has found necessary to do for the last seven years; such being the case he begs leave to say that all apologies due from parties whom THE INDEPENDENT may offend must, until further notice, be tendered to the junior Mr. Parker, who will now straddle the tripod exclusively while the aforementioned senior takes this much needed respite from the editorial honors and responsibilities.

THE COLORADO DESERT.—The recent railroad surveys in San Diego and San Bernardino counties have established some curious facts about the Colorado desert which have lately been communicated to the Sentinel. The lowest point surveyed is 278 feet below the level of the sea, and the lowest point on the line of the Southern Pacific railroad is 355 feet. From a point near Indian Wells for 60 miles east toward Yuma the road lies below the sea level. An old ocean beach, clearly distinguishable, extends all around the edge of this immense basin, at a level some 15 feet lower than that of the sea. Immense beds of salt have been found, in some places 2 feet thick. Analysis shows this salt to be almost pure chloride of sodium.

UNCERTAINTIES.—Speaking of the uncertainties of this mail system of Uncle Sam's, we may mention that it only took six days for a letter to reach us from Lone Pine—a distance of sixteen miles. The letter in mention was plainly addressed, and not as "Independence Telegram, Nev," which some kindly postmaster indorsed "give it to INYO INDEPENDENT." In the latter instance the document was a worthless "patent outside" paper, but in the former there was an "ad," which should have appeared last week. So much for uncertainties.

A CALIFORNIA Judge was inveigled into a bunko game in New York city Saturday and lost a hundred dollars.

Will the Carson Tribune, from which we quote, please be a little more definite? We are particular as to the reputation of our judges in such matters. Including the sixteenth district, Mono and Inyo counties, within our bailiwick, we know that no "bunko" could take in Reed, Poe and Hannah. Not much!

IT is said that interest rates were never so low at the world's principal money centres as now. The rates at the leading cities are reported at latest dates to range at two per cent. per annum, at Paris to nine per cent., at Calcutta. At London the rate was three per cent., at Amsterdam the same; at Hamburg, Berlin and Frankfort, four per cent.; at Brussels, two and a half per cent., and at most of the other European capitals from four to six per cent.

THE Secretary of War has notified the disbursing officers that there will be no funds available for the purchase of supplies for the army after July 1st, until Congress shall have had time to act upon the appropriation bill, and all advertisements for contracts, as well as contracts themselves, will state that payments depend upon future appropriations.

A VERY FOOLISH PROPOSITION.

The subjoined is from a recent issue of the Los Angeles Express. We will say, in advance, that we not only endorse the views expressed by the paper from which we quote, but will go further in condemnation of the plan contemplated by these representatives of the "Latin race." We say that no candidate for any office in the gift of American people should ever set up any claim for support on the grounds that he is either native or foreign born—and particularly the latter, because he thereby places a higher estimate upon the citizenship into which he was born than that he now agrees to have adopted and swears to uphold. Just as certainly as like begets like, so certain will such a movement give dangerous life to Know Nothingism and mutually proscriptive international parties in our midst. Native Americans as well as alien citizens will, as a rule, give just as hearty a support to a foreigner as to a native born candidate for any office, always provided he does not make the question of birth a special claim. Such a feature is so repugnant to the fundamental principles of American citizenship that it is absolutely certain to meet with resentment from all upholders of that citizenship whether natives or alien. Says the Express.

At a recent well attended meeting of Frenchmen, Spaniards and Italians, a committee of nine was appointed for the purpose of reporting, at a future meeting, as to the expediency of organizing a club to guard and advance the interests of the Latin race at the approaching election. The Club is to be indifferent to party and devoted only to political success of persons of its own race. We are not unfavorable to class organizations for general purposes, nor do we see anything very objectional in foreign citizens forming clubs to carry out their political views and to secure the prestige of their candidates. But a combination which would include several cognate nationalities, banded together without regard to party, and distinctively intended to give political prestige to one race, is not calculated to meet the favor of the cosmopolitan American. Such an organization would have the spoils of office as the only object in view, and might provoke the formidable organization of a similar club, to guard and advance the political interests of persons laboring under the disability of belonging to the American family.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEYSHIP.

As was fully anticipated, Mr. Reddy has, by a profound silence upon the subject, declined to take the position of District Attorney, under a plan discussed in an article of our last issue, touching upon the past lamentable lack of success on the part of the peoples' prosecutors in the courts. The considerable criticism evoked by the article has not come to us in a shape to justify further argument upon the subject, though there would be no difficulty in establishing the fact that if a man of Reddy's ability and perseverance held the office it would work a vast saving to the county, no matter what figures was paid for his services.

We mentioned the matter with a knowledge of the fact that good material for the office was not to be had otherwise. Of attorneys now practicing in our courts, Messrs. Briggs and Moffat are not available, since they are candidates for Legislative nomination by the Republican and Democratic Conventions respectively. Mr. Bennett resigned the place some time ago, and Mr. Woods says that he could not be induced to take it. That being the case it will certainly be a difficult thing for either political party to present to the people a competent and reliable man, even under the pledge of an increase in the salary up to a reasonable amount. The alternative remains to leave the place on each ticket blank and let the Board of Supervisors appoint, that body having under the circumstances to take the responsibility. After the incoming Legislature has met and increased the salary, they might elect that the defeated lawyer should take it. In the event of Moffat's defeat he would take it; if Mr. Briggs should happen to find himself in the Salt River boat, we believe that his interest in the outcome of Inyo is such that he would assume the duties of that most responsible office and throw up his commission as Land Register.

Some days since, President Hayes received a letter purporting to be the resignation of J. R. Lewis, Chief Justice of Washington Territory. A similar fraud was practiced six or seven years ago, while Mr. Lewis was Chief Justice of Idaho. The appointment of Justice Green was promptly revoked.

Farmers and market gardeners of Northern New Jersey are seriously alarmed at the prospect of the invasion of vegetation-destroying insects this Summer. LETTER FROM EX-SURVEYOR GENERAL BOST.

NEAR BENTON, May 25, 1877.

MESSRS. EDITORS—In your issue of the 19th of this month you published a notice taken from the Visalia Delta which is rather rough on your humble servant. It is so outrageously untrue that I trust you will allow me to rise and make a little explanation. The "Delta" man says it took $79,900 during my term of office to give away the State School land. He was misled by the false report of the State Land Commissioners. During my term of office there was enough State school land sold to amount to over one million and a half of dollars, saying nothing about Swamp lands disposed of. What the Commissioners ought to have said is this: They should have stated, so that all could have understood them, that there was not fees enough collected to pay the expenses of the office. I take it that there are very few offices in the State that pay the expense of running them with the fees collected. The Commissioners hold me responsible, or rather, they say I ought to be held responsible, for fees on all applications made for lands. I beg to differ with these worthies on this point, and I think good lawyers will sustain me in my position. In accordance with their construction of the law, if a man made application for land and that land would on examination be found to be in Arizona Territory I ought to have collected the fees. I don't think I had any right to do so. I had nothing to do with collecting the money for State School lands, it was paid to county Treasurers and they paid it with the State Treasury. I never saw a cent of it. The Commissioners say I collected about $67,000, or ought to have done so, and that I don't account for that amount by about $43,000. Now I say I have collected only about $54,000, and can and have accounted for nearly all of it. If they hold me responsible for what I never collected, and never saw, then I am in arrears about $20,000, but this is simply nonsense, and I think the courts will so decide.

I don't blame you newspaper men, for the public were generally led into this by the false report of the Commissioners.

I can prove by the record that the portion of the report alluded to above is false; I don't ask any one to take my word for it. It is a matter of record. I speak from memory about the million and a half; it is not far out of the way, however.

The record will show (don't take my word for it) that the money received by the State during my term for School lands alone would pay all the expenses of my office and then have very nearly one million five hundred thousand dollars left. So these Commissioners it seems come within one million and a half dollars of the truth.

As to the monopoly of land, that is the fault of your laws, not mine. The State sold her lands, and got the money for them, or got the land back again; in either case she don't lose a cent, and no officers excepting the County Treasurers or the State Treasurer can swindle her out of a dollar. The Surveyor General has no power to do so, if he were disposed to.

Yours Truly,
JOHN W. BOST.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, JUNE 2.....1877.

☞ Political announcements will be charged for at the rate of $10 each, with absolutely no EXCEPTION to the rule of advance payment.

LUMBER.—Last week County Treasurer Isaacs and Deputy Revenue Collector Childs inveigled us (that is the "senior") into what proved to be a very pleasant trip, to wit, a visit to Jim Smith's new saw mill, up now pretty high up in the Sierras. However, we did not go as a reporter and therefore do not propose to enter into details just now; will say, though, that by the 1st of next month, and perhaps sooner, it will be ready to supply this region with an unlimited quantity of what we believe to be decidedly the best quality of soft, clear pine lumber ever manufactured in the county. The work Mr. Smith has now on hand is to complete the V flume from the mill to the head of wagon navigation in the valley. This flume will, when complete, be very near two miles in length, in which distance it makes a descent of about 1,700 feet. The nature of the work and surroundings have been described in these columns heretofore, and will be well worth another more extented notice hereafter when complete, and after some of "our fellers" take a ride down it on a giraffe or on a floating timber; but it will suffice for the present to say that the first quarter of a mile was finished and tested last Saturday, and thus at the same rate of progress will be completed in less than two weeks from this date. We are constrained to say that we think friend Jeemes will have a very valuable saw-mill property. William, better known as "Bill" Covington is chief engineer in the flume construction and his work proves him fully competent for the undertaking.

A No. 1.—There is considerable of a backwardness in political announcements this year, but there is one good man brave enough to break the ice, and he does it in such a manner that there can be no mistaking. He proposes, since every business man and voter in Inyo knows his qualifications, to assume the responsibility and whatever emoluments there may be in the Sheriff's office, if the Democratic party and the people so elect—but does not propose to make himself a conspicuous seeker of office. We are, of course, referring to the card of W. L. (or "Dad") Moore, to be found elsewhere.

WHY HE MAY NOT GET BACK.—Bennett's China cook, whose marriage was mentioned a few weeks since, got leave yesterday to visit his wife, who has been spending the honeymoon with another husband at Cerro Gordo. When taking his departure Mr. Fong remarked: "If me no come back to-morrow night all light, maybe so; 'cause Chinaman he kill me." If his fears are realized we shall regret it that he did not start earlier in the week so that we could have had the denoument for this week.

THE REPUBLICAN PROGRAMME.—The approaching political contest is now pretty well marked out, up to the point of nominating conventions. The Republican powers that be have ordered primaries for the election of delegates June 23, and that such delegates shall convene at the Court House in Independence July 5. See the official announcement, with appointment, etc., elsewhere.

UNION HOTEL.—Our old friends Arthur Tanner and H. Issendorf, under the legal style of Issendorf & Tanner, took management of the Union Hotel at Cerro Gordo yesterday. We bespeak attention to their advertisement elsewhere, and due recollection of the fact that both are good men and liable to keep a correct hotel—if you should happen to go up on the hill.

LAND BUSINESS.—The monthly official report of business in the land office sets forth that during May there were 37 pre-emptions, 4 homesteads and 1 timber claim filed. There were 4 cases wherein final proof and payment were made. Sixteen hundred acres of desert land was applied for, and three lots of coal lands were filed upon, situate somewhere about Tehachepi.

HAY AND GRAIN.—Sam Cowles is sailing about the country purchasing hay, an article now very scarce in the lower country. Al Briggs is dabbling in the grain business, and proposes to purchase in quantities to suit the seller.

SHEEP.—A band of 5,000 head of sheep from the lower country were purchased a day or two since by John Broder, and sheep, mutton or lamb will be among the eatables to be had in the market for a time.

ASSESSMENT.—The Comanche Company, the heavy mining corporation of Benton, have levied an assessment (No. 1) of 50 cents per share, delinquent July 2. See official advertisement.

SLEEPY DICK.—By consulting the new advertisements of this issue, sporting men will learn of a chance to become possessed of a good race horse, as therein described.

PACK MULES.—A train of some 16 head of pack mules, belonging to Jesus Carasco, arrived in town a day or two since. Many of them will be employed at the Rex Montis, in packing ore.

A CHANCE.—The property of Joseph Pino, consisting of lot and two frame buildings in Lone Pine, is offered for sale, in an advertisement this week.

PAID OFF.—Last Tuesday Paymaster Nelson and clerk paid off the men of Co. D., having arrived by the Southern stage on the Monday preceding.

A LOW PRICE.—See advertisement of Messrs. J. S. Rothschild & Co., for the price of Gliddens barb fence wire.

The Blaney Estate—An Error Corrected.

INDEPENDENCE, June 1, 1877.

MESSRS. EDITORS—In your issue of the 26th ultimo an article appeared headed, "To be Probated;" an error occurred which demands correction. You say, that after the earthquake, it became necessary to errect what is now the main building of the Blaney House. For this purpose Mr. Broder loaned the estate some $3,000, without interest. The vouchers on file in the Probate Court show the entire cost of the construction of the present Blaney House, including the furnishing, to have been $5,675 73, all of which was advanced by Mr. Broder without interest. The other items as regards Attorneys fees, Printing and Clerks fees are true, except an item of about $20 paid to one of the former Clerks of the Probate Court. And that sum $20, covers the entire charges made in the Administration of the estate. I desire to correct the errors for the reason that it might meet the eyes of the heirs and they would very naturally wonder that the estate required so long a time for payment of so small a sum.

That the estate is now out of debt, is due to Mr. Broder. Had he treated it under the ordinary rules of business, and charged the usual rate of interest, common in the valley, the estate would have still been in debt to a large amount.

S. P. MOFFAT.

THE FOURTH.—It would appear to be the turn for Independence to do something in the way of a celebration or observation of the "ever glorious" Fourth of July, now shortly at hand. Lone Pine did the honors for the Centennial year in a grand celebrate appropriate to the occasion, in which the orthodox programme was duly carried out. It was enlivened, however, by the introduction of the Rowdy Roosters fun, which was hugely enjoyable and suggests some more of the same sort for the present anniversary. The dates fixed for the political Conventions—on the third and fifth—insure that about that time there will be considerable of a crowd in town, and it remains for us to arrange to properly celebrate the day and entertain visitors at the same time. A new and most agreeable element in the proceedings could be introduced this time by securing the Beaudry Brass Band, of Cerro Gordo, which organization comprises three or four of the best professional musicians in the country, and altogether plays twelve pieces—producing, to our own knowledge music which would be most creditable to any like organization on the Coast. Now, if during the day our local archery club should take it into their heads to bring out a second semi-annual contest on the Fourth, in the usual manner, the band could be partially paid out of the proceeds; if the Rowdy Roosters saw fit to give some of their comic exercises during the day and a masquerade ball at night, the sale of tickets for the latter would also help to pay the music, and last but by no means least, if the Independent Dramatic Club should elect to give an entertainment on the evening of the third—why, taken altogether, we see no reason why there shouldn't be a season of fun and enjoyment equal to a Carnival time or a Mardi Gras day in the South. If there is a second to this motion, we hope that somebody will take the trouble to call a meeting for the purpose of getting our local moving spirits together, and have a talk over the matter. If there is anything of the kind to be done there is certainly no time to lose in the matter.

A SHEEP CASE.—A trespass case was decided by Justice Peterson, at Lone Pine, last Wednesday, involving some legal questions of some interest. R. M. Briggs, Esq., appeared for the plaintiff and Judge Conklin for the defendants. John Young was passing through with a drove of sheep, and while doing so, allowed his sheep to graze on lands in the occupancy of John Meyer and —— Frishman. They took up sixty odd head of the sheep under the trespass act approved March 30, 1874. On the following day Young replevined the sheep and sued for $200 damages. Plaintiff's counsel claimed that it could not be a trespass upon the private property of defendants for this reason: They were holding a homestead and pre-emption claim both, their residence was on the homestead, the pre-emption being uninclosed and unoccupied in the sense demanded by the U. S. Land laws, therefore, as to its bearings in this case, was the same, counsel claimed, as vacant Government land, and that as it was for trespassing upon this particular piece of land that the sheep were taken up they were unlawfully held and plaintiff was entitled to be restored to possession and damages for their detention. On the other hand counsel for defendant claimed that the said act made no distinction as to how land was held in a case of this kind, it only being necessary to establish the fact that the party taking up stock was in the actual use and occupancy of the land upon which tresspassing stock should be found. As Meyer & Frishman held undisputed occupancy of this tract of land in this case, judgment was rendered in their favor for $40 damage and costs. This is the only case within our knowledge, subjected to test of law, in which the farmer or land owner did not come out second best.

ASSESSMENT.—The Silver Sprout Mining Company, Kearsarge District, have levied an assessment of fiive cents a share, delinquent June 25, advertised this week.

KEARSARGE.—Mr. Gray, of the Kearsarge, arrived a week or two ago, and it is stated that work on the mine will be resumed on Monday next.

YGNACIO.—W. A. Greenley has gone to Cerro Gordo for the purpose of putting a force of men upon the "San Ignash" mine.

THE San Francisco Stock Report says Senator Jones will probably feel about the local stock market on his return. He is a lively manipulator when he gets fairly started.

The Mojave Cut-Off.

There is reason to believe that the negotiations which are said to have been in progress between the Southern Pacific Company and the Los Angeles and Independence R. R. involve something more than the mere purchase of the railway from this city to Santa Monica. If what we hear is true, there has been a sort of coalescence agreed upon by the two companies by which the Independence road will form a junction with the Southern road in this city, pass over the rails of the latter as far as Colton and then proceed via Cucamongo out to the Cajon Pass. On the other hand the Southern Pacific will build a track from Mojave to the Cajon Pass, and then proceed over the Independence road to Colton. By this means the Southern Pacific would adopt for all through trains the Mojave cut-off, leaving Los Angeles to be reached by special train, via San Fernando. This would bring up the old question whether the Southern Pacific has the right, under its contract with the people of this city and county, to practically place Los Angeles on a side track. It is true that the conformation of the country is such as to render the cut-off a very economical route for through trains, but our people have always considered that that question was definitely settled by the terms of the subsidy contract, and that we paid a liberal bonus for the purpose of inducing the Company to waive the advantages of the shorter route. This is the way our people understood the contract at the time, and it was the way in which the agents of the Company interpreted it. We can see, however, a great local advantage to Los Angeles in an arrangement by which the Independence road would be enabled to use the Southern Pacific's track as far as Colton, providing the two lines have not merged, and that is not the intention to drop the Independence road at the Cajon Pass. If it is part of a plan by which the Los Angeles and Independence railroad will be enabled to push out to Inyo county, then the people of this city would probably consider that the benefits to be gained would more than counterbalance any loss they might sustain by the utilization of the Mojave cut-off. If the negotiations are based on the idea that the Los Angeles and Independence railroad shall be expeditiously constructed, and that we shall have the benefits of an early connection with our California and Nevada back-country, we can see where the consummation of the plan, even with the waiver in regard to the cut-off, would be willingly acquiesced in by the people of this city and county. When we are made fully aware of the exact character of the negotiations which now reach us in the shape of airy rumors, we shall be enabled to give intelligent discussion to this very important matter. We do not believe that either the men at the head of the Southern Pacific or those who have control of the Los Angeles and Independence railroad would enter into any compact calculated to injure our city. They have both too much stake in our prosperity to do that.—Los Angeles Express.

MEXICAN AFFAIRS.—A special from New Orleans to the New York Herald of the 22d says:

There has been considerable excitement here for the last few days relating to Mexican affairs. The Mexican steamer, which was to have left Sunday morning, was detained by dispatches from the Mexican Minister to Diaz. Consul Averidano acknowledges these dispatches came from New York, where the Mexican Minister is with Lerdo, but refuses to give their import. It is stated that efforts have been made to recruit men among the foreign population here for Mexico in the name of President Lerdo, the men to go to San Antonio, Texas. Col. Price, of the Eighth United States Cavalary, is here on his way to join his regiment on the Rio Grande, his leave of absence having been curtailed.

The State Department at Washington, has received information of the death of Louis N. de la Stro., Vice-Consul of the United States at Tampico, Mexico. The Department has received information to the effect that a pronunciamiento has been issued in the State of Guerrero, in the mountainous regions of Mexico, by the friends of Governor Alarez against the Central Government of Mexico.

THE German Catholic Central Association, at a meeting held in Cleveland, Ohio, May 23d unanimously adopted the following resolutions:

First—The Catholics do not fight the school system now in existence but leave it to itself and its own development. They think the best solution of the school question, under the circumstances now in existence, is to bring their pupils to the highest possible perfection, so that they will not only be equal but superior to others.

Second—Catholics should make their own schools free schools, if possible. That means that they should see that all children in Catholic schools should get instruction gratis. The best means to accomplish this would be the starting of school societies in all Catholic communities which shall furnish the necessary funds for the support of such schools. The members of the central association pledge themselves to work with the utmost zeal for the establishment and support of school societies.

Third—Statistical reports on Catholic school matters in our country are desirable to always have full knowledge on the status of schools.

DEAF BEAR, Butcher, Tall Timber, and Iron Whirlwind are the names of some of the hightoned Sioux who have just registered at Gen. Crook's Bacon and Beans Hotel.

MANUFACTORIES are beginning to revive in the East, and there is a prospect that the thousands who have been out of employment will soon have work, but at reduced wages.

A GREAT concentration of Turkish troops is taking place at Shumla, the key of the port of Varna and the Balkan mountains.

Important to Miners.

J. A. Williamson, Commissioner of the General Land Office, in reply to an inqury made by A. C. Fisk of Denver, Colorado, has rendered a decision of the highest concern to all who are engaged in mining upon the public domain:

"In the case presented by Mr. Fisk, where a party discovered a mine on the 1st of July, sunk a discovery shaft ten feet in depth, and made record of his claim on the 28th of August, the first annual expenditures should be made prior to July 1, 1877."

The above decision is important, and the following requirements and conditions result therefrom:

First—The date of the beginning and origin of the title to a new lode-claim will be the exact day on which it shall be first discovered by the uncovering and disclosing of the same.

Second—The recorded location notice (or certificate) should, in all cases, state the date on which the discovery was made.

Third—The time in which annual expenditures must be made will begin and end yearly on the date of discovery, not on the date of record.

Fourth—The work of sinking the discovery shaft ten feet deep, or such portion of said work as shall be performed after the date of discovery, may be accounted as a part or a whole, as the case may be, of the first annual expenditure.

Fifth—Claims located prior to January 1, 1872, are not affected by this ruling. The law of Congress requiring annual expenditures not having gone into operation until that date, claims located prior thereto were given a full year to do their assessment work; that is to say, that these old titles may be represented at any time in the year between the first day of January and the last day of the succeeding December.

P. D. WIGGINTON has served his notice of contest before Congress on Pacheco, claiming that Pacheco was not entitled to the certificate issued by Governor Irwin; also claiming that Pacheco did not receive a majority of the votes cast for Congressman in this District, claiming that 500 illegal votes were cast and counted for Pacheco, and that a large number of the votes that were polled for Wigginton were actually counted for Pacheco.

THERE was more truth than poetry in the remark of the defeated Congressman who announced his intention of "never again entering the political aromia."

Wonderful, those olive depths! and wonderful, moreover——"

SECOND TOURIST.

"The red dust that rises in a suffocating way,"

FIRST TOURIST.

"Small is the soul that cannot soar above it,
Cannot but cling to its ever-kindred clay,
Better be yon bird, that seems to breathe and love it——"

SECOND TOURIST.

"Doubtless a hawk, or some other bird of prey.
Were we, like him, as sure of a dinner.
That on our stomachs could comfortably stay
Or were the fried ham a shade or two just thinner.
That must confront us at closing of the day!

"Then might you sing like Theocritus or Virgil:
Then might we each make a metrical essay;
But verse just now, I must protest and urge, ill
Fits a digestion by travel led astray."

CHORUS OF PASSENGERS.

"Speed, Yuba Bill, oh, speed us to our dinner Speed to the sunset that beckons far away."

SECOND TOURIST.

"William of Yuba, O Son of Nimshi, hearken!
Check thy profanity, but not thy chariot's play.
Tell us, O William, before the shadows darken,
Where and, oh, how we shall dine? O William, say!"

YUBU BILL.

"It ain't my fault, nor the kumpeney's, I reckon
Ye can't get ez square meal ez any on the Bay,
Up at yon place, whar the sunset' 'pears to beckon—
Ez thet sharp allows in his airy sort o' way.

"Thar woz a place whar yer hash ye might hev wrestled,
Kept by a woman ez chipper ez a jay—
Warm in her breast all the morning sunshine nestled;
Red on her cheeks all the evening's sunset lay."

SECOND TOURIST.

"Praise is but breath, O chariot-compeller!
Yet of that hash we would bid thee further say."

YUBU BILL.

"Thar woz a snipe—like you—a fancy tourist,
Kem to that ranch ez if to make a stav,
Ran off the gal, and ruined jist the purist
Critter that lived——"

STRANGER (quietly).

"You're a liar, driver!"

YUBU BILL (reaching for his revolver).

"Eh!
Here, take my lines, somebody——"

CHORUS OF PASSENGERS.

"Hush, boys, listen!

YUBU BILL.

"Ef that man lives, the fault ain't mine nor his'n."

STRANGER.

"Wait for the sunset that beckons far away,
Then—as you will! But meantime, friends, believe me,
Nowhere on earth lives a purer woman—nay,
If my perceptions do surely not deceive me,
She is the lady we have inside to-day.

"As for the man—you see that blackened pine tree,
Up which the green vine creeps heavenward away?
He was that scarred trunk, and she the vine that sweetly Clothed him with life again and lifted——"

SECOND TOURIST.

"Yes, but pray—
How know you this?"

STRANGER.

"She's my wife."

YUBU BILL.

The Teamsters of '58.

Mr. George Lowery, of Haverhill, Mass., is one of the few survivors of the body of teamsters for the murder of whom, while under the Mormon escort, Brigham Young is alleged to have issued an order of the nineteenth of April, 1858. Mr. Lowery is very positive that the order had reference to the party of which he was one, and not to the party so brutally murdered at Mountain Meadow the September previous. The surviver states that he was a teamster in Gen. Johnson's expedition against Utah in 1857. He and eight other teamsters separated from that command and started for California. They got lost in the mountains, wandered about for a month, finally coming up into Molada valley, where they were captured by a Mormon sergeant and taken to Box Elder City. From thence they they were taken to Salt Lake City. At that point a party of forty-two teamsters were gathered, who wanted to go to California, and Col. Lee, then in command there, gave permission for their departure, turning them over to Captain Smith, with an escort of seventy-two men proposing to accompany them to Castle Rocks, a distance of 150 miles Before starting they accidently heard of the order from Brigham Young for their massacre at a point 100 miles away, but concluded to arm themselves and take the risk. They purchased guns and ammunition of apostate Mormons, the guns being taken apart and secreted with their ammunition in sacks of flour, constituting a part of their supplies. The party of forty-two were only allowed to take one double barreled gun and a revolver. The teamsters and their escorts had separate camps, and at the end of the first day's march, on entering camp for the night, the teamsters prepared their guns and were ready by morning to give 121 shots without reloading. In the morning the Mormons were astonished to find an armed party in charge, but moved on in another day's march, which took them fifty miles away. On the morning of the third day the Mormons announced their determination to leave the party there, instead of accompanying them to Castle Rocks, and did so, returning to Salt Lake City. Had the teamsters been unarmed they would doubtless have been slaughtered in obedience to Brigham Young's order. They proceeded in safety, reaching California in June, 1858.

A PROMINENT citizen of Austin took it into his head to rise early the other morning and take some healthful exercise before breakfast time. When he got to the first saloon he concluded to go in and take a cocktail; a man needed some little stimulant when he broke over old habits and got up so early. Just one cocktail, and not another drop before breakfast. When he got inside the saloon two men were engaged in an argument on the Eastern question, in which he became so interested that he forgot all about his walk until it was time to go home to breakfast, and every time one or the other of the disputants would get the best of the argument, he would treat the house. When the citizen got home the breakfast was cold, his legs unsteady and his voice thick, and he spoke to his wife with a Russian accent. When she asked him how he enjoyed his walk, and if he didn't know that breakfast was cold, and what made him look and act so queerly, he said: "Bin 'gaged in a nanimated scushion er Rooshin war and tookern-extracocktailertwo." His wife was surprised at the facility with which he had learned a foreign language, but expressed herself in effect that early rising and walks before breakfast were not as conducive to health as lying in bed till breakfast was ready.—Austin Reveille.

The Texas-Rio Grande Question.

The complaints made of Mexican robberies and murders on the Rio Grande, in Texas; cattle stealing and other outlawries which have been reported and for a long while continued, and apparently left with but little, at least with very inefficient efforts to prevent or avenge them—have at length reached the ears of the Government, and even aroused some action. An inquiry is to be commenced to-day in Washington City, and Gen. Ord, who has been in command on the Rio Grande for a good while, is in Washington, for the purpose of receiving instructions from Gen. Sherman. He will be present at the investigation proposed. Texas has, for a long while, proved a very convenient and profitable field for the forays of the Mexican thieves and robbers, who have not always confined their depredations to the stealing of stock. Murder and rapine, generally, have often marked their raids, and the Mexican central Government has either not cared much about such violation of our territory and the rights and lives of our people, or it has been too week to efficiently act for the suppression of those outrages. Occasionally, the Government has issued a proclamation commanding the observance of our international relations, but it has proved a mere paper bullet. The raiding has gone on, notwithstanding; and thus Texas has been made, to a great extent, little better than a pasture for breeding cattle for the Mexican scoundrels.

Our Government has dealt very gingerly with our neighbor beyond the Rio Grande. These cries and complaints have come up often and almost continually from the robbed and often ruined rancheros of Texas. But only ocasionally has the proper remedy been applied. On one occasion an officer of our army took the responsibility, crossed the river and followed the Indians who had located in Mexico and made our territory and Texas herds convenient sources of supply. Doubtless their raids had the active aid of many Mexicans, and Mexico furnished a market and purchasers of the loot which they took across the Rio Grande. It is time that this question were definitely settled. If Mexico is able to prevent these raids, let her do it and at once. But she will not, perhaps cannot. What then? Our own country, our own forces, ought to be authorized to do it. The question of national rights, of the integrity of territory, of the "sacred soil," and all that may be all right, and is so while a Government which claims jurisdiction acts in good faith toward its neighbors. But if it fails to perform the duties which sovereignty implies, there must be some other remedy for the existing evils. The United States Government has endured Mexican raiding quite as long as reason, and forbearance, require. If Mexico sees fit to keep alive forever, and foment the spirit of revolution, and so renders herself unable to supress those outrages upon our people, it plainly becomes the duty of or Government to suppress them by the strong hand, even if our troops have to follow the raiding robbers accross the Rio Grande.—S. F. Alta.

One of the Famous Bridges of the World.

The Cincinnati Southern railway will be famous in the engineering world for its bridges, two of them ranking in certain respects above all others yet constructed. That over the Kentucky river just completed and successfully tested, is the highest as well as one of the longest, in the world, rising to the lofty elevation of 275 feet, with a total length of 1,125 feet. The center span measures 375 feet, the two other spans 300 feet each, and the attachments adding 150 feet more. The next highest bridges in existence are one in Switzerland, 252 feet high, with a span of only 154 feet, and one in the Andes in South America, 252 feet high, with spans of 155 feet. The bridge to be erected for the same railway over the Ohio river will claim pre-eminence for length of span. The channel span will measure 520 feet, and will thus be the longest truss span in the world, exceeding by five feet the great bridge of the State railway across the river Leck, in Holland, and, by the same length, the three spans of 515 feet each across the Mississippi at St. Louis. Engineering skill is constantly growing more daring, and it may almost be said that there is no abyss so deep or so wide that our bridge-builders cannot throw across it a firm highway for the locomotive.

THE boxes containing the telegraphic cut-outs along the line of the Yuma division of the Southern Pacific are the pride of the operators and a source of wonder to the inhabitants or of travelers in the isolated spots where such contrivances are necessary. The telegraph line was recently broken, and Wilson, the repair-man, was sent out from this city to locate and remedy the trouble. He found the break near Volcano, and, after making the circuit whole once more, he examined the box containing the cut-out, situated near the spot where the break occurred. On opening the box he found that a letter, stamped and addressed to a man in San Francisco had been in some way inserted therein, "with the supposed intention," as he telegraphed back, "of having the letter go by the telegraph to its distination." The letter was promptly mailed, and the correspondent in Volcano will probably be a regular patron to the Telegraph Company hereafter.—Los Angeles Express.

VARIOUS THINGS.

"They say the bluffs are mighty high on the south side of the Danube," remarked one of a party who were about to drink at a saloon counter this morning. A thirsty check-guerrilla heard a portion of the remark and seized the opportunity to ring in: "High bluffs, eh? Why, they ain't nothin' to what I see the other night. Why, I see Jim Orndorrf plank up $250 on king high and get away with the pot. Watcha think of that for a bluff?" The look of blank amazement that settled on the countenances of the crowd discouraged the thirsty one, and he walked out. —Virginia Chronicle.

"Experience of life has shown that in life, novels, so to speak, do not develop themselves. A romance begins in a man's or a woman's history, and goes as far as the middle of the second volume, when facts get in the way and bar it. Life in this respect is really like a dream, for affairs move in an interesting and exciting manner so far, and then a slight unnoticed diversion stops the movement and sends it in another direction, to no catastrophe, to no denouement, but only further into the dullness and calm of common-place" —Saturday Review.

A pious hen crawled into a Methodist church in Jefferson City, and laid an egg in the contribution-box. While the minister was making an earnest appeal to his congregation for foreign missions, the hen suddenly left her nest, and, presenting herself in the chancel, cackled most energetically. The deacons discovered the egg when they went forward to get the boxes. The pious hen's contribution was adapted to the domestic rather than to the foreign field.—New York Tribune.

It will be a relief to some persons to know that the distinguished physiologist, Dr. Austin Flint, does not believe in the old rule, "Rise from the table before the hunger is satisfied." The maxim, according to him is very erroneous. He endorses, also, the remark of a country doctor, ninety years old, who said: "I have always eaten when I wanted, and the best I could get."

A Nashville bank-robber burrowed under the street for five days, and at length came up in the coal-vault of a beer-saloon, three doors away from the bank, and bit himself in eleven places with the most uncompromising dog he ever tried to conciliate. The next time he attempts any mining operations he will take a practical engineer along.

Horace Barnes, of Point Morris, Me., contracted in 1850 to recover the $3,000,000 of treasure of the frigate Hussar, which sank ninety-six years ago, near Hell Gate; but after five years' labor and an expense of more than $40,000, he gave it up. He has now, however, secured the services of Sidney Cook, of Presque Isle, Md., a noted diver, and will resume work at once.

New York Court scene: "The fact is," said the lawyer, "one of the defendants has skipped." The Judge looked up in surprise. The learned gentleman on the other side repeated, "Skipped? What does he mean?" "Oh!" replied the plaintiff's lawyer, in confusion, "he can't be found." "Go on," said the Judge.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, JUNE 9.....1877.

TRADE.—Lucien J. Barnes, of the Bureau of Statistics, recently prepared tables showing the movements of bullion, specie and merchandise between the United States and foreign countries. He says at no former period has this country been in such a healthy and favorable condition. For the fiscal year ending June, 1876, the balance in trade and merchandise was in favor of the United States to the amount of nearly $80,000,000 specie. The value of this amount has been nearly doubled during the three-quarters of the present year. If the present very flattering prospects are fulfilled for the remainder of the present fiscal year, Barnes thinks that the balance of trade in merchandise will not be short of $200,000,000 in specie value in favor of the United States, and that we will have received from abroad probably from $20,000,000 to $50,000,000.

IT is said that Byron left an autobiography, which he gave to Tom Moore. The latter sold it to Murray for £2,000 for publication, but subsequently Moore, at the instance of some of Byron's friends, who deemed it totally unfit for publication, bought it back. Among those who read it was Washington Irving, who, in his later days, often gave to his intimate friends many particulars regading this work. It is now stated that the son of one of these friends intends to publish a work under the title of "The Suppressed Biography of Byron," and great indignation is expressed.

A WASHINGTON dispatch states that the express company have instructed their agents that any person may send fractional currency to the United States Treasurer in sums of $500 and upward and receive returns thereof in United States notes or subsidiary silver coin at the expense of the Department. On all shipments fractional currency less than $500 and returns therefor the express charges will not be paid by the Department. The National Banks designated as depositories have been requested to redeem all fractional currency presented to them.

THE Virginia Enterprise is mad. Speaking of the perpetrators of the recent Chisholm outrage in Mississippi, it says: "If English, or French, or Russian, or German justice had been dealt out to these men a dozen years ago, instead of Northern mercy; had some scores of them been hung, and the rest placed under military rule until they come to the conclusion to be decent, many lives would have been saved and the State would have been prosperous years ago."

A WASHINGTON dispatch says it is the opinion of several persons who have talked with the President on the subject, within the past few days, that the silver dollar will be made a legal tender on equal terms with gold, or for some limited amount.

THE circulation of foreign newspapers in France will only be permitted after minute censorship.—Exchange.

This item is positively distressing. We are loser to the extent of 7,359½ subscribers in that country.

THE wires tell us that there is a strong probability of an alliance between England and France. It is said that the late ministerial crisis in France was brought about for this identical purpose.

THE preliminary steps for organizing a new party were taken in Washington lately by Senator Blaine and others in opposition to the President's Southern policy.

THE San Francisco Stock Exchange wants Sargent to resign, and intimates that he is a disgrace to the Republican party.

COUNTY OFFICES.

There seems to be a new departure in Inyo politics, and a sort of political millennium at hand. It comes back to the old idea of the office seeking the man, though there is probably no danger of having to follow the old blue law of imposing penalties if the chosen man declines the honor. But the fact is that anxious seekers for an opportunity to serve the dear people are scarce. Among the present incumbents of the several county offices, there are none announcing themselves as candidates for re-election, or even saying that they will accept of a nomination and agree to make a canvass. There are some of the number whom the people know to be the best officers the county ever had, and it may be that, resting upon their laurels, they rely upon the good sense of voters for a recall to the positions; or what is more probable, they prefer private life and their own business rather than make the expensive canvass which has been the rule hitherto among the successful ones. This state of affairs appears to verify the idea set forth in this journal some four years ago—to the effect that if the salaries were not increased according to the rapidly increasing responsibilities and duties of the various officers there would be no competent men willing to assume the places, or at least willing to become prominent candidates. Two announcements for the office of Sheriff will be found in our columns; nevertheless, the conclusion is, from the scarcity of seekers after public service, that a good and new era of public affairs is at hand; the respective political conventions will be at liberty to chose officers from the whole people, and thus place in the field the best men, irrespective of constitutional place-hunters.

PARDONED.—Without doubt a great many of our readers will remember Jim Wilson, a blacksmith in Lone Pine some six years ago, who was robbed of that alias and taken over to Santa Clara to answer to a charge of murder committed by Jim Haun, when on June 23, 1867, he killed Thos. Walker at Mountain View, Santa Clara county—committing a most unprovoked and cold-blooded murder. Well, the following news item shows how the matter has a present fnterest:

Governor Irwin has pardoned James Haun, who, at the May term, 1872, of the District Court of Santa Clara county was convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to twelve years' imprisonment.

It would appear that our State Executive is rather overdoing this pardon business.

THE jury in the case of Stainbrook, tried at Oroville for the murder of the Chinese at Chico, have rendered a verdict of murder in the second degree. The others indicted for the killing, Charles Slaughter, John Slaughter, Eugene Roberts and F. E. Conway, withdrew their pleas of not guilty, and pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree. The last four received sentence of twenty-five years imprisonment, while Stainbrook got twenty-seven and one-half years.

SEVERAL gentlemen of Virginia City who served as commissioned officers during the late war—two of whom were on the Confederate and three on the Union side—have sent a joint letter to the Turkish Consul at San Francisco, in which they offer to raise a battallion of 500 or 1,000 men, all of whom have seen service, and proceed to Turkey by sea, to serve during the war of that country with Russia.

THE sea holds 60,000,000,000,000 tons of salt. Should the sea be dried up, there would be a deposite of salt over the entire bottom of the ocean 450 feet deep, and if the the salt were taken and spread on the land it would cover it to a depth of 900 feet. The Virginia Enterprise, in giving this item, don't state exactly how it knows.

THE Chronicle may claim first blood in its war with Sargent, Page & Co. At Stockton the Grand Jury ignored the bill for libel presented by these gentlemen, and now we suppose they will have to change their base of operations to San Francisco, if they desire to be "vindicated."

THE San Francisco Post, owned by Senator Jones, denies emphatically that the Senator has undergone any change on the financial question. It says he stands to-day where he always stood, in favor of the hard money double standard.

TEN Broeck made two miles lately in Louisville in 3:27½—the fastest time on record. He now has the best record for two, three or four miles of any horse in the world.

PRESIDENT HAYES has decided to adopt the Jeffersonian doctrine of changing all foreign Ministers who have been in office four years.

IT is said Gen. Butler intends emigrating to Colorado, and will endeavor to secure the Senatorship from the Centennial State.

THE old King of Gaboon, in Africa, is dead, at the age of nearly one hundred. His eldest son, Adaude, at once, on succeeding him, cashiered the hundred women of his father's harem, liberating fifty slaves, and abolished the sacrifice of human beings at religious rites. Admiral Ribaut and staff of the French squadron in the gulf of Guinnea assisted at the cornation ceremonies. The Admiral gave the King a cow and a bull by way of starting a herd of cattle for His Majesty.

SPEAKING of a report that President Hayes will visit, next Summer, some of the old family homesteads on the James river, in Virginia, the Richmond Whig says: "It is not generally known that his (the President's) family, and that of Chief Justice Waite, are of Virginia extraction, which explains their personal interest in the old Commonwealth."

OVER two hundred pages of delinquent tax notices were published in a Chicago newspaper last week. The property affected would seem to comprise almost every lot in the city. The publication will cost the Taxpayers $50,000.

EMPEROR WILLIAM has signed a decree relative to the reinforcement of the garrisons in Alsace and Lorraine.

THE CITY OF ERZEROUM.—The pashalic of Erzeroum is the most important in Asia Minor, including a population of 800,000 people, distributed in 1,500 villages and towns. The chief city is Erzeroum, now being frequently mentioned in connection with the Russo-Turkish war, which has a population estimated at 40,000, besides its garrison. Of these 40,000, 30,000 are Turks, 5,000 orthodox Armenians, and 2,500 Catholic Armenians. In 1827 the population was estimated at 80,000. The number of its inhabitants is constantly changing, however, owing to the great number of people who arrive and depart with the caravans. Pestilence has often made serious inroads upon the population, and emigration has taken many people away. The city contains 28 khans, 13 public baths, 70 mosques and merjids and churches of the Armenian, Latin and Greek Christians. The new part of the town is partly surrounded by an old castellated wall, but a large part of the place is not walled. A deep ditch was excavated round the suburbs some years ago to keep off the Russians. There are some curious and ancient buildings in and around the citadel, and nearly thirty tombs in the shape of circular towers, with conical stone roofs, after an early Saracenic style of architecture, dating, some of them, as far back as the twelfth century. The most elegant buildings ever erected in the city are in ruins, being two colleges, one of them remarkable for its minarets, which were built of fine brick, fluted like Ionic columns, and enameled in some parts with a blue color. The winters in Erzeroum are very severe, owing to the elevation (6,000 feet) above the sea. The plain about the city, which is thirty or forty miles long, formerly contained 100 flourishing villages, but emmigration has depopulated many of them which now lie in waste. The chief trades are dyeing and tanning morocco leather. Great numbers of horses and cattle are reared in the plain. Regarded strategically, the town is not favorably located. Although at a high elevation, it is surrounded on one side by a higher hill, which in the hands of an enemy would render a defense exceedingly difficult. Some of the summits of these hills are continually covered with snow.

DARWIN ITEMS.—The News of Saturday last gives the following:

NEW INCORPORATION.—The Lookout Gold and Silver Mining Company has incorporated, to mine in Inyo county, with $10,000,000 capital stock and the following Directors: Morris Fitzgerald, J. P. G. Miller, H. P. Eayrs, George A. Case, William G. O'Hara, E. C. Hughes, T. A. Wilson and R. Mikkelson.

PROSPECTS.—The dark cloud heretofore cast over "outside" camps by the great Comstock is gradually being dispelled, and the silver lining of Inyo is becoming visible to the most casual observer. Modoc up to the 25th, shipped for last month $83,254.80. New Coso will not be far behind, while old Defiance will soon enter the competive list of "heavy shipments."

DISSOLUTION.—The firm of Paris & Shepard, of late doing business here as merchants, has been dissolved, Mr. L. F. Shepard retiring.

PRESIDENT HAYES says his present embarrassments remind him of Mrs. Hayes' dilemma when she first went to housekeeping. There was a large family of them, and when the eggs were brought into breakfast one member complained that they were boiled too hard, another that they were boiled too soft, and another that they ought only to be warmed through. This thing went on for several days, till at last Mrs. Hayes got tired, and summoning the farm boy and said: "John, we've had enough eggs this season; set the hens." "Now," adds the President, "that's just the way with my policy; it's too hard for some, too soft for others, and what bothers me is how to set the hens."

THE Santa Monica Outlook takes a hopeful view of the event which has resulted in transferring the railroad from that place to this to the great corporation. It believes that the Southern Pacific Company will be led by its business interests to continue to foster the interests of Santa Monica, and that as a watering place the little city by the sea will receive as much encouragement from the new managers of the road as it did from its founder; as Senator Jones has not parted with his interest in the San Vicente ranch, we are impressed with the idea that the sale of the road is surrounded by guarantees which will secure for Santa Monica the utmost consideration.—Los Angeles Express.

THE Reveille, of late, is literally overrun with papers requesting an exchange. While we would like to accommodate them all, we find it impossible to do so, and are obliged to decline any and all new exchanges, with the exception of Nevada papers and, mayhap, the London Times. It is a day's labor for a fast reader to go through the number of exchanges we now receive, and the best we can do is to superficially skim over a portion of them. When the Reveille arrives at the size and dignity of the New York Herald we will welcome to our sanctum every paper in the land. —Austin Reveille, May 30.

Being a daily and sparkling with wit, the Reveille by this exchange business of course feels a draft upon the powers of its press, more especially since it always has been a liberal trader with weeklies; but even THE INDEPENDENT, the with about eighty exchanges, feels that it is somewhat overdoing business. Some papers that we like won't exchange; some that we don't really want claim one through courtesy. After all, hadn't we better buy what we need and sell to those who need ours? The editorial demand for this out of the way sheet might not amount to much, but we start a suggestion of the plan.

THE PRESIDENT'S VIEWS ON THE REMONETIZATION OF SILVER.—Representative Foster called upon the President to-day and had a long interview with him. The main object of his call, it is understood, was to discuss Ohio politics. Foster says the President is certainly in favor of the remonetization of silver. Upon being asked if the Secretary of the Treasury did not disagree with the President on this point, and upon the methods of resumption, Foster replied not necessarily, for the reaon he did not understand that Sherman had reached any definite conclusion on the subject of remonetization of silver. Foster thinks Sherman is a little in doubt as to what policy should be pursued in this regard, as he might be inclined to favor making the silver dollar a legal tender for a limited amount, say $50. It is the opinion of several persons who talked with the President on the subject within the past few days, that he will recommend to Congress that the silver dollar be made a legal tender on equal terms with gold for some limited amount.—Washington Tribune.

PUBLIC DEBT STATEMENT.—The May public debt statement will present a very favorable showing. The debt will be reduced for the month about $6,500,000, making an aggregate reduction for 11 months of the fiscal year of about $35,000,000, which includes the ten million received from Geneva Award Fund and covered into the Treasury. The coin balance, exclusive of the five millions recived from the sale of bonds under the Resumption Act, will be over one hundred millions, of which about forty-eight millions is coin certificates. The currency balance, including the amount held to redeem fractional currency, will be upward of thirteen millions. The customs receipts will be about eleven millions, and the internal revenue receipts about thirteen millions. The amount of legal tenders retired during the month for additional circulation issued to the National Banks has been one million eighty-one thousand. About one-half of the seven millions due for pensions on the 1st of June has been disbursed this month.—Washington Times.

ON the nights of Monday and Tuesday, May 14th and 15th, during the big storm, it is stated that about 10,000 sheep perished about 23 miles northwest of Yosemite Valley—at Aspen Valley, and on the divide to Hazel Green and vicinity. Over 100,000 sheep were up there from Visalia, Fresno, Stanislaus, San Joaquin and the Coast Range—all crowding and trying to get on the summit, to be the first over into Mono county, whether they were wending their destination for feed. Most of the loss occurred in the snow, and our informant states that he saw over 300 dead in one bunch near Crane's Flat—the roads lined with them, and the stench intolerable.—Sonora Independent.

GEN. GRANT has captured the nobility of England. The most distinguished among them are only too glad to extend him royal courtesies. Our cable advices inform us that he is booked ahead for dinners to June 28th, inclusive. He is to dine with the Queen and Earl Derby and attend the Queen's concert and ball at Buckingham Palace. The Prince of Wales, Lord Houghton, Princess Louise and the Marquis of Lorne, and the rest are also dishing up royal hash for the ex-President. There can be no doubt that the General has a sure thing on grub for at least thirty days.—Eureka Sentinel.

STAGE TIME.—We learn from our very efficient Postmaster, Mr. White, that the mail service from here to Aurora and from Aurora to Bellville and Colnmbus has been increased to seven times a week. The schedule time from Carson to Aurora is to be 24 hours; from Aurora to Bellville, 40 hours. We have not learned of any additional stages to be put on, and presume that the additional mail is to be carried by pony as heretofore on off days. The above changes will be greatly appreciated by our Esmeralda and Inyo neighbors who, as a general thing, are wide-awake sort of people. —Carson Tribune.

EXTENSIVE locations of lands are being made on the Colorado Desert under the Desert Land bill. Forty odd thousand acres were so located in the Los Angeles Land Office the other day. We understand that heavy capitalists are behind these locations, who intend to dig ditches and irrigate the lands, and who will probably disburse in this work some $90,000.—Los Angeles Herald.

OUR MONO LETTER.

BENTON, Cal., June 4.

MESSRS EDITORS—We are enjoying delightful weather, warning us of the approach of Summer. In consequence of the past changeful weather many of our estimatable citizens have been prostrated and are now confined to their beds. E. C. Kelty, Esq., at the present is very ill, but in time we hope to see him again upon the streets.

DIED.

James Jasper died Sunday, June 3, at Kelty's Hotel. The deceased had been complaining some time but no one thought there was anything serious ailing him. He leaves a host of friends to morn his departure.

A VARIETY

show visited our town last week and under the able management of Messrs. Wilbar and Willis, gave general satisfaction to all who patronized them. One of the main features of their show is one Golden, a diminutive specimen of humanity who is as comical in his performances as he looks. Barry also took well, as his singing was first-class and from the applause he received the public were well pleased. The showmen made a host of friends, and deserve the patronage of all show-going people.

SPORTING.

Turfmen are daily exercising their horses upon the track. The animals now in town and training for the race are Joe Crabbe's Emigrant, John Kremkow's mare, Highflyer and John Lyfords horse, Dugan. There seems to be some little dissatisfaction in regard to the latter horse, as he appears to be an animal suitable for first-class races instead of a competition for a scrub race. The probabilities are the owner will enter him under some other name. Several other turfmen with animals are expected to-night, which will help enliven times.

PERSONAL.

Assessor Stewart is in town fixing up tax business. W. B. Harbin, Esq., last Friday was prostrated by an apoplectic fit, but through the unremitting attention of Dr. Fetterman, he is now out of all danger. Many of our citizens departed for Independence last Saturday to attend the town site suit.

MINING.

The Comanche and Kerrick have struck it again, and are producing large quantities of ore. Last week I made an inspection of the mines in Yellow Jacket, and was surprised at the number and richness of the ledges in that locality. Among the first visited was the Illinois, owned and worked by Mr. J. Tregembo, who has a shaft one hundred and twenty feet in depth upon the ledge, which has been abandoned on account of water. Mr. Tregembo has set about draining the ledge by running a drain tunnel six hundred feet in length. There is no doubt but that the outlay will net a handsome return. The adjacent mine, owned by R. Lyford, has a shaft of sixty feet in depth upon the ledge, but on account of water Robert is prevented from sinking deeper. He is now taking out some fine ore. The ledge is six feet in width. Before long proper machinery will be upon the grounds for hoisting and pumping. Some San Francisco capitalists will take hold of the mine, furnishing the necessary funds. The Will Seaton mine owned by Chas. Mills, Esq., has a fine body of ore. The owner has a shaft down upon the ledge about sixty feet. The owner is now erecting a whim to facilitate opperations and before long we expect to see her contribute her quota of bullion. The Tower mine caps them all. At present the owners, Messrs. Hightower and Tregembo, are working upon a solid body of ore which assays from $400 to $900 per ton. The mine is bonded to Wm. Adams, late of the Comanche mill and mining company, who is now in San Francisco completing arrangements for milling and hoisting works. If Madam Rumor speaks correctly it will not be long before Yellow Jacket District will be the scene of great activity.

EXCITEMENT.

Last Saturday an individual who had been indulging in too much "tangle foot" caused quite an alarm by atracting the attention of our good people to numerous dogs which had (in his vission) taken possession of his habitation.

POLITICAL.

Democrats are growling at the county committee for not calling a primary election for delegates to county Convention. G. W. Rowan, Esq., is a candidate upon the Republican side for County Clerk. Judge Decker is also a candidate upon the Democratic ticket for County Judge. From what Joseph knows they both stand excellent chances of election.

TOWN SITE.

A good deal of interest and anxiety is manifested by the people in regard to the issue. The claim of E. C. Kelty concerns every property holder here and if decided adversely to the citizens will completely bankrupt the majority. Popular opinion here is against the claimant and in favor of the people.

AGRICULTURE.

Our farmers are bringing radishes, onions, potatoes and beets into market. All express a decided opinion that this will be an exceptional season.

Yours in clover.

JOS. ABSQUASH.

UNDER the head of "Good Times Coming," the Carson Tribune publishes the following: From a Storey county gentleman who ought to know, we learn that the prospects for a raise in the stocks of Comstock mines were never better than at this time. That destroyer of the peace of mind of thousands, the Belcher mine, has a body of ore partially developed that in a short time will make those who got so ruthlessly slaughtered two years ago grind their teeth and make them exclaim, "Oh wretched man that I was to buy on a margin." All along the line, if all are not liars who make the assertion, there will shortly occur such a stock jump that will astound the played out margin buyer, and those who have coin will repent their foolish acts and purchase on a margin again.

MANSLAUGHTER.—An examination of Thomas Eveleth before Justice McVicar, at Tehachapi, for the killing of Wm. Dipple, resulted in holding him for manslaughter. Proof by the witnesses present was that Dipple was intoxicated and in a brawling way called those present, as he entered the saloon, vile names, which Eveleth resented, but was prevented at the time from doing the man any injury. Dipple then stepped out of doors, and soon returned with a pick handle, instead of a revolver, as the account first stated, when Eveleth, who had procured a pistol from behind the bar, immediately fired, the ball hitting Dipple in the cheek, passing through and cutting the spinal cord, killing him instantly. Dipple had the reputation of being a peaceable and industrious man, though when intoxicated he was abusive if not violent. Tehachapi is becoming notorious for deeds of blood, and it will not recover its former reputation for peace and quietness till the magistrates act with proper severity towards a class of men who seem to consider the shooting of a man a mere pastime. It appears that the deceased had drunk at the bar with Eveleth and others several times, and when he became enraged with drink nothing was done to pacify him, but on the contrary, one of his companions, instead of going away from him, provides himself with a pistol, and without even waiting to see if the drunken man could be disarmed of his club, fires the fatal shot. The people of Tehachapi owe it to the whole community to see that such deeds of violence and murder are no longer tolerated. They reflect upon the whole county, and attach to all its people a reputation for violence inconsistent with our peaceful surroundings.—Bakersfield Courier, May 31.

A RICH FIND.—For a long time past A. O. Bell, who lives near Rock creek, about three miles from Auburn, has been prospecting on various quartz ledges, but with very meagre success. About four weeks ago he began sinking a shaft on a ledge known as the "Life Preserver," which paid well from the commencement, and has increased all the way down. The shaft is now about 30 feet deep. From Monday morning till Wednesday noon he took out, it is estimated, between $30,000 and $40,000, $7,000 of which was taken out in an hour. This statement is corroborated by parties who have seen it. The ledge is about one foot in thickness, and mostly decomposed rock. The mine is now shut down and well guarded. One small specimen, worth about $400, is on exhibition at the bank. Mr. Bell on Wednesday sold his mine for $20,000 to some parties from Inyo county. There is considerable excitement and all the vicinity is being taken up. —Placer Argus.

WE saw the new patent reflector, which is attached to the locomotive Inyo, and it certainly is the most unique arrangement ever patented. It is about six inches square and is affixed to the front part of the window of the engineer's cab. As he sits in his place the engineer can see reflected the whole train behind him and also the track, every wheel is plainly visible, and the least break can be discerned instantly. The reflector gives a complete panorama of the whole surrounding country, and by its aid nothing can escape the watchful eye of him who controls the locomotive of the train.—Carson Tribune.

EX-GOVERNOR CHAMBERLAIN, of South Carolina, was admitted to the New York bar, last Saturday. He speaks well of Hampton's administration. In regard to Hayes' South Carolina policy, he called it an experiment, the wisdom of which only will be known when it has had a fair trial.

HUNDREDS of thousands are trying to believe that alcoholic drinks are good for them. Do you want to be one of these wretched men? If we are to have drukards in the future, some of them are to come from the boys. Do you want to be one of them? No? Of course you don't.

THE steamship City of San Francisco, belonging to the Pacific Mail Steamship Co., ran on a sunken rock on the Mexican coast this week and sunk. No lives were lost, but the steamer is a total loss.

THE Scherif of Mecca has placed the treasures of the Holy Shrine, the accumulated money gifts from pilgrims, at the Sultan's disposal. The treasures aggregate 200,000,000 piasters, $4,000,000.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, JUNE 9.....1877.

☞ Political announcements will be charged for at the rate of $10 each, with absolutely NO EXCEPTION to the rule of advance payment.

THE COMING FOURTH.—As a matter of routine, it is in perfect order for Independence to take the necessary steps to arrange for an observance of the coming national holiday; it is the central town of the valley and fully as able to take the matter in hand as any other; on the days immediately preceeding and following the Fourth of July there will be big crowd here in attendance upon the political conventions; numerous families and amusement seekers of Cerro Gordo, Lone Pine, Big Pine and Bishop Creek have signified intention of spending the day here; the Beaudry Brass Band is open to engagement to lend a new (for this county) feature to the affair; this place has three organizations which might readily make a complete success of the whole business; THE INDEPENDENT would contribute the necessary printing and advertising toward maintaining the social status of the place—but notwithstanding all this there is no move on the part of anybody to do anything, and the county town which enjoys the reputation of being able to force people to come here and spread money as litigants, juryman and witnesses cannot afford to spend a few days' time or any money toward decently entertaining people when they want to come. We suppose it is all right, but from all present appearances outsiders need not look to Independence to provide any public celebration of the coming Fourth of July.

STAGE BUSINESS—For this end, the past month the Northern Line has shown a heavier business than during any two months for years past. The passenger travel is about equal both ways, showing neither a marked outgo or income of people. Of course the local travel consequent upon the court sessions has had something to do with the company's business, but the larger portion of proceeds has come from through passengers. The Division Agents and Drivers, from Al Harkness and "Johnny" Novacovich on the north down southward to E. R. Miner and the chief boss at this end, Mr. J. M. Clarke, are all pretty good "Injuns." The mail contracts in this section stand in the name of Smith, as they have for a long time, but the actual parties are Messrs. Tuller & Clugage. The senior member of the firm died lately in Indiana, after an unsettled copartnership account of thirty years standing with Mr. Clugage. The latter named gentleman is well known here, and is expected to arrive within a few weeks.

COUNTY FINANCIAL BUSINESS.—The certificate of the County Judge and County Auditor, upon their last monthly examination of the funds in the County Treasury, sets forth that on May 30 they found there the sum required by the Auditors account—$9,495 88, of which there were warrants redeemed amounting to $1,171 45; certificates of deposit for $7,916 20, and cash to balance $408 23. The Assessor's settlement shows that he has collected 233 poll taxes amounting to $506; 244 road poll taxes, $488; and 5 dog taxes. The amount collected upon personal property was $945 08, and the total amount paid into the treasury by such officer was $1,785 50, being the sum collected exclusive of commissions. The Tax Collector paid in for licenses sold only $235 50, as against the sum of $670 paid for the month previous.

THE BENTON LAND CASE.—Commencing on Monday last, the Register and Receiver of this Land Office were engaged in hearing testimony on the part of the contestants (the citizens) in the land contest involving the issue of a patent to E. C. Kelty for the land now occupied by the town of Benton. The proceedings occupied three days, during which time six witnesses were examined. Mr. Kelty and witnesses were not present except by counsel, A. R. Conklin, Esq., and his side is to be heard within twenty days, dating from the 5th instant. The townsfolks are represented by Messrs Bennett & Moffat, who will, after the evidence for Kelty's side of the case is in, have twenty days more to present testimony in rebuttal.

INCORPORATIONS.—Articles of incorporation of the Arctic Gold and Silver Mining Company were filed in the County Clerk's office May 30. Capital stock $7,500,000, divided into 5,000 shares. Directors—R. D. Coldren, Geo. C. Potter, Z. S. Spalding J. P. Davy and Joseph W. Ward. Object, to mine in Kearsage District. The same Directors also file a certificate of the incorporation of the Boomerang Gold and Silver Mining Company, with the same amount of capital stock and shares, and with the same object. The Lookout Consolidated also filed a certificate on the same date, a notice of which is given elsewhere.

DECIDED.—A decision, so far as the local land office is concerned, has been rendered in the contested land matter of David B. James and Daniel Lightner, involving the title to the Hot Springs property, situated near Havilah, in Kern county. The decision contains an exhaustive review of a great mass of facts and evidence, and sets forth that upon various counts Lightner is entitled to the property in issue.

FOR SHERIFF.—The announcement of John Pattie, of Darwin, as a Democratic candidate for Sheriff will be found this week. We believe that Pattie will prove himself fully competent to fill the position if successful in getting it.

EXPRESS LETTERS—.There are letters remaining uncalled for in Wells, Fargo & Co's. office for Charles O'Brien, Frank Perkins, S. D. Prudencie Masias, Joseph McDermott, C. S. Magguier, and J. Regnier.

ECLIPSE MILL.—A brief visit to the Eclipse Gold Mining Co's. mill by a representative of this institution is noted, but an invitation to go through the mines could not be accepted on account of lack of time. Everything about the mill shows activity and an earnestness on the part of Superintendent Nelson to make the concern pay. The six new patent self feeders for the 30 stamps are the finest and the greatest labor saving device ever introduced in a quartz crushing mill. The feeder is connected by a rod with each of the stamp stems, and the stroke of the stamp regulates the whole business much more evenly than a man could possibly do, and more especially after the feeder has worked out a long shift and becomes fatigued in the monotonous operation. The crushing department is now more than equal to the capacity of the pans, and but little difficulty is experienced in the way of water to furnish power sufficient for running all 30 stamps at the same time. From 30 to 35 tons of ore is crushed per day—of twenty-four hours—and judging from the immense piles of rock and the loaded cars arriving continuously, the miners are equal to the all important task of keeping the mill supplied. At present Charley Dale is boss foreman in the mines and Mr. Nelson superintends in person the mill and everything in general. Thursday the mill was shut down for a few hours in consequence of the lignum-vitae stem, on which the large turbine water wheel rests, becoming deranged; a new one was introduced and all moved on as smoothly as before. A slight accident occured at the mine the same day in which a loaded car containing two tons of ore broke from the cable on the heavy incline, breaking the car and dumping the load promisciously. Bullion returns, value of ore, etc., will be order next time.

THE BIG PINE DITCH.—John Alexander, who has been lately engaged on the work of surveying for the Big Pine and Owens River Canal, reports some of the particulars of the enterprise as follows: The total length of the canal as surveyed is eleven miles, starting at a point on the river ten miles above the settlement of Big Pine. The ditch in width is eight feet on the bottom and twelve feet on top, with the exception of the first mile at the head of the ditch, which is calculated to be eight feet on the bottom and ten feet on top. The depth of the ditch below grade is eighteen inches; the deepest cut is in the second mile, crossing a sand ridge, which is eight feet nine inches, the length of which is a little less than three quarters of a mile. For the rest of the work there is little cutting or embanking to do. The heaviest grade is two feet to the mile, ranging from that to ten inches fall per mile. The land covered by the improvement under way comprises many thousand acres of the finest "sage brush" soil in the valley, and it is the intention of the company to push the thing through to completion as rapidly as possible. The ditch will carry, according to the surveyor's estimate, a continuous body of water equal in volume to 15 cubic feet, flowing at the rate of two miles per hour. The company's new stock subscription book is now in the hands of the Secretary, J. J. Moore, at Big Pine, where those wishing to help in the enterprise as well as to procure some stock which will become a permanently paying thing, can subscribe.

THE SHOW.—Our old time Inyoite and earthquake sufferer, T. A. Gardner, unexpectedly dropped in on us during the week, and after "papering" the "dead walls" with some unique painting, announced that he was for the nonce advance agent of a show company—the Wilbar & Willis' variety troupe. The latter duly appeared to an Independence audience on Thursday night last and again last evening. They were greeted with good houses, and the show is really the best which has ever passed through this section. Their line is the minstrel business, and they do it well—have two or three good cards, the whole company comprising six people. The "Little General" is worthy of special mention, as being perhaps the only human so formed as to possibly become an imitator of the celebrated Little Mack. He is even better at home in burnt cork than Mack—but our Lokleitems will not proceed to go into comparisons further. Suffice it that we think the show is good, and that the boys have conducted themselves well. They appear in Lone Pine to-night, and go from thence to Darwin, expecting to return this way again.

BALL AT CERRO GORDO.—The opening of the Union Hotel at Cerro Gordo, on Monday night last, was signalized by a grand ball and supper, without doubt one of the best affairs of the kind ever held on the hill. It is only of late that the presence of a sufficient number of ladies rendered an occasion of the kind among the possibilities, but the following list of the ladies present, with their liege lords and escorts, goes to show that society matters are immensely on the improve in that country. Mesdames Hunter, Samuels, Henry, Young, Anderson, Chase, Anderson, Barrigan, Salazar, Jenkins and Miss Carmalita. The house was appropriately decorated, the repast most excellent, and the music by the Hoskin brothers and their support. The succes of the entertainment warrants the proprietors, Messrs. Issendorf & Tanner, in intimating that they may try it again on or about July 4th.

BULLION SHIPMENTS.—The season of Rex Montis bullion shipments has opened, Superintendent Holt having shipped fine bullion to the value of $2,800 during the past two weeks. With our knowledge of the whole matter so far, we prophesy that the Rex Montis will prove to be for the present season the most productive 5-stamp mill on the Coast.

SICK.—Geo. W. Brady, who has been at the point of death for nearly a week, is reported to-day noon as being slightly better, under the treatment of Drs. Matthews and Colleau.

ANOTHER OLD MINER GONE.—The death of N. F. Coburn, which occurred at Lone Pine last Thursday, has not been unexpected for some weeks past. He was from Ohio, 52 years of age, and was among the early pioneers of Owens River, having come to this country from Esmeralda in 1862. He was a man well liked by all, having a kindly and most generous disposition—such a one as made him more liberal toward others than careful for himself. His remains were interred in the Lone Pine cemetery yesterday, attended to their final resting place by the largest concourse ever gathered in the valley. Prior to coming here, the deceased was a resident of Sierra County, Cal., and previously from Navarro County, Texas, where he left a daughter by the name of Pamelia, from whom he has not heard for several years. She is named in his will as sole heir to his property and the Executor of the Estate, John Locas, is anxious to discover her whereabouts if living. Messrs. Bennett & Moffat, attorneys, publish an advertisement elsewhere in relation to the matter.

ARRIVED.—The new manager, Mr. Richard Gommoe, has arrived to take charge of the Eclipse mill, and preparatory to a successful new start, the mill is now being cleaned up and put in perfect repair for a long and successful run. Mr. Gommoe feels sure of success, and to aid him Chas. Dale, foreman of the mine, has recently uncovered some very rich ore in sinking the shaft, which are it is reported eclipses everything heretofore worked. No doubt the Eclipse is on the eve of a prosperous career.

IN A NEW BUSINESS.—From being a successful furnace man (at Cerro Gordo), Sheriff of Inyo, and an unsuccessful furnace man again (at Wallapi), A. B. Elder has gone into the ranching and sheep business, having lately brought up some 4,000 head from the Los Angeles country. He has 3,000 more coming, and proposes eventually to irrigrate and turn a section of sage brush into alfalfa for the purpose of maintaining his herds.

THE artesian well enterprise is again under way in Lone Pine, it being proposed to sink this time at least 200 feet.

GIGANTIC SPIDERS.—In the sands of Central Asia a huge spider exists which is known popularly as the "Grandfather Greybeard," which has long hair, "and, when walking, seems as large as one's two fists." This formidable insect is given to biting when irritated, and with its jaws makes four little holes in the flesh. The bite is poisonous, though not deadly. Its victim feels at first no more discomfort than from the sting of a gnat; but after a time the pain spreads over the whole body, and is accompanied with fever and great exhaustion. A Chinese traveler states that the body of this loathsome creature is the size of a butter-nut; and of the smaller ones that of a walnut. Spiders of such dimensions, with their big, hairy bodies lifted upon long, stout legs, must be frightful adversaries in a small way as one would be likely to encounter in any experience amid the haunts of wild animals.

A GENTLEMAN traveling through one of the rural precincts of a county, a few days since, rode up to a farm-house and thus accosted a curly-headed urchin, who was seated on the top of a gate-post: "Bub, where's your pa?" The youngster replied: "He's just gone down beyond the cow shed to bury our old dog, Towser. The old fool killed himself a barking at candidates for sheriff. Be you one?"

SAYS the San Francisco Stock Exchange: Mrs. J. W. Mackey is reported to have sent from Paris, to a San Francisco dentist, to come there and pull a tooth for her. We do not doubt that that excellent lady has seen the time when a well waxed thread and a strong grip would have been all sufficient to yank out any tooth in her head—but in those days the bonanza was not.

THERE are some confiding people left in Troy. An apple woman in that city will trust an alderman over Sunday for fifty-five cents' worth of fruit, but it may be added that she's around mighty early Monday morning.

"WHAT object do you now see" asked the doctor. The young man hesitated for a few moments and then replied: "It appears like a jackass, doctor, but I rather think it is your shadow."

"Go Ahead with the Funeral."

Those parties in Los Angeles, who are now blatantly crying out against Senator Jones, and calling Santa Monica a fraud and other hard names, remind us of a "little story," as Abraham Lincoln used to say: In a certain village there was a lazy, vagabondish fellow, who seldom had anything to eat except the "bread of charity." So it was determined to bury him. A box being procured, and his worthless carcass placed in it, the party started for the graveyard. Upon the route they met a kind-hearted, sympathetic man who, upon ascertaining their purpose, offered to give the man a bag of corn. Hearing this the corpse raised up, and in a drawling tone inquired, "Is it shelled?" "No," replied the donor. "Then go ahead with the funeral," said the fellow, and laid down. The people of Los Angeles had a railroad given to them. But, instead of taking hold and using it, they allowed it to languish for the want of proper support. Instead of accepting sixteen miles of road, and trusting to the future for further favors, they wanted a hundred or two miles more. As Senator Jones didn't see proper to "shell the corn," the funeral has been allowed to "go ahead!" —Santa Monica Outlook.

JUDGE DYKMAN has nipped in the bud a very pretty little legal expedient. A husband alleging that his acts of violence toward his wife occurred only when he was in the delirum of fever, the Judge declares that he hasn't proved it in the first place, and, in the second place, it wouldn't make any difference if he had. Temporary insanity has been worn threadbare; if it had not been for this decision, temporary delirium might have come into vogue—it may yet. It is much milder and more accommodating phrase, and may have a great future before it in marital jurisprudence. Murder, under the impulse of temporary delirium, would hardly seem to be murder at all, and when a man wanted to step outside of any of the other Ten Commandments he would need only to go out of his head. The less trouble that took, the easier the theory. Let the lawyers think of it.—N. Y. Tribune

SECRETARY THOMPSON has inaugerated in a quiet way a reform that may have important results. A Senator, making his customary draft upon the Department for places in a navy-yard, is referred to the Commandment at that point, with the distinct intimation that the Secretary does not propose to stock the navy-yards hereafter with political appointees. If Secretary Thompson can purify the navy-yards, he can purify anything, and it is too soon yet to predict his success. But it is enough for the present to enjoy the astonishment of a Senator of the United States, who has been accustomed to have his drafts for patronage promptly honored by the Secretary of the Navy in person, but now finds himself coolly "referred"—a Senator "referred"!—to the Commandment of the Yard—a mere military person, with no appreciation of "the wants of "the party."—N. Y. Tribune.

ACCORDING to general report the primaries in Fresno and Kern have been very favorable to the nomination of Hon. Thomas Fowler for Senator, and he is regarded as the candidate of the party, as he is believed to have secured a majority of the democratic delegates in this district for that position. An impression seems to have become current that the Detta would support the nomination, which we presume arose from the circumstance that we merely expressed a preference for him over the other aspirants whose names have been mentioned in connection with the office.—Visalia Delta.

SOME FUNNY THINGS.

When the oxy-hydrogen microscope was first exhibited at Edinburgh, a poor woman, whose riches would never hinder her ascent to the kingdom above, took her seat in the lecture-room where the wonders of the instrument were shown, and which were for the first time to meet her sight. A piece of lace was magnified into a salmon net, a flea was metamorphosed into an elephant, and other like marvels were performed before the eyes of the venerable dame, who sat in silent astonishment, staring, open-mouthed, at the disk. But when at length a milliner's needle was transformed into a poplar tree, and confronted her with its huge eye, she could "hold in" no longer. "My goodness!" she exclaimed, "a camel could get through that! There's some hope for the rich folk yet."

At a recent meeting, in which there was much religious interest, an old man gave expression to his joy by shouting, and continued it until it began to interrupt the services. Brother H. said to Brother W., "Go and stop that old man's noise." He went to him and spoke a few words, and the shouting man at once became quiet. Brother H. asked Brother W., "What did you say to the old man that quieted him so promptly?" Brother W. replied, "I asked him for a dollar for foreign missions."—Senoia (Ga.) Home and Farm.

Romance and reality—Ethelinda (fresh from a boarding-house romance); Oh, darling, 'twere bliss to see that manly brow, guerdoned with helm and plume—that manly breast encased in gleaming, silvery curass—and to behold you, as you rode forth on your snowy charger, with waving falchion, flashing eye, and head erect. George: Until a ball from a Krupp five miles off knocked it (very much) into a cocked hat. (Collapse)—Funny Folks.

"Mamma," said a little five-year-old, "what is a widow and what is a widower?" The mother explained to the little fellow, and by way of further explanation, said: "If you should grow up and get married and your wife should die, why, then you would be a widower." "Oh no, I wouldn't," says the little fellow: "I'd court another girl." It occurred in New Bedford.

An Illinois clergyman is reported to have said the other day at the laying of the corner-stone of a new meeting house: "If boys and girls do their sparking in church, I say amen to it. I have a daughter whom I cherish as the apple of my eye. When she is of suitable age I would rather she should be courted in the house of God than in a theatre."

The late President Finney's prayer on the Franco-German war is now appropriate. He lifted up his voice and said: "O Lord, how long? how long? Bring this war to a speedy close. Lord, they go on killing women and children and burning villages; and they call this civil warfare, O Lord, did you ever hear of anything so ridiculous?"

A boy five years of age having stolen a can of milk, his mother took him to task with moral suasion, and wound up her discourse by exclaiming: "What in the world were you going to do with the milk?" "I was going to steal a dog to drink it," was the crushing reply.

"My dear fellow," said Beau Hickman to a waiter at a hotel, "I have a respect for flies; indeed, I may say I am fond of flies—but I like to have them and my milk in separate glasses, you mix so much better when you have control of both ingredients."

"Mornin', neighbor," said a West Rutlander to an acquaintance; "hev ye seen the new soldiers' monument up to the sand-blast factory? It's a mighty fine one, an' is goin' to be shaped like an esophagus."

"Look here, Jim, there's a hole knocked out of this bottle you gave me." "Why, not at all; there's the hole in it now; if it was knocked out, how could it be there?"

A cynical old bachelor says: "Ideas are like beards; men only get them when they are grown up, and women never have any."

ABOUT NOSES.—There are three national noses among civilized people, and only three—the Jewish, the Grecian and the Roman. Each is of a description totally different from the other two, and all three have a distinct character of their own. The Jewish is the only national nose now remaining; the Greek and the Roman are occasionally reproduced among modern nations, but as national characteristics exist not longer. That the ancient Jews attached no slight importance to this feature is evinced from Leviticus xxi. where "he that hath a flat nose" is ranked with the blind and the lame, and the crook-backed, the scurvy and the scabbed, and is forbidden to take part in the service of the sanctuary.

The Greek nose has come down to us in the Greek sculptures, and certainly accords better with our Northern ideas of personal beauty than any other. Seen in profile the outline is almost a continuation without curve or deviation of the outline of the forehead, and would seem, phenologically considered, quite in harmony with the unparalled progress of the Greek in art, science and philosophy. Among us moderns the perfect Greek nose is extremely rare, save on the canvass of our painters.

The Roman nose is the very incarnation of the idea of combativeness, and suggests the notion that it borrowed from a bird of prey.

THE public school house at Bakersfield, which cost about $6,000, a year ago, was burned by an incendiary on the night of the 5th, rags and coal oil being the instrumentalities. Insured for $4,500.

A YOUNG Indian girl who had curiously watched the process of marking barrel heads in a flouring mill in Winona, Minn., stole in one day, and taking possession of the stencils, ornamented her blanket with the words "Ellsworth's Choice," and paraded the streets in great delight, but to the disgust of Mr. Ellsworth, who is a bachelor, and had made no such choice.

THE Atlanta Constitution says that to be a man and not be a "colonel" is preposterous, and asks what Georgia would do without her hundred thousand "colonels."

AS THE great temperance wave rolls over the land, sample rooms, with private entrances leading into back alleys, are anticipating better business.

A NOVEL SUGGESTION.

The nominating Conventions of the respective political parties meet at this place on the 3d and 5th of July, proximo. Even among the few candidates for local offices there is a manifest indifference as to whether they are placed in the field or not; and on the part of the people there is an openly expressed determination to cast ballots simply in accordance with the voter's idea of who are the best men, in utter disregard of party or party nominations. We are of course not including the position of Member of Assembly, which has a political importance attached for the reason that the successful man has a vote for United States Senator—though the Representative elect might not be able to specifically define what the real differences between the two great parties are to-day. However, party expectancy and discipline would compel him to vote for a partisan identified with his own political organization, and for that reason there is a necessity for distinct nominations by the two Conventions. Some of the county official positions go begging for candidates on either side; one or two others will be accepted by only one man on one side or the other, and only in regard to the Shrievality are there two candidates in one party.

With these premises we may state the idea—that both parties meet in joint convention the 4th of July, and mutually place in the field such men for the positions as are agreeable to both; for Legislator and Sheriff let them elect that their respective chosen ones shal' be pitted against the other—thus ap- pealing direct to the power of the b- lots of the people, which of course re- the whole matter anyway. TELEGRAPH TALK.

During the week R. R. Haines, Superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company for the Southern District of California, has been with us and endeavoring to obtain subscriptions to the amount of one-third of the entire cost of constructing a line from Mojave to this place. His company guarantees to build the line at once, if this amount is raised by the people here. He visited the mining Superintenents here and at Lookout, as also the principle business men, and met with encouragement from all. The mine Superintendents, of course, have not the authority to subscribe for any stock in any enterprise of this kind. They can only recommend to the Board of Directors. Mr. Haines will at once confer with the Directors of the different companies, and, after obtaining their signatures, will probably visit our section again to see what can be obtained from men engaged in other business, who of course feel that the owners of mines should take the initiative. If the mine owners show a lack of faith in the permanency of the country, it cannot be expected that the merchants and others, whose business and existence depend entirely upon the success of the mines, will take any stock at all. Let the Directors start the ball rolling, and we know the liberal sentiments of our business men will not let them be laggard in the matter. The importance of having telegraphic communication with San Francisco and other places can hardly be overestimated. Our stocks would soon appreciate to a figure commensurate with the real value of the mines. We remember the inquiries made of us, when we were below a year ago, in regard to our mines, and which of the stock would be best to invest in. All seemed anxious to deal in them, but when we told them had no telegraph and only every-other day, they at once said, "we can do nothing with them; it takes too long to hear from Darwin." Our camp is a new one, to be sure, but for one of its size and amount of business transacted here, we cannot for the life of us see why the building of a telegraph line has been so delayed. Now that the matter has assumed a tangible shape we hope there will be no cessation of the most strenous efforts being made to carry it to completion.—Coso Mining News.

AS WE understand the matter, the agent of the Western Union proposes that the people of Darwin and vicinity subsidize the new line to the extent of $6,000, upon the accomplishment of which preliminary the company will construct and maintain a line from Darwin to Mojave, a distance of 100 miles. To accept the proposition would be simply submitting to a gouge game on the part of one of the wealthiest corporations in the country, and would be admitting altogether to much on general principles. We know that the line when completed would pay for its own maintenance and interest on cost of construction—a fact which has not escaped the observation of the company, else they would have no idea of so establishing their lines at all, even with this heavy bonus as an additional inducement. And the facts are, furthermore, that telegraph contractors in San Francisco would be glad of a chance to build such a line for the Darwin people at a less cost than $10,000. The consideration of owning a paying property themselves ought to be sufficient to induce the interested mining companies and the people, who know the real resources of the country, to put up the additional $4,000 and build an independent line—thus securing all of the advantages and some of the profits. Where the telegraph monopolies have not finally purchased such local lines it is always their policy, in pursuance of their own best interests, to allow a perfectly fair rebate on through messages received from such, and this consideration the Western Union would have to allow us. Our advice to Darwin, is to either let the subsidy proposition alone and wait for the inevitable coming of a railroad and its concomitant of instantaneous communication with the outside world, or else go ahead and put in a few more dollars and build a line of their own. In that event the mine owners further north and the valley people will take up the wire and stretch it to this point or on to Bishop and Benton. According to present calculation there will, within the next two months, be a local line in this neighborhood stretching some 20 miles in the right general direction, in sections reaching from the Eclipse mine to the mill; from thence to Independence, connecting with the line from here to Camp Independence, and from there to Smith's lumber flume and saw mill. Let us continue the good work and have a telegraph belonging to an Inyo company.

THE SMALL WAR CLOUD.

A memorandum was submitted to Secretary Evarts June 7, by the Mexican Minister, in the nature of a protest against the recent action of the Cabinet instructing the Military Commander of the Southwest to pursue marauders into Mexican territory. It is similar in terms to the protest four years ago after the invasion of Mexican soil by Gen. MacKenzie in pursuit of Kickapoo Indians. The Minister expresses the hope that no similar act will be committed, and that if any measures are deemed necessary in order to remedy the evils on the frontier such measures will be adopted and carried out by both Governments jointly, since an incursion of foreign troops into the territory of Mexico, besides being at variance with the principles which govern nations in time of peace, may in his country bring the Administration into very serious conflicts and materially disturb the peace of the Republic. The last consideration would, he says, probably be sufficient for a friendly Government, for it will not wish to run the risk of causing trouble to its neighbor when it relies upon the good will of the latter to secure the just end which it seeks to attain. Another dispatch says that Lerdo de Tejada, now in New York, writes to the World in relation to a recent order for American troops to cross the Mexican border in certain contingencies, saying: "It is to be hoped no such case as the order contemplates may arise, nor any cause of misunderstanding between the two countries. If, unfortunately, this hope should not be verified, Mexico could not consent to allow American troops in her territory without submitting to a violation of her rights as a sovereign and independent nation. I must say, therefore, not only in my name but in that of all supporters of Constitutional Government, that neither for the purpose of restoring it, nor for any purpose, can we fail to fulfill our duty in the presence of any peril to the autonomy and rights of Mexico. The Constitutional Government will seek to help save from the opinion and action of the Mexican people, holding sacred above all things the honor, integrity and independence of the country." Notwithstanding these little forms of diplomacy on the part of Mexican representatives, it does not appear that the administration intends allowing the greaser border ruffians to continue to maraud and steal, without punishing them, even if it is necessary to invade the soil of a "sister Republic."

COMMENCING EARLY.—The Prescott Enterprise of June 2, gives the details of the killing of Ramon Salazar, a boy of 14, by a rifle ball through the head fired by Joe Masse, another boy of only 7 years. Joe told Ramon that if he did not let another boy alone with whom he was playing he would get shot; whereupon, he went into his mother's house, got a gun, put a cap on it, came out and blazed away with the result stated. The Enterprise adds: "The affair created a great deal of excitement, although the general impression in the community is that when Joe fired the gun he was utterly unconscious of the fatal consequences of his act; and his tender years would point to this as the correct theory. The story contains a lesson to parents. We have noticed a number of boys lately with guns in their hands. Fireams should be kept out of the reach of children. Had proper precautions been taken, the tragedy of Wednesday would not have occurred."

PRESIDENT HAYES has received a large bust of himself from the Louisiana Constitutional Union Association, as a mark of appreciation of his Southern policy.

FIRES.—Galveston, Texas, has had a $1,500,000 blaze, and Bridgeport, Conn., has suffered a like visitation, with a number of lives lost.

MINING ITEMS.—The Mining News of Saturday last says:

The Defiance hoisting machinery was started up yesterday morning. We expect to see the furnaces going within a short time.

The Modoc mine shipped for the month of May last bullion to the value of $95,827.65. Pretty good for a "little outside mine."

Work upon the Cuervo mining property, under the Superintendency of Mr. Rodda, is being vigorously prosecuted. The indications and prospects for an excellent mine are first-class, and we hope that in our next we shall be able to report something very fine as regards ore bodies, as also to give a definite report of the intentions of the company as to future operations.

THE Kern county Democratic Convention presents the following ticket: Sheriff, W. R. Bower; Clerk, R. C. May; District Attorney, J. W. Freeman; Treasurer, C. Pemberton, Auditor, E. E. Calhoun; Surveyor, — McMurdo; Coroner, A. A. Mix. At the close of the session the following resolution was offered and rejected: "Resolved, that the Delegates to the Joint Convention be instructed to cast their votes for one of the candidates from Kern county for Senator." The resolution was offered upon the conceded claim of the county to the Senator, but the rejection was emphatic enough to show that the slate had on it the name of Tom Fowler, of Tulare.

AFTER all the hue and cry about extravagance and swindling in Pacific Coast mining affairs, even admitting that the public had just cause for complaint in numerous instances, it appears that mining stocks simply followed the precedent offered by the miscellaneous stocks of the Eastern States. The shrinkage in the New York stock market of all stocks amounts to the enormous sum of $136,000,000. The fluctuations have been exceedingly violent. Thus, in New Jersey Central was selling last year for 109⅞. It has been down as low as 7½ this year. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul touched 46⅝ last year. It has been selling for 11. The preferred stock of the same road sold last year for 84¾. It has been selling this year for 40⅞. The Delaware and Hudson Canal brought 125 in 1876. It has been a drug in the market at 46. Erie was selling a short time ago for 4⅝. It had been 53⅜. The Illinois Central brings 40½. The ruling rate had been 103¾. Even Vanderbilt's road has suffered. The New Central and Hudson River was quoted last year at 117½. It fell to 85¼ this year. In New Jersey Central we have the counterpart of Overman, which, with us, is the awful example. The latter fell from 116 to 4½. New Jersey Central tumbled from 109⅞ to 7½. The Bulletin thinks that the water is falling out in all directions.

MR. ZUHDI EFFENDI, representing the Turkish Minister of Finance is now in London with the presumed object of raising funds for his government. On his success or failure much depends. The action of British capitalists in the matter may be taken as a tolerably safe index of the tone of England and the probable action of the government. If it turns out that the English people are still ready to support Turkey with their money, it may be taken for granted that the government will do all in its power to prevent that money from becoming a total loss, and that means simply a further protection of the Ottoman Empire against its many foes. England is already deeply involved, in a pecuniary sense, in this Eastern muddle, and all the talk about preserving the balance of power, keeping the Bosphorus open and preventing Russia from making inroads upon British territory in India, is as nothing in comparison with the money interest which its people have in the integrity of Turkey, for through it they see their sole chance of recovering their immense losses from investment in Turkish bonds. We shall watch the foreign telegrams closely for further mention of Mr. Zuhdi, who now finds himself an important personage on the stage of events.

PANAMA RAILROAD EXTENSION.—The Government of the United States of Columbia, having served notice on the Panama Railroad Company to extend its road to the islands of Panama bay, the company, in reply, declare that although it is in no way incumbent on them to do so until they see fit to make such an extension within the limit of their grant from the Government, still it will proceed to put itself in a position to comply with the wish of the Government, and will forthwith order a survey of the harbor of Panama, with a view to the proper extension of its line of road to the islands named in said grant, or to such other place in the bay where there may exist a permanent depth of water for large vessels.

THE MORMON QUESTION.—Gen. Crook expresses the opinion that no more troops are needed in Utah; that, as far as he can see, Utah is as peaceful as ever before. The alleged attempted assassination of a correspondent of a New York journal seems to be generally discredited. Even the alleged attempted assassination, which was bloodless, is not laid to Mormon agents. The Territory is as quiet as Massachusetts or Connecticut, and as far from war or bloodshed.

PATENT OUTSIDES.—Persons who have lawsuits and legal matters, and lawyers too, will be interested in the following, which however it may affect the so-called newspapers, is a righteous judgment:

The United States Supreme Court has given a decision concerning the legality of publications in patent outside or patent inside newspapers. In a case taken up from California, the court held that a paper was published, in the meaning of the law, where it was first printed, and not off somewhere else where a little more printing is done to it.

WE have just received from Messrs. Sherman & Hyde, the charming schottische, entitled, "When My Ship Comes In," which is certainly the best schottische published. It is now all the rage, and is being played at all the elite parties and leading theaters. Send 40 cents, in stamps or currency to the publishers, Messrs. Sherman & Hyde, San Francisco.

THE opinion is gaining ground in Vienna that the Russians will not cross the Danube, they expecting such decisive successes in Asia that a durable peace may be secured from their efforts there.

The Referee's Report Upon the Continental Life Ins. Co.

From the Chronicle, New York, of May 3d, we clip the following references to the report of Referee Butler on the Continental Life Insurance Co., of New York, which is very interesting reading, especially to the policy-holders of that fraud:

The story of the mismanagement and fraud of the officers of the Continental Life Ins. Co., is now in a definite shape. The referee in the Hoyt suit, Mr. Wm. Allen Butler, has within ninety days taken 1,500 pages of testimoney on the subject, and he presents with commendable promptitude a lucid report. It is a shocking story. The assets of the company are $2,681,500; the liabilities, $5,800,000. The difference, more than $3,000,000, has been lost, squandered or stolen. Exactly what part was honestly but foolishly thrown away, and what was wickedly misappropriated by the officers, cannot be fully determined. There are many facts given which serve to show how largely the officers dipped into the till. They voted themselves annuities, and then commuted them for cash to the amount of $155,000. The president of the company received, during the ten years of its existence, $635,000; but about half a million dollars of this was for commision on policies, a large part of which had been credited to him before he became president. There seem to have been also some pickings in the form of stock dividends and "extra" dividends. Then again the company bought in a large proportion of its almost worthless stock; and not content with this, bought also the stock of another insolvent concern at par—that concern's stock having been chiefly owned by the officers of the Continental.

Mismanagement and misrepresentation went hand in hand. The company was entirely in the hands of its officers. The directors gave little attention to its affairs; the State insurance department still less. The president, the acting president, and the secretary had things all their own way. All the familiar devices for "cooking accounts" were resorted to. A bank was found that lent itself to the nefarious business, and when there was a necessity for making an annual statement, gave the company credit for $175,000 as cash, for drafts to that amount on agents; the drafts were afterward returned to the company, pinned together, without any attempt at collection. When the company had not a dollar lent on Government bonds, its statement declared that $270,000 of its loans had such security, when in fact the money referred to had been lent to three insolvent corporations—the New Jersey Mutual and the Empire Mutual Companies, and the Atlantic National Bank. The asset of "premium notes" was overstated by about $500,000; of uncollected and deferred premiums by more than $300,000. What was actually done in the way of loans to the New Jersey Mutual, then known to be in a very precarious condition, was put in the hands of its officers $107,000 of bonds and mortgages, and $78,000 of Government bonds, without taking a pennyworth of security in return. The immediate object seems to have been to enable the New Jersey concern to make a favorable showing while under examination; probably the securities were meant to do double duty as assets of each company.

The referee calls attention to the temptation the business offers to reckless and wrecking management; the inability of policy-holders to protect their interests; the inadequacy of State supervision. The facts point the moral; it is not necessary to adorn the tale. Happily what there is left is in the honest hands with the receiver, Mr. Grace; but the referee alludes with regret to the litigation still in progress for the control of the company's assets. "The fate of the policy-holders," says Mr. Butler, "will be hard indeed, if what has been saved from mismanagement and fraud in the company is to be kept at risk in the Courts."

Comments on the Hirsch Case.

The intelligent juryman of large cities develops a new phrase of character when he betakes himself to mining camps. His rulings in civilized communities are often incomprehensible, and their motive past finding out, but the change from the city to the mine brings him out in an altogether new light. From being the typical, drowsy, obdurate and mysteriously minded character so frequently seen on the boards or met with in novels and in real life, he becomes a man of free thought and independence of action when brought into fresher, more active scenes. If at home he was inordinately anxious to get at all the technicalities of the legal profession, once moved he boldly throws off the shackels which previously bound him and kept him in some sort of shape, and deliberately inaugurates a new code of right and morality.

The result of this is often seen in the strange rulings which are reported from the mining districts. If a man kill his "pard" over the social glass, it is an indiscretion easily condoned, if there is any semblance of a row, it is passed over as a matter of course. Only horse-stealing and robbery of sluice-boxes, etc., seem to be regarded in mining camps as unpardonable sins—that is, if we may judge by the action of the judges and juries. But really the following story, if it has any foundation, is among the strongest examples. It comes from Darwin, and for the sake of that lively and important camp we sincerely hope that it is a canard. It appears that one George Hirsch, a miner, was shot and killed by his partner, McGinniss, on the 15th inst. Hirsch had threatened to kill McGinniss, and the coroner's jury brought in a verdict of death from wounds inflicted by——an "unknown party." This brilliant move obviated the necessity of even exonerating McGinniss, and as a time-saving idea is certainly as successful as it is original.—S. F. Stock Report.

HE [Hirsch] killed Harry Gorman on the 20th of September, 1870, by cutting him with a knife, and was only held for manslaughter, on which charge he escaped by some informality. He was not the first to kill a man in Pioche, as the Eureka Sentinel asserts, as Dick Todd had been killed by W. Dodd previous to that. We expect to hear of other murderers, who have committed just such deeds as Hirsch did in Pioche, dying just as he has done.—Pioche Record.

IT was the killing of Dick Todd by W. Dodd at Pioche that was the first murder committed in that once enterprising camp. This is stated by the Record as a correction of the unjustifiable claim set up by the biographers of George Hirsch, that his killing of Harry Gorman was the first man-killing there. Let the truth be told though reputations suffer!—Carson Appeal.

LITIGATION.—The Hidalgo mine, in Darwin, which is included among the properties of the Santa Rita furnace company, seems about to be involved in serious litigation. Thomas Sheridan enters a complaint in the United States Circuit Court praying judgment against Tinoco, Fortune et al for possession of the mine, $50,000 damages and costs of suit. Beside this it will be remembered that 200 feet of the Hildago was sold by the Public Administrator as comprising the estate of Francisco Gonzales, which action is likely to be contested by the widow of deceased, through her attorneys, who seek to reopen the matter on a legal question as to an order transferring a part of the interest upon a certain contract. The widow aforesaid was unknown and undiscovered during a long series of publications ordered by the Probate Court, and the estate was closed up according to Hoyle—the law, we would say. The suit of Sheridan, however, sets up a claim of ownership as against even Gonzales and co-owners, and indicates that Fortune and the present operators of the Santa Rita may be forced into an unfortunate suspension of operations for a time.

THE ECLIPSE.—Supt. Nelson of the Eclipse has gone upon a flying visit to San Francisco, on business pertaining to some suits brought against the company wherein the mill and personal property were attached. Bonds were promptly given releasing the property, and Mr. Nelson has gone to get funds to pay off the debts, or at least such as he thinks are just. As the whole of this portion of the country is indirectly interested in the final success of the Eclipse, and as the new management has sensibly gone about the business of securing success—in the employment of competent Pacific Coast mill and mining men, we are free to say that the recent attachment suits look more like a desire to embarrass and persecute the present management than to simply collect debts.

THE WILBAR & WILLIS TROUPE.—The Wilbar & Willis Variety Troupe, which we last week mentioned as having played at this place successfully for a night or two, will appear again on Tuesday night next, at the Masonic Hall. Those who attended their performance before will say a good word for them this time, and a good house will result. On the Monday evening previous they will play at Lone Pine, for the benefit of the unfortunate John Viel, which action of itself speaks loudly in their favor.

ANOTHER ANNOUNCEMENT.—The first and only announcement as candidate for County Clerk was handed in to-day—that of Wm. B. Daugherty, the present well-known incumbent of the office, who will be subject to the decision of the Republican Convention. Even if Mr. Daugherty had an opponent, which he has not so far, it would be a work of superogation to refer to his pre-eminent qualifications for the position.

PIUTE DISRICT.—A pack train of fourteen mules passed through town during the week, from Lone Pine, bound to the Johnson mill in Piute District, near Bishop, where they are to be employed in transferring from the mine to the mill about 200 tons of ore now on the dump at the mine. The mill has been thoroughly reconstructed, and it is very probable that when the works start up this time it will be to some effect.

A BAD AOCIDENT.—At Cerro Gordo on Saturday last, as Robert Young was engaged in cutting out the lining of an old water-jacket furnace, a chip of the iron flew and struck the ball of one of his eyes, leaving the organ sightless and the sufferer in the most intense pain. There is at present no doctor there, but his companions did all that lay in their power to relieve him. Young is a great favorite on the hill, and has no lack of sympathy in his misfortune.

DOMINO!—At a meeting of citizens last night it was concluded to do something in the way of providing fun for the fourth at home, there being many who could not well spare either time or money in attendance upon the regular celebration at Cerro Gordo and Round Valley. The plan hit upon it set forth in an advertisement this week, from which an idea of the unique affair will be had.

DEFINITE.—We inquired yesterday, per lightning, of Sergt. Ford, one of the operators on the other end of the local telegraph line: "How does the thermometer stand?" The answer came sharp and quick "Stands against the wall, at the hospital." All of which was sufficiently accurate, but not entirely satisfactory.

BUSINESS CHANGE.—O. I. Mairs has purchased the Pioneer Livery Stable and will take charge to-morrow. The institution ranks among the most important business places in town, and a host of friends will wish for Omai's best success.

ANOTHER RICHMOND.—Wm. F. Welch steps into the field as a candidate for Sheriff, subject to regutar nomination by the Republican Convention. Billy is a popular man; will get the nomination and make a hot fight for the position.

FOURTH OF JULY BALL.—Invitations and tickets are being printed for a grand Fourth of July ball, to transpire at Big Pine. Preparations are being made for the reception and entertainment of a large number of guests.

OFFICIAL REPORTS.—Since the publication of an item some weeks since, in which it was stated that there were twenty-two officers in the county who had failed to comply with the law in relation to making official reports of fees collected and business transacted, there have been several queries as to the nature of this statutory requirement. Beginning on page 460, Sec. 777, of General Statutes continued in force, after giving the various fee bills, it is provided that every county officer authorized to receive fees for official services shall keep a fee book, in which he shall enter a full account, including amount of fee, date of payment and nature of service, of all acts performed; in the first week of January and July of each year he shall file with the County Clerk a sworn statement of the matter. The Clerk is the required to make an abstract of all reports filed and transmit it to the Secretary of State. In the case of Notaries and State officers the same duty is required, except that their sworn report goes direct to the Secretary of State's office. Those who neglect so doing, are, after a due process, subject to a fine of $500 and removal from office. Those interested will of course consult the law referred to, but the foregoing is a correct outline. The whole matter has remained a dead letter upon the books for a long time, but Secretary of State Beck has resurrected it and may proceed to require its observance.

CERRO GORDO.—There is a grand programme of "doin's" on the tapis for the coming Fourth at Cerro Gordo, comprising a regular celebrate in the good old fashioned order of things. The committees in charge are:—Executive committee—W. L. Hunter, John R. Hughes and J. T. Belshaw. Committee on order of exercises—W. R. Johnson, W. W. English and S. B. Bowen. Committee of invitation—B. Russell, J. L. Porter and Kirt Harvey. Committee on salutes and fireworks—W. E. Goodrum. F. M. Drake and F. Samuels. Committee on dancing—Jas. R. Moffat, Robt. Young, A. J. Chelius and W. E. Goodrum. Following are the officers of the day: Grand Marshal, John R. Hughes; President of day, J. L. Porter; Reader, B. Russell. The good people of the hill extend a most cordial invitation to all valley folks to come up, proposing to receive and entertain friends in true frontier hospitality. From our own knowledge of the people at that point, and of the general plans for having a thoroughly good time, we are prepared to guarantee that no one who does ascend the mountain to participate in the fun will ever regret having done so. It will be a grand treat to hear the music alone, but there will be speech-making and exciting pastimes, dancing, fire-works, supper and salutes, for which the preparations are most complete.

DEAD.—There are none of the old settlers of Inyo who who did not know George W. Hightower, of Benton, and there are but few of the number who will not most sincerely regret his death, which occurred at Benton last Monday. Though not one of the earliest, he was among the class of pioneers who were distinguished for their energy and go-ahead principles. He was perhaps too regardless of incurring enmities; still, it is hard for any one to be taken away in the prime of life, and Hightower had good qualities about him which will render his demise especially regretful to his many friends, and in fact the whole community in and around Benton. He leaves a most estimable widow and interesting family.

PETITIONS.—It is vaguely rumored that certain parties have petioned the War Department for a removal of the command stationed at Camp Independence, the movement, at least presumedly, being based upon the desire of farmers within the one-mile limit to obtain Government titles to their lands. We shall endeavor to elucidate the entire subject matter next week, and expose the true inwardness of the whole arrangement.

SUPREME COURT CASES.—County Clerk Daugherty has been notified by the Clerk of the Supreme Court that for the July session of that body no cases from this (the Sixteenth) Judicial District will be heard, the time being fully occupied by cases from the Third, Fourth and Nineteenth Districts.

THE GRAND MINE.—In the 17th District Court, Los Angeles county, June 11, a judgment was rendered which decrees possession of the Grand mine, Darwin, to V. A. Gregg, Wm. D. and Robt. D. Brown and Thereon Reed, defendants in an action brought by the Cuervo Company to dispossess them.

REX MONTIS.—During the week the Rex Montis Company shipped four bars of bullion, weighing 265 pounds and of the estimated value of $2,000. Mr. Holt states that he expects to regularly ship six bars per week hereafter.

ANOTHOR SHOW.—Prof. Harmen, who did the prestidigatator "biz" along this route about a year ago, is reported as being on the road in this direction again.

SHEEP.—The vast numbers of sheep now migrating from other counties to this, ought to make Inyo even for once on the operation of the law concerning migratory stock.

BIG PINE HOTEL.—Charles Schuman is now mine host of the hotel at Big Pine, and is making a decided success of the institution. See his card this week.

A SCHOOL CENSUS is being taken for Independence District, which it is supposed will develop more than 50 children entitled to draw State and County monies.

RUMORED.—A private note from Darwin states that some important and exciting mining news may be shortly expected from that locality.

ICE CREAM.—Zaun is dishing up the most delicious ice cream to the residents of Lone Pine.

[COMMUNICATED.]

MESSRS. EDITORS—Lone Pine and Independence are too distant for the people of the northern part of Inyo to visit and celebrate on the 4th; consequently last Saturday quite a number of the most prominent moving spirits of Round Valley—Olds, Parsons, Vaughns, McGee, Evans, Gunter, Hilton, Wildassin and many others assembled in Goodridge's Grove for the purpose of making preliminary arrangements. Bishop Creek was well represented by Mr. John L. Bourland, who was elected chairman. Mr. Bourland stated that a strong inclination pervades the Bishop Creekers to celebrate the approaching Fourth in Round Valley, that the great Centennial Fourth had been grandly observed on Bishop Creek, and that Round Valley should do the honor this year, providing Mr. Goodridge and other generous settlers approved of the movement. The Round Valleyites responded, declaring their willingness to do all in their power preparatory and otherwise for a good, old fashioned, social gathering at Goodridge's Grove, next Fourth of July, and that all the world (Turks and Russians excepted) are cordially invited to attend. It is yet fresh in the minds of many what an enjoyable time, a gala day, was spent two years ago in this cool, and shady grove of Goodridge's. All the performances were well conducted, and abundance of food and drink for man and beast, everything brimful of fun, food and coffee.

It is proposed that a similar celebration, with all the available improvements, will be enacted this Fourth. Families are expected to bring along their baskets in order to feed the "outer man" in true picnic style. Strangers from a distance need not be alarmed concerning refreshments; they will surely find plenty. Those good ladies are proverbially hospitable. During the meeting many suggestions were made and resolutions passed, but your reporter is not yet prepared to announce the names of the Orator, Chaplain, Reader, Musicians, etc. However, strenous efforts will be made to secure the creme de la creme, whose names will be published in due time. The President of the Day will be Mr. J. L. Bourland, whose stentorian voice will quash the valley brook and resound far away to the craggy peaks of the Inyos. Musical talent or any other talent calculated to entertain the public and the Rowdy Roosters, or any other male or female "roosters" who may make it convenient to be present and produce fun and amusement are solicited to communicate with the President, J. L. Bourland, Bishop Creek. Part of the proceedings Sunday was the collecting of funds for the purpose of purchasing a gorgeous American flag, which will be the joint property of Bishop Creek and Round Valley, and emblematic of the good will and unity existing between the two flourishing settlements.

It was moved, seconded and unanimously passed that the following gentleman act as committees of invitation: Independence—J. E. Parker, Thos. May, T. F. A. Connelly. Fish Springs—D. B. Curtis, J. B. Westerville. Big Pine—J. J. Moore, A. McDonald, J. Stewart, Richard Hessian. Bishop Creek—A. Thompson, S. G. Sneden, J. L. Garretson, J. B Swearingen, James Shaw, J. Chamberlain, J. Powers, W. W. Owens, T. K. Hutchison and T. J. Furbee. Benton—A Mack, John Howell, I. P. Yaney, T. Golden, F. Almond, T. Edwards, G. Rowan. Lewis Lewis, Ed Dunn. Adobe Meadows—Frank Shaw.

In the evening a grand ball will add to the festivities of the day, and in order to insure it a brilliant affair the following gentlemen were appointed floor managers: Round Valley—O. Vaughn, O. Hilton. Bishop Creek—W. McLaren, J. Dugan. Benton—G. W. Taylor. Big Pine—H. Grover. Independence—John Irwin.

Resolved that a report of the proceedings of the aforesaid meeting be published in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, of which the foregoing summary may suffice. By order of the committee and chairman. CITIZEN.

June 10, 1877.

A DENVERITE who has been at the Black Hills, makes this report: Mineral region limited; some rich rock and gravel deposits; 30 mills will soon be at work; producing placers are few; all claims taken up; the country overflows with pilgrims and tenderfeet; every tent, dry goods box, cabin, and all the streets are lined with men anxiously waiting for something to turn up; ten men around where one is needed; the principal imports of Deadwood City are whisky, tobacco and inexperienced miners; horse thieves, murderers and roadagents, numerous; farming and grazing resources good.

THEY have Cars near the foot of Mount Ararat. That is, the city of Kars—as the ignorant Easterners spell it—where all this rioting has been going on, is on the river Arpa Char, (another car) which winds around three-fourths of the base on the hill where Noah preempted his homestead on the first public lands.

THE PECK mine of Arizona was not sold to San Francisco capitalists because of the inability of the negotiators to raise the purchase money, some $400,000. The owners of the mine will therefore proceed to push forward active operations, with the intention of extracting $200,000 per month.

HUNDREDS of recently graduated young doctors, it is rumored, are applying for positions as surgeons in the Turkish army. This is, indeed, help for Russia from an unexpected source.

A PHILOSOPHER has extracted the following reply from a schoolboy to the query: "How is the earth divided, my lad?" "By earthquakes, sir."

IT is cheering to hear that Jim Keen's coach, in New York, has movable seats on the roof, which form tables for fashionable luncheon parties.

SOLDIERS OF FORTUNE.—The Turkish authorities have given soldiers of fortune and foreign officers the cold shoulder. Gen. Klapka, whose reputation among military men was high, waited for employment in Constantinople for several months, and finally, when hostilities opened, left the city in a passion, declaring that it was too late to make an available disposition of the Turkish forces. Several months ago Col. Valentine Baker and several officers of the Royal Engineers gave the Turks plans for the defense of Constantinople, but when the war opened not a spade had been put in the ground. Col. Baker was appointed on the staff of Abdul Kerim, but Redif Pasha, Minister of War, promptly canceled the order. Redif Pasha is described as a great swaggerer whose tongue is ever wagging about the military resources of Turkey. He evidently does not care to give foreign officers a chance to win their spurs. Col. Baker has the title of Pasha, but it is a barren honor. Hobart Pasha on the water fares better.

PAPER MONEY.—The beauties of an irredeemable paper currency are becoming painfully conspicuous in Russia and Turkey. In the former country paper money is at about fifty per cent., and in the latter it has already fallen to twenty-five per cent. And yet there has been nothing said of an increase in the issues of either nation. It will take some time before even Turkish money shrinks to the level of that of Hayti, where the inhabitants go shopping with baskets to contain their loose change, but if the war continues the "legal tender" of both beligerents will of course fall far beyond its present standard. The time has gone by when a government can make money out of paper simply by calling it such.

HARRINGTON, the man who killed Sullivan in Virginia City several months ago, and who was found guilty of murder in the first degree, has been granted a new trial by the Supreme Court of the State of Nevada. It will be remembered that Judge Rising passed the sentence of death upon Harrington, and that a stay of execution was ordered by the Supreme Court.

THE remains of the officers who perished with Custer will be removed and given Christian burial in the cemetery at Fort Leavenworth, except those of Lieut. Crittenden, which, at his father's request, will not be disturbed. The body of Custer will be buried at West Point.

The Lady of Seven Watches.

Early in the month of February, 1823, died Mrs. Traverse, in England. This singular character was ninety years old at the time of her death. Her residence was Sutton, near St. Helens. It was only in the year 1822 that, after dressing for the assembly at Warrington, she directed the bellman to go round the town to invite such persons as were desirous to have a look at her to come to the inn where her and her man were and when she thought the people had looked long enough she ordered them to leave to make room for others. On this occasion she was adorned with seven gold watches hanging to view in various parts of her dress, a great variety of feathers of various colors, with ribbons and other articles corresponding. At another time she went to the assembly determined to be in a richer dress than any lady there, so, in addition to her seven watches, etc., she stitched a quantity of Bank of England notes all over her dress. About twenty years before her death she and her daughter were in the habit of attending races, fairs, shows and quarter sessions in the neighborhood, and being good horsewomen, and having excellent cattle, ten or twenty miles was no object to them. Their dress in those days was such as to amaze the whole neighborhood. Mrs. Traverse's daughter died many years before her mother, since which the old lady was in the habit of attending theatres at Liverpool, Prescot, Warrington, etc., and assemblies. Whenever it was known she was to be at the theatre a crowded house was the sure consequence. The managers of country theatres sometimes got her to bespeak a play, she of course attending, having the usual number of watches, etc., about her person, and dressed more gaudily than imagination can paint; and yet it does not appear that she was insane, but was desirous of attracting notice and to have it believed that she was very rich. Her manners were coarse in the extreme, her person masculine, and a front, as may be imagined, for anything. She was avaricious, and possessed of a handsome property.

THE population of the Indian Territory is about 77,000. The wild Indians by blood, called "blanket" Indians, who do not cultivate the soil, are the Osages, Cheyennes, Arapahoes, Kiowas, and Pawnees, and number 20,000. Those mixed with the whites and partly civilized are the Cherokees, Creeks, Seminoles, Choctaws and Chickasaws. A white man marrying a squaw becomes "a white Indian," and a white woman marrying an Indian becomes "a white squaw." There are also a lot of "black Indians," who are negroes. Altogether these number 55,000. Besides these there are 6,500 "negro citizens of the United States," formerly slaves of the Chickasaws. They do not rank as Indians, while a "black Indian" does.

THE King of Siam is only twenty-four years old, and has nine wives. It may be very fine, in case of a sudden attack of cramps, for a man to have nine wives to slap mustard plasters on him, but when that man comes home from a caucus meeting at 2 A. M., and is compelled to listen to nine curtain lectures all in operation at one time, it is not so pleasant, even if he is a king.

MANY men fail in life because when young they frame a false judgment touching their mental capacities and inclinations, and are ever after engaged in the task of proving to themselves and others that their verdict is a just one.

AN Industrial College for Negroes is to be established in Richmond, Va., the intention being to teach trades of various kinds.

Circumstantial Evidence.

A wealthy young lady suddenly and mysteriously lost a very valuable ring; she had just returned from a walk, one day, and, while bathing her hands, left her ring on her dressing table. The dinner-bell sounded almost before she was ready, and hastily finishing her toilet, she ran down to join the circle in the drawing-room. Proceeding to the dinning-room, she found that she had neglected to put on her rings, and, calling one of the servants, she sent him for them. They were all brought but one—a valuable sapphire. That had disappeared; searches for it were fruitless. Matters began to look serious. The young lady's mother appeared on the scene, and looked and spoke very gravely upon the subject. The lady's maid's character was unimpeachable; she had been more than ten years in the family, and was a thoroughly trusted servant. Besides her, but one other person had entered the room—a young girl recently employed as under housemaid. Suspicion pointed disagreeably toward her as the only person who could possibly have taken the ring; and yet the whole family felt very much averse to charge her with the theft. The mother of the family took the girl aside privately, and told her that they feared she had been tempted to steal the jewel; urging her, if she had done so, to confess her fault and restore the ring immediately, and her fault would be overlooked. In an agony of grief and indignation the girl warmly protested her innocence, begging that a detective might be sent for directly to examine her boxes, a request in which all the other domestics concurred. This was done; but, though the missing ring was not found, suspicion still followed the poor girl; this was more than she could endure; so she threw up her situation and went home with a tarnished name and a breaking heart. Several days passed away, when the young lady chanced to take up her muff, which she had not carried for some time, when out fell a pair of kid gloves, rather heavily striking the table. An examination of the gloves disclosed, in one of them, the missing ring! The young lady's shame and agony may be imagined. The house maid was instantly sent for and reinstated in her former position, which she finally left for a better one when her young mistress was married. And so the matter ended to the satisfaction of every one concerned; but it might have been otherwise, and people should be exceedingly cautious how they make an accusation which they have no means of proving, lest they bring life-long misery upon the accused, and perhaps repentance, when too late, upon themselves.—Waverly Magazine.

ACCOUNTS by mail show that the damage along the South American coast on the 10th inst., from a "tidal" or earthquake wave in the Pacific Ocean, was not at all overestimated in the telegraphic dispatch. The Peruvian and Bolivian seaports were the heaviest sufferers, the destruction at Antofagasta, Arica, Tambo de Moro, Pabellon de Pico and Ilo being only less than that already reported at Iquique. From 600 to 800 lives are said to have been lost. The performance of the great wave of 1868 were so exactly repeated, that the wreck of the U. S. steamer Wateree (the vessel carried ashore in 1868) was floated a mile or two further. The whole coast of California was washed by the wave on the 10th inst., the rise of water in some places amounting to twelve feet. A rough calculation by The Alta shows the progress of the wave from the Peruvian to the Californian coast to have been not less than 800 miles per hour. The expert mathematicians of the United States Coast Survey made an estimate of the depth of the Pacific from the speed of the wave of 1868 between Japan and California; subsequently the soundings made by the Tuscarora Expedition verified this estimate and showed that it was within a very small fraction of the actual fact. The exact locality of the earthquake which occasioned the wave has not yet been ascertained.

"A TALE THAT IS TOLD."—We don't like to make our readers feel bad, but are they aware that ninety years hence not a single man or woman twenty years of age, will be alive? Ninety years! Alas! how many lively actors at present on the stage of life will make their exit long ere ninety years shall have rolled away? And could we be sure of ninety years, what are they? "A tale that is told;" a dream; an empty sound, that passeth on the wings of the wind, and is forgotton. Years shorten as a man advances in age. Like the degrees in longitude, man's life declines as he travels toward the frozen pole, until it dwindles to a point and vanishes forever. Is it possible that life is of so short a duration? Will ninety years erase all the golden names over the doors in town and country, and substitute others in their stead? Will all the new blooming beauties fade and disappear? all pride and passion, the love, hope and joy, pass away in ninety years, and be forgotton? "Ninety years," says Death, "do you think I shall wait ninety years? Behold, to-day and to-morrow, and every day, are mine. When ninety years are passed, this generation will have mingled with the dust, and be remembered not."

A SOLDIER connected with Federal garrison at Columbia, S. C., has gone into the silkworm business. He has now about 50,000 worms, and is seeking his discharge to embark more extensively in the enterprise.

AS NEUTRALS, we can't, it is true, extend to either Russia or Turkey our hand. But either one of them can have all they want of our arms.

THERE is nothing which adds so much to the beauty and power of man as a good moral character. It is his wealth—his influence—his life. It dignifies him in every station, exalts him in every condition, and glorifies him at every period of life. Such a character is more to be desired than everything else on earth. It makes a man free and independent. No servile tool—croaking sycophant—no treacherous honor-seeker ever bore such a character. The pure joys of truth and righteousness never spring in such a person. If young men but knew how much a good character would dignify and exalt them, how glorious it would make their prospects, even in this life; never should we find them yielding to the groveling and base born purposes of human nature.

ANOTHER YEAR.

With the next number of THE INDEPENDENT begins its eighth year of existence. It will start in with a profound confidence in the real solidity of this country, and a continued hope of its own merited success in the future.

We had contemplated publishing a larger paper from and after next week, but can now logically figure out no reason why such change should be made at this particular time. To say nothing of the non-advent of railroads and telegraphs (so essential to newspapers), there has been only maintained the general average of mining and agricultural successes in Inyo, and our subscription list is but one hundred larger than it was seven years ago.

Nevertheless, Inyo and Mono have been the least affected by hard times, and are to-day among the most prosperous and go-ahead regions on the Coast. That such is the case will not be disputed by those familiar with public affairs all over the land; and since a widely extended resumption of business now seems really at hand, we may congratulate ourselves upon having in a measure bridged the chasm of commercial stagnation. And if our friends and patrons will forthwith pay the several amounts which they owe this office, THE INDEPENDENT will strain a point in moving ahead—enlarge its proportions and endeavor to display more life, ability and enterprise. Let us see what response this proposition will have.

NEW GOLD FIELDS.—Eastern Nevada is much excited over a new gold discovery in White Pine country. A dispatch from Hamilton says that a recent Ward letter contained the following mention: "The excitement here about Osceola is immense. It is reported that $700 in dust was taken out yesterday. If the excitement continues I do not think there will be many people left in Ward in a few days. I have seen assays of the quartz ledges of from $300 to $700 to the ton. Gold chunks have been found in the placers of from $10, $15, $20, $34 to 20 ounces. The 20 ounce nugget was taken out by a man named Chapple. One man who was gone from here a week has returned and brought back $136 in dust. Three stage lines are running from here to the mines. Hamilton is warming up over the news."

THE enormous circulation of the London journals has been greatly increased by the war. Some of them have gone to immense expense. At present the Telegraph leads the van. Its correspondents swarm all over Europe and Asia. Those on the Turkish side have their headquarters at Constantinople, where Mr. Gay, the chief of the corps, lives in ambassadorial state, with an inexhaustible bank behind him. The circulation of the Telegraph is now close upon 300,000 copies a day. The Standard comes next, bordering on 200,000.

THERE is an uprising of Indians in Idaho, and the settlers are being murdered near Lewiston. Troops have been sent to the scene of trouble.

GEN. GRANT has been formally presented with the freedom of the city of London by the Lord Mayor.

THE POSTPONEMENT.

The Executive Committees of the respective County Central Committees of the two political parties have done a neat and courteous thing in postponing the time for the meeting of the nominating Conventions. The dates, falling upon the 3d and 5th of July, as originally fixed upon, seems to have been arranged with a view of a celebration for the whole county at this point, and those in attendance thereupon could combine politics with pleasure; but as Independence has decided not to do anything in the way of a general observance of our nation's one hundred and first birthday, to hold the Conventions upon the designated dates would interfere with the plans of many desiring to attend the social reunions at home and elsewhere. This year may be said to be an off one in the matter of Fourth of July celebrations, but in local and government politics the elections are important. Let us hope that both may pass off harmoniously, with the graciousness and good feeling which has manifested itself in this action of the Central Committees.

A KILLING.—On the 9th instant an affray occurred about five miles from Eureka, on the Spring Valley road, in which James McSloy, a miner, received his death blow at the hands of Dave Manheim, a pioneer merchant of Eureka. From the account of the difficulty published in the Eureka Sentinel, there is hardly a doubt but what deceased was to blame, Manheim acting in the defense of his own life.

TWO MEN BRAINED BY AN INFURIATED INDIAN.—A fearful tragedy occurred yesterday, in the mountains, about four miles this side of St. Helena. It appears that two Indians named Andress Matteyo and Jesus Maria went to the house of William Perkins, better known as "Dutch Bill," on Sunday night and asked for lodging, which was given them. They remained over night, and while they were there drank considerably and quarreled among themselves. Monday morning Jesus Maria started off, and afterward "Dutch Bill" and Andress Matteyo continued to quarrel, when Bill chased the Indian away from the house with a spade, and followed him up. When he caught up with the Indian, the latter turned on him and felled him to the ground with a stick which he carried, and then took the spade and battered out his brains, crushing in the skull like an egg-shell, and horribly mutilating his face. After this, Andress Matteyo, still carrying the spade, walked back to find his hat which he had lost, and met an old Indian called Waudaloupa, a friend of the murdered man. Andress Matteyo attacked him also and beat out his brains with the spade. Matteyo then walked towards St. Helena and overtook his companion Jesus Maria, and told him he had killed two men. They went on to St. Helena and Matteyo spoke several times in town of having killed two men. Accordingly they were arrested and Coroner Colman of Napa summoned to the scene. William Perkins, one of the deceased, lived on a farm near Bale rancho, and leaves a wife and one son. Andress Matteyo, the murderer, is about 20 years of age, and has no occupation other than tramping around the country. He confessed before the Coroner's jury to having killed both of the men, but, pleaded in extenuation that Perkins struck him first, and that Waudaloupa threw stones at him.—Napa Register, June 13th.

AN OPENING FOR GERMANY.—Berlin papers inform their readers that since the breaking out of war between Russia and the Porte the Turkish authorities in the Holy Land have treated Christian foreigners very harshly, and that the Imperial Government has made representations to the Porte in consequence. It may be more than mere coincidence that this cause of complaint leaks out just after the fleet of German ironclads has entered the Mediterranean. The primary cause of the bloody Crimean war was a complaint concerning the action of the Mohammedan authorities at Jerusalem. Any representations made by Germany now are likely to be heeded, in view of the powerful argument which Prince Reuss, the German Envoy at Constantinople, can use in the shape of the squadron, which carries sealed orders, to be opened only with the Embassador's consent.

THE Fresno County Convention instructed the delegates to the Senatorial Convention to vote, as a unit, for Hon. Thos. Fowler for Senator.—Tulare Times.

The Origin of Prairies.

We are never likely to forget Prof. J. D. Whitney, who scientifically "done" this earthquake region, and who has a real reason for being remembered by the people of California. He perpetrates some comprehensive things once in a while, however, and in a paper in the American Naturalist, after showing the insufficiency of the ordinary theories to explain why prairies are not encroached upon by bordering woods, he offers the following explanation of his own:

Let us turn at present to a geological side of the investigation. The whole of New England and New York, and a large part of Ohio and Indiana, together with the whole of Michigan and Northern Wisconsin, constitute a region over which the northern drift phenomena have been displayed on a grand scale. Consequently, almost the whole of this area is covered with heavy deposits of coarse gravel and boulder materials. These deposits, if not at the surface, are near it, and the finer materials deposited on them, by alluvial and other agencies, gererally form only a thin covering for the coarse deposits beneath. But as we go south and west from the region indicated above, we find the underlyinging rock—the "bed-rock," as the Californian miners would call it—deeply covered with loose materials, it is true, but we observe also that these are quite different in character from what they are to the north and east. We come to a region where the drift agencies have been very limited in their action. The bulk of the superficial detritus has been formed from decomposition of the underlaying rock, and this detritus has been but little disturbed, or moved from its original position. If erratic deposits exist, they are usually deeply covered with finer material derived from close at hand. A great area exists in Wisconsin and Minnesota over which not a single drift pebble has ever been found, either at the surface or at any depth beneath. The strata have become chemically disaggregated and dissolved by the percolation of the rain through them, the calcareous matter has been carried off in solution, and there is left behind as a residum the insoluble matter which the rock originally contained and which, consisting largely of silica and silicate of alumina, forms by its aggregation a silicious and clayey deposit of almost impalpable fineness. It is this fine material that makes up the bulk of the prairie soil; and, the writer conceives, it is this fineness which is especially inimical to the growth of trees. Exactly as we see the dessicated lakes in the midst of the forests gradually filling up with finely comminuted material and becoming covered with a growth of grasses or sedges, which is not afterwards encroached on by trees, no matter whether the around becomes completely dry or whether it remains more or less swampy, so we have the praries, which have certainly not at any time been overspread by forests, and which would always remain as they are, provided the climate underwent no radical change and they were not interfered with by man. It is for the vegetable physiologist to say why this fineness of the soil is unfavorable to the growth of trees; it is for the geologist and physical geographer to set forth the facts which they may observe within the line of their own professional work.

VIRGINIA CITY EXCITED.—The Comstock is all excitement again over the refusal of the bonanza firm to pay city taxes on the proceeds of the mines. It appears that in the City Charter, framed by the last Legislature, no provision is made for the payment of taxes on the net proceeds of mines, but on the contrary it exempts the mines from paying the tax. As a matter of course, the bonanza firm, finding no law compelling them to pay such tax, refused. A grave error or malicious mistake has been made by some one, or the smart Solons have been successfully hoodwinked. The refusal to pay this tax will seriously clog the wheels of the Virginia City Government—necessiatate the dismissal of the police force and other city officers. The constitutionality of the law will be tested immediately.—Carson Tribune.

A YOUNG lady recently figured at a party in a gored princesse dress of pale salmon colored silk, fitting as closely and with as little fullness in the skirt as possible. There was not a particle of drapery or flounces about the dress, the only trimming being a flat band of embroidery in plain blue and silver on a dark ground, that went round the waist, sleeves and skirt, and traversely across the front from shoulder to skirt hem. When the young wearer sat down the effect can be better imagined than described, as she looked like a figure moulded in peach ice, and as the waist was cut very low, and there were no sleeves at all to speak of, she might have sat as a model to a sculptor with perfect ease, not to say propriety.—S. F. News Letter.

MANY persons spend a hundred times more, in the course of a year, for whisky than they do for a newspaper, and notwithstanding this, many of them are stupid enough to believe that corn-juice is cheap and the newspaper dear, despite the fact that it is covered with a half million types and brings intelligence from the four quarters of the globe.—Carson Tribune.

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP.—Frank Clugage, of the firm of Tuller & Clugage, is now sole proprietor of the stage lines running from Battle Mountain to Austin and Relmont, having purchased the interest therein of the heirs of O. Tuller, deceased. Mr. Clugage arrived in town yesterday morning from the Eastern States.—Austin Reveille, June 11.

OUR MONO LETTER.

BENTON, June 19.

MESSRS. EDITORS—After a pleasant trip to the rural districts ruralizing and rusticating, Jacob proceeds to inform your readers that he still survives, and would state that Benton is so peculiarly situated, that without some unforseen accident, will soon rank with the foremost mining towns in the State of California or Nevada.

MINING INTERESTS

Were never more encouraging than at the present. The Indian Queen is looking reasonably well; so are the Comanche and Kerrick. The Diana has never looked better or had more ore in sight and on the dump, or that assayed upon an average any better; the Modoc and Laura mines are now ranked among the best in the district. Both have recently had considerable ore worked, which places the proprietors in easy circumstances. Considerable prospecting is going on in the Indian District and several parties are pushing their work with great diligence, and nothing but a total depopulation of the district can prevent it from becoming one of intense interest and immense value.

THE MILLS

With the exception of the Diana are all running; the Diana is awaiting the arrival of some machinery and also an old time Bentonite, Mr. Aaron, to take the place of W. A. Ball, who resigned. Mr. Aaron is the father of the barrel process in this section, and a practical assayer and mill man. Mr. Howell is still Superintendent of the Indian Queen and running the mill with his usual success.

LEGAL.

A suit was brought last week in Justice Decker's court wherein Mrs. Hiskey was plaintiff and Mrs. Harbin, defendant. The cause of action was for recovery of the sum of $127, due plaintiff for labor performed; the case was tried before a jury and a verdict given in favor of plaintiff for all she asked. And in the above cause was a first class case of

PERJURY,

For be it known that therein L. E. Tubbs appeared as counsel for the plaintiff, and W. B. Harbin, J. C. Mitchell and Frank Almon counselors for the defendant. Said defendant claimed that she had paid said plaintiff in full and had the receipt of her agent (Mr. Cumming, at that time) to that effect, whereupon counsel for defendant produced the receipt. Mr. W. H. Cumming was brought into court and denied the signature upon said receipt being his true signature, whereupon one of the counsel for defense, Mr. J. C. Mitchell, swore he saw Mr. Cumming sign that receipt and furthermore he, Mitchell, wrote the receipt, whereupon Mr. E. R. Miner was brought in and sworn he wrote said receipt, which was verified by the oath of a half dozen other witnesses who were acquainted with both Mr. Mitchell's and Mr. Miner's handwriting. Mr. Cummings' true signature was then obtained upon three or four different pieces of paper and compared with the signature upon said receipt, which resulted in a general verdict that the signatures were not the same and the signature to said receipt was beyond a doubt a forged one; consequently the result was the above verdict, and the issuance of a warrant for the arrest of J. C. Mitchell, upon the charge of perjury. In this L. E. Tubbs appeared as counsel in behalf of the people, and Frank Almon for the prisoner. The trial occupied two long days, and considerable feeling prevailed. The counsel for the prisoner wasted about three quarters of an hour in a spontaneous outflow of his awful eloquence and held a court room full of anxious spectators as still as death; not a sound was heard save peal after peal of the able counsel's thundering and heart-rending appeals. Then followed Mr. Tubbs, counsel for the people, who spoke in a deliberate and dignified tone. His remarks were more pitying than persecuting toward the prisoner. He then summed up the matter and showed the court that all the evidence was, with but one slight exception, directly against the prisoner, and asked the court to bind him over in the sum of $5,000 to await the action of a Grand Jury. The Justice fixed the bonds at $500, which were accordingly procured and the accused now goes free and holds himself in readiness to appear in court and defend himself as best he can.

DIED.

On Monday, June 11, at about 2 o'clock P. M., Mr. G. W. Hightower departed this life. Mr. Hightower's sickness was of a chronic form, but his serious illness was of short duration. He had the ablest medical attention the country could afford, besides the assistance of numerous friends. He was born in the State of New York in 1830, and has resided in the town of Benton for nearly thirteen years. He was one of the very oldest settlers and in his long career in Benton both socially and in business he made many friends, who followed his remains to the grave on the 13th. Deceased leaves a beloved wife and two children to mourn his loss, but the friends of the widow and orphans are numerous, who are ever ready to administer to their wants in this the most trying hour of their life.

MORE LEGAL BUSINESS.

This morning John Burke was taken off of the southern bound stage by Sheriff Patterson, and invited to pay his taxes, which he did to the best of his ability. One Mr. Arnold was arrested for assaulting one Mr. somebody else, all of which is contrary to the peace and dignity of the State of California, more particularly to the dignity of the town of Benton. Mr. Arnold plead guilty, threw up a $20 piece and went to work again like a man.

FOR SHERIFF.—John Pattie, of Darwin, an old Comstocker, White Piner and Piocher, is announced as a Democratic aspirant for the office of Sheriff of Inyo county, California. John was for a long time Under Sheriff of Lincoln county and made a good officer. Hope he may get away with the baggage.—Eureka Sentinel.

NEW INVENTION IN TELEGRAPHY.—A patent has just been granted to Loring Pickering, one of the editors and proprietors of the Evening Bulletin and Morning Call newspapers, of San Francisco, for a method of rapid telegraphing of fac similes of stereotype plates. It is claimed by that process an entire page of a newspaper can be transmitted by telegraph in from fifteen to thirty minutes, delivering copy directly from the instrument in such form that it can be handed immediately to the printers. In other words, the copy will be substantially a reproduction of the original, except that it may be given in larger-sized letters, if so desired. The stereotype plate requires no preparation for the purpose of telegraphic transmission other than the filling of all its depressions or space between the faces of the letters, with a nonconducting substance, which may be quickly applied, the faces of the type being left clean by means of an equally simple process. The plate thus prepared is placed upon a cylinder arranged to revolve rapidly, so as to present each successive letter to fingers attached to a traveling frame. As the cylinder bearing the plate revolves, the frame gradually advances by the operation of a screw, and thus each and every line is successively presented to the fingers or magnetic points already mentioned. Necessarily the circuit is opened when the points are passing over the nonconducting surface, but as often as the metal type presents itself to the said fingers, the circuit is closed, and corresponding magnetic points at the receiving station make a record therein in the same letter as the original, delineated in a series of fine lines either upon chemically prepared or ordinary paper, fixed upon a corresponding cylinder at said receiving station.

DARWIN ITEMS.—We collate the following from the News of last Saturday:

If the accustomed car-load of bullion is not received in San Francisco for two or three days the present month, parties interested in the Modoc need not become frightened in the least, for they have only shut down for a day or two to make repairs to the engine and furnaces, which had become somewhat demoralized after so long and hot a siege. Probably will be running with accustomed regularity before this issue of the News is read in San Francisco.

From the fact that C. F. Sharp, P. M. and W. F. & Co's Agent at this place, was the recipient, last Wednesday, of all the books and blanks requisite in a telegraph office, addressed to him as "Agent Western Union Telegraph Company," we conclude that the building of the line from Mojave to this place has been determined upon, although no letter of instructions accompanied the package of books.

Uncle John Flemming, who had the receipts of that portion of the toll-road from here to Owens lake in consideration for keeping it in repair, has given up the job and turned it back to the owners. He found it did not pay.

Solomon Jewett, of Bakersfield, has contracted to deliver, at Sumner, to the Cerro Gordo Freighting Company, two thousand tons of hay at $15 per ton.

SENATOR JONES AND THE SILVER QUESTION.—Senator Jones is in Washington revising the proof sheets of his report in behalf of the majority of the Silver Commission, which together with the accompanying testimony, etc., will make quite a voluminous, but extremely valuble book. He laughs at the various published reports of his conversions by his neighbor, Gen. Butler, or by other influences, to an advocacy of unlimited issues of paper money. All such reports, he says, are unauthorized, and adds that as a matter of fact he has never had any talk with Butler on financial topics. He still believes there is no prospect for a revival of business prosperity in the United States until the silver of the country is fully restored to its old function as money; says his recent sale of the Santa Monica Railroad to the Southern Pacific Company was prompted mainly by a conviction that for a considerable time to come all property will continue to depreciate and money continue to appreciate in value.

THE supply of quail for the coming season promises to be very large, and sportsmen expect to have a good time. The old quail are just out with with their first broods, and the young may be seen through the country in all directions. The rules of the large ranches forbid the trespassing of professional hunters, but most of the farmers have no objection to residents hunting for the sport. The professionals, who scoured the country, killing hundreds of quail and other game daily, which they sent by rail to San Francisco markets, became quite a nuisance, and the land owners adopted these measures for their protection. Complaints were also made that the continual firing of guns stampeded stock, and very often created a great deal of trouble. Reports from the lakes show that ducks will be plentiful the coming season. There are a great many young on the waters now.—Bakersfield Courier.

HOTTEST DAY IN TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS.—A San Francisco dispatch of June 11th, says: This is the warmest day San Francisco has experienced for twenty-seven years. At 9 A. M., the thermometer recorded 80°; at 12 M., 91°; and at 12 P. M., 99°. A member of the Faralone Egg Company states that notwithstanding the fact that a calm prevailed in the city ever since the present hot spell commenced, a strong gale has prevailed at the Faralone Islands, where it blew so furiously one day that a vessel in the employ of the company was unable to make a landing at the Island.

A ONE-LEGGED Welch orator named Jones was pretty successful in bantering an Irishman, when the latter asked him, "how did you come to lose your leg?" "Well," said Jones, "on examining my pedigree and looking up my descent, I found there was some Irish blood in me, and becoming convinced it was all settled in that left leg, I had it cut off at once." "By the powers," said Pat, "it 'ud 'av been a duced good thing if it had only settled in yer head."

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, JUNE 23.....1877]

☞ Political announcements will be charged for at the rate of $10 each, with absolutely NO EXCEPTION to the rule of advance payment.

THE D. V. D. D'S.—The Dolly Varden dance promises to be one of the most amusing novelties in the way of a "light fantastic" that we have ever had. Grotesque costumes of bright colored calico are being rapidly manufactured by Davis, the tailor, for all the he Dolly's; while the female D. V. D. D's, are slily getting ready calico bibs and tuckers with the latest improved pull backs, cut bias, with double decked observatories; while some are said to resemble the old style water jacket, with down-cast chambers and hoods over the dust bins. All the costumes will be rich in colors and tasteful in design and finish, and the variegated patterns and combination of colors, united with the different cuts and styles adopted, make them laughably grotesque, without being ridiculous. Recollections of the mirth provoking fun created by those ridiculous maskers, the Rowdy Roosters, on last Fourth of July, gives room to anticipate much enjoyment at the Dolly Varden hop this year, and we have no doubt the latter will prove as great a success as did the former. The best of music has been secured for the dance; and while supper can be obtained at the restaurant and elsewhere, other refreshments can also be had, as Johnny Langer, the waggish, good humored "Bones" of the Blaney House, will serve ice cream to the order of guests and dancers in the ante room adjoining the dancing hall. The dominoes will arrive in time from San Francisco, and Johnny Irwin requests all desiring them to hand in their orders before Saturday night, 23d inst. Altogether, the Dolly Vardens promise to be an entertaining novelty that will furnish occasion for much mirth and jollity.

ANOTHER.—The contest for the shrievalty, which has so far promised to be so tame, at this late date bids fair to equal those preceding. Of course the political announcements of the present week, in our advertising columns, have been consulted by our home readers before wading through our local mélange, and it will have been noted that Seth G. Sneden, of Bishop, stands in for Sheriff. Mr. Sneden's real abilities are sufficiently well known without comment from us—though we might mention that he has been the boss Under Sheriff of Tuolumne, Sheriff in chief of Mono, and was only beaten in this county, by the invincible Mulkey, six votes for the same office. Without further comments on our part, Seth can fight his own fight for the nomination as against Billy Welch, the other contestant for the Republican nomination.

CERRO GORDO.—THE INDEPENDENT force acknowledge the receipt of complimentary invitations to join in the grand Fourth of Independence observances at Cerro Gordo, and will, if at all practicable, send a representative. The boys of the hill are making preparations with regal lavishness, and those who may go in response to the cordial "invites" sent out may rest assured of not only receiving the highest consideration and attention, but of enjoying one of the best affairs of the kind ever gotten up in the county.

RICH STRIKE.—Reports from the Rex Montis mine are to the effect that at a depth of 40 feet below the lowest of last year's workings, the ore body has doubled in extent, while it is increasing in richness. We saw some magnificent gold ore specimens taken from this company's mine last week, which will assay anywhere from $1,000 to $20,000 per ton in silver and gold. We shall next week endeavor to give a comprehensive report of the Rex Montis.

DISCONTINUED.—The mail route from this point to Lida and Gold Mountain has been ordered discontinued from and after June 30. That section is supplied by mails 6 times a week from Columbus, and as the route from this point has been run by the bondsmen of the late contractor at a loss, the order for discontinuance was had upon petition generally signed by those interested.

FOR TREASURER.—Henry M. Isaacs this week flings to the breeze a notification of his willingness to accept a re-election to the position of County Treasurer, at the September election, subject to Democratic nomination. Harry has no opponent, present or prospective, and seems to have ordered his announcement for the benefit of the press.

BALLOTS.—Political committees and candidates in Mono and Inyo are again referred to the fact that this office is prepared to print any number of thousands of election tickets, and will guarantee them to be in strict accordance with all legal requirements.

SETTLED.—Most of the Camp Independence water controversies, consequent upon the scarcity of water this season, have been satisfactorily compromised, though some of the crops will doubtless be lost.

OUT OF SERVICE.—Hospital Steward Schmidt yesterday received his discharge from Co. D at the Post, on his own application. We understand that he intends going into the drug business at Darwin.

DIED.—An old Frenchman by the name of Sampar, formerly a resident of Independence and generally well known, died at Lone Pine last week.

THE Kelty side of the Benton land case is set for hearing at the Land Office to-day.

MASONIC lodge meeting to-night, at the usual hour and place.

ROLL OF HONOR.—The monthly Roll of Honor of the pupils of Milton School District is reported as follows: Minnie Harris, Chas. Schmidt, Lew, Joe and M. Shalten, Ermina Harris, L. and O. Gerrish, A. M. and F. Malone, L. Schearer, H. Walters, A. Conklin, L. Porter, J. Koontz, F. Gill, O. Morton, J. Ackley, Mary and M. Muldowney, W. A. Chalfant. Mrs. Lowe concludes her report as follows: "Whole number enrolled, 49. Average number belonging, 44. Average daily attendance 43. Per centage of attendance, 98. On the Roll of Honor, 22. Children and teacher most cordially return thanks for renewed favors from Camp Independence. While the teacher takes pride and pleasure in bestowing well merited praise on a large majority of (especially the elder portion) the pupils, for punctuality of attendanee, prompt obedience, attention to, and progress in studies, she would, at the same time, most respectfully and earnestly request the continued co-operation of the parents in this the paramount object of their lives. Especially would she call attention to the necessity of encouraging the children in committing to memory selections from standard authors. This being a most important, I might say indispensable, element in an educational course, tending, as it certainly does, to develop the mind, to enlarge our ideas, to inspire a love of learning, besides giving a knowledge and command of language which can be acquired in no other way, moreover, it furnishes a most pleasant and profitable employment for leisure time, as well as a delightful home amusement. Want of time and room at present forbid anything of the kind in the school room, hence the pressing necessity for home work"

CANDIDATES.—Our neighbors in Mono seem to have, also, a few individuals willing to serve the dear people in an official capacity. Among the number are some very good men—Mr. Jeffreys (Democratic) and Mr. Rowan (Republican) for County Clerk, for instance. The former is the present incumbent and the latter gentleman will be remembered as a former resident of Bishop and lately a visitor to Independence once or twice on Land Office business. He is head engineer of Creaser's store at Benton, and a most popular and thoroughly competent man. Mono has also a special Judicial election for the chosing of a County Judge, Judge Poe and Judge Decker being pitted against each other for the nomination so far. The Republican nomination for Assemblyman for this District is also conceded to Mono, and it is likely that the joint Convention will be held at Benton.

COUNTY COURT.—The County Court in chambers last week heard and granted a motion for an injunction restraining C. W. and A. H. Johnson from maintaining a certain dam on Tuttle Creek, near Lone Pine, at the instance of the plaintiff in the case, E. Diaz. The Sheriff removed the dam, and during the week the Court was occupied in hearing defendants' exception as to the sufficiency of sureties and amount of bond in the case—$1,000. After hearing evidence the Court decided the bond to be sufficient. The result seems to be the destruction of water rights and privileges which have not been before disturbed for ten years, and some heavy litigation will follow.

SINGULAR.—Among the importan local officials who are not to be chosen at the ensuing slection (in the same position as the Assessor), is an incumbent for the office of Road Supervisor. The law creating the place provides that the Board of Supervisors shall select a man to serve for four years (unless sooner removed); and, saying nothing about how his successor shall be chosen, the presumption is that when the time comes the same body will appoint the officer again—the propriety and sense of which little matter we doubt very much.

SHOOTING.—On the evening of the 20th instant, as Francisco Dabeeney, of Lone Pine, was carelessly flourishing about his pistol, it was discharged and the aforesaid Frank managed to lose two or three fingers from his hand and a bystander caught a bullet in his knee. A later report states that Dabeeney aimed to shoot a Mexican with whom he had some misunderstanding, but hit the wrong man, besides taking his own fingers off. Should think this would ruin Frank's reputation as a shootist.

THE Minnietta Belle Silver Mining Company, organized to work the Minnietta Belle, Mountain View and Keystone mines, in Lookout mining district, has filed certificate of incorporation. Principal place of business, San Francisco. Capital stock, $10,000,000. Directors—W. F. Cashman, James B. Peck, I. H. Jacobs, and Charles M. Blair.

DEAD.—Nicholas Beuhlan, better known as "old Constitution," died at the County Hospital on Wednesday night of asthma and general debility. In a lucid interval just preceding final dissolution he was heard to state the fact that he had served as a soldier in many armies since earliest manhood, and at last was to "die in a hospital on a bed, like an old woman."

MONO.—In lieu of a Benton letter at hand from "Jacob Absquash," we present one from our old Country Jake, whose communication comprises the important items of both. For fear that somebody will find out who Rural Jacob is we will state his name in advance—John Smith, Esq.

HAY RANCHES.—An opportunity is offered to buy or lease some valuable hay ranches, by calling on Messrs. Reddy & Conklin. See notice.

OUT AGAIN.—G. W. Brady, who was nigh unto death's door for several days last week, has got able to be about again.

THE still small voice of the tack hammer is wafted through the wall from the house next door, on the early morning breeze.

RESTING SPRINGS.—Deeds have been recorded showing the conveyance, by the Balance Gold and Silver Mining Co., to J. B. Osburn, of the Balance, Alexander, Black Prince and War Eagle mines, for the consideration of $10,100. For the sum of $42,500, Osburne then sells to the Los Angeles Mining and Smelting company the above named mines, together with the Noonday, Ingot, Bullion, Revenue and Syndicate, and water privilege of headwaters of Clark's Fork of the Armagoza river. The Los Angeles company also buy of J. H. Hedges, Stacey Taylor, Ira C. Keeney and Wm. Wells the Gunsight, Excelsior, Commonwealth, Atlantic and Columbia mines, for $9,000—making a total investment of $61,500. It seems unknown whether these properties are located in Inyo or San Bernardino, the company recording deeds in both; Assessor Dillon proposes to get from the State Board of Equalization an extension of time for making the assessment, and will then go down there and see about it. A petition is now in circulation in San Bernadino for the establishment of a mail route between San Bernardino and Resting Springs or Tecopa, via Cajon Pass and the Mojave River. This will accommodate numerous settlers, who live along the route, as well as the mining camps of Ord, Ava Watts, and Ivanpah, besides Resting Springs, in all, some 500 or 600 persons. The distance to Resting Springs from San Bernardino is about 150 miles, and to Ivanpah about 40 miles further. As the county boundary line on the sixth standard south has never been run and as there are no accurate maps of the desert country, the question is likely to be a mooted one for some time.

THE LONE PINE SCHOOL.—The Lone Pine school closed on Friday, the 15th inst., after a ten months term. The customary exhibition at the close of the term was dispensed with, a brief examination taking its place. Examinations began Thursday afternoon. The children for the most part acquitted themselves creditably. Some of the older scholars, who had been through a similar ordeal before, did remarkably well. No Roll of Honor was read for the reason that the energy and earnestness displayed by the pupils has been so general, and their progress so commendable that it would have seemed invidious to draw any comparisons or make any distinctions. The whole number of pupils that have attended school within the past year is fifty-two. Average number belonging, about thirty-two. Percentage of attendance on average number belonging, ninety-two per cent.

DELEGATES.—Following are the Delegates elect to the ensuing Democratic Convention: Bishop Creek—J. W. P. Laird, J. B. Swearingen, G. W. McCrosky; Big Pine—W. A. Baker; Fish Springs—James Probasco; Independence—Thos. Kehoe, Jos. Schalten, A. N. Bell; Lone Pine—J. G. Dodge, Wm Lambert; Cerro Gordo—John R. Hughes, W. L. Hunter; Olanche—Edward Walker. Darwin—W. N. McAllister, James Hickey, A. M. Phlegar, Martin Mee, James N. Burns, J. A. Haggerty, Michael Martin. Lookout—J. J. Gunn and John Crow.

REWARD OFFERED.—Mr. Bowe offers a reward of $150 for information which will lead to the recovery of the property and the conviction of those guilty of stealing a band of sheep from near Olancha, a week or two since. With the complete description of the brands of the sheep, to be found in the advertisement elsewhere, it ought to be an easy matter for some one to spot the property and nip Mr. Thief.

VIEL'S BENEFIT.—Through a note from our Lone Pine agent, John Viel desires us to return his most heartfelt thanks to the public and all interested in getting up the Wilbar & Willis benefit for him on the 18th. The company made a liberal arrangement; all incidental charges, such as hall rent, printing, etc., were contributed, and the net sum paid over to Mr. Viel was $41.

ROAD WORK.—Road Supervisor Connelly has closed highway work for the current year, having done the last at Round Valley and Bishop. Near the Bishop Creek bridge it became necessary to cut through a bend or two of the river in order to keep the water flowing under the structure.

FOR CORONER.—The announcement of John A. Lank, Esq., as a Democratic candidate for Coroner and Public Administrator will be found in our advertising columns this week. He has held the office one or two terms before, and understands the duties thoroughly.

GOOD.—At a meeting of the Trustees of the Blaney estate, held the other night, it was decided to thoroughly repair and repaint the Blaney House property, and orders were sent below for flooring, paints, etc., for the purpose.

THE MINSTRELS.—The Wilbar & Willis Troupe gave an exhibition at this point on Tuesday night, being on their return trip north. They were pretty thoroughly tired out, but managed to do well.

ADOLPH REYS, of Cerro Gordo, died at Lone Pine on Friday last from a scorpion bite. He was bitten in the left arm, and was treated by Dr. Colleau in Lone Pine, but too late to save his life.

THE tools and material used by the late Los Angeles and Independence Railroad in tunneling the Cajon Pass is being transported to this place for shipment. The work is in charge of Mr. E. W. Taylor, Assistant Superintendent. —Colton Advocate.

"Two attempts have been made to burn a colored school-house in Hollidaysburg," says a Pennsylvania paper. Seeing that it it isn't human, it might be painted white if a color is so offensive.

DEAD.—Charley Rhoades, the minstrel (whose name was Charles Bensell), died at Santa Clara June 5, and was interred at Sacramento on the 8th instant.

WE must refuse all applicants for the loan of our war map. We intend to carefully preserve it for use when the next war breaks out. Drunk or Diseased?

The sciences of law and medicine are now in direct conflict on the question of the responsibility of the inebriate. The law holds a drunken person answerable for his acts, and refuses to accept intoxication as a plea in extenuation. On the other hand, one of the highest medical authorities, who has made drunkenness the subject of prolonged and careful study, Dr. D. G. Dodge, late Superintendent of the New York State Inebriate Asylum in Binghamton, says that "inebriety is a condition of the system exhibiting a class of symptoms resulting from a long continued and excessive use of alcoholic stimulents, which brings the subject to a condition he is too weak to overcome; and for which he is not responsible." Society, it would seem, stands in a dilemma from which it is difficult to perceive any present way of escape.

The question is one, however, which demands speedy settlement, for laws are indeed anomalous under which fine-drawn pleas of "emotional insanity" have secured immunity for wilful murder, while the wretch who deals a fatal blow while crazed and diseased with drink is subjected to the full meed of punishment. Much has been written and said to prove that, when a man becomes a drunkard, it is a voluntary proceeding on his part. This is the legal view—or rather, the legal fiction—relative to the subject. There is no doubt that many do become confirmed inebriates through finding pleasure in their early use of stimulents; but this is by no means true of all. Dr. Dodge tells us that, like all hereditary diseases, intemperance is transmitted from parent to child as much as scrofula, gout, or consumption; that it observes all the laws of transmitted disease; that it may even skip a generation, and appear in a succeeding one with all its former activity; that the habit seldom culminates until the subject is thirty years of age, and that the disease is oftenest found among people between the ages of thirty and forty; that certain individuals possess an alcoholic idiosyncrasy, a natural latent desire for stimulents which leads, if indulged, to morbid appetite and a diseased condition of the system, which the patient is powerless to relieve, because the weakness of will that led to the disease obstructs its removal. These are all well demonstrated facts. Dr. Joseph Parrish says that he has known hereditary drunkenness developed after sixty years of sobriety. Dr. Forbes Winslow, before a British Parliamentary Committee, stated that he had observed a list of criminals in which a father was a drunkard, grandfather a drunkard, grandmother an idiot; and in the whole line the family showed drunkards, criminals, and idiots. All the forms of vice were hereditarily transmitted.

The difficulty at once suggests itself of how to distinguish between the man who gets drunk because he cannot help it and then sins, and him who deliberately becomes intoxicated. If we place the drunkard on the same level as the lunatic in regard to irresponsibility for crime, we find ourselves brought face to face with a host of perplexing questions. A man cannot sham lunacy without being reasonably sure of detection; but he can get genuinely drunk, and still have faculties clear enough to execute a purpose of revenge, for example. Neither law nor medicine can positively say how drunk a man must be to be irresponsible. Neither can we unearth every one's genealogy to find out whether his grandfather was an inebriate in order to predicate the hereditary hypothesis. It is evident, therefore, that the drunkard—no matter how he became a victim—must be placed in a different category from the lunatic and the criminal who commits crime automatically. A lunatic is never responsible, society must regard a criminal as always so; but the responsibility of the inebriate depends on a host of circumstances, which may differ in countless instances. It is obviously as much an error to regard every drunkard as an automaton impelled by irresistible impulse as it is to consider him—as we now practically do—a fully reflecting being. The problem is to find the just mean which will cover all cases, or to discover a mode of prevention which will simplify the general conditions.

The preventive remedies which have suggested themselves are two: First, the inebriate asylum; second, the repression of the liquor traffic. The inebriate asylum, though really a curative institution, is in the end the means of preventing the spread of inebriation by hereditary transmission. Intemperance is curable, just as insanity is, in most cases; and, to a certain extent, similar means are used to effect the desired result. The treatment, however, involves skill and thorough acquaintance with the disease in all its forms; and it is therefore of a nature which is practised in special institutions. The increase in number of the latter may therefore be considered advantageous. As regards the checking of the liquor traffic, there is ground for much argument pro and con. A step in advance which might be taken, and its results tested before resorting to prohibition, is the stringent enforcement of enactments against adulterated liquors. Whiskey—or rather a vile decoction of fusel oil—is sold in the slums of this city, at retail, at prices less than the government tariff alone amounts to. Repression of adulteration would break up the sale, and place liquor out of the pecuniary reach of thousands of people who are now easily able to gratify their desires. Pure liquors, say authorities, are worse as a source of inebriation than the adulterated ones, owing to the greater proportion of alcohol present. This is doubtless true; but at the present time the immense preponderance of liquor sold is adulterated. Enforce the laws to prevent the sale of that, and maintain a high tariff on pure liquors, and it will become an expensive proceeding to get irresponsibly drunk.

Queer Tribe in India.

A clan of leaf-clad mountaineers has been found in Orissa. In the hills of Keonijhur, one of the tributary states to the South of Cuttack, is the village of Gonasika, whence there issues from two holes in a rock, compared to the nostrils of a cow, the waters of the Byturnee, the Hindoo styx.

Here the Juangs, who inhabit many other settlements in Keonijhur and the neighboring state of Dhekanal, declare that they originally sprung into being veritable autochthones, the first, though by no means the fathers, of all mankind. Some three thousand in number, have no traditions which affiliate them with other tribes, but their language betrays the secret of which they themselves were ignorant till Col. Dalton pointed it out to them—they are allied with the Hos and Santals.

Their river they declare to be older than the Ganges. The Juang huts are described as the smallest that human beings ever deliberately constructed as dwellings. In a space of six feet by eight; so low that no corpulent person could enter, the father of the family and all the females take up one compartment, while the other is the store-room.

The boys of each village have a joint dormitory of some pretentions erected at its entrance. There, too, guests and travelers are received, and the instruments are kept. Their food ranges from the offal of the jungle, which they discover by animal instinct—the mice, rats, monkeys, tigers, bears, snakes and frogs, and the spontaneous forest produce, to the crops which they themselves raise.

When driven to it by their Bhooiya masters, they use the bow and arrow, but their own weapon of defense is a sling made of cord, and pebbles from the brook. When engaged with Mr. T. Ravenshaw, the Commissioner of Grissa, in settling a boundary dispute in 1866, Col. Dalton had his first opportunity of studying a party of Juangs consisting of a matron, half a dozen comely maidens, and as many men. The men had already abandoned the use of leaves for the smallest quantity of cotton cloth, but the women clung to their foilage, under the belief that when the river goddess, Byturnee, first leaped from the Gonasika rock, she was so angry at the spectacle of a party Juanges dancing naked that she condemed them to adopt leaves as their dress forever, or die. The first torculight dance of this party was shy.

Next day (says Col. Dalton) they came to my tent at noon, and while I conversed with the males on their customs, language, and religion, the girls sat nestled together in a corner, for a long time silent and motionless as statues, but after an hour or two had elapsed, the crouching nymps showed signs of life and symptoms of uneasiness; and more attentively regarding them, I found that great tears were dropping from the downcast eyes like dewdrops on green leaves. On my tenderly seeking the cause of their distress I was told that the leaves were becoming dry, stiff, and uncomfortable, and if they were not allowed to go to the woods for a change, the consequences would be serious, and they certainly could not dance. It was a bright, dry day, and the crisp rustling as they rose to depart confirmed their statement. When they returned, arrayed in fresh leaves, we induced them to give us not only the solemn measure of the evening before, but to perform a variety of sporting dances, some quite dramatic in effect, and it was altogether a most interesting ballet.

In one figure the girls moved round in single file, keeping the right hand on the right shoulder of the girl in front; in another, with bodies inclined, they wreathed their arms, and advanced and retreated in line. In this movement the performance bore a strong resemblance to one of the Kohl dances. Then we had the bear dance. The girls, acting independently, advance with bodies so much inclined that their hands touch the ground; thus they move not unlike bears, and by a motion from the knee the bodies wriggle violently, and the broad tails of green leaves flap up and down in a most ludicrous manner. The pigeon dance followed; the action of the love-making pigeon when he struts, pouts, sticks out his breast, and scrapes the ground with his wing, was well imitated, the hands of the girls doing duty as wings. Then came a pig and tortoise dance, in which the motions of those animals were less felicitously rendered; then the quail dance, in which they squatted and pecked at the ground after the fashion of those birds.

They concluded with the vulture dance, a highly dramatic finale. One of the men was made to lie on the ground and represent a dead body. The girls in approaching it imitated the hopping, sliding advance of the bird of prey, and using their hands as beaks, nipping and pinching the pseudo-corpse in a manner that made him forget his character and yell with pain. This caused great sport to the tormentors.

SOME FUNNY THINGS.

Little girl has a present of rabbits; when she goes to bed she prays: "O God, we thank thee specially for the wabbits—all but the cage; we had that before."

REACTION.—Short-sighted Old Lady (hailing a hearse): "Hi, Omnibus, hi!" Hearse Driver (unbending): "All right, mum? Most 'appy, mum! Di-rectly, mum!"—Punch.

An old lady, sleeping during divine service in a church, let fall a Bible with clasps to it, and the noise partly awakening her, she exclaimed aloud: "What! you've broke another jug, have you?"

It doesn't do a bit of good to go to a picnic and stand on the river bank and admire the gorgeous sunset and talk about the tender beauties of nature to a man who has just sat down on a custard pie.—Burlington Hawk-Eye.

One of the Southern newspapers tells of a man whose life was saved by a plug of tobacco carried in his pocket. A pistol bullet fired at him lodged in the tobacco, and the man was unharmed. Moral—If you will use tobacco, don't take it out of your pocket.

In Russia the number of princes is said to be ridiculous. A person of high rank being stopped on a bridge by an uncivil toll-keeper, exclaimed: "What do you mean by treating me in such a manner? I am Prince Galitzin." "And so am I," responded the toll-keeper.

Irascible Old Party—"Conductor, why didn't you wake me up as I asked you? Here I am, miles beyond my station." Conduductor—"I did try, but all I could get out of you was, 'All right, Maria; get the children their breakfast, and I'll be down in a minute."

Marquis of Hidaddy to American Minister Pierrepont—"Haw, my dear fellah, I see you mean to be one of us; to drop, in fact, the vulgarity of that blawsted country of yours." Pierrepont—"Yath, I cawn't make myself think, do you know, that I am from there at all. Have you egthamined my new eweth, Marquith?"

There is a precocious six-year-old boy in Auburn who is wonderful on spelling and definition. The other day his teacher asked him to spell matrimony. "Matrimony," said the youngster, promptly. "Now define it," said the teacher. "Well," replied the boy, "I don't exactly know what it means, but I know my mother's got enough of it."

A little four-year-old daughter had watched with interest the unfolding of flowers in a garden, seeing a rose blossom changed from a bud to a full-blown rose in a short time. One day she saw a turkey-cock suddenly expand his tail into a fan, in the act of "strutting," when she ran to her mother and exclaimed, "Oh, mother, I have just seen a turkey bloom out!"—Harper's Drawer.

It was "court week" in a country tavern, and a late comer was given one of a dozen cots which had been put up temporarily in the parlor. There was a grand chorus of snores from the other cots. After an hour or more of this uproar, one of the most resonant snorers brought up with a snort, and was suddenly silent. A Frenchman, who occupied a cot in an extreme corner of the room, exclaimed: "Tank God, von ees dead!"

The last Arkansas traveler tells a story of a citizen of the State who, while on board a steamer on the Mississippi, was asked by a gentleman, "whether the raising of stock in Arkansas was attended with much difficulty or expense." "Oh, yes, stranger, they suffer much from insects." "Insects! Why, what kind of insects, pray?" "Why, bears, catamounts, wolves, and sich like insects." The stranger stopped further inquiry.

An egg laid upon the deck plating of the monitor Monadnock, which is being rebuilt at Vallejo, was cooked hard without any artificial heat one day during the recent heated term. It was related by the miners of '49 that they cooked eggs on the sand on the banks of the American river near Brighton.

"WHAT," asks an exchange, "are the causes of drunkenness?" Well, we can't answer for all of them, but we believe whisky causes a great deal of it; whisky, sir, resolutely stuck to will cause about as large a drunk as anything we know of, although a judicious mixing up of various drinks will accelerate matters if a man is in a hurry.

AFTER a wedding ceremony on one occasion, which occurred in a Baltimore parlor, the husband whispered to his bran new wife, as they approached the door, "Mary, have you got any small change?"

INYO INDEPENDENT.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY

CHALFANT & PARKER.

J. E. PARKER. P. A. CHALFANT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, JUNE 30.....1877.

VOLUME EIGHT.

It was the culmination of a rather doubtful project when, on the 9th day of July, 1870, the first number of THE INDEPENDENT was printed, amid the firing of anvils and the clink of glasses. This country had had its day (or some sort of a one) before then, but even now it is unknown to those necessities of modern commerce—the railroad and telegraph, and since we started in so long as seven years ago there can be set up a claim for respectable age and pioneership. Such as it is, "THE INYO" is no longer an experiment; it is at least established as a permanent newspaper representative of this locality, having never missed a single week for seven years. Seven years is a long time, come to think of it, in a new country where much history is compressed into short periods. It would be interesting to trace up through the bulky files some of the main events and all the different local conditions of things in that time—to refer to the times of high hopefulness, and to congratulate ourselves that certain eras of gloom have gone and that their like will not come again; to point out with some satisfaction many progressions and changes brought about by the "power of the press." It might also be refreshing for one to step out of the customary track of simply relating transactions and facts as they are for the purpose of dilating upon the wondrous natural wealth of this county and to recur to the effects which time, capital and population are bound to bring about—to advert to the grand future before our people; nevertheless, time would wear on and things go ahead just about the same. It will be the province of this journal to continue as a medium of local news and local advertising; to discuss such questions of local and public interest as in the judgment of its editors may seem proper; to direct attention to this great Eastern Slope of California and battle in its behalf, and to assist in making a living for its publishers.

ABOUT a week ago the following was telegraphed all over the country: "Indian Agent Monmeith advises the Commissioner of Indian Affairs that with the assistance of Gen. O. O. Howard and his military, he has succeeded in inducing Joseph's and other roving bands of Nez Perces Indians to go upon their reservation, and that no further trouble is apprehended in this quarter." And this is precisely how the trouble started. Also, while this honest Indian Agent is vouching for the good intentions of his late victims, every effort was even then being made by soldiers and citizens to rescue beleagured friends in imminent peril of their lives from their vigorous onslaughts.

ROVER'S SENTENCE.—J. W. Rover, convicted of the murder of J. N. Sharp at Reno (Nev.) last week, was sentenced by Judge Wright, of the County Court, at Reno, June 22, to be hanged on the 31st of July next. A motion for a new trial was denied. This case has been tried four times, the defendant being convicted three times and the jury disagreeing once. The case has cost Humboldt county $25,000, and has lingered along for two years.

IT has become understood in diplomatic circles that England is negotiating with Turkey for the purchase of the island of Crete. By this Turkey will acquire a large sum for war purposes, and England will acquire another important maritime position in the Mediterranean.

SITTING BULL has become an international nuisance. Correspondence is being exchanged between Canada and Washington looking to the return of Sitting Bull and his followers to the United States, where they belong. Canada objects to his presence among the friendly Blackfeet.

DR. LINDERMAN thinks there will be no lack of gold to meet the wants of resumption in this country. He says that Russia, Austria, Italy and Spain will be compelled to use an irredeemable paper currency for years, and that will give us a flux of gold.

THE Turks have been defeated in a five-hours' fight with the Montenegrins, and the Russians claim a victory over them in Asia Minor.

THE monument of the late James Lick, costing $20,000, will shortly be set up at Fredericksburg, Pa.

THE Russian government has purchased the monster Krupp gun made for the Philadelphia exhibition.

HONORS still shower upon Gen. Grant in England.

THE IDAHO INDIAN WAR.

Gov. Brayman, of Idaho, has had a conference with the chiefs of the Shoshones, Piutes, etc., whose tribes range along the upper Snake and Owyhee rivers, and as these Indians assert that they have no intention or desire to go to war with the whites the excitement in that section has subsided very materially. Nevertheless, there remains a deep feeling of anxiety among the scattered settlers as to the final result. Not an old settler of that country but knows full well that if so disposed those Indians could maintain a bloody war there almost indefinitely, in spite of the united efforts of all the troops of the Department. For years these same Indians, particularly of the Owyhee, laughed to scorn the efforts of citizens and soldiers alike, murdering and robbing during every Summer season with absolute impunity, often times making their attacks upon travelers, ranchers, etc., right under the noses of the military in garrison, and in the midst of towns and settlements, and, owing to the nature of the country, never requiring more than half an hour's start to get off unscathed even in broad daylight. In this, we speak whereof we know. Until Gen. Crook came, the military, notwithstanding their numbers and many brave efforts, accomplished nothing whatever in checking these depredations. The reason was that they only attempted to operate in the field during the Summer season, when owing to the typography of the country a half dozen, or so of Indians could keep a whole regiment of soldiers and volunteers in constant but futile activity, and rarely ever come to grief themselves. Crook inaugurated a new policy—never went into garrison during the Winter—more than once had to make his entire command march in a circle all night through to keep them from freezing while waiting for daylight to strike a camp of unsuspecting Piutes his brave scouts had previously marked down.

One Winter of Crook's war brought peace, and then all the outlying Military Posts were abandoned. As compared to the whites the Indians are now full as numerous, and, for various reasons, far more capable of mischief than at any time previous to Crook's campaign.

The determined war spirit of their next door neighbors, the Nee Perces, is certain to kindle a similar one among the tribes here referred to in southern Idaho, so, altogether, there is quite enough to make the settlers in that region feel a "deep anxiety" as to what these Shoshone chiefs intend to do. Yet for some years past there has been no more reason to apprehend danger from those Indians, than there is at this moment in Owens River Valley save in this: That those Indians are somewhat more numerous, and are held upon reservations subject to the usual scoundrelism of the Indian Agents. If all of these latter could have their deserts like other felons, there would be nothing to fear from any of these Indians, not even the Non-Treaty Nee Perces. This tribe has, without question, entered upon a determined war, and will certainly maintain it for some months to come. Though they have killed many settlers snd soldiers already, yet, as a fact without precedent, they, so far, have held every woman and child unharmed in their own persons—not only that, but provided them an escort or guide to a place of safety. This fact, together with the wrong doings they have suffered from Indian Agents and the criminal neglect of treaty obligations on the part of the Government, must create a strong sentiment in favor of the Indians, notwithstanding the demand for the most vigorous prosecution of the war against them.

LIKES.—Harry Mighels, of the Carson Appeal, ironically gives vent to the following likes: "We like to hear a man refuse to take his home paper, and all the time sponge on his neighbor for the reading of it. We like to hear a man complain when asked to subscribe for his home paper that he takes more papers than he reads now, and then go around and borrow his neighbor's or loaf about until he gathers in the news from it. We like to see a man run down his home paper as not worth while taking, and every now and then beg the editor for a favor in the editorial line. We like to see a mechanic or a merchant refuse to advertise in his home paper, and then try to get a share of the trade which a newspaper brings to town. We like to see these things, it looks economical, thrifty, progressive, and—cheeky."

WASHINGTON dispatches assert that there is cumulative evidence to establish the fact that the Administration is promoting by all the means it can command the annexation of the five northern States of Mexico.

THE COUNTY IN THE COURTS.

The Darwin News has heartily seconded a proposition made some weeks since by THE INDEPENDENT looking toward the employment by Inyo county of some lawyer whose abilities and local knowledge of men and affairs should make him invaluable to the people in the capacity of District Attorney, in which the name of Mr. Reddy was mentioned. The Kern County Courier and the Visalia Delta have most favorably commented upon the plan, and followed out the idea with extended observations upon the salutary effect which such a proceeding would have. Both illustrate the principles involved by comparisons with the present status of their own county affairs in the Courts; the Courier, however, contending that "the matter is not so much one of salary as of conscentious discharge of the duties of the office," and that "it is not always a question of ability, but rather a matter of attention and industry." The Delta differs somewhat and says "THE INDEPENDENT estimates that that little county would save $20,000 annually by employing Mr. Reddy at a salary of $5,000. It would do more—it would give the people something for the forty or fifty thousand dollars now thrown away, and bring criminals to punishment." As it is, "the people are taxed to pay attorneys' fees, Sheriffs', Judge and jury, all the same. In this way a small fortune is annually thrown away, justice is defrauded, and the law defied." The Darwin News advocates the nomination of Mr. Reddy by both parties and the passage of a law authorizing the payment of not five but six thousand dollars per annum.

Throughout THE INDEPENDENT's article is characterized as timely and to the point, and the three journals referred to evolve so many points in their arguments that we regret being unable to reproduce their articles entire.

The matter in question, however, is no nearer solution than before. Mr. Reddy has signified no willingness to accept the position at any retaining fee; we have never interviewed him upon the subject, and know nothing concerning his ideas. The subject of course will have to be investigated and acted upon by the coming County Conventions, who will have before them a knowledge of the additional fact, as stated before in these columns, that our other attorneys of "acknowledged ability and industry" are counted out by reason of entertaining other plans and holding other positions.

FEBRUARY 23 last, as the British iron screw steamer Knight Templar, bound for Bombay, was steaming along in the Mediterranean, off the gulf of Tunis, about eleven miles from the island of Gallita, she suddenly sustained a totally-unexpected shock. A deep rumbling noise was heard beneath the sea, resembling the sound caused by blowing off water below the surface from a boiler. This noise lasted about a minute, and was accompanied by a seething mass of white foam. The steamer was found to be filling rapidily, and the captain at once steered for the island of Gallita, where the vessel was run ashore. By diving it was found that ten feet of her keel had been torn off near the stem, and sixteen feet of the after part of the keel twisted. The cause of the disaster is supposed to have been a submarine volcanic explosion, the ship, while in 1,000 fathoms of water, being struck by the upheaved rock.

NATIONAL CURRENCY CONVENTION.—At a meeting of the National Currency Convention recently held in San Francisco, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we demand that the Government shall not dispose of the public lands except to actual settlers, and then only in limited quantities; also that the whole power of the General and State Governments shall be employed not to dispossess, but to protect the cultivator against the monopolist, and to so tax tracts of land as to compel holders to sell or give them to caltivators; and that twelve months undisputed occupat on and cultivation should guarantee title.

Resolved, That the money of the Government whether gold, silver, or legal tender currency should be equally received for State and county taxes, and for all costs of litigation, at the option and convenience of the payer.

Resolved, That the specific contract law of the State of California should be repealed, and that no contract for the payment of money should be permitted to specify for other than the lawful currency of the United States.

THE LICK TELESCOPE.—Richard S. Floyd, one of the Trustees of the Lick estate, who has been in Europe over a year inquiring into the subject of a telescope for the Lick Observatory on Mount Hamilton, for which a bequest of $700,000 was made, has written letters to the Trustees reporting progress. He says that the silvered glass reflector, and especially one on the Cassegrainian system, is out of the question. As to the reflector of speculum metal and the refractor, the great Lord Rosse telescope, which is of that character, is a failure. They have been able to use but four feet of its six feet diameter, and almost all the astronomical work of Lord Rosse's observatory at Parsonstown has been done with a three foot reflector. Mr. Floyd says that in his judgment, after the fullest possible inquiry, a large reflecting telescope is not suited for an elevated site like that of Mount Hamilton, and that it could not be made to avail itself of the superiority of atmosphere due to altitude, because whenever there is a strong wind, such as a mountain top in California is constantly exposed to, a large reflector would be next to useless by reason of the disturbance of the air in its open tube. The refractor is infinitely superior to the reflector as an instrument of precision, and at least half as good for spectroscopic analysis. Its manipulation is easy, and once made it lasts forever in good order; whereas, any kind of reflector is inconvenient of manipulation, is easily ruined by damp or carelessness, and even with greatest attention requires to be often repolished, or re-surfaced, or re-silvered, operations attended with great risk, and requiring as much optical and mechanical skill as in its original construction. There is no doubt, scarcely, about the possibility of constructing a refractor up to 40 inches diameter of disk, realizing all the advantages of its extra size. It is Mr. Floyd's opinion, considering the circumstances, theoretical and practical, that the wisest and safest thing to do is to make the principal instrument of the Lick Observatory a great refractor. Should the Trustees contract for a telescope to be built in Europe, the wisest plan is to have the delivery in complete working order at the shop of the builder. In the meantime, the size of the disks being once determined, the observatory can at once be designed and work on it commenced; because the diameter of the disks will determine the local length, and so the diameter of the dome. For disks of one meter the whole length of the telescope will be about sixty-five feet, and the dome about seventy-five feet in diameter. The dome would be of steel, with double-roof and a non-conductor of heat between. There will be no trouble about a dome, even though one hundred feet of diameter should be required. It is a most important thing to have an observatory so constructed, as to material and ventilation, that the inside will take on very readily the temperature of the outside air.—S. F. Post.

A LOS ANGELES dispatch of the 19th inst. says that city has been agitated over a renconter in the County Courtroom between Judge Thompson and Col. E. J. C. Kewen, two prominent attorneys. The fight was over the guardianship of the infant child of the late T. Jeff White, and the administration of the property. Col. Kewen and wife have been applicants for the trust, as against Mrs. Green, the grandmother of the infant. Mrs. Kewen is the sister of the late T. Jeff White, and in the course of the trial Judge Thompson introduced evidence to prove that she was not a proper guardian and Col. Kewen not a proper administrator. The evidence was of a very personal nature, and in Court Col. Kewen shook his finger in Judge Thompson's face, and told him he would hold him personally responsible if he dragged his family into the suit. Col. Kewen struck Judge Thompson in the face, and the latter knocked him down. Mose Thompson, a son of Judge Thompson, was about administering a kick to Kewen, when Perry Kewen interfered and a clinch ensued, which was stopped by the Sheriff. The Judge ordered the Court suspended and told the Sheriff to remove the parties. A short time afterward, the Court being in session, Col. Kewen reappeared within the bar, drew a cowhide and attempted to apply it to Judge Thompson, but Under Sheriff Rowan caught him. At the door of the Court-room a young man named McCoy said Col. Kewen was a coward, and Perry Kewen attacked him, but bystanders interfered and separated them. A few moments after Perry Kewen attacked Frank Thompson, another son of Judge Thompson, striking him with a cane. The latter drew a revolver, but friends stopped the row. Kewen then gave up his cane, Thompson his revolver, and a fist fight ensued. Perry Kewen being knocked down. The war is temporarily ended, but all the parties are prominent citizens, and it is feared the affair may result seriously.

DESERT LANDS.—Since my arrival in Washington I have called on the Secretary of the Interior. During the interview Mr. Schurz called up the subject of desert lands. In the conversation which followed, the Secretary said that under the Act he was powerless to prevent the absorption of the desert land, but he would guard the public domain with the utmost vigilance, and no land should be secured under this bill other than that which was strictly desert; that all applications which on careful examination proved to be grass or land subject to tillage and which would raise a crop without irrigation, should be promptly canceled and the parties prosecuted for fraud. He remarked that he would confine all confirmations to the strictest terms of the Act—to desert land. I am very sure that all will be done that possibly can be to prevent the public domain from falling into the avaricious grasp of land sharks. And woe to the Government officers found furthering the ends of these land pirates.—Cor. S. F. Bulletin.

DARWIN.—The following are Coso News items of last week:

The Minnietta mill, since our last report, although not yet running smoothly as could be wished for, made a shipment of nine bars of bullion, last Mondry, valued at $10,000. There is about the same amount in value in amalgam remaining at the mill, not yet retorted, which will go down in a few days. Mr. Chas. S. Peck, the mine Superintendent came in with Mr. Jacobs, Superintendent of the mill, on Monday, and informs us that the mine at all points is looking exceedingly well. He sent to San Francisco, last Monday, specimens of ore from South Minnietta that assay from $120 to $10,650. Sinking from the Coburn cut is now being prosecuted, developing, at the bottom of the shaft, a body of fine ore five feet in width, the ore averaging over $100 per ton in value, being free-milling. They are also sinking upon the Mountain View, and in every part of this mine, where work is being prosecuted, there are the most flattering prospects.

Yesterday Capt. I. G. Messec, Supt. of the S. V. M. & W. Co., arrived here from San Francisco, where he has been sojourning for the past month. In an interview with him he informs us that he will resume work upon the Wyoming and Hemlock mines, but will, for the present, confine his operations to sinking, by contract, upon both of those mines to a still further depth of 100 feet, which will take them down 650 feet upon the Wyoming and 700 feet upon the Hemlock, at which points it is confidently expected from present appearances, that ore in sufficient quantities will be found to justify them in starting their splendid 20-stamp mill.

In addition to the number of children reported last week for Darwin we have received a report from Lookout Mining district—which belongs in this school district—and find there are ten children to be added to the list, eight of whom are between the school age—five to seventeen. This makes the Darwin school district the largest in the county by all odds. It is the largest even without the addition of the children of Lookout.

THE MORMONS.—The Virginia City Chronicle publishes an interview on the Mormon question with W. W. Bishop, who defended John D. Lee. Mr. Bishop believes, from an intimate personal knowledge of Mormon affairs, that if Brigham Young thinks he can stand a trial and get clear there will be no resistance, but if he apprehends conviction he will unquestionably fight. His followers will stand by him to the last man. Higbee, Haight, and Stewart can only be taken by the superior force of the United States troops. Under the present jury system it is simply impossible to convict in Utan any of the other participants in the Mountain Meadow massacre. Lee was convicted only because District-Attorned Howard succeeded in making Young believe that if Lee was convicted Utah would be admitted into the Union as a State. Young accordingly ordered his conviction for the good of the Church. District-Attorney Howard, he says, is an honest and efficient man in every respect. The story about his keeping back a portion of Lee's confession is false. Some parts of the confession were left out to further the ends of justice by an agreement between Howard and Bishop. Stillson's affidavit he brands as false in every particular, and gotten up in the interests of the Mormons. The feeling among the Gentiles in Utah is very bitter. Those in Salt Lake feel secure, but in the small interior towns much apprehension is felt. Should hostilities begin most of the fighting would be done in those small towns. Young has given orders to his people to close all commercial intercourse with the Gentiles in Southern Utah and Eastern Nevada, but the order has not been strictly obeyed.

THE STORY OF A MUMMY.—For seventeen years the most curious object in the Museum of the Tennessee Historical Society has been the Egyptian Mummy. It has a very singular history. In 1860 Col. Jeremiah George Harris was a purser on a United States man-of-war in the Egyptian waters. He went on shore and was at once ushered into the august presence of the Khedive and his numerous household. He was walking out one day with a member of the Khedive's staff, when the latter was set upon by ruffians. Col. Harris, who is a man of great strength, interposed, and the roughs were vanquished.

"What can I do," asked the Egyptian officer, "to show adequate approbation of the service you have rendered me?"

"Give me a mummy," laughingly suggested Col. Harris.

"A mummy?" repeated the officer, holding his breath and pondering. "Did you not know sir, that our laws prohibit the removal of mummies, under penalty of death? But, never mind; your request shall be fulfilled. Just before your vessel leaves the harbor a boat will come alongside. It will contain that for which you have asked."

Col. Harris had dissmissed the subject from his mind, but just before the hour for the departure of the ship three natives were seen pulling toward the vessel. The boat contained a bundle directed to Col. Harris. This bundle was not opened until the arrival of the ship at Boston, when it was discovered that there were six mummies instead of one. They were unwrapped, and the best one forwarded to the Tennessee Historical Society, of which Col. Harris was then and is still a member.

When Prof. Huxley was here he examined the mummy with a great deal of interest, and said that he believed it to be the best preserved specimen either in America or in Europe.—Nashville American.

A SCIENTIFIC paper remarks; "People who have never reflected on their eyes probably do not know that 400,000,000 wave lengths of light strike upon the retina in a single second." And an unscientific paper adds: "And probably they don't care, so long as a brick or something that way doesn't strike on the same spot in less than a minute."

THE story of "Boss Tweed's" escape and flight exceeds in interest most of the tales which we read in wonderment and then class under the head of impossible romance. His adroit plan, his easy deception of the officers, his stealthy rides through New York, his exile at the farm-house in New Jersey and the fisherman's hut on Staten Island, in Florida and Cuba, all these and other details we cannot read without a feeling of deep amazement. The whole story of Tweed and his confederates is full of instruction. It shows how wickedness can triumph, how whole communities can be made to suffer by it, how injustice, though slow, will sometime begin to assert its claim and seek its demonstration, and how full of pain, peril and final disgrace are the ways of transgressors. The misery with which they have been plagued ought to be a permanent warning against the villainy that seeks power and wealth by robbery and extortion. If it is to be regretted that law is defrauded by the escape of the arch thief from penal exaction, the wretchedness of his past life is enough to illustrate the folly and misfortune that accompany and follow the commission of crime.—United Presbyterian.

MR. CONWAY, in his last letter to the Cincinnati Commercial, records the singular fact that many persons in England dislike the singing of the nightingale, the most celebrated in verse and the sweetest in song of British birds. A lady living in Stratford-on-Avon has stated that she has often had servants leave "because the nightingales were so noisy." There seems to be no popular superstition in England in regard to these birds, in spite of their nocturnal and mysterious habits, though nearly all the other birds of the country are associated with good and evil omens, and mystery and augury are found even in the goose.

MUSKAU AND THE KING'S ENGLISH. "An Old Club Fogy" reminds the London Truth that when Puckler Muskau was in England some forty years since, being one night at Almack's, he personally complimented Lady Jersey, who was pardonably vain of the clearness of her complexion, on "her peautiful leather." The fair Sarah stared. "Bardon," resumed Puckler Muskau. "I did mean your ladyship's peautiful hide." "Skin, Your Highness, skin," whispered a friend to the Prince. "I did not zay shin," retorted the Prince, in a most dignified manner. "Shentlemans do not look at ladies' shins."

ALL ABOUT THIRTY CENTS.—Harry Isaacs, our County Treasurer, was much astonished two days since by the payment into the county treasury of the munificent sum of thirty cents, the balance due on a fine collected last week in the Justices' Court at Lone Pine, from Frank Dabeeney for shooting off his finger. And thereat Harry waxed exceeding wroth, as he explained to our reporter the amount of labor and expense attendant upon the receipt of this amount of subsidiary coin. It was received by the hands of a special messenger sent from Lone Pine, in order that it might reach the treasury within the time prescribed by statute. Accompanying it was an account rendered by the Justice, showing that the amount of the fine imposed and collected was $13 from which was deducted Court and Constable fees, $12 70. This account had first to be presented to the County Auditor and certified to, and then passed to the Treasurer, with the coin, who filed the account and issued a receipt, which was then deposited with the Auditor, who filed the same, and issued a discharge. That 30 cents then ramified through both the Treasurer's and Auditor's books, and after reaching the General School Fund, must be reported to the Superintendent of Schools, who apportions the same, and directs the Treasurer to distribute it among the ten different School Districts, which gives to each the sum of three cents, just what it cost the Auditor for postage to mail the discharge to the Justice at Lone Pine. And at last, this same thirty cents must appear in the Treasurers quarterly statement, and be published, at an expense to the county that will about absorb all there is left of it. It strikes us it would have been fully as satisfactory to the county dads if the Justice had increased his costs, or taken a drink with his friends Dabeeney or Meysan to exhaust the entire fine.

THE STEAMER.—We had the pleasure the other day of an interview with Casper Ditchworth, Captain and one of the owners of the Bessie Brady. He reports that not a day passes but she makes a trip or two across the lake to and from the various landings, engaged in her business of moving an average of 3,500 bars of bullion per month and transporting the vast amount of up and down freights. The Captain decribes the new boat of the Stevens company as capable of being made a splendid success as a tug boat for work on the lake; but the old salt's description of the mishap which a short time since befel that craft when she "shipped a sea" and went to the bottom, replete with nautical terms perfectly incomprehensible to a land lubber, was among the most interesting points of the interview.

WHIRLWIND.—A regular woolwinder of a whirlicane took THE INDEPENDENT office in its course last Monday, sweeping through like the embodied essence of an earthquake, leaving the front door looking the same as if a delinquent subscriber had been chucked out through the sash by our fighting editor. Judge Schalten happened to be in line about a second afterward, and in order to save himself an uncomfortable ariel flight prostrated his solid form prone upon the ground. Treasurer Isaacs had just arrived at the sanctum door for the purpose of dividing up some county stealings, and was a witness of the zephyrous sport. Our compositor lost his equilibrium and—copy, which fact accounts for the non-appearance of our usual forcible and comprehensive editorial on the national finance question.

ECLIPSE.—The mill is closed down for the present, pending the return of Supt. Nelson from San Francisco, who is expected every day. We believe that work is still progressing at the mine in sinking, the bottom of the shaft presenting a better ledge and a finer quality of ore than any other portion of the mine. Foreman Dale has recently submitted to the London owners a report upon the mine, in which he concludes the generally known fact that while the Eclipse ore is not rich there is a vast ledge of it, which can be made to pay steady dividends if it is worked by concentration and processes familiar to gold workers on the other side of the Sierras.

THE OTHER SIDE.—We have been shown samples of galena and copper glance ores taken from a couple of ledges located just across the summit of the Inyo range, about east of the Eclipse, which were last week brought in by Ventura Beltran. The galena ledge is reported as being three and one-half feet in width, and in the vicinity of good water and surrounded by plenty of piñon. Assays for silver $33 96 and $50 96 per ton. The property belongs to Ventura Beltran, Francisco G. Hermosillio, J. F. Dillon and J. H. Holt.

ASTOUNDING ASSAYS.—We quote the following from a note written on Thursday last by Supt. J. H. Holt, of the Rex Montis: "I made assay of some of my richest ore yesterday—a metal which we are finding in some abundance as we sink on the ore. It assayed $26,159 26 in silver alone, and I am satisfied that there is not less than one or two thousand in gold. This shows our ore to be increasing in value in depth. I am anxious now to get down a thousand feet or so."

LUMBER CONTRACT.—The Bond & Stevens saw mill on Cottonwood Creek has taken a contract for furnishing 30,000 feet of mining timbers and lumber for the Union Con. Company at Cerro Gordo.

THE VIRGINIA CONSOLIDATED.—A visit of inspection paid to these mines on Monday last, through the courtesy of Supt. Chenot, resulted in the obtainance of a more or less clear idea of the present and prospective value of this series of mines. The nearest one to the Kearsarge is situated some 300 feet higher than the upper Kearsarge ledge, and a little to the northward. The claims consist of the Virginia, West Virginia, Keystone, Golden Gate and Sister Lode. The Virginia ledge runs nearly north and south, while three of the others cross or intersect it at different angles, pointing to the first named as being the true fissure of the series; in fact, with the exception of one, those outside of the Virginia appear to be only quartz bearing seams running transversely with the general stratification of the country rock. On the Golden Gate a tunnel 161 feet in length has been run on the ledge, which seems to be lost at the end. At various points different small openings have been made, all showing some quartz; one of these to the north of the main opening on the Virginia, shows some very rich milling ore. Much of the work done during the past three or four years has been badly misdirected, but has served, by means of a crooked tunnel with several side drifts, in showing a good ledge at one point on the Virginia. At a point 320 feet from the mouth of the tunnel, and 128 feet from the surface, a winze 66 feet in depth has been sunk on the ledge. In this a small body of ore was encountered extending from the depth of 15 feet to that of 26. From that point to the bottom, the ledge matter is decomposed quartz and granite, containing considerable iron and now and then small boulders of ore. The ledge at the foot stands nearly perpendicular, carrying some water, and has smooth walls of porphyretic granite—being three feet wide. In our judgment, future operations of the company should be directed energetically toward the further sinking of this shaft, as presenting by far the most favorable showing and the best place to systematically open out and develop their property. We speak of this as the next best thing to starting a deep adit below; a comparatively short tunnel would strike the ore belt at an enormous depth. The company have had all their mines surveyed, as also a mill site, just above the Kearsarge mill property, and have made application for United States patents. Work has been suspended for the time being, but will in all probability be renewed during the Summer.

THE DOLLY VARDENS.—"Calico is King," and Dolly Varden suits are more numerous than indictments against the Chronicle and public interest more absorbed, in this locality, over harmonious colors in calico, than in the libels of the San Francisco press. The interest in the Fourth of July dance has increased to such an extent during the past week, that in order to furnish all applying with dominos, Johnny Irwin has found it necessary to order another supply. The first lot came duly to hand on Tuesday last, and proved to be of elegant finish in silk and satin, from Pasquale, the chief costumer of fashionable bal masques on the Coast. It was from the same place that the Rowdy Roosters obtained their grotesque masks last year, and those who witnessed that parade have an additional guarantee of the appropriate costumes that will appear at the Dolly Varden dance. And in this connection we will now state that the various committees have arranged to have this conducted decorously and strictly free from any objection that the timid may urge in opposition to a masked dance. All the D. V's will unmask in presence of the Examining Committee in the ante room, before entering the hall, and the dances will all be directed by the Floor Managers in such manner as to insure perfect satisfaction. As the Grand March will occur promptly at 9 o'clock P. M., and will be the most entertaining feature of the evening, all participants and guests are requested to assemble promptly on time. As the facilities for procuring costumes have not been adequate to fill the demand the managers have requested us to announce that the rule prescribing costumes for all will be relaxed, so as to admit those desiring, who have not been fortunate to secure the regimental calico, and the committee hope that none will debar themselves the pleasure of witnessing the grotesque and laughable dance of D. V. D. D's.

REX MONTIS BULLION.—For the present season the little 5-stamper being run by the Rex Montis company has produced 12,333 ounces of gold and silver bullion, which does not include a shipment of 4,800 ounces more to be made to-day. It will be remembered that the mill started but a few weeks ago, and from the foregoing statement of facts we rest content in the final verification of our prediction, that the Rex Montis would make for this season the best shipments of any quartz mill of equal size on the Coast. It is an old rattletrap concern erected in the days of Lang Syne by the Silver Sprout company, reconstructed for present uses. In the course of operations this week the mill power has been reduced by breakage to three old-style Knox pans as the only means of producing bullion, but Boss Holt says that the flow of bullion shall not stop if he gets down to one. However, the pans are to be repaired and replaced soon, when the regular bullion shipments will be increased in number and value.

CROPS.—Except upon certain fields where the scarcity of water has prevented full irrigation, the general crop prospect throughout the valley is unusually promising, and a full yield seems certain. There is a very largely increased acreage in grain over preceding years; and the cut of hay will be doubled over that of last year. With the absolutely certain market of this country our farmers ought to be satisfied.

LIDA.—It is now stated that the Postal Department has ordered the discontinuance of the Columbus mail route into Lida, also.

ANOTHER LOCAL CELEBRATE.—The citizens of the enterprising town of Benton are arranging for a grand time the coming Fourth. There will be a full programme of literary and musical exercises, with balloon ascensions, foot ball and races, fireworks and a grand ball in the evening. Mr. J. B. Badger has been selected as President of the day, and M. McNaughton as Grand Marshal, his aids being Daniel Kelty and Duncan Somerville. There will be a procession, in which the Fantastic Socities will appear in their "immense" get up, and it would appear that all who visit Benton may be sure of a big time. The following gentlemen have been selected as Finance and Executive Committees: J. B. Badger, M. McNaughton. W. M. McBride, J. G. Thompson, T. Golden, J. Tregembo, —— Daniels, T. Richards, John Howell, Thomas Brown, M. E. Dunn, James Wales, Pat McKinney, Geo. A. Badger, Julius Volkert, Lewis Lewis, Albert Mack. Miss Minnie E. McCabe will impersonate the Goddess of Liberty, Frank Almon will deliver the oration, and George H. Badger will recite Drakes Address to the American Flag; an original poem will be delivered by the President, and Mr. L. E. Tubbs will read the declaration of Independence. LATER.—A correspondent adds to above the following: "The committee respectfully call upon the ladies of Benton to meet them at Hightowers Hall on Tuesday morning, July 3, at 10 o'clock, to assist in completing the decorations for the 4th. The liveliest interest is manifested on all sides in the coming celebration; subscriptions are coming in liberally and preparations are rapidly approaching completion. The parade of the children in Triumphal Car of State promises to be a magnificent feature. And the Fantastiques will create a deal of sport. A collation will be served after the literary exercises for the ladies and children at the hall. Citizens are invited to contribute eatables for the table. B. H. Yaney has been appointed special Aid to marshal the parade of the Fantastiques."

PANAMINT.—We have been shown a letter under date of June 24 from Capt. J. G. Messic of Panamint, in reply to a question propounded him as to his candidacy for the Legislature, in which he says: "The way I am situated with my company I regret to say it is almost impossible for me to accept the nomination for the Assembly. * * *" In relation to the affairs of the Surprise Valley company, he says: "I closed down all work and paid off all men in my employ on the 8th of may, but have made arrangements to resume work at once, and hope to bring this end of Inyo county out."

FOR CLERK.—Mr. Frank Garretson, of Bishop Creek, this week takes place among the candidates for important county positions. Mr. Garretson is the son of Supervisor J. L., though not very well known in the southern portion of the county, but he is nevertheless a good Injun and well qualified for the position. He is a candidate subject to nomination by the Democracy, and as we have heard of no opponent he will undoubtedly be placed in the field.

FIRE AT BELLEVILLE.—A fire got started on the morning of the 20th in Rogers' hay yard, at Bellville, and before it could be stopped cleaned out the stables and about 150 tons of hay. It spread to the property of Clemogg, who lost his office building and a large quantity of hay. It required the most strenuous exertions on the part of citizens to save the town, in which the gentler sex took a very active and creditable part.

REPUBLICAN DELEGATES.—The Delegates to the Republican County Convention, chosen at the primaries on Saturday last, are John Willet, Lafe Gill and T. F. A. Connelly, for Independence, and S. G. Stebbins. Thos. Boland, Abe Leyda and T. S. Harris, for Darwin. We have no advices as to those selected in other parts of the county.

SNOW ICE.—The town of Independence enjoys during "the heated term" the luxury of frozen snow, brought from the cañons near the summit of the mountains. Kitchen is engaged in the business of packing it down, and delivers the substance at a most reasonable price per load.

LIVERY.—The Pioneer Livery Stable, under the proprietorship and management of Omai Mairs, seems to be enjoying a rush of business. Our town is fortunate in having so complete an establishment of the kind. His advertisement will be found among the "new ads" this week.

POSTPONED.—The State Board of Equalization has postponed its session for equalization purposes to the 2d of August, giving the County Boards and Assessors 30 days additional in which to make their returns. It is likely our County Board will take similar action.

FOR IDAHO.—Mr. and Mrs. John Grangey soon start on their wedding tour, but, we regret to add, with no intent of an early return to this locality, as they go to Atlanta, Idaho, where they will make their home.

BIG PINE.—An idea of the scope and plan of the Big Pine "celebrate" will be had from a perusal of the advertisement on our fourth page. The names of the various committeemen in charge is a sufficient guarantee of success.

POLL TAXES.—After next Monday one dollar will be added to each delinquent poll and road poll tax, and it behooves those who would avoid the penalty to fork over four dollars to the County Assessor to-day.

THE BENTON CASE.—Testimony for the Kelty side of the Benton land case was heard by Register Briggs and Receiver May during the week, the matter occupying their time for several days.

GONE BELOW.—Mrs. H. M. Isaacs and Mrs. H. Levy left yesterday for a sojourn in San Francisco.

COUNTY MONIES.—The regular monthly examination into the condition of the county funds on hand was had this morning by the County Judge and County Auditor. The showing is that according to the Auditor's accounts there should be on hand the sum of $11,709,07; warrants redeemed amounting $6,144 83; certificates of deposit calling for $5,416 20, and cash to balance $148 04. These certificates are prepared in duplicate, one of which is filed by Mr. Daugherty with the County Clerk (himself) and the other posted in a "conspicuous" place in the office of the County Auditor—which the same is himself again, where it remains until the next inquisition by the "watch dogs."

THE YGNACIO.—The operations of W. A. Greenley upon the San Ygnacio mine in Lower Cerro Gordo have resulted in the opening up of what is undoubtedly the main and almost solid ledge which forms the basis of the immense mass of rich but broken up bodies of ore which have heretofore been extracted from it. The ledge as opened in the bottom of the old works stands nearly perpendicular; has been opened laterally for thirty feet and shows an ore vein of eighteen inches in width. The chloride and native silver specimens shown will assay among the thousands. There is no Ygnash stock for sale now, and Greenley doesn't care to have much said about it until after further developments.

WEATHER REPORTS WANTED.—The chief officer of the U. S. Signal Service writes to Postmaster Rowley requesting him to take in hand the business of furnishing from this town "by telegraph each afternoon a report of the appearance of the sky at sunset, the state of the weather, direction of wind and amount of rainfall in the past twenty-four hours," etc. Unless there is about 160 miles of telegraph line constructed, a compliance with the request will be somewhat impracticable.

MINING STRIKE.—After almost two years of steady work and an expense of more than $5,000, Chris. Crohn of Cerro Gordo has lately been rewarded by a valuable strike of rich ore in the Enterprise, a mine situated in the San Lucas cañon, about three-fourths of a mile from the Belshaw furnace. The ledge carries galena and silver ores, and with a small force he is taking out about one ton per day, which pays $45 per ton after deducting all expenses of mining, packing and reduction.

SCHOOL MONIES.—At the close of the fiscal year, June 30, the balance of school monies in the County Treasury was apportioned to the ten districts under the inscrutable law conceived by Bolander, Higbee and some other idiots some years ago, whereby out of the sum of $878 77 nine districts secure the sum of $39 19 each, while the sum of $523 56 is apportioned to that of Lone Pine alone.

SCHOOL CENSUS.—The school census of Independence District, just completed by Judge Shalten, shows that the number of children between the ages of five and seventeen are 51; number under five years of age, 26; Negro, 1; Chinese, 1—making a total of 79. Attention is politely directed to the marked increase of the younger class, presumably in response to the expressed desires of the District School Trustees.

BEEF CONTRACTS.—The proposals of John Broder for supplying Camp Independence with beef have been rejected at Washington, after having been approved by the proper authorities of this Military Division. Posters have been issued inviting new proposals.

THE new plant of alfalfa in the Court House yard, engineered by the distinguished grangers Dad Moore and Steve Gregg, is cropping out beautifully. The locust and black willow trees are growing to perfection.

PROTESTING.—The people of Oasis postoffice (at Piper's ranch) are remonstrating against the discontinuance of all the mail routes into that country, in which action the mail authorities have committed a very great injustice.

THANKS.—THE INDEPENDENT force acknowledge the receipt of floral favors and "garden truck" of more substantial character during the week, from the grounds of Mrs. S. G. Sneden, Bishop.

CONTENTED.—The happiest man in town during the week was Judge Bowen of Cerro Gordo, whose family arrived from Montana the other day. They have gone to reside in Cerro Gordo.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, JUNE 30.....1877

"YOUR visits remind me of the growth of a successful newspaper," said Uncle Jabez, leaning his chin on his hand and glancing at William Henry, who was sweet on Angelica.

"Why so?" inquired William Henry.

"Well, they commenced as a weekly, grew to be a tri-weekly, and have become daily, with a Sunday supplement."

"Yes," said William Henry, bracing up, "and after we are married we will issue an extra."

TUBBS & Co., the heavy rope makers of San Francisco, have been experimenting with the fibres of various kinds of cati and yucca growing on the California desert. The results surpass their expectations, and will lead to the establishment of a new industry. The Manilla fibre is indeed only that of a variety of cactus, and in no respect superior to that of many of the cacti indigenous to the Colorado Basin. The supply of cactus fibre on the desert is practically unlimited.

APPLICATION FOR A PATENT

SAN FELIPE QUARTZ MINE.

No. 69.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE, Independence, California, April 18, 1877.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE Union Consolidated Mining Company of Cerro Gordo, a corporation duly organized under the laws of the State of California, has filed in the United States Land Office at Independence, California, its application for a patent for the San Felipe Quartz Mine, situated in Cerro Gordo (formerly Lone Pine) Mining District, Inyo County, California, more particularly described by the notes of the survey thereof as follows:

The Tax on Growing Crops.

Creed Haymond, Esq., a prominent lawyer and one of the Code Commissioners, writes as follows to the Sacramento Bee:

EDITOR BEE—I see from resolutions lately adopted by the farmers in certain counties in this State that assessors have been making separate assessments on "growing crops." I am satisfied that such assessments are not authorized by law, and are void. As the Code stood prior to the last session of the Legislature, it contained a virtual prohibition against such assessments. A bill was offered and passed in the Senate, amending section 3617, the section in which the prohibition was contained. The proposed amendment merely changed the section to make it conform to the decision of the Supreme Court in the mortgage tax cases. When the bill reached the Assembly the Committee on Ways and Means reported it back and recommended striking out that portion of the section which virtually prohibited the assessment of growing crops. The Assembly agreed to the recommendation, and the bill in that shape became a law. This action has been made the basis for separate assessments on growing crops, but it does not warrant it. Affirmative authorization is a necessity to a legal tax, and there is none. The County Assessor of Sacramento has made no such assessments. If the assessments made upon growing crops in other counties are carried into the assessment books and allowed to stand, the result must be either the payment of an unequal tax, or a multiplicity of suits. In order to avoid either result, I suggest that the assessors may at any time before they complete their respective assessment books, correct them in this respect, or, if they fail to do this, that the County Boards of Equalization may reduce each separate assessment of growing crops to a merely nominal sum. The County Boards have no power to strike the entire assessment from the list, but they have the power to reduce each assessment to a nominal sum. The former course was pursued by the Board of Supervisors in relation to the mortgage tax and held to be invalid. The same Board subsequently pursued the latter course and reduced the the assessment to a nominal sum—if I remember rightly to one dollar in each case. This action was within the admitted jurisdiction of the Board, and could not be assailed. If the various County Boards will pursue the same course in relation to separate assessments of growing crops all the difficulties will be justly solved.

Respectfully yours,

CREED HAYMOND.

GOUGH's description of a case of delirium tremens: "Doctor, if you can prove to me there is no physical suffering in hell I will cut my throat. Doctor, I have had great spiders draw their soft bodies with hairy legs all over my face, and, eugh! eugh! in my mouth. I have had green flies buzzing in my ears, and crawling, eugh! eugh! over me; they are coming now!"

THE total loss caused by the great fire at St. John's, N. B., is estimated at from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000—the insurance being about $6,000,000. Contributions for the sufferers footed up $120,000 on the 23d. Thirty bodies have been recovered from the ruins.

Treatment of Membranous Croup.

Dr. Walcher claims to have had great success in the treatment of membranous croup, both in its primary form and in the form which he regards as secondary to diphtheria of the pharyax. He employs the alcoholic tincture of eucalyptus globulus. Prof. Gubler and Dr. Gimbert, of Cannes, have shown that eucalyptol, the active principle of the eucalyptus, has a special action on chronic catarrhs, with muco-burulent secretion, especially when located in the lungs, and that the resinous principle is chiefly eliminated through these organs. Dr. Walcher employed it with benefit in doses of from 2½ to 5 drachms per diem, in cases of chronic bronchitis in old people, and in a case of pulmonary gangrene that recovered. He then tried it in several cases of croup, and it succeeded beyond his expectations; in one case a cast of the entire trachea and of the first and second bronchial pifurcations was coughed up, and the patient, a child five years of age recovered. He has now discarded local applications, and orders an ounce of the tincture of eucalyptus with three ounces of syrup, a teaspoonful of the mixture being given every hour. The children take it readily, and if given slowiy, any diseased part in the pharynx will be sufficiently impregnated with the medicament. A mild emetic of ipecac is given occasionally, if the patient be strong enough to bear it. Cold drinks are given to relieve the thirst, and cold applications are made to the head, if there is much congestion. The child's strength is to be kept up by proper nourishment; the alcohol contained in the above mixture is serviceable in this connection. Dr. Walcher has given five drachms and more of the tincture of eucalyptus per diem to a child five years of age, and has never known any bad symptoms to be produced by it. Dr. Siegen thinks that it is indicated in all febrile affections of the respiratory organs, and especially in whooping-cough.—Gazette Medicale de Strasbourg.

OAKEY HALL'S CONCEALMENT.—Ex-Mayor A. Oakey Hall has finally succeeded in accomplishing his purpose of disappearing entirely from view, and has become of the long list of men who are in the world but not of it. A friend of his family stated yesterday that an attempt had been made by his friends to keep him in view, not with any idea of coercing or interfering with him in any way, but to enable them, should occasion present, to render him any assistance in their power in the event of his needing it. Some three weeks ago, however, he left London for Liverpool, and in the latter city succeeded in giving his watchers the slip, and all trace of him is now lost. Various conjectures are made to regard to his course. One gentleman expressed the opinion that he has returned to New York, and is concealed in this city; but this is considered extremely improbable, as Mr. Hall is too well known here to escape identification, whatever disguise he might assume. Nothing can be elicited to substantiate this theory. The members of Mr. Hall's family have gone to their country seat in New Jersey for the summer, and are represented as being greatly broken down under their afflictions.—N. Y. World.

MATHEMATICIANS have named the one hundred and eighty thousandth of an inch as the limit of visibility in the microscope, but Rev. Wm. H. Dallinger has constructed lenses which reveal objects much smaller, and he does not believe that he has yet reached the limit of division and visibility by instrumental means.

A GOOD story is told of a boot-black, whose energies were taxed by the huge shoes of a private who had returned from the war. The little fellow, kneeling down, looked over his shoulder to a comrade and exclaimed: "Lend me some spit, Jim; I've got an army contact."

THE first thing a young man does on seeing a friend with a new hat on is to take it off and serenely try it on his own head. When a young lady sees an acquaintance with her new bonnet on she just lifts her nose and serenely wonders "where the thing got that fright."

PARIS paper: "Tell me only that I may hope, Stephanie, and I will pass my life on my knees before your adored image." "So as to give more work in mending your breeches! Thank you! Get out of that!"

"THE short horse is soonest curried," is paraphrased by a Teutonic friend of ours up at the Brunswick to read: "Dur schmall leetle ponies don't take such a goot vile to brush himself all over mit dur gurry gomes."

SOME people's religion is just like a wooden leg. There is neither warmth nor life in it, and although it helps you to hobble along, it never becomes a part of you, but has to be strapped on every morning.

THERE is no such a thing as being good individually, socially and religiously, and corrupt politically. He that is rotten politically is rotten through and through.

ALL the decendants who take any interest in the fact that their forefathers drove team and filled the place of sutlers in the Revolutionary war will soon begin to talk celebration.

Crook Needed in Idaho.

The services of Gen. Crook are needed in Idaho. He should be in command there. His presence would be a great encouragement to our troops, and would tend much to demoralize the savages. Crook's name is worth more than a regiment in an Indian war, and is especially valuable in the Northwest, where his reputation is established among both white and red men. Howard, on the other hand, has had no experience in Indian war, and has a bad name in diplomacy. His treaty with Cachise was as bad as his management of the Freedmen's Bureau and the Freedmen's University. He may be brave and honest, but he certainly lacks executive capacity and power to induce the men to make great exertion, and these qualities have great influence on the fate of a campaign.

Crook has three successful Indian campaigns in his record: one in Eastern Oregon, one in Arizona and one in Dakota, and in each he displayed peculiar talent for management, not less than fighting. Indeed, the advantages of the Indian in their own mountainous territory is so great that the management in each case had more influence than the battles, though these turned against the red men whenever Crook was present.

They found that resistance to him required a constant guard against surprises, a readiness for battles in the midst of Winter, an exposure for which they were not fitted by their dress or mode of life, and encounters with people of their own race and familiar with their country and their modes of warfare. Neither Cayuse, Apache nor Sioux wanted to face such an enemy, after they found out that he did not fight according to the genteel, regulation, do-nothing style. We do not expect much trouble from this Idaho War, for the Indians there are less warlike and more vulnerable than the Apaches or the Sioux; and Howard, with the assistance of volunteers, may settle the matter before Crook could reach the ground; but if there is to be any delay, it would be better to take him away from the Department of the Platte, where others can complete the work of pacification, while nobody else can do so well in such a campaign as that before us on the basin of the Salmon River.—S. F. Alta.

Influence of Latin.

In the eighth century, B. C., the Latin dialect was confined to a small territory. It was but one dialect out of many that were spoken all over Italy. But it grew—it became the language of Rome and of the Romans; it absorbed all the other dialects of Italy—the Umbrian, the Oscan, the Celtic, the Etruscan—and became by conquest the language of Central Italy, of Southern and Northern Italy. From thence it spread to Gaul, to Spain, to Germany, to Dacia on the Danube. It became the language of law and government in the civilized portions of Northern Africa and in Asia, and it was carried through the heralds of Christianity to the most distant part of the globe. It supplanted in its victorious progress the ancient vernaculars of Gaul, Spain and Portugal, and it struck deep roots in parts of Switzerland and Wallachia. When it came in contact with the more vigorous idioms of the Teutonic tribes, though it could not supplant or annihilate them, it left on their surface a thick layer of foreign words, and it thus supplied the greatest portion in the dictionary of nearly all the civilized nations of the world. Words which were first used by Italian shepards are now used by the statesmen of England, the poets of France, and the philosophers of Germany, and the faint echo of their pastoral conversation may be heard in the Senate of Washington, in the Cathedral of Calcutta, and in the settlements of New Zealand.

TILDEN'S INCOME TAX.—In the suit of the Government against Samuel J. Tilden to recover $150,000 tax on income, the defendant, through his attorney, has prepared an answer which will be filed in a day or two. In substance the answer is a general denial of all allegations in the complaint. The defendant says he received no such income as the government asserts, and denies he waited to pay the whole amount of tax for two years. He made a return of the amount of his income upon which the assessed tax was paid, and the Government having accepted such payment, such action was conclusive on the part of the Government for other years. He neglected to make returns, and the Assessor, on such information as he could obtain, fixed the amount of income, upon which the tax, with the penalty added, was paid. The acceptance of such payment, defendant claims, was also conclusive on the Government, and barred it from any further claim. Tilden will demur to the first count in the complaint, which sets forth the amount of his income on January 1st, 1862, on the ground that the Act of Congress covering that period was repealed before it went into effect.—N. Y. Tribune, June 23.

SINGULAR LEGAL DECISION.—A singular and perhaps unprecedented criminal case has been passed upon by Judge Bingham in the Common Pleas Court at Columbus, Ohio. Mrs. Sarah M. Victor, who was convicted in Cuyahoga county, of murder and sentenced to be hanged, but afterwards had the sentence commuted by the Governor to life imprisonment, confessed her crime while in prison and subsequently becoming moody and tired of such life, applied to the courts of the city to have the original sentence carried out on the ground that she never consented to the commutation. This was in January, 1876. Judge Bingham has had the case under advisement for eighteen months, and now renders the opinion that Mrs. Victor is in law an escaped prisoner after conviction, and has issued an order to the Sheriff for her delivery to the authorities of Cuyahoga county to await action by the courts of that county. It is the opinion of lawyers that the Supreme Court of that State will finally upset her plan of being hanged.

GOVERNOR BLUE-JEANS WILLIAMS of Indiana has been making a speech to divers old settlers, in which speech he declared his age as seventy-six, and described the ways of his youth—how he had to sift corn-meal through a sieve made of deer skin full of holes and stretched on a wooden hoop, to use bar-shear plows, roll logs with spikes, and sit on three-cornered rails at church and at school.

THE INDIAN WAR.

The lastest news from the scene of Indian hostilities in Idaho is far from satisfactory. A few days since it was reported that Gen. Howard was in position to force Chief Joseph's band into a general and probably a decisive fight; now, however, we learn that Joseph and his renegades occupy a position so well suited to their mode of warfare that it will be next to an impossibility for Howard to do anything with them with the force now at his command. The troops are on the north side of Salmon river; the Indians are on the other. The former can easily cross under cover of artillery, but when across will have nearly an impossible task to reach the Indians. Indeed, owing to the precipitous nature of the country, it is probably within the power of a dozen well armed Indians to either kill or drive back Howard's entire command. Nevertheless, we are told the General feels perfectly confident in his ability to drive the savages out of this stronghold at the first onslaught, and perhaps end the war then and there.

But, as we look at it, the prospects are that this is to be another Modoc Lava-bed war, but on an enlarged scale, Gen. Howard's confidence to the contrary notwithstanding. Even if driven back in this pending engagement it is certainly within the power of these Indians, with their knowledge of the country in all its rough extent, to maintain a guerilla war against all the troops and volunteers that can be put into the field from now on till Winter, if not longer. It may be set down as quite a certainty that this outbreak will not be quelled for some months to come. It may also be set down that it is going to cost more in money, saying nothing of blood, to quell it, than to have maintained military posts throughout that region all this time sufficient to have deterred these Indians from ever thinking of open war. But economy is the word—as soon as a band of hostile Indians sue for peace, peace it is, and as soon thereafter as possible, every soldier is withdrawn, because his maintainance there may cost a few cents more per diem than when in garrison nearer Department head-quarters. Should this present war drag along a few months no doubt several abandoned posts will be re-occupied and, at the first sign of peace be again abandoned for the third or fourth time in the last twenty years in the history of the Columbia river country, each re-occupation, with its cause, costing perhaps ten times as much as would a continuous occupation by a force sufficient to have prevented such murderous outbreaks as this now before us. Owing to the numbers of the white settlers, together with the semi-civilized condition and apparently contented and subdued nature of the Indians as a body, the people of Idaho and eastern Oregon have, for a number of years past, felt just as secure from Indian murder as do the people of this county. Well, after awhile, those of them that escape the scalping knife will again feel secure—after the Government has expended a million or so of dollars in quelling a danger one tenth of the sum might have prevented, had it been applied to the continuous maintainance of some of these posts that were long since abandoned for "economy's" sake—that speculators might make a profit in government property.

PARIS has a newspaper called The Other World. It is printed in red letters on a black ground and admits no article which does not allude to the other world of spirits. In most of its articles the chief personage of Hades figures conspicuously. The feuilleton is called "Le Diable chezele Roi de Prusse." The price of the journal is announced at 25 centimes "for this world only." The price for infernal subscribers is not mentioned.

THE death of Robert Dale Owen is announced. It seems he never fully recovered from the mental prostration which overtook him about a year since. In his prime he was a man of remakable intelligence and research. Two of his books, "The Debatable Land" and "Footfalls on the Boundary of Another World," portray the bent of his thoughts in after years. There appears to be no doubt that a belief in spiritualism wrecked his intellect, and hastened his death.

IN New York, July 1st, $60,000,000 were paid out for interest and dividends on stocks and bonds.

The Longest Tunnel in the World.

Sutro's tunnel is a pretty lengthy bore, but they are constructing one of much greater length near Baltimore, which is designed to supply that city with water. The Baltimore tunnel is six and four-fifths miles long—36,510 feet—and is being built mainly through hard gneiss and granite. It will be the longest tunnel in the country, and there will be only two larger in the world—the Mount Cenis, which is 8 miles in length, and the Gothard, now in progress of construction, and which is to be 9¼ miles. The fact the water-supply tunnel lies near enough to the surface to allow of numerous shafts, greatly facilitates its construction. The tunnel is a circle twelve feet in diameter, and extends from the Gunpowder river, about eight miles from the city, to Lake Montebello—the distributing reservoir—near the Hartford turnpike. This tunnel will conduct the water from the Gunpowder river to Lake Montebello. Thence a conduit, 4,120 feet long, known as the Clifton tunnel from the fact that it passes under a portion of the Clifton Park, conducts the water to a point just south of the Hartford road, where it enters six mains, each four feet in diameter, which convey the water to the city, a distance of 1,900 feet. The country along the line of the works is hilly, and the tunnel varies in depth below the surface from 67 to 353 feet. There are fifteen shafts in the main tunnel, the deepest extending 294 feet below the surface. The water rains down from the crevices of the rocks, and pours along the bottom of the drift. The work of the tunnel is all being done by hand, as this mode is found to be cheaper than machine work in a drift of such narrow diameter.—Eureka Sentinel.

Eastern Ledges.

The header of the Sutro tunnel is still 2,800 feet east of the workings of the Savage mine. At the date of the last measurement the total length of the tunnel was 16,762 feet. The tunnel has, during its progress thus far, cut twelve separate and distinct ledges, yielding assays from $2 to $20. One of these was 112 feet in width. Not a foot of prospecting has been done on either side of the tunnel. The foregoing is of interest as showing the immense lateral extent of the Comstock deposits. It shows also, that these veins of minerals are not mere pockets to be worked out in a short time. It goes very far to prove them to be vast fissures, which are miles in depth and which, in fact, extend to the bottom of the metamorphic formation in which they occur. It all goes to prove what has been often alleged in these columns, that these deposits are partically inexhaustible.—Virginia Enterprise.

It goes further, if we may be allowed to make a suggestion. It absolutely demonstrates that there is a solid basis for the "Eastern ledge theory," about which the Stock Report has had much to say in times past. Perhaps our mines may soon have another demonstration of the old saying: "That which is impossible always occurs."—Stock Report.

THE Virginia Enterprise contains the the following relative to the present status of the celebrated Harrington murder case: The case of Harrington for the murder of Sullivan, was up before the District Court yesterday and continued for the term. Wm. Woodburn was entered of record as attorney for the defendant, and on his motion continuance was granted. The proceedings in this case have been most unfortunate for every one except Harrington, and it is now generally conceded that his neck is safe. Could such a result have been foreseen at the time of the murder the county would have been saved the expense of even a single trial, and would have incurred only that of a coroner's inquest.

THE Holly water-works, at Sacramento, seem to be a failure. After obtaining the views of the Assistant Engineer of the works, whom it endorses as a very capable and trustworthy man, the Record-Union says: "Sacramento is at present without any adequate protection against fire, and an accident, liable to occur at any time, and most liable to occur when it would be fatal, may deprive the city of water for all pnrposes." The Assistant Engineer denounces the system and suggestively says: "Look at St. John; I've been there; I know about it. Look at it half burned up, and yet an inexhaustible body of water flowing down into the city—not pumped in, but rushing in a volume into the city and all its pipes."

A PRESS dispatch says Col. Wood has just received the following dispatch from Gen. Howard, dated at the front, June 27, 8:45, A. M: We have overtaken Joseph, who is well posted at the mouth of White Bird creek. Chief White Bird is in charge of the entire united band. Joseph is the fighting Chief. The Indians are bold and waiting for us to engage them. Lieut. Trimble and volunteers are at Slate creek. Our head-quarters to-night will be at the mouth of White Bird creek. Most of our dead (we found 17) have been buried. We rescued a citizen named Manuel, wounded and starving. The rains are very troublesome; roads and trails bad; troops in the best of spirits, and ready for decisive work.

SAN DIEGO Union June 29, says: James M. Barrey is informed by his Ehrenberg house that in a fracas which occurred at Greenwood over a faro game two men were killed on the spot, and the third, a gambler, got a bullet in his head and another in his breast, and is not expected to live. Baker and Hortner, owning an extension on the McCracken mine, are the two men killed.

THEY have a curious way of deciding law suits in Siam. Both parties are put under cold water, and the one staying longest wins the suit. In this country both parties are got into hot water and kept there as long as possible. The result in the end is the same.

THE ex-Confederates of Chattanooga took part, in a body, in the decoration of the graves of the Federal soldiers buried there.

DARWIN ITEMS.—We take the following items from the News of Saturday last:

Richard Davey & Co. have taken the contract to sink upon the Wyoming and Hemlock mines of S. V. M. & W. Co., at Panamint, to a depth of 100 feet on each. Hemlock is now down 700 and the Wyoming 650 feet, and Mr. Davey and several other parties who came over from there a day or two ago, say that both mines are looking well, and the prospects striking good ore during the progress of sinking are excellent. Davey & Co. commence the work today with 14 men and will push down as fast as possible. Nothing could give us greater pleasure than to report Panament mines on a par with the best we have in Inyo, and we are inclined yet to believe that we may do so before long

Peter Taylor, Superintendent of the Emigrant Company's mines, at Lee District, returned from San Francisco last Sunday with instructions to recommence active operations at the mill and mines at once. Accordingly men were set to work upon the mines, teams to hauling and men at the mill. Mr. Taylor has secured the services of Mr. Horatio Smith, whose long experience in Arizona and California has made for him a most excellent reputation as a practical mill man and amalgamator. Mr. Smith has already gone to work, the developments in the Cactus and Valentine mines are excellent, and we expect to report in a week or two a valuable shipment of fine bullion.

Wednesday last the Minnietta Belle shipped 6 bars of fine bullion, valued at $6,000, and had on hand at the mill, in the shape of amalgam, fully as much more. Mr. T. R. Butler, an old Pioche operator, assayer and amalgamator, who was sent up to make a thorough examination of the mill and Minnietta property, speaks in the highest terms of all he saw. He went below last Thursday in company with Mr. Chas. S. Peck, who of late has been acting as Superintendent for that company.

Parties desiring the regulation tickets for the Fall election are requested to read the advertisement of THE INYO INDEPENDENT in another column. They get them up according to the the Code and in good style. Orders may be made direct from this section, or though this office, where prices will be made known to all inquirers.

BOMBARDMENT OF ACAPULCO.—The Pacific Mail steamship Colima, which has arrived at San Francisco from Panama, brings additional intelligence concerning the fighting by land and water at Acapulco. A letter received by the agents of the Pacific Mail Company gives the following particulars:

On the morning of May 27th Alvarez' troops attacked this town, and after a half hour's heavy firing, Jiminez' forces, then in possession, stubbornly resisted, but being compelled to retreat ran into Fort San Diego and locked themselves up, and continued their fire with cannon and rifles into the town, where Alverez' troops had formed.

The Mexican gunboat Mexico, then anchored in the harbor, also commenced firing on the the town, and destroying with their shells a few houses and killing some defenseless people. The American Consul interposed, and made such representations to the Mexican commander as to cause a cessation of the shelling that day. The next morning, the 28th of May, the firing was renewed with greater vigor than ever. The Consul and merchants again interceded to save the town and prevent the slaughter of innocent people, and after three days' negotiation succeeded in arranging for a cessation of hostilities until the Government should agree upon terms of settlement.

Information derived from other sources is to the effect that Alvarez has surrendered the town to the commander of the gunboat, and that the soldiers of the Diaz and Ledro factions are strolling through the city arm in arm.

BEREAVEMENT.—We regret the sore affliction that last Wednesday fell on the family of Mr. Robert H. Paul, in the death of their little daughter, Mary. She had been ill but a short time and Mr. Paul, who is acting as Wells, Fargo & Co.'s messenger between Mojave and Darwin, was telegraphed to and arrived in time to be present at her death-bed. Mr. and Mrs. Paul, although but recently settled in Visalia, are well known to many of our citizens, and by such highly esteemed for their excellent qualities; and we feel assured that many will extend with us the heart-felt sympathy which this bereavement awakens.—Visalia Delta, June 23.

The head of the family above referred to will be recognized as Wells, Fargo's detective, well known throughout this section. The Calaveras Chronicle, of the 30th, adds the following:

Since putting the above in type we have received intelligence of the death of another of Mr. Paul's children—a little daughter. Mr. Paul's many friends in this county, where himself and family resided for a long term of years, deeply sympathize with the afflicted parents in their terrible bereavement. No one can realize how heavy an affliction the loss of children is until called upon to part with them.

IF the Reveille joker would would devote himself more to science and less to fun he would come to know that evaporation always involves heat and may, under certain conditions of intensity, produce ice in a red hot cauldron.—Virginia Footlight.

Probably it is on this same principle that a hot argument between a man and his wife produces a coolness. Science is a great thing.—Reese River Reveille.

THE Hon. Thos. Fowler has pledged himself according to the Fresno Expositor, against any change or repeal of the no-fence law. This will not be very likely to suit the farming interests of the people in this valley who want the law amended so that it will throw the burden risk and of cost of litigation on the trespasser instead of on the damaged party.—Visalia Delta.

LETTER FROM NEVADA.

ESMERALDA COUNTY, NEV., July 1.

MESSRS. EDITORS—The June term of Court had taken a large proportion of the population to Aurora as litigants, witnesses and jurors, so that place was full of people. A grand jury was also in session on the 13th; found fourteen indictments; several criminals were tried. The price of shooting at and not hitting your man is ten years at Carson—refer to David Gordon; for exhibiting a Henry rifle "wrong end too" in a threatening manner, one hundred dollars and cost of suit—refer to Burbank & Bro; sticking a knife in a miners' back, freedom; so says the jury that tried Hank Wheeler. There were three important matters and land suits tried; two by juries and one by the Court. The three suits occupied the attention of the Court about eleven days. Many suits of less importance were also disposed of; Court took a recess until the 6th of August.

James Howley, of Mason Valley, discovered a large quantity of free silver and gold in a sand wash, in consequence of which Dr. Hanson certified that he should be taken to Stockton, which was done.

Gen. Clark, Col. Ellis and Col. Davies, of Carson, were here during the term of Court; the two former have returned but the latter still remains on account of the loveliness of the ladies of Esmeralda. The limbs of the law from Esmeralda will all appear before his Honor, Judge Poe, at Bridgeport tomorrow on sundry business.

Bodie is doing well. The Standard Company (formerly the Bullion Co.) are making weekly shipments averaging about $14,000, from their mine. Their new mill will be completed in a few days when double the amount of ore will be reduced, under the supervision of Jim Dolly, metallurgist. The working of the ore is a success and the bullion in color much resembles a twenty dollar piece. Other mines are being developed and the prospect is that by another year Bodie will rank among the best camps, and one of the largest bullion producing.

Columbus Mining District is doing as well as usual. The Northern Belle mine is looking well. The company are sinking a winze from the tenth level and sinking a three compartment perpendicular shaft about 1,000 feet east of the tenth level; they are working their mine on the plan that the Comstock mines are worked. They keep up their average shipments every other day, under the supervision of Mr. Buckminister (an old Comstocker); everything moves along in a systematic manner. About two hundred men are employed in and about the mine, and about fifty in and about their mills at Belleville, which makes this a thriving town, having no equal south and east of Virginia City.

Candelara, a town at the mines, is also a thriving place, much business being done there. Belleville a few days since had a $20,000 fire.

The new camp at Teel's Marsh is attracting considerable attention. Dr. Webber and associates are building a five stamp mill for their mine recently purchased from Messrs. Potter & Sally. Much prospecting is going on. A new town has sprung up at this place and is called Marietta.

The Red Mountain and Silver Peak Company at Silver Peak are making preparations to start up their mines and works, the property having changed hands and is now under the management of Mr. Young, of New York. There seems to be active preparations by an Indiana Company for the prospecting of several mines at Gold Mountain. The crops in this county are looking favorable.

Yours, &c.,

Giant Powder Salutes---A Distressing Accident.

At noon on the Fourth the street in front of the Blaney House was the scene of a most unfortunate and distressing accident, resulting from the use of giant powder catridges in firing salutes, in which Charles W. Dale had his right hand blown off. Mr. Dale is a well known miner and mining superintendent, in charge of the Eclipse mine at the time, but formerly of the Comstock and in the mines of Eureka and Pioche. He was of course perfectly familiar with the nature of the treacherous explosive, and it is generally believed that the fault lay in a short piece of defective fuse. The cartridges had been cut into short pieces, with capped fuse inserted. Holding in his left hand a lighted cigar he was rapidly touching off the "shots." The ninth one exploded in his hand instantly, tearing it off and scattering minute pieces of flesh all over the street. After a second or so of time Charley comprehended the fact, turned around and walked coolly to the hotel porch, almost before the bystanders had discerned what had happened. A gentleman very promptly twisted a handkerchief about the arm, and Drs. Blair and Matthews were sent for. Upon examination Dr. Blair found that Dale was comparatively unhurt elsewhere, and devoted himself to stopping the flow of blood from the stump. Shortly after the arrival of Dr. Matthews, Dale was placed in the ambulance and taken to the Post Hospital, where the doctor amputated the arm just above the wrist joint. Throughout Dale displayed the greatest possible nerve and bravery, though at times suffering intensely. He is a man whom everybody thinks well of, and the matter at once settled a gloom over the whole town.

THE WATER QUESTION.—The water in the mountain streams in this locality has been failing rapidly in the past few days, and it is now clear that several of our farmers will lose a goodly portion of their crops already pretty well grown. The most unfortunate in this respect that we have heard of is Mr. Malone, whose place lies just to the eastward of the Post through, which comes the only water available to his use. It appears that he cannot get a drop of running water, and will therefore not raise any part of a crop whatever, not even enough for bread for his family. While we have no good reason to assume that there is any unnecessary waste of the water pertaining to the Post, yet it is possible such is the case, and that if the officer in charge would give it his attention enough might be raised or spared from Post necessities to give this family enough to save an acre or so of their most advanced crop. It seems that Malone is the only one among several holding a precisely similar second right, but receives enough water after the Post requirements are satisfied, to irrigate some portion of their crops. The exception against him may be entirely due to the location of his place, the stream assigned to him sinking too soon by reason of the length of the ditch. If not that there must be something wrong in the distribution someway, and in justice to a worthy citizen it ought to be seen to, and the hardship righted if it can be done, without putting an injustice upon some one else. The point is that while others receiving water from that same stream get enough to insure good average crops, this one farm ought to by some means have enough to wet a garden at least.

AN INDIAN MURDERED.—We should think that our Sheriff's officers and citizens generally would, in the course of the continuance for a year or so of a general drunk among the Indians around town nearly every Sunday, get tired of it. We have no question but that a careful shaddowing of two or three suspected parties would develop evidence enough to land some of them into the County Jail for six or twelve months. However, it is not certainly known that whisky was the direct cause of a brutal killing which occurred about 6 o'clock on the evening of Sunday, July 1, although there were a number of howling bucks around at the time. Three Indians, two of them hailing from Big Pine, rode into town and proceeded to a spot near Harris & Rhine's warehouse. Having found their Indian, they shot three bullets into his head and then proceeded to pound his head with rocks. The Indian seemed insensible, but lived until 11 o'clock. It will become evident by and by that if there is not some effort made to put a stop to such murders as this, a serious trouble may grow out of some such affair.

FOR SUPERVISOR.—It is authoritatively stated that our present Supervisor for this District, D. B. Curtis, Esq., will be a candidate for nomination and re-election to the position. He will, of course be subject to action by the Democratic Convention, while the talk is among Republicans that John R. Westerville will be put in the field.

MOUNTAIN FIRE.—An extensive forest fire is raging on the Sierras. near Lone Pine. Hundreds of acres of of valuable timber is being destroyed. It is supposed that some careless sheep men started it. The fire as seen from Lone Pine in the evening presents a grand appearance.

NOTARY.—Michael J. McManus has been recommissioned as Notary Public, by Gov. Irwin, to keep on swearing people at Darwin.

GOING EAST.—A. K. Briggs leaves today on a short business trip to Kalamazoo, Michigan.

CELEBRATION AT CERRO GORDO.

A Grand Success—The Chuckwallah Bazouks Turn Out and Bear a Live Chuckwallah Through the Streets in Triumph.

When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for a writer to dissect the bands which have bound the reporter with such despotic resistance since time out of mind to the same old formality, the same monotonous rigamarole and the same effusions which might well tax the powers of an Everett or the eloquence of a Gough to revise, it behooves THE INDEPENDENT representative to offer no apology for any departure from the old ruts in reviewing the doings on the Fourth at Cerro Gordo. Owing to crowded space and time a synopsis will necessarily have to suffice and a great many humorous details passed over for the present.

THE DAY

Opened like all days and Providence disposed pretty much as she always does, as she pleased, sending a gale from some hidden recess o'er mountain, valley and lake to gather new force and exhaust its efforts in vainly trying to disconcert the patriotic citizens gathered on Cerro Gordo hill. But throughout the night previous and during the morning of the Fourth numerous parties floated in from the valley, representing Independence, George's Creek, Lone Pine and other points, including some from Darwin, crowding the hotels and private houses to overflowing; thus the elements had to succumb as the anticipations of the boys began to be realized.

SALUTES

And music filled the thin air of the mountains and awakened the echoes from crag to peak as one more day was being ushered in at the foot of the honored One Hundred. Pursuant to programme the legitmate exercises were about to be carried out when the gale reached its highth, preventing the ladies from enjoying the scene on the streets and the procession was broken up, all hands adjourning to Hughes' hall, which had been decorated and so arranged that ample room was provided for all. In meantime the splendid

BRASS BAND OF CERRO GORDO

Discoursed sweet and lively airs and Committees were flying hither and thither insuring the comfort and enjoyment of the guests. The grand stand was decorated in becoming style, which was now surrounded and the exercises opened by the President of the Day, Dr. Gould, of Cerro Gordo. Appropriate music was discoursed in lieu of a prayer by the absent Chaplain, followed by the reading of the Declaration of Independence which was well rendered by Benj. Russell, Esq., of the Union Company. Next came select music followed by the introduction of the orator, Mr. Russell, on whom a double duty had been imposed. Amid cheers and applause Mr. Russell stepped forward and delivered in an impresssive style the oration which owing to space is omitted until next week, when it will appear on the first page of THE INDEPENDENT.

THE CARNIVAL.

The remainder of the day was observed in an orderly sort of an abandon. Fun and frolic ran high and great was the enjoyment of the crowd as the boys rolled about in the sack race. In the jackass slow race for purses, each would in mounting his rider change with some one else; thus the slow race would turn out to be just about as fast as the little jacks could be shoved along. The excitement reached a high pitch when after a little rest the

put in an appearance in a disorderly procession, filing from over the mountain top. To describe the bewildering array would be a long task, and to imagine the discord, the flying legs and arms, the unearthly groans and howls, the somersaults of the clowns, all headed by the standard bearers, who bore aloft a gorgeous emblem on which was printed in glaring colors, "Chuckwallah Bazouks." Surmounting this was a

LIVE CHUCKWALLAH

Which clung to a piñon stick and surveyed his inimical brothers with an ugly, stupid look, bespeaking his devilish allegiance to nothing earthly, except, perhaps, in Death Valley and vicinity. We gazed upon the scene and felt as Tam O'Shanter did on that memorable night at the gate of the old kirk-yard when

"As Tammie glower'd amazed and curious,
The mirth and fun grew fast and furious."

They marched and counter-marched through the srteets—finally entered the hall, where the chief Bazouk gave out the following stanzas, comprising local repartees and hits which the strange company bellowed forth in

SONG:

A man of God went out one night
In search of Truth in vain;
He fell from off a precipice
Which caused him grief and pain.

But Gabriel stood a-looking on,
And not a word said he;
The parson shook his head, and groaned
"Oh! I've fell up a tree."

There is a Judge in our town,
And he is very well know-'n
His breakfast is chuckwallah and toast,
And that is—old Judge Bowen.

There's two Chuckwallahs on the hill,
Better known as "Chris" and "Bill;"
Chris says to his partner, "What will you drink?"
She says, "I'll take—champagna."

Oh, Tortillas! Johnson is the boy;
He distributes our mail,
Which fills us all chuck full of joy—
Then fills himself with ale.

Oh, Russell; he's the boy for sport—
Around all night he'll roam,
And when the boys drink ale and port
He'll say "My friends, go home!"

There is old John Hughes—he is a trump;
He is one of the bho-hoys;
He drinks his cocktail night and morn,
And seldom makes a noise!

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion we cannot compliment the boys of Cerro Gordo too highly for the interest they took and for the very generous manner in which they received all the guests. Everything was free for the valley people, and champagne sparkled as free as water. The fireworks and ball at night were a success—some 36 ladies being present at the ball and enjoyed the best music in this part of the country. The Cerro Gordo Brass Band is composed of thirteen pieces; the manner in which they acquit themselves is very credible and they can no longer call themselves amateurs, for they are experts. The miners of Cerro Gordo at the present time are made up of better class of young men—fine looking, intelligent and active—the town can boast of more than any other camp on the coast. The chuckwallah referred to above is a specie of a large lizard which abound in the Inyo mountains and in Death Valley. They are ugly as the devil, but not poisonous, and are sought after by the Indians who consider roasted chuckwallah a rare and luxurious dish. The animal is now on exhibition in this town—he reposes gently in a tree in front of May's building.

THE D. V. D. D.

That Dolly Varden Domino Dance here on the night of the Fourth was one of the most pleasant and successful novelties in kind that we have ever had. Indeed, there is quite a general desire to have another of the same sort on the very first suitable occasion. There were about ninety persons present, nearly half wearing dominoes and tasty costumes, many of them being decidedly elegant, while all were pleasing and in good taste. There was nothing of the fantastic or grotesque essayed in any of the costumes, therefore nothing to offend the tastes of the most fastidious stickler for the ball room proprieties. It being a simple Dolly Varden Calico ball, but few attempted to personate masquerade characters. The tout ensemble was striking and attractive. Some of the maskers managed to maintain such a perfect incognito as to perplex, not to say annoy, their most intimate acquaintances. Many were the speculations as to who this or that gay masker was. Shape and style and manners went for naught in determining who was who in some of those impenetrable but becoming disguises. As regards some of the gentlemen nobody but the Old Harry could have named them short of an hour's study; of course that personage, in his acute wisdom and with his innate sense of his own proper claims would, at the first glance, have named his own in that Highlander's kilt and knee breeches, likewise that gay cabellero in the showy pollonaise coat, silvery vest and double Turk pantaloons, besides some others we might name but can't describe—these, the old party referred to, would, no doubt, have lit on to at once, but it is certain that nobody else less intimate could have seen through their perfect disguises. Among the ladies the pretty little red bloomer was one of the most attractive figures. In our judgment, though, that ordinarily demure young lady in the turbaned head gear, broad sash, and white muslin pull back decorated from top to bottom with figured cards, was the success of the evening in the manner in which she sustained her part. Others, though, no doubt, would make a similar award, some, perhaps, to the lady in the spangled black calico with shoes to match, or the lady of the Elizabethian period, or the Dutch Flower Girl, or Grandmother O'Thanneby, or the vivacious Bridget O'Flaherty in the tall head dress, or to some of the other less pronounced costumes—not one but attracted attention, as well as admiration for tastful dress as well as bearing. Among those, in addition to the above, were a number quite deserving of special reference, but, as to do so, would require either too much space in description or designation by their own proper names, we shall have to forego further remark in that line. To add to the other novelties of the brilliant occasion was a marriage ceremony in the hall, during the interlude after the opening domino march and quadrille. But Judge Hannah carried that ceremony through so quietly and expeditiously that but comparatively few knew what was going on, until the happy pair were made one for good and aye. There were quite a number of very welcome additions to the goodly assemblage from other localities, Lone Pine and Bishop Creek being quite well represented. The whole affair was a gratifying success, and the chief engineers, County Clerk Daugherty and John Irwin, are to be credited for their zeal, energy and liberality in getting up and conducting such a pleasant entertainment.

LETTER LIST.—List of letters remaining in the Post Office at Independence and unclaimed on July 1, 1877: Wilson Beach, Sanford Bigley, Samuel Calmers Thos. A. Doe, F. E. Felt, Wm. Q. Gaughan, Al Hainsltan, James Griffithe, Ed Hicks, Rob Plart, Arthur Pearce, James Perghm, Frank Perkins, R. H. Porter, Miss Annie Jackson, John L. Jones, M. H. Kelly, (2); T. W. Kittleson, Wm. Mattyette, James McAleny Wm. M. Mitchell, Miss Monral, Patrick Murphy, H. J. Newland, Jalels Nicholls, Mr. A. Rowe, Mark Robers L. Rodman, G. E. Tales, Henry Smith, A. F. Stoeckley, Mrs. Nancy Webster, W. J. White.

THE NEW WATER COMPANY.—Articles of incorporation were filed in the Clerk's office of San Francisco, June 30, of the Inyo County Water Works. The object is to secure by location, gift or purchase rights of way and franchise for water mains in the county of Inyo and elsewhere, and supply mills, mines, farms, cities, etc., with water. The Directors are A. Thannhauser, John F. Miller, Louis Sloss, J. M. Tinces and Jose Carrascosa. The capital stock is $500,000, divided into 5,000 shares of $100 each.

WELL BORING.—The advertisement of Messrs. Smith & Betts, who are prepared to bore artesian and surface wells, will be found elsewhere. An examination of their machinery will leave no doubt in the mind of any one as to their ability to sink a hole to any depth, and it is to be hoped that the experiment of boring deep enough for a flowing well will be tried by some one in the valley. The result of such an operation will be looked for with the keenest interest.

The Fourth at Lone Pine.

"The Glorious Fourth," so writes our Lone Pine correspondent, "was celebrated here in the most patriotic and satisfactory manner, seeing that many of our best citizens were absent, either at Cerro Gordo or Independence. The honors pertain to Mrs. Josiah Dodge, who gave a picnic at Dodge's Locust Grove to some 75 guests. In fact it was a most sumptuous dinner rather than a picnic spread. After a vast quantity of the good things were disposed of the asssemblage were entertained by some most excellent singing by the Misses Blanche and May Meysan, Miss Ball, the Misses May aud Eva Swan, Miss Sophie Schulte, Miss Annie Dodge and Miss Adams, Messrs. Spear, Al. Viel, Dr. Geleich and Prof. Janvier. The Declaration of Independence was read in a very creditable manner by Master Al. Viel, after which the Rev. Mr. Nosler delivered an eloquent oration. This, however, owing to the violence of the wind the orator was obliged to abridge materially; nevertheless, he expressed some noble thoughts, and his effort was awarded great praise. The glorious day was ushed in at sunrise by 13 guns, and ushered out with an equal number at sunset, in the meantime 38 guns at high noon, all under the direct supervision of Major Geo. Burkhardt. The occasion had a graceful wind up in a social hop at Van Breisen's hall, which hop in turn was not wound up until the morning hours of the 5th were several hours agone."

STIRRING TIMES.—They had an election for a school Trustee down at Lone Pine last week out of which came considerable trouble. On complaint of Constable Snodgrass, several parties were arrested and brought before Justice Peterson for selling whisky during an election day. One of these was found guilty and fined some dollars. The remainder had a hearing last Tuesday, P. Reddy appearing as counsel. As the polls were not kept open but a portion of the day, counsel showed that his clients had violated no election law, because it was not a legal election. Thereupon the charges were dismissed. The contest for the office of Trustee was between A. B. Elder and Chas. Meysan, and was warm throughout. The last named got the most votes and was declared elected. But as the election was not legal as previously stated, Mr. Meysan then presented a petition for his appointment to Supt. Symmes, and thereby secured the coveted prize, no doubt, to the discomfiture of the parties of the second part. On the issuance of the warrants for the violation of the whisky clause as above stated, one of the aggrieved parties, name to us unknown, thought best to bring the complainant to a personal account by means of a club or fence rail or something of that sort, but whether the effort was fully satisfactory or not deponent saith not. But Snodgrass' troubles like other peoples', did not come singly if we include what followed a day or two later, but which was in no wise connected with the school election. Then another party named Hamilton undertook to administer condign punishment upon Snodgrass for some cause ante-dating these events some months or weeks, and quite personal to themselves. This effort on the part of Hamilton stirred Snodgrass up to a considerable depth, and he thereupon got out his pocket knife with which he proceeded to perforate Mr. Hamilton, in which he was so far successful as to inflict several pretty severe cuts upon his adversary. One in the chest was, for a time, thought to be deep enough to be quite dangerous, but we learn that no apprehensions of a fatal result are now entertained, and that Hamilton will soon be about again. An immediate investigation before the Justice showed that Sn dgrass was acting in self-defense, so he was discharged.

COURT.—The County Court met on Monday last and adjourned to Monday next, the 9th instant, when the Diaz Johnson water case will come up. P. S.—Since the above was in type the case has been settled, Mr. Diaz having sold his lands, and all water claims thereto pertaining or in contraversy, to defendants in the case and others more or less interested in the issue. The sum paid was $10,000, according to report.

BACK AGAIN.—Among the old residenters of Inyo who have tried their fortunes elsewhere, and who have come back again to their first love—i. e., this county—are T. A. Gardner and Jim Fitzgerald. The former proposes locating here, and the latter is looking out for chances; intends for the present to visit the new camp of Bodie, in Esmeralda county, Nevada.

THE ECLIPSE.—Supt. Nelson reached home from San Francisco on Tuesday last, having made arrangements whereby the Eclipse is placed again on its feet again. In his absence the mill has been thoroughly overhauled and put in the best of working order. It was started up on the 5th instant, having a large amount of good ore on the dump.

NED REDDY, of Darwin, took in Independence during the Fourth and some days previously, but devoted his attention mostly to his brother John, who was quite unwell during the week. The latter was so far recovered from this temporary attack that the former returned to Darwin a day or two since.

TO RENT.—By referring to an advertisement on our fourth page, sheep men will learn of an opportunity to lease some good grass land, comprising 1100 acres.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.—Property owners interested in equalization matters will note the advertisement published this issue.

ON a small island in Louisiana are a dozen boxwood trees, the only ones in the United States, and are supposed to have been planted by coasters in the Spanish reign.

The Harper Brothers.

It is almost impossible to think of one of Harpers without recalling all the brothers, and their lives are so blended that it is impossible to tell the career of any single member without drifting into a history of the whole firm. More than that, it is difficult to tell a characteristic story of the one without relating the peculiarities of the others. James, the senior, was the bland and broad humorist of the concern, always good natured, and as dignified as his love of a dry joke and a funny story would permit him to be. Pressed by a persistent visitor to tell what his duties consisted of, James once replied that they were to "get rid of the inquisitive bores who visited them." Wesley was the embodiment of gentleness: "the well beloved," as he was called. "You will have to see Wesley," said James once to a solicitor for a subscription for a Methodist church; "he attends to God's business." John was probably the most austere of the four, and the shrewdest in money ventures; he was the financier and "balance-wheel" of the establishment, his single recognized weakness being a love of fine horses and fast driving. Almost the only secrets he ever kept from his brothers were the prices paid for his horseflesh. He once insisted on a dealer's accepting two checks for $1,750 each for a $3,500 horse, in order that he might be able to say to his brother James, who twitted him unmercifully about his extravagance in this regard, that "he had given his check for $1,750 for the animal." In Fletcher, the youngest, was concentrated more of the vigor, dash, enterprise, and speculative spirit of the house than any of the others, or perhaps all combined.—New York Tribune.

A SALEM storekeeper has hit on a happy plan to keep loafers away from his corner. He waits until the crowd is a good-sized one, then sifts cayenne pepper liberally into a feather duster, goes out and gives his windows a thorough brushing. An immediate stampede follows.

"THINGS look pretty lively here to-day—everybody on the rush," remarked a Carson man this morning, who had just got off the train. "Yes," was the reply. "half the town rushing around to collect bills and the other half's rushing 'round to avoid 'em!"—Virginia Chronicle.

THE first election in Minnesota at which women voted occurred the other day at St. Paul, where about 600 of them exercised the right, in accordance with the provisions of a law passed by the last Legislature, and voted for school officers.

IT is an admitted fact that Daniel W. Voorhees is to be the Democratic candidate for Senator in Indiana next year, against Mr. Morton. A campaign is expected that will attract national attention, and will be, in one sense, the opening of the next Presidential campaign.

BOB INGERSOLL snaps at a trusim in this style: "Liberty is simply a question of intellectual development, and every man who is not willing to give to every other man the right to free thought which he claims for himself is a natural rascal."

THE daughter of Mr. Proddy, of Twelfth street, has returned to her father's house from a visit to the East, and oh! how many fond and foolish boys rejoice over that Proddy gal's return.—Kansas City Times.

LITTLE Delaware is after the girls and boys who are in haste to wed. There is a bill before her Legislature that makes it a misdemeanor for parties belonging to the State to leave it for the purpose of getting married.

THE Supreme Court of the United States has decided that divorces granted by the Mormon Courts are illegal and void. It therefore follows that those who were thus divorced were not divorced at all.

A PHILADELHHIA judge decided that a railroad company is not responsible for baggage further than to check it, pound it to pieces, and preserve an ordinary watch over the trunk handles.

ORATION.

Delivered by Benj. Russell, Esq., at Cerro Gordo, July 4, 1877.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—The only apology I can make for trespassing on your attention, lies in the necessity of the occasion. It would be entirely out of the regular routine of all Fourth of July celebrations if what is called the oration was left out. From my earliest recollections I can remember no Fourth of July where this part of the programme has been omitted. Indeed, I think if the records of all such celebrations as this were known, there could not be found a single instance of an omission of this kind. Be the place ever so small, some one has been found who would or could attempt the feat of sticking another feather in the emblematic Bird of Freedom. My position therefore as your orator is not from choice but necessity. It is placed on the programme and must be done. No one else would undertake the responsibility, and my friends, responsibility is a great thing sometimes. I can think of no happier illustration of its meaning than that which the boy gave, on being asked to define the meaning of the word, after thinking profoundly for a moment he answered, that a boy has two buttons behind to hold up his pants, and if one button comes off there is a good deal of responsibility on the other button. So my friends if this part of the programme fails to be filled the responsibility must rest on other shoulders. How, upon such a day as this do the recollections of our childhoods' enjoyment of the "glorious Fourth" throng through our minds, our great longing through slow passing days for the day to come—our fears of rainy weather, the hoarding of our slender income—and the close calculations as to the amounts to be invested in the trifles that then gave us pleasure, mixed in with these recollections are painful memories of hot days, burnt fingers, and an irresistible desire to be letting off crackers during the stillness of tiresome orations. But, my friends, to be more serious, we are met together, a small assemblage to be sure, and composed of people from nearly all parts of the world, many of us native citizens, some so by adoption, but one and all, whether citizen or not, can join in commemorating this day the 191st anniversary of our country's independence.

To-day our thoughts will naturally revert back through many years to that brave and enlightened assemblage of men who from the portals of the old Council Hall at Philadelphia, proclaimed "Liberty throughout the land." This key-note sounded on the old Liberty Bell rang through the colonies, rousing the sturdy sons of the then young country to noble deeds of daring to gain their freedom. Their struggles and sacrifices, their heroic sufferings through long years, can never be forgotton in the world's history. The final victory of the patriots commanded by the immortal Washington gave us our national existence. The cry for Liberty was heard, and from that time to this, that cry of Liberty has echoed and re-echoed through generations.

In all countries and climes where civilization is known the example thus set has become the leaven that has worked great revolutions in the government of nations, giving to their people greater privileges, better laws and higher aspirations for self improvement. As a nation we are yet far from perfection, still, we have begun with the right principle, and in reviewing the past century's history of our country, I am sure that all of us can be justly proud of the position we hold in the family of nations, and glory in the means by which it has been attained.

Our made of government has been an experiment and consequently we have made many and greivous mistakes, yet at the same time, we have had little in history to either warn or guide us; we have trod an almost unknown path, but by the wisdom of our leaders, and the determination of the masses, we have stood the test of over a hundred years. In the life of an nation a century is that of but a short period, but what we have accomplished in that time in the arts, the sciences and manufactures, was grandly shown at the Centennial Exhibition. The world then looked on and wondered at so young a nation accomplishing so much in so short a time. Showing such unparalleled inventive genious, such industry and perseverance in all branches of the mechanical arts. In the opening up of so vast a territory to civilization, regardless of the cost and in the face of almost impenetrable difficulties. Peopling vast tracts of country. Building great and magnificent cities in regions that but a few years ago were but a wilderness peopled with savages. The railroad and telegraph now penetrate every where, great industries have followed them, new enterprises created, and employment given to the millions who choose to make this land their home; what we have done in the past in the way of material progress gives good hope and reasonable expectation of better and greater things in the future. In our country's life we have passed through, I trust, its greatest peril. The better feelings engendered in that dark time, it behooves us now like sensible people to forget, whatever was the right or wrong of the dispute, should be now no cause of discussion. It is of the past and as such let it stay burried, and let us all encourage the hope that the time is not far distant when North and South and East and West know no sectional lines, but all join heartily in the great work of placing our country the foremost nation in the world's history.

We have one now in the Presidential chair who is striving honestly, I think, to reconcile the conflicting elements in our political life, and to purify the administration of its laws. It will be our duty as good citizens to lend our feeble aid in the good work of restoration in this the beginning of a new century of national existence.

To-day while war is carrying death and countless miseries into once happy homes in foreign lands—with all the world we are at peace, we cannot too much over estimate the wisdom of that national policy that has steadily kept us from all foreign complications. And we can take pride in knowing that as a nation we have never waged war unjustly or lifted the sword for conquest or oppression.

The greatest soldier this country or this age has produced has made himself most eminent in the cause of peace. He laid down the sceptre of almost regal power and became an humble citizen like ourselves; we see him to-day the honored guest of the old mother country—the peer of the mightiest. The estimate in which he is held, the tributes paid to him as a soldier and statesman, reflect back upon our country and serve to strengthen the bonds of friendship and kindred between the country from which we sprung and ourselves May it ever be so, and may England and America, the two greatest nations of the world, ever go hand in hand through the good work of conquering and civilizing the world by peaceful means.

As a State, there be those among us who have seen the beginning of this now great commonwealth. From a small band of hardy pioneers has sprung a glorious State, rich in its natural resources, but richer still in its fortune of plucky men whose enterprise and daring have found countless millions of treasure into the lap of the world. In a litt'e more than a quarter of a century California has become one of the greatest States in the Union. That her future may be as brilliant as the past, must be the sincere wish of us all.

Now in conclusion, my friends, let me say that as a community we have perhaps some more prosperous days in this camp, but let us look bravely into the future and hope for better times, and let this joyous day serve to strengthen among us the bonds of good fellowship, without which no community is pleasant, no State prosperous, no nation permanent.

PROF. ESMARCH ON CANCER.—In a recent lecture, this eminent surgeon spoke upon the treatment of cancer. A large number of drawings were exhibited, showing the various cases that had been met with during the course of Dr. Esmarch's professional career. He advised that cance s of the tongue, and most of the malignant growths, wherever occurring, should be treated by means of arsenic and iodide of potassium, internally and externally, before proceeding to an operation. The speaker had frequently seen cancer originating upon a syphilitic basis, and often when where the syphilis had remained latent for a long period—from twenty to forty years. The lecture closed by an appeal to each member to collect all the material in his power, and so see if it were not possible, by a division of labor, to arrive at some definite conclusions on the question of malignant neoplasms.—Scientific American.

IF no intoxicating drinks were used it would be a rare thing for a family to be in want of the comforts of life.

Zymotic Diseases.

Sir Thomas Watson has published a paper on zymotic diseases, in which he contends, in opposition to Dr. Murchison, that the development of the whole group, including small pox, chicken pox, typus fever, typoid or enteric fever, scarlet fever, the plague, measles, whooping cough, and mumps, is due solely to contagion. He would adopt, therefore, for the abolition of these diseases a process analogous to that which proved so successful in staying the cattle plauge of 1865 in Great Britain. Of course he does not advocate the killing of the victims of contagia, according to act of Parliment or of Congress. Human beings cannot be stamped out like cattle, suffering from however grievous a contagium. But he would have the State exercise such powers as will insure, first, the immediate isolation of a person affected: second, the thorough disinfection of his body, clothes, furniture, and place of isolation, and, third, vigilant and effectual measures to prevent the importation of his disease from abroad, and to strangle it should it by mischance return. All this contagia-exterminating process implies, as Sir Thomas perceives, an acquaintaince, on the the part of the physicians to be employed by the commonwealth, with what he describes as the "science of State medicine," as well as an increase of taxation. But the freedom of nations from a class of diseases which may at any moment, and in localities where the sanitary arrangementy are otherwise as good as they can be, send thousands to premature graves, is surely a worthy object of civilized society.—Scientific American.

Bank of England Notes.

Few of the persons who handle Bank of England notes ever think of the amount of labor and ingenuity that is expended on their production. These notes are made from pure white linen cuttings only, never from rags that have been worn. They have been manufactured for nearly 200 years at the same spot—Laverstoke, in Hampshire, and by the same family, the Portals, who are descended from some French Protestant refugees. So carefully is the paper prepared that even the number of dips into the pulp made by each workman is registered on a dial by machinery and the sheets are carefully counted and booked to each person through whose hands they pass. The printing is done by a most curious process in Mr. Coe's department within the bank building. There is an elaborate arrangement for securing that no note shall be exactly like any other in existence. Consequently there never was a duplicate of a Bank of England note, except by forgery. According to the City Press, the stock of paid notes for seven years is about 64,000,000 in number, and they fill 18,000 boxes, which, if placed side by side, would reach three miles. The notes, placed in a pile would be eight miles high; or, if joined end to end, would form a ribbon 15,000 miles long; their superficial extent is more than that of Hyde Park; their original value was over $15,000,000,000, and their weight over 112 tons.—Scientific American.

THE AGES OF INDIANS.—As is well known to those conversant with the Indian character, the Indians none of them know their ages. Before the advent of the whites in this country their computation of time did not extend beyond moons; though many of them now understand what a year is and are able to compute time by years. Yesterday an old Indian on Main street was asked how old he was, and replied that he did not know. "Do you savvy what a year is?" he was then asked. "Yosh," he replied, "me heap savvy; most Injun he only savvy moon." "Why Injun no count how old by moon?" asked the red man's questioner. "Him too goddam lazy count 'em," returned the brave. It is difficult to judge of an Indian's age by his appearance. The exposed life they lead ages them fast, and an Indian at fifty looks as old as a white man does at eighty. This particularly applies to the women; a squaw at thirty is an old hag. A young squaw begins to lose her youthful looks in a couple of years after marriage, and grows old in appearance so rapidly that a person who had not seen her in the intervening two years would not recognize her as the same woman at the end of that time. Very few Indians live to an old age, and we are of the opinion that the average age to which they live is not over thirty years.—Austin Reveille.

JOE COBURN, the notorious prize-fighter, who is in the New York State Prison, serving out a ten years' sentence for a murderous assault on a policeman, has been refused a new trial by the Supreme Court. Coburn lived in White Pine in the early days of that district. He was a big, overgrown bully, whose chief amusement was in brutally beating a weak little woman whom he called his wife. One day he attempted to abuse a man—a small man, a pigmy by comparison with Coburn—but the little fellow reached up and slapped him in the face. Coburn did not attempt to show fight; he merely walked away, saying as he turned: "I guess I'll go back to New York; everybody is on the shoot in this country."—Austin Reveille.

A PENNSYLVANIA young woman fell out of a boat. She was sinking for the second time. The oarsman grasped her by the hair. The hair was false. Down she went leaving the hirsute sham in the hands of the oarsman. Up she came again presently. The oarsman this time, managed to grasp some of her real hair. She was saved, but they will never be married.

AN Iowa paper tells of a smart wife who helped her husband raise seventy acres of wheat. The way she helped him was to stand in the door and shake a broom at him when he sat down to rest.

FISH CULTURE.

The catfish introduced into the waters of the State by the Fish Commissioners, says the Sacramento Record-Union, have thriven wonderfully well, and if allowed half a chance there will soon be a sufficient number to furnish excellent sport for all anglers. And this calls to mind something that ought to have been suggested and acted upon long ago. The perfect success attendant upon the experiment of stocking our trout streams on this side of the mountains with the splendid fish common to the creeks on the other slope of the Sierras, has demonstrated that fish will not seek the polluted waters below. It was supposed that in the Fall the fish would reach the river and finally the lake, where nothing but worms and flies could possibly live. But the trout stay in clear water, not even getting so low into the valley as the irrigating ditches; and we believe that if Owens River—the finest in the State, having no mining debris of any sort to contaminate it—was stocked with Mississippi catfish or Oregon salmon or some of each, by some local Seth Green, there would in three or four years be thus produced a most substantial and welcome addition to our county's good things. Whether the wealth contained in the waters of our river (in the water itself and its fertilizing properties, making an annual loss of millions through not being directed out on the rich sage land for irrigating purposes) is ever utilized or not, this fish enterprise would in any way event prove an immense success, as the volume of water must ever continue to flow somewhere. Some fish that could feed upon the "chubs" or minnows with which the river is so well populated, would undoubtedly thrive. We call the attention of the United States Fish Commissioners to the matter, with the hope that it may be fully investigated and finally acted upon.

THEY had a love feast at Woodstock, Connecticut, on the Fourth. Ex-Governor Chamberlain, of South Carolina, Senator Blaine, Dr. Oliver Wendall Holmes, and other celebrities were there. All hands made speeches, the address of Chamberlain being the event of the occasion. He raked the President and his policy fore and aft, and pronounced the latter cowardly and unscrupulous. Singularly enough, both the President and the speaker were heartily cheered by the audience. Blaine's remarks were devoted mainly to annexation schemes, and the antagonisms existing beteen the North and South. Altogether it was a very remarkable gathering.

IN America we rate one ounce of gold as worth 16 ounces of silver, while France, which is the head of the Latin Union, allows only 15½ ounces of silver to equal in value an ounce of gold. Now if gold and silver can circulate there together, when silver is so much overvalued, we ought certainly to be able to maintain the two in circulation here at the reduced ratio we make for silver. But it is probably better that we should increase our estimation of silver to the French standard, so as to be in harmony with the large portion of the commercial world which has adopted that ratio.

THE Democratic slate which seems to be most in favor in Ohio is ex-Speaker Converse for governor and the Hon. George H. Pendleton for United States Senator. It is charged already that there will be an attempt to pack the State Convention in their interests, and Hamilton county is in a stew about it already.

THE support of the solid South is promised for the remonetization of silver. The South has generally been strong for hard money, one reason being that Southern banks of issue were never a success. The utter-worthlessness of the Confederate scrip did not make them love paper money any the more.

GONE.

With regard to the points of the compass, they are going in the wrong direction; still they were marching away and to the war, and as in soldierly line they passed through town and out on the sandy road leading down the valley, there was a sensation of sorrowful discomfort all around. Co. D, 12th U. S. Infantry have been quartered at Camp Independence for four years, under command of Capt. A. B. MacGowan. Upon their first arrival, they constituted a rough crowd from Arizona, and some little trouble was upon two occasions had with citizens; but at the time of their departure the United States regular army never had a better disposed or more temperate company in the service. In point of fact there was but one man left in the company who was numbered among those implicated in the troubles referred to.

Camp Independence, abandoned and ordered discontinued for all time, is certainly one of the most naturally favored, cultivated and beautiful military posts in the Pacific Department, if not in the whole country. It was first occupied by California Volunteers on April 5th, 1862, and April 1st, 1865, established as a permanent military post by a Nevada company, who were subsequently relieved by the regulars, by whom it has been garrisoned ever since. The officers' and company quarters are very commodious and handsome buildings, surrounded by everything which go to make homes in this country attractive. The original adobe buildings were shattered by the great earthquake of '72, and were rebuilt in their present form at an outlay of some $25,000.

The "company" numbers 21 men, all told; and this outpost proportionately represented the "skeleton army" of the Government's ill-advised and most nigardly military policy. Still, a show of force here was as much required as at any place in the Union, certainly quite as much as in the late peaceful Indian countries of Idaho. The late commandant, however, has never for the past three years been sparing in his efforts to effect an abandonment of Camp Independence, though it is not probable that he would have succeeded for some years to come had it not been for the Idaho trouble. The Captain marched out on foot with his men, evidently pleased at the prospect of active service; but his efforts and reports in favor of a removal have savored of pique and spite.

The mere physical power of the handful of troops did not amount to much; but for a certain manifest and important moral influence, the presence of a few soldiers under the stars and stripes always conduces to the welfare of both red and white. We are not apprehensive of another Indian outbreak here; none of the six or seven hundred Indians in this county but know the final disastrous outcome of such an undertaking—at least, as well as the Idaho redskins did. And the post here should not have been abandoned any more than those of Idaho were. Here it was the only one in an Indian country covering at least 500 miles square; the many hundreds of wild and tame Indians in that area should have been placed under military supervision. The military being removed, some saucy Indian wildly drunk on whisky sold him by low down whites will get killed; there will be rumpus and the attempt repeated by some Josiah to put the tribes on a reservation, for the benefit of some thieving, scoundrelly Indian Agents. And then there will be a loud call for troops, and the Government must re-establish the splendid property now being sacrificed and abandoned in order that an army of 21 men may go up to Idaho and get killed.

THE Virginia Enterprise reports the heaviest shipment of bullion ever made at one time from the Comstock, as follows: The clean-up of the California mine for the past fiscal month is all in and the final shipment made. The amount sent off last evening was $405,847 78, and consisted of 97 bars. The total yield of the California mine for June is $1,567,930 69, thus assuring the usual dividend of $1,080,000 and leaving a liberal surplus for running expenses. The Consolidated Virginia also shipped last evening 67 bars, valued at $263,911 18, making a total to date of $867,827 34. She has yet one week to run her mills and her final clean-up to add to the amount, which will also make enough to pay her dividend. The total shipment from the Comstock last evening was 176 bars, valued at $699,344 80. This is by about $130,000 the heaviest shipment ever made at one time from the Comstock.

THERE are over 7,000 applications on file at the State Department at Washington for appointment as Consul, although there is but one salaried Consulship vacant.

A RECONCILIATION has been virtually effected between the local factions of the Democratic party in San Francisco.

THE Turkish Government has organized a corps of divers, whose business it is to root up the torpedoes which the Russians plant in the Danube and on the shores of the Black Sea. These divers are Mohammedans from Lazitan, and a certain number of them are attached to each of the Turkish squadrons. When the ships arrive near a spot where the existence of torpedoes is suspected two divers row to the place in a very light boat, which draws so little water that there is scarcely any danger of its striking a torpedo. On arriving at the destination one of the oarsmen dives into the sea; if he finds the wire or rope by which the torpedo is attached he cuts it with a sharp instrument, and returns quickly into the boat. The liberated torpedo floats to the surface of the water, and the men pass a sort of lasso around it, take it in tow, and then row back to the ship as quickly as possible. For each one thus captured the divers are paid about $50 in addition to half the value of the torpedo itself.

BOB INGERSOLL ON FREE SCHOOLS. "Our forefathers were, however, all in favor of universal education, and from that seed, the school house is now coming to be the finest house in every village and town in the land. Therefore I thank every Puritan that encouraged education. There are a good many people dissatified with the public schools. I think the worst thing that could happen to them would be the introduction into them of the teaching of religion. I do not think it is right to tax people to employ somebody to guess for them. Guessing ought to be free. I don't believe in taxing a Catholic to have a Protestant do his guessing. I don't believe in taxing a Protestant to do his guessing; and I don't believe in taxing the man who believes in neither religion, nor in none, to have any one do his guessing for him. The moment that any religion is taught in the public schools that moment will be the end of education in America."

THAT CIVIL SERVICE ORDER.—The President in conversation has expressed himself very decidedly in regard to his civil service order. It has been issued, he said, with the full knowledge of the fact that it would cause trouble and cost the Republican party a few votes at starting, which he felt would in time return. Of the enforcement of the Order Hayes spoke with great determination, and said that the first office-holder who took part in the management of the party would be summarily removed. After the candidates were nominated Hayes said there would be no objection to an office-holder voting for them or working for them so far as it did not interfere with the discharge of his official duties. He did not propose to disfranchise office-holders, but did not intend to permit them to take part in the management of the party.

A WASHINGTON special states that the President says his Southern policy is no longer an issue; that he did what he thought was right, and talking will not change that which has been accomplished. As to his order divorcing office-holders from political management, the President recently said to a friend that he expected trouble on account of it; that it would probably cause the loss of some votes to the Republican party this year, but he believed it was right, and he would enforce it without regard to persons, and cause the dismissal of the first office-holder who violated the order.

THERE is a little machine the Russians are using in their present fight against which rams and turret-ships and iron-plated gunboats are but as egg-shells in a strong man's grasp. The torpedo has revolutionized the art of "fighting great fights on sea." With its electric machinery, its silent working and gigantic rending force, it slips along unseen below the water and in a moment "the largest and most powerful ship in our navy" is blown to high heaven. Fighting with torpedoes has only just begun and where it will end not even the mediums can say.

GEN. GRANT visited the House of Lords on the evening of July 3d, and stood at the foot of the throne. The Earl of Carnarvon, immediately upon perceiving the General, quitted the treasury benches and had a chat with him. Gen. Grant recently proceeded to the House of Commons and remained a few minutes in the gallery for distinguished visitors.

The Fourth of July in Round Valley.

MESSRS. EDITORS—A celebration day stirs up the curiosity of all—the city folk to witness the gayety of fashion, the display of silks and fineries—and listen to the bursts of eloquence, etc. A farming community appreciates these and all that is useful and ornamental—Farmer John admires the fluent speech, the sweet music, the reading of the Declaration and poetical effusions, but the hight of his ambition is to meet and "celebrate," to see and talk, exchange ideas, eat and drink, with his numerous friends—the scores of neighboring farmers, their wives and children. The true inwardness of the sturdy farmer impels him to cheerfully sail out on a Fourth of July morning anticipating a jolly good time once a year anyhow. Why should the farmer pen himself up the year round, with pigs and calves, or be continually corralled with a band of mustangs? Man, and particularly woman, is a social being. Enjoy life as we go along should be our motto. The object of life is happiness; let us have some though we die in the struggle. The constant humdrum of farm-life demands more recreation. There should be more than one Fourth of July every year, with a greater variety of exercises and less whisky. Frequent social gatherings would be conducive to health and intelligence; would tend to dispel that cold, distant, sordid selfishness which extensively prevails, and cultivate a more fraternal feeling. Farmers are no longer the slouch clodhoppers they used to be. They are nowadays equal to any other class of people in style, dress, brains and intelligence. When farmer Spriggins drives to the grove a noble pair of steeds in a fine buggy, himself and family gayly arrayed, nobody, except a pusillanimous cuss, would comment disparagingly thereon, but rejoice, as human beings should, to see neighbors prosper and flourish. If an old taboose eater, after many years of hard scratching, a little shrewd financiering and considerable blundering, with water, soil, climate and market favorable, be enabled to own a gay outfit, who is better entitled to such a desirable appurtenance than the son of toil?

On the Fourth a large and respectable crowd gathered in Goodridge's Grove. A grand feature was the new star spangled banner, 12x18 feet with a 36 foot streamer, which waved at the end of a 60 foot pole (said pole, Mr. Goodridge says, will grow 40 feet more by next Fourth). The exercises of the day consisted in music by the string band and accordeon; prayer, short and pathetic, by Mr. F. Gunter; reading of the Declaration, by Col. G. C. Alexander; a fine poem by Mr. Hunter, of Bishop Creek; local music, sweetly rendered by Miss Dickinson, of Pleasant Valley; the oration, by Dr. Wainright; some more music by the band, and then refreshments. The ladies had prepared abundance of food and the tables "groaned" as usual. The parties acquitted themselves admirably well. An attempt to eulogize by a rustic would be worse than folly. In the afternoon the audience were delighted with vocal and instrumental music. Mrs. Benjamin deserves credit for the able manner in which she sang several pieces; accompaniments by the band. At 4 o'clock P. M., races. To the winner of a 75 yard footrace, a pair of $8 50 boots. Gentlemen only to compete. G. Taylor, of Benton winner. The other race was for ladies only, distance 10 yards. Prize a $3 50 pair of shoes, which were won by Miss Atkins, of Bishop Creek. Mr. Stoutenborough, not being able to be present at the grove, produced considerable fun and excitement by donating the above rewards to a trial of speed. Mr. J. L. Bourland was President of the Day, who conducted the performances with his usual ability. Calls were made for Mr. Randolph, who made a neat little speech. It appears that all enjoyed themselves first rate and particularly the dancers in the evening. It may be remarked here that some of the settlers, especially Col. Alexander, wisely suggests the organization of a society solely for the purpose of selecting suitable grounds, making the necessary arrangements, secure speakers, musicians, and other talent (and see that the same are duly paid for their services); take charge of flags, equipments and appurtenances, which may be used during subsequent Fourth of July celebrations of Bishop Creek, Round Valley and adjacent vicinities combined. It is astonishing that some musical genius has not yet organized a brass band in these thrifty farming settlements. A dozen, or less brass instruments would produce a telling effect in our rich mountain valleys. There is sufficient musical talent on Bishop and vicinity for grand music, could it be concentrated and directed into bugles, trombones, telephones and kettledrums. Some leader take the hint, and start the ball. Give us more music of a rousing, rattling kind during celebrations and other occasions.

BY JINGO.

ZACH. CHANDLER had hardly got into California, when he was made a victim, but he has the satisfaction of knowing that he is only one among many. Truckeeites all know that red bat at Cardwell's, for many of them have been sold by it. This is what Zach. bit at, and it cost him many bottles of champagne for so doing. He saw the cage and covering, and was told by one of his party that there was a good chance for a "sell," but Zach. raised the covering to behold the same old red brick-bat that for many months has been viewed by the curious. Lowering the curtain, his exclamation was: "Come boys, its worth the expenditure," and all hands drank and laughed at the first joke in California being on Zach. Chandler.—Truckee Republican.

"MADAM," said a doctor one day to the mother of a sweet, healthy babe, "the ladies have deputed me to inquire what you do to have such a happy, uniformly good child." The mother mused a moment at the strangeness of the question, and then replied, simply and beautifully. "Why, heaven has given me a healthy child, and I let it alone."

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, JULY 14 .....1877.

SOME SHOOTING.—On the 5th instant a Mr. Seahorn, living some two miles this side of Slinkark's, got into a difficulty with some Frenchmen passing with a band of sheep, one of whom thought to effect an adjustment with a shotgun or pistol. Seahorn received a shot in the shoulder inflicting a slight injury, and some of the lead also struck and more seriously injured his horse. Fearing an uprising of the Vigilantes the shooter fled that night. The remaining two sheepmen were arrested on the following day as parties, and taken before Justice G. C. Alexander at Bishop, P. Reddy, Esq., appearing for defendants. In the hearing it appeared that defendants had stopped to allow their sheep to drink from an irrigating ditch belonging to plaintiff, but at a point in the open plain above his place. To this plaintiff objected and undertook to drive them away forthwith. The stories differ somewhat as to what next ensued up to and including the shooting. Suffice it to say one frantic Frenchman let his gun go off accidentally and then went off himself purposely; also that Seahorn had got what he had seemingly invited and retired satisfied for the time being, it then being after dark. As neither of the two under arrest were shown to have been parties to the shooting in any responsible manner they were discharged, whereupon Seahorn entered suit for $150 damages to his ditch, and $100 for the horse it had been shown these men didn't shoot—nothing was claimed for loss of crops by reason of the amount of water absorbed by the sheep and Frenchmen. Counsel for defense filed an answer denying plaintiff's right of domain, etc. This took the case beyond the Justice's jurisdiction, and into the District Court. Meantime the Frenchmen will have to move on to find grass, also free water.

CERRO GORDO.—The Union Con. Company took occasion on the Fourth to shut down the Beaudry furnace and overhaul the boiler and water jacket, which will be the work of but a few days. At that date the new hoisting works were also stopped for the first time since starting, and resumed regular motion again on the following day. Ore is being extracted from the lowest level, and a raise is being made to connect the new works with the old, for ventilation, after which a much stronger force will be put into the mine and probably the other furnace started up.

MONO NOMINATIONS.—At the Republican County Convention, held at Bridgeport on 5th instant, the following complete ticket was placed in the field: For Sheriff, R. B. Patterson; Clerk, Geo. W. Rowan; Treasurer, J. W. Towle; County Judge, H. L. Leavitt; County Surveyor, J. G. Thompson; District Attorney, L. E. Tubbs; Superintendent of Public Instruction, W. T. Elliott; Coroner, Wm. Stanton; Delegates to Inyo and Mono County joint Convention to be held in Benton, Saturday, July 21, J. G. Thompson and L. E. Tubbs.

THE WOUNDED.—James Hamilton, who was stabbed last week by Snodgrass, is reported as being in a much worse and more dangerous condition, the wounds having commenced bleeding again, no doubt superinduced by his removal from town to the residence of his parents. Charley Dale, at the Fort, is doing well, and under the careful nursing and attention which he is having, will come out all right in due time.

FOUND.—Jacob Graner, who somewhere on the road leading from this place to the Kearsarge, lost a pocket book, can obtain it by applying to this office. It contained an honorable discharge of the owner from the army, and hence the package is valuable. Should any of our readers run across Mr. Graner—Gramer, Granier, or whatever his name is—let him know about it.

ROBBERY.—The money drawer of the Blaney House was relieved of a sack of coin containing about $60, yesterday, by some light-fingered gent who stole an opportunity (as well as the money) to do so, during a momentary absence of the proprietor. Mr. Thompson thinks he got off cheap, but would give that much more to get a punch at the fellow's head.

NOT REDEEMED.—The Silver Sprout mine and mill property, not having been redeemed from the Harris & Rhine judgment within legally prescribed time, has passed into the absolute ownership of that firm. It is understood, however, that the Rex Montis men have bought the mill.

PROFESSIONAL VISIT.—We were favored yesterday with a call from Dr. Wainright, of Bishop, who is attending the patients at the Post and County Hospital. The doctor contemplates changing his location to this point but is undecided as yet.

THE Darwin News of last week got off the best thing it ever perpetrated, in the shape of a mixed up, running fire of comments on THE INDEPENDENT'S local items of two weeks ago.

DEFERRED.—From necessity we are compelled to defer comments relating to the results of the two County Conventions held here, and other matters worthy of remark associated therewith.

MEETING.—A meeting of the miners of Kearsarge District will be held at Rowley's store in this place August 11. See notice.

CHAIN.—A gold (?) chain, found in the Court House after the last ball, can be had at this office.

MASONIC.—An important meeting of Ilyo Lodge No. 231, F & A. M., will be held at the hall on Saturday evening next.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republican County Convention met in the Court Room at 10 o'clock A. M., July 12, 1877, persuant to call. Nathan Rhine, Chairman Central County Committee, called the Convention to order. T. F. A. Resolved—That the basis of representation of Inyo County in said Convention be fixed at three, and that said three delegates be chosen by this Convention; and further, that the Secretary of this Convention especially notify the Chairman of the Mono County Republican Central Committee in the premises.

Resolved—That we heartily endorse President Hayes in what is termed his "Southern policy"—in his efforts to restore harmony, union and prosperity to sister States, lately disturbed and depressed.

Resolved—That in his efforts to purify the civil service we recognize the earnest patriot and statesman, and pledge him our warmest support in all honorable measures for the attainment of that end.

Resolved—That we see with pleasure the returning spirit of fraternity and union among our countrymen, and trust that wise counsels, charity and conciliation will prevail to encourage and perpetuate it.

The Fourth at Big Pine.

BIG PINE, July 9, 1877.

MESSRS. EDITORS—I shall not undertake a regular report in detail of our ge-rate and ge-lorious Fourth at this little place, though the whole affair was of such character as would do credit to any of the towns and settlements of the Valley of greater pretentions.

There was a good "gathering of the clans," from Bishop Creek and the whole country around, and at 10 o'clock when the celebrators collected at Naylor's beautiful grove of locust trees, the regular routine of exercises began. After the reading by Timothy McNeal, of that time honored document always read upon this anniversary, Thos. J. Goodale, Esq., favored the audience with an oration. It was off-hand, and in Tom's best style, which statement will be recognized as praise sufficient by all who know his fluency of speech and talkative qualities.

THE PICNIC

Under the supervision of Messrs. Moore, Naylor, Wick and others, but principally managed in the matter of grub by the estimable ladies of the neighborhood, was simply superb. In this matter your correspondent perceives that he ought to go ahead and mention names—particularly of those who entertained "THE INYO" representative unawares—but as printers are provebially lazy for a year or two after the Fourth, I will not make the account longer than necessary but pass on to a mention of

THE RACES

Which followed. Adjourning to the new half-mile track on the lane leading out from town, the fun began after a due arrangement of preliminaries. After a pony race for a pletheric purse, there was a grand sweepstake contest for saddle horses, in which our friends from Bishop got worsted. Dennis Hersian, with Croppy, got away with the business by about 15 feet; but the judges ordered another trial, when the same "mustang" came out ahead—so far ahead that the aforesaid judges didn't announce the distance between the first and second horses at the outcome. At night, Schuman of the Big Pine Hotel, with his able assistants, turned himself loose on the dance and supper part of the programme, which was pronounced a most decided success. Curt. Ober, the dancist and musician, wasn't on hand, however; but W. H. Wells did the floor managing most acceptably. I dislike being accused of even approaching exaggeration, but there were ladies present numbering at least a million; I didn't actually count that many at the time, but that was the report rendered to me when we all got drunk the next day.

Yours,
Ico.

AN ACQUISITION.—Capt. Eudey and family, late of the Eclipse, now make a most welcome addition to our population, having leased J. W. Martin's boarding house and grounds, west side of town. Per contra, one of the family, Mrs. Grangey, whose recent nuptials will long be remembered for its most pleasant and brilliant concomitants, has taken her departure for Idaho, to the regret of many warm friends. Mr. G. started a few days previously with the view of attending to some business matters at Benton, en route.

OFF FOR THE WARS.—At noon Monday last Capt. MacGowan received orders that Camp Independence was to be abandoned, and to report with his command at San Francisco immediately for duty in Idaho. Though taken so unawares the Captain was on the march for Mojave depot by sunrise the following morning, leaving Lieut. Wotherspoon and a few men to pack up and otherwise dispose of the large amount of loose Government and personal "traps," stores, etc., necessarily left behind. The Lieut. and all but one non-commissioned officer, will depart this coming week, leaving us alone in our glory. Our best wishes go with him and Co. D throughout.

BENTON MATTERS.—Through a private note we learn that the celebration of the Fourth at Benton was a pleasant affair in all respects, save the annoyance occasioned by the semi-gale which blew dust in the eyes of the good folks there same as everywhere else that day.... The Comanche mill is running on tailings; but little ore is now being taken out of the mine, the working force being reduced to the minimum. .... The Diana mill awaits the arrival of C. H. Aaron to start up on a large supply of fine ore on hand, and more being received every day.... The general health of the town is not good just now.

DR. WASHINGTON MATTHEWS, U. S. A. The sudden and unavoidable departure of this gentleman is a matter of infinite regret to every one. As a gentleman, physician and surgeon he commanded the respect and confidence of all. At the moment of his departure there were some twelve or fifteen sick and wounded patients in the Post and County Hospitals under his care, besides numerous cases throughout the county. To these the loss of his attendance was felt as a positive misfortune. And it must have worked no trifling hardship upon the doctor himself, being thus compelled to so suddenly leave an extensive business.

PAINTING.—We take pleasure in commending Mr. T. A. Gardner, whose advertisement of "Painting" appears elsewhere, to the attention and patronage of all old friends and new who may need the services of a most excellent and reliable workmen.

FIRE.—Two days since Mr. Pinchard, living a few miles above the Post, lost some 25 tons of hay and some fencing by an accidental fire.

BENTON BULLION.—During May last the amount of Benton bullion shipped per Wells-Fargo, was $32,719, and $32,383 for June.

ASSESSMENT.—The Rex Montis have put on an assessment (No. 6) of $1 50 per share, delinquent August 21.

BULLION SHIPMENT.—Four bars of Rex Montis bullion, valued at $1,600, will be shipped next stage.

THE Shanghai Courier gives us some notion of the Chinese idea of hell: The sixth court is situated at the bottom of the great ocean, north of the Wuchiao rock. It is a vast, noisy Gehenna, many leagues in extent, and around it are sixteen wards. In the first ward the souls are made to kneel for long periods on iron shot. In the second they are placed up to their necks in filth. In the third they are pounded till the blood runs out. In the fourth their mouths are opened with iron pincers and filled full of needles. In the fifth they are bitten by rats. In the sixth they are enclosed in a net of thorns and nipped by locusts. In the seventh they are crushed to jelly. In the eighth their skin is lacerated and they are beaten on the raw. In the ninth their mouths are filled with fire. In the tenth they are licked with flames. In the eleventh they they are subjected to noisome smells. In the twelfth they are butted by oxen and trampeled on by horses. In the thirteenth their hearts are scratched. In the fourteenth their heads are rubbed till their skulls come off. In the fifteenth they are chopped in two at the waist. In the sixteenth their skin is taken off and rolled up into spills.

THE WHEELER EXPEDITION.—Lieut. Wheeler of Wheeler exploration and svrveying expedition was in town yesterday. He leaves to-night for Ogden, to join a detatchment of his command, now engaged in running base lines near that place. His command is divided into small parties, which are at work in various sections of country assigned them. One detatchment is in Idaho and must now be nearing the the region in which the Nez Perces are on the warpath. Lieut. Wheeler feels somewhat uneasy about this party. Being at work out in the wilderness, where little news from the outside world is likely to reach them, they may run a base line into the very midst of the camp of the hostile redskins. The surveys of lake Tahoe and the circumjacent country are completed, and maps of the same are being prepared at the Washington office. These maps will be the finest ever made in the United States, and in accuracy and beauty will equal the best Swiss maps of the Alpine regions. Much work will yet be done by Wheeler's command before the summer is over; all good and useful work, too.—Virginia Enterprise, June 29th.

COL. PERRY was attacked by the Indians July 4th, while en route to Gen. Howard with a pack train, and ten soldiers and two citizens were killed. The hostiles were repulsed.

THE bullion shipment from the New Coso mine last week was 1,229 bars, valued at $19,664.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, JULY 14.....1877.

IT is reported that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company have engaged a quarter of a million eucalyptus trees from a gentleman at Pasadena. The object of the company is to plant the trees along the line of their track, and they will use the timber when sufficiently grown, to replace the ties which may decay and wear out. As the eucalyptus is a very rapid grower it would doubtless attain sufficient diameter for railroad ties in five or six years and then, being very straight and tall, several could be cut from each tree. It strikes us that the idea is an excellent one.—Los Angeles Express.

BRIGHAM YOUNG is falling rapidly. The other day he went down into the kitchen to show his new wife how to fry liver, and No. 237, who wears a wart on her nose, and has a bad eye, caught the old man by the slack of his bloomers, tilted him out of the window into the rain water barrel, hit him on the head with the butter paddle as he came up, and then tunneled him out of the yard not three feet ahead of the cistern pole. The next Sunday the good old saint preached on house-hold duties and the beauty of womanly submission, and at some passages of his discourse he was affected to tears.

OUT in Kansas they put the smaller grasshoppers in cages, and teach them to sing, and then sell them to Eastern tourists for Wichita linnets.

Harry Meiggs' Work.

The recent mail advices from Peru speak of the progress making by Harry Meiggs, formerly of the United States, in his great contract with that government for the completion of certain lines of railway, one of which is to penetrate the once enormously productive but now partially abandoned silver mines of Cerro del Pasco mountain. The undertaking involves feats in engineering such as have never before been attempted, but the prize sought for is magnificent, if accounts are entitled to belief, far beyond the powers of description. We have taken pains to confer with W. W. Evans, the eminent engineer of this city, who is familiar with the railroad projects of that entire region, and is a full believer in the existence of mineral treasure of incalculable extent at the points indicated beyond the Cordilleras range on the eastern slope. The mines were discovered by Spaniards 300 years ago. Between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000 in silver were extracted, after which the mines became flooded, and were regarded as hopelessly lost. Work was resumed at a later period with moderate success, but the ore is found 14,000 feet above the level of the sea and upwards of 200 miles northeasterly from Lima, from whence it can be transported with only the greatest difficulty. The original idea of the Peruvians in proposing the new railroad was to reach a branch of the Amazon where there are fertile tracts adapted to grain, of which the country is generally destitute. The mineral wealth developed diverted attention from that object. It was ascertained, however, that to recover the mines powerful pumping machinery was required, too ponderous to be carried on the back of mules. The perplexities of the situation are well illustrated by Mr. Evans, who relates that in one instance, while several parts of a locomotive were being conveyed over a pass, a mule with its burden fell 200 feet down a precipice, delaying the work until the lost piece of machinery could be replaced from England. Altogether there remains about 150 miles of the road to be built, also 24 out of 61 tunnels on the line from the sea to the summit, which has an altitude of 16,145 feet, almost equal to that of Mount Blanc. In the annuals of engineering there is no record of a locomotive reaching such an extreme elevation. It is believed that the pumping machinery will soon bring to light a mass of silver ore of an estimated value exceeding $600,000,000. Mr. Evans, judging from personal observations, would not be surprised if it proved equal to the great bonanza of Nevada. There is a vast quantity of silver all through that region, but thus far it has been the curse of the country. In general characteristics it resembles the center of the world, (?) which is jealously guarded by hostile Indians, and is known to have been the objective point of the ill-starred Herndon expedition. The new contract stipulates that the railway connection with Cerro del Pasco shall be completed in four years and the great tunnel two years later, Mr. Meiggs providing $12,000,000 of capital, under guarantees from the government, which will take possession of the road only when the principal is paid off. Mr. Meiggs encounters opposition from the Peruvian bankers and mechanics to his issue of circulating notes, but the public-works paper is received with more of popular favor than any other. A considerable part of the supplies for the Peruvian engineers will go from New York, though England will furnish the rails.—N. Y. Com. Advertiser.

THE late Queen of Holland, on her death bed, prophesied another war between France and Germany, in which the former will be beaten; after which Germany will seize Holland.

Matrimonial Mines.

The other night old Blinkus, seeing his son getting ready to go to a ball, proceeded to give him some wholesome advice on women.

"Tom, my boy," he said, filling his pipe, "I see you are getting your togs on for a ball. Now I don't object to balls, or any other kind of natural amusement; but I want to give you a little advice, Tom; look out for the women you meet there. A man who goes round after women is a good deal like a prospector hunting for a mine. You will see a woman at a ball, and she's all frizzed up and rigged out in silk, and powdered and painted wherever her skin shows itself. These surface croppings look pretty well, but if you locate on the strength of 'em you'll get fooled every time. A woman of that kind is just like a salted mine. Don't you take any stock in her. She won't wash. If you want to prospect such a location a little further, slide up and take an assay of her conversation. Ah, my boy! Three per cent. of intelligence, twenty-five of fashionable etiquette, and the rest frivolity, conceit, ignorance and vanity, mixed up in about equal parts. Such rock wont pay to mill. If you got a patent for the claim you'd never see a dividend come out of it as long as you lived. The assessments to keep the upper works from cavin' in would land you in the poor-house on a lightning express, and some fine morning you'd wake up to find your claim re-located by somebody else."

"Sometimes you'll strike a plain girl in a common sort of dress. She won't be good looking, maybe, and won't have any airs. The surface indications won't show much, but before you've prospected long you're likely to come to some good indications that'll pay to follow up. Rich stringers of conversational quartz and spurs of intelligence showing up finely the deeper you go. Pretty soon you'll strike a well-defined vein of solid, practical sense. That's the sort of a mine to freeze to. Locate it as soon as possible and get out your patent papers, and you'll have a regular bonanza to fall back on the rest of your life. If you think the good claims are all taken up, you are badly fooled. This town's full of 'em. I'm an old prospector, and I've traveled round a good deal. If my time wasn't taken up with my own mine, I know where there are lots of prime locations only waiting for some practical miner to come along and develop. A woman's heart, Tom, is a mighty curious thing. Take it in all its dips, spurs, angles, ramifications and sinuosities, and it is more of a puzzle and a mystery than the whole Comstock lode. Some fellows try to work it, and by pure luck strike it rich right off, in places where old, experienced prospectors never s'posed there was anything. Getting a title to the property ain't the only thing; it's keeping up the property developments, and seeing that jumpers don't get in and encroach on your claim. Some of these domestic mines require an awful lot of money for machinery, and some of 'em can run on about nothing. Whenever you get one of 'em and find you can't run it to advantage, the best thing to do is to throw up your job as superintendent and shut down the works.—Virginia Chronicle.

A POKER-PLAYER'S BLUFF.—One night I was sitting by the chair of a player who was an old acquaintance and a Virginian. It was a pretty high game, the chips being fives, twenty-fives and fifties. At one stage of the game somebody got to raising before the draw, and in a minute or two there was as much as $3,000 on the board. When the hands were helped, one man took one card, another stood pat, another took two cards, and so did the party behind whose chair I was sitting. They all bet before he did, and the amount put up by each was, if I remember, $500 straight. When it came to my friend's turn he went into his breast pocket, pulled out a wallet, and fished thence a certified check or draft for $3,500. Going to a desk he wrote his name across the back, resumed his seat, threw the paper in the center, and said: "Gentlemen, I've been run out of Virginia. I was once a man of wealth, but the war came and closed me out. I settled up my business the best I could, and that certified check for $3,500 represents not only the fortune I once had, but is every dollar I have in the world. I see that $500 the gentlemen bet, and the balance of this check, $3,000." The man who stood pat, said as he turned up his cards and showed a big flush, "I lay down mine." Another lay down a full; and the next, three aces. My friend then raked in the pile and showed his hand. He had a pair of fours.

THE birthday of the prophet, which coincides with the return of the pilgrims from Mecca, was celebrated this year at Cairo (Egypt) with the traditionary doich, or passage of the mounted imaum over the bodies of the faithful. Those being for the most part of the very humblest classes—camel and donkey drivers, grooms, runners and fellahs—had been drugged with hasheesh and excited to religious frenzy by the attendant dervishes. These packed them closely, face downwards, to the number of some three hundred, in a long line on the roadway, and over this human pavement the imaum, mounted on a white horse, rode for a quarter of an hour, amid the frantic yelling of verses of the Koran by the attendant priests. There were the usual and natural casualities—arms broken, skulls fractured and ribs caved in, and some fifteen of the worshipers went or will go to Paradise.

A STRANGE AFFAIR.—Strange disappearances are by no means uncommon in these days; but one of these mysteries which according to a correspondent of one of the German papers, has lately occurred in Russia, is truly startling. An express train in that country, carrying 6,000,000 of roubles, not only failed to reach its destination, but has altogether disappeared, without leaving the slightest traces affording a clue as to what became of it. That the train should be stopped and the money taken is conceivable, but that the thieves should actually carry off not only roubles but engine, tender, vans, carriages and all, is so "uncanny" an incident as to raise ground for suspicion that the powers of darkness have been at work. At any rate, the story is a most uncomfortable one, and it is to be hoped a new horror is not added to railway traveling by the total disappearance of trains. It may be imagined how painful a sensation would be created if the "Flying Dutchman," or some other fast and famous train, was never seen or heard of again after leaving London. Such a catastrophe would be, if possible, even worse than a collision.—Pall Mall Gazette.

THE COSSACKS AND SCIENCE.—An English writer shows how the Cossacks may apply science in the present war, as follows: "In a belt round their waists they carry a few pounds of gun cotton or dynamite, and with this highly destructive explosive they may work incalculable harm. A small charge of gun cotton placed simply upon rails and fired with a fuse suffices to blow several feet of the iron a distance of many yards, thus rendering the railway unserviceable on the instant. A trooper may dismount, place a charge at the base of a telegraph pole, fire it, and be in his saddle again within 60 seconds. Wires may thus be cut and communications stopped in the heart of an enemy's country by fearless riders, while lines of railway are entirely at their mercy. Even light bridges and well-built stockades may be thrown down by the violent detonation of compressed gun-cotton, and forest roads considerably obstructed by trees thrown across, which are never so rapidly felled as when a small charge of this explosive is fired at their roots.

CRUCIFIXION IN AMERICA.—Out in the country we have the Mexican penitents, whose nominal Christianity has only served to determine the time and manner of their penances. Last week returning from Saguache, I tried a short cut, and, riding over a little hill suddenly came upon a band of four. Naked, except for a pair of drawers, they were walking barefooted through the snow, chanting some melancholy strain, and lashing their bare bodies with strips of soapweed leaves. It is no poetical exaggeration, but the literal fact, that the blood was flowing rapidly down them. Their bodies looked like raw steaks, and the heavy sound of the lashes told the reality of the flagellations. Some little distance from them stood a large wooden cross, which, I was told, had been carried in procession by one last year. Its weight must have nearly broken his back. Upon it they crucified one of their number last Spring, binding him fast by ropes, and leaving him so long that he died.—Cor. Colorado Churchman.

A LIVELY RAILROAD.—A correspondent of the Chicago Times describes a narrow-gauge railroad in the Pennsylvania mining districts as follows: "It skips over hills and down precipices, dodges around big stumps, straddles deep gorges on hoop-pole stilts that twist and bend beneath its tread, and threaten to send the traveler 300 feet into eternal smash every moment; hangs by one foot on the side of the mountain's stone walls, bends around curves like a contortionist, runs on wheels of one side, bumps the cars around like a chop sea in the English Channel, was completed in January, cost $40,000, cleared itself in three months, charges $1 for the trip, and is crowded with business."

SOMEBODY DEAD?—There was crape hanging to a door on Beaubien street, yesterday afternoon, and a boy six or seven years old stood at the gate with pale face and red eyes. A ragged, tobacco chewing imp, about twelve years old, came slaming along and was making ready to stick his finger into the small boy's eye, through the gate, when he caught sight of the crape.

"Somebody dead?" he asked.

"Yes, my pa!" gasped the little one.

"Hokey! but that's tuff!" exclaimed the imp, and he began searching his pockets. After discovering that his personal property amounted to three nails, an old cigar stub and a clay pipe, he said:

"See here bub, I'd like to give you candy or a knife or suthin' to kinder make you feel good, but I can't do it. I'm dead broke and feelin' half sick, but I'll tell you what I'll do. I could chaw you up in one minute, but you can come out here and maul me, and I'll holler like a loon, and all the boys around here will think you are the wickedest fighter east of the avenue."

The small boy might have appreciated the motive, but he didn't accept the offer.—Detroit Free Press.

A CLAIM DEMANDING RECOGNITION.

No portion of the State of California east of the Sierras, notwithstanding its sectional importance, commercial and in point of population, has ever received a political recognition from either party so far as to have anyone of its citizens placed upon a ticket for a State office. Considering all things this is a peculiar state of affairs, and one that we have a right to object to—or we have at least the liberty of insisting upon our claim for such recognition in the future. The Republicans and Independents of this Senatorial district, comprising Fresno, Tulare, Kern, Inyo and Mono counties, have so far developed no candidate for the State Senate except the one placed in the field by our own Republican County Convention—Thos. J. Goodale, Esq., and for him and the rights of this section we desire to express the general sentiment hereabouts that he should be placed in the field as the regular candidate of the Republican element of the five counties for that position. This paper will not undertake his support further than to insist upon the proper recognition of this county's claim by his nomination; Tom Goodale can fight his own fight against Tom Fowler, aside from the fact that this is not a political journal.

Of Mr. Goodale's education, ability and qualifications there can be no question; as to his position upon the railroad and other issues he is as unassailable as his probable opponent. Republican and Independent papers on the other side are looking for a candidate. We suggest the nominee of our County Convention, and urge the claims of this section for him.

THE Cabinet meeting on the 12th instant considered the Idaho Indian war question. It was regarded as necessary to take every proper method to end forever the hostile demonstrations of the Indian tribes. This latest outbreak is considered as serious as any that has occurred of late years. The Government will use every resource to give a final stroke to Indian troubles. Troops are leaving Georgia and the Southern States generally for the scene of action.

A CONSTANTINOPLE dispatch says that many Mussulmans, with their wives and children, fleeing before the Russians, have been killed by the Bulgarians in Khangogaz defile, between Tirnova and Kigarlik. If you Khangogasly jokes, it were perhaps well enough that the Bulgarians should Turnover and Kikeralik.

THE INDIAN WHISKY TRAFFIC.

There are offenses against society for the punishment of which there is no adequate provision; the penalties directed by law to be imposed are such as probably render conviction more easy and some little punishment more probable, but when our codes classify the selling of strong drink to Indians as a simple misdemeanor, punishable by fine of from fifty to five hundred dollars or the same number of days in jail, there obtains an injustice against communities—because everybody knows that a drunken Indian is like a wild beast turned loose, liable to murder a white and precipitate war, and absolutely certain to abuse the helpless ones of his own people. Such an offense should be made a felony, and our peace officers should wake up to the situation enough to spare no effort or possible detective scheme to bring the lawbreakers to justice. It ought not to be a very difficult job to detect and punish the go-betweens which are so generally suspected, who hang around the well-known places where drunken Indians congregate.

For months the streets and surroundings of Independence have been cursed by the presence of Indians howling drunk, more especially on Sundays. All other settlements in the valley are now undergoing, or have had some such experience. The bruised and blackened squaw who has had her hard earnings taken away by force, takes refuge in private houses; when it comes to get them at work again on the ranches some good Indian is now and then missing on Monday, and demoralization, horrible disease and crime follow these unlawful acts of low-down whites.

In the name of decency and peace something ought to be done. Either get up a citizen's mutual protective organization extending its membership throughout the valley, or else let every good man constitute himself a detective and for the sake of the general good devote his time toward spotting the criminals and bringing them to punishment.

We believe that the law requires that the prosecuting witness in such cases must be able to prove the actual transfer of the bottle, and to testify that the contents were whisky or other alcoholic liquor—after having rescued it from the hands of the Indian. This is wrong, as the onus of the proof should rest upon the seller to establish that anything sold or delivered to Indians was not alcoholic drink; an amendment might also be of advantage giving the informer one-half the fine imposed in such cases, and a jury ought to be authorized by law to fully consider and weigh Indian evidence.

CAPT. JOHN TOBIN, formerly of California, who was at one time in the confidence of Brigham Young, has a large amount of documentary and other evidence calculated to implicate Brigham Young with the Mountain Meadows and other massacres. Tobin claims to have been at one time a guide to a party of Gentiles, who were deliberately murdered by a son of Brigham, acting under orders from his father, who feared that the slaughtered band were on their way to California for the purpose of misrepresenting Mormonism to Californians.

AXTELL'S conversion to Mormonism is likely to cost him his place as Governor of New Mexico. Frederick Lockley, editor of the Salt Lake Tribune, writes as follows on the subject: "When he (Axtell) arrived at Salt Lake as Governor of Utah leading priests received him and carried him to a Mormon hotel, where his board and whisky bill, amounting to $900, was paid by the City Council. He took a disgraceful part in the Indian uprising, and is belived to have conspired with the Mormon priesthood against the lives of Gentile settlers."

THE wife of Gen. Sherman, who has been zealous in the service of the Roman Catholic Church, is to receive from the Pope, in consideration of that zeal, the "Golden Rose," which has hitherto been bestowed only upon very great persons. EDUCATIONAL.

MESSRS. EDITORS—Permit me a small space in your paper, briefly as possible to call the attention of the people of Inyo and Mono counties to a want fast becoming paramount—I mean the want of better educational facilities. It is a duty every parent owes his child to give it the very best education his means will afford. But isolated as we are from the higher schools of learning, it becomes almost impossible for the large majority of parents in the counties named to send their children abroad to higher schools than we have here, hence they are compelled to content themselves with such meager education as our common schools can afford. Every passing year brings with it a still greater necessity for higher branches of learning than our common schools afford. The youth of the counties named, of both sexes, demand a better opportunity than is now afforded them to gain such an education as will fit them to act well their several parts, when they assume the role of men and women.

Can we not supply this great want without embarrassment to the tax payers of the two counties? No reasonable man will deny the great necessity of a higher branch of learning in the county than we now possess. And no reasonable man but would feel proud if an institution of learning should be established in our midst, at which our youth could have an opportunity of receiving a fair education. Knowing the absolute necessity of an institution of learning in our midst that would meet the great want I have named, let us see how this desirable object can be obtained. Camp Independence has been recently abandoned as a military post. No lovelier spot can be found east of the Sierra mountains, or one better adapted for an academy of learning. Now can this be obtained for that purpose? The solution of this question is of vital importance to every resident within the counties I have named. I would not venture the prediction, if an effort was made, through our representative in Congress, that the Government would donate it for that purpose, but I do say an effort should be made to this end. If the lands properly reserved for the Post were sold in the usual manner, the Government would receive but a nominal sum on the original costs. And this property which could be rendered of incalculable value for educational purposes, may for a small sum become simply an object of speculation. Would it not be well to lay this matter before our Senators and Representatives in Congress, and through them ask the Government to donate it for the purpose of an academy of learning? But should it be against the policy of the Government to so dispose of this property, would it not be well that such action be taken as would prevent an early desposition of the same, and in the meantime let the tax-payers of the two counties acquire the property by purchase for the purpose named.

An Act could be passed by the next Legislature authorizing the counties named to make the purchase. Now as to the payment. The same Act could authorize the counties named to issue bonds in proportion to the taxable property in each; these bonds may be made payable in fifteen or twenty years, extinguishing a part every year until the whole sum shall be paid. These bonds if bearing ten per cent interest could be sold at par and thus the funds could be raised to pay the Government for the property. By such payments the taxpayers will feel it but lightly—not this alone, but establish such an institution of learning among us, and I believe it would rapidly increase taxable property in the valley; families would seek homes here and acquire property, knowing their children could be educated near home, instead of seeking other localities as they now do, because of our want of educational facilities. I simply, Mr. Editor, pen this, to call the attention of the tax-payers of the two counties named to the importance of this matter, and to ask some expression from them. If the Government will not donate the property, and the people deem the burthen would be too great to purchase it, and turn it into an academy of learning, why then the matter would be at an end. But I earnestly hope the citizens of the two counties will take this matter in hand, and consider it well before condemning the proposition I here lay before them. No better investment could be made than the acquisition of the property for the purpose named. Its benefits would be felt for all time. B.

PETITIONS will be sent to President Hayes and Congress, urging upon the Government such immediate action as will tend to most speedily wipe out forever the foul blot of Cuban slavery.

BELIEF VS. UNBELIEF.

MESSRS. EDITORS—I have received several inquiries respecting the way and how I have reached my present conclusions and belief, contrary to church and bible teachings as set forth in my reply to the tract sent me—"Come to Jesus."

In the first place I found, by common sense logic, that it was erroneous to teach that belief or unbelief could be accepted or rejected at will, but that the truth or falsity of any fact, opinion or creed depended upon the evidence for or against them. Therefore the tracts: "He that believeth shall be saved, and he that believeth not shall be dammed, and he that doubteth is dammed already," are not true in fact on principle, no matter who uttered them or where found. Doubt is the very door through which all must pass who wish to investigate and dare to follow truth wherever it may lead, outward and onward into the pleasant paths of wisdom and peace. While we can only say we believe such and such things to be true, we should still leave the mind open to conviction until we can say we know, as did Peter when called to preach at the house of the Centurion, and was made from his convictions to exclaim, "I perceive of a truth, God is no respecter of persons, but he that believeth in Him and worketh righteousness is accepted of Him."

Some seem to think I am passed redemption, while others hold out there is a little hope for me, yet, at this eleventh hour. To those who feel to weep over my lost condition, I would ask in all candor, wherein have I so grieviously sinned that I may not hope to be saved or find happiness here or hereafter? Some have said "my mistake was in leaving the church; I should have remained in it." I reply I could not tary longer therein than I did—twenty years—and not be a hypocrite; for I had ceased to think or believe in what I was taught as being infalible truth, since reason and science proved it to be at least mixed with error; for were it true that the bible was originally the inspired word of God, it would be hard to believe that all the interested and creed-making translators were all equally inspired; since it is evident that many of its texts and interpretations have been interpolated and distorted to suit the prevalent opinions of different sects. All who are endowed with reason and inspiration, have the ways of knowledge and wisdom, alike, open to them now with the same, and still better means—the experience of the past—to aid and guide them in the search of truth and light. If we ask for bread, shall we be given a stone? If we ask for truth, shall error be given instead? Nay, verily, for those who sow in tears, have the promise they shall reap in joy if they faint not. I am told "no one can expect to go to heaven on their own righteousness; that these are filthy rags," etc.; that no amount of good deeds avail anything in securing our salvation (this word is misnomer) or attaining to a final state of the blest. If this be true, then where is the merit of the death and suffering of Christ or any other martyr of truth? In the final judgment, as set forth by Jesus, none were asked as to what they believed, or to what church they belonged, but, if they had fed the hungry, clothed the naked, ministered to the sick, visited and consoled those in prison; and they who had done these good deeds were bidden to enter into rest, their reward. But to those who had cried Lord, Lord, and had taught in his name, doing all for his cause, but had neglected to do these kind offices for his fellow man, were rejected and sent out into darkness and sorrowful wailing. The gospel as taught by Christ, needs new teachers, baptised by the refining fire of the spirit of truth, the comforter now being sent in these last days of the present despensation, preparatory to the ushering in of the new. If I am to be reckoned with those who are accounted as lost, then I am somewhat consoled by the fact and the reflection that I am not alone, but in very good company, since many of the wisest and best men and women of all ages who have lived, suffered and died for their convictions, and fidelty to truth, have been relegated to a place of eternal punishment, which I neither believe in or fear; since no soul can ever go where divine love is not found, for the attributes of Deity ever act in perfect equipoise; we can never have any punishment inflicted upon us only for our good, and were it possible for Him being of infinite goodness to seek to revenge upon finite creatures for finite wrongs, it would not only be unjust, but tyrannical. What is not just for man to do, cannot be justice in God; and in no way can the dogma of the fall—unless it was upward—and vicarious atonement be justified by reason, the crowning faculty of the mind, the highest tribunal, by which the truth or falsity of all things else are determined.

As some have asked me what books to read, to obtain desired light and information; I would refer them to Bishop Coleuso, on the Pentateuch; Career of Religious Ideas, by Hudson Tuttle; Nature's Divine Revelations, by A. J. Davis; Sixteen Crucificied Saviors, by K. Graves; all of which I have read with interest and profit; for, I can say truly, whereas I was once blind, I now see. LUNA HUTCHISON.

DURING the prorogation of the French Assembly, a delegation of Monarchists waited upon MacMahon, urging him to more pronounced anti-republican action. He answered: "I shall lend myself to no venture of Imperial or Monarchic restoration. I have souvenirs, and this from the Empire, just as I have souvenirs, and connection with Legitimism. I am on excellent terms with the Orleans Princes, and wish to preserve those terms; but I shall participate in nothing favorable to the restoration either of the Prince Imperial, or of the Comte de Chambord, or of the Comte de Paris. I am till 1880 invested with definite power by the Constitution. I shall exercise that power, according to circumstances, to its full extent; but I can pledge myself to no enterprise contrary to the Constitutional laws to which you, too, are subject."

The Gambler's Fate.

A few days ago, Lieut. W. W. Flemming, of the United States Army, passed Palisade for the East, handcuffed and in charge of an officer. The telegraph, some weeks since furnished the particulars of his conviction and sentence. His crime consisted in embezzling military funds to the amount of $4,000. His sentence was imprisonment in the Iowa Penitentiary (his native State) for a term of ten years. The feature of the trial was his confession, which, because it tells a touching, impressive story, and carries a solemn warning, we quote with substantial fullness:

Let me, then, at this supreme moment, perhaps the culminating one in my military career, make a frank and honest statement to you. It will at least relieve a spirit that is broken, a mind that is surcharged and oppressed by the weight of the awful miseries I have brought upon me and mine. I am yet a young man; I am thirty years of age; was well born; I was reared under influences and surroundings which were kindly and propitious. I am a graduate of the finest military school in the world. I belong to a profession which, thank God, in our country is universally acknowledged to be the finest of any of the branches of public service. My associations, companions and friendships have been with men who are an honor and ornament to their profession; and previous to these occurrences I was well thought of. I have introduced some testimony on this subject. I have a loving, faithful and devoted wife. Thus briefly stated, then, I stand before you a man who should have a fortune. I have only a past, and a horrible past it is at this point to contemplate. Would you know what has wrought this ruin? It is a passion for gambling. That passion absorbed all my other passions, instincts and emotions—my entire being. That I have this passion and have been unable to control it, I honestly think hardly my fault. It is easy for men who have no such overmastering passion, who have stronger wills and better balanced minds, to shrug their shoulders and thank God that they are not as certain other men are. I make no claim for clemency in my case, for there is nothing to base one upon; but I ask, nay, entreat, that you and those whose duty it shall be to read this record, consider the circumstances of it as mercifully as you can. The Government, as I understand it, is not a dollar loser at my hand, but that lessens not one iota the heniousness of my offense. I did not intend—I have not at any time intended—to deprive others of what belonged to them. I gambled away first what was my own, and that, even, I could ill afford to lose. I was robbed by a lot of thieving sharks. Having money which belonged to others in my possession, my brain being frenzied and my blood on fire, I took a small portion of it, hoping and in my foolhardness believing, that luck would turn in my favor, and I could thus, and from those to whom I had lost, regain what I had lost. By that act I became, as you can all understand, doubly and trebly involved. I was involved pecuniarily; I was involved and entangled in many other ways. Whatever may be thought or said upon the subject, the impulse which prompted the next step was honest in its nature. It was to restore that which I had taken belonging to others. I knew of no way to do it except by again tempting fate at the gaming table. I did it on the night of March 6th, and lost that night $1,450. I need not tell the rest of the story. I save myself from its recital. The subsequent steps were all taken in desperation, and, finally, in utter abandonment. The road I took and the objects on the way are familiar to you by precedent and tradition, as the streets you traverse as you go to your stations or places of business. Having in the day when I gambled what was simply my own, a prescience of the fate to which this awful passion for gambling was hurrying me, I often took vows and made resolutions and pledges that I would never gamble again. I did not keep them. I could not keep them.

HE NEVER LOVED ANOTHER.—"Did I ever love any other girl?" repeated a prospective bridegroom, in answer to the tearful inquiry of his intended. "Why, darling, of course not; how could you ask such a question? You are my first and only love. This heart knew no wakening until the sunshine of your love streamed in and awoke it to ecstacy." And then he kissed her tenderly and went home and said to himself, "I must hurry them things out of the way, right off, or there'll be a row;" and he collected together a great pile of letters, written in all kinds of feminine hands, with lots of faded flowers, and photographs, and locks of hair, and bits of faded ribbon, and other things, and when the whole collection had been crammed into the kitchen grate, he drew a deep sigh and said to himself, "There goes all that's left of fourteen undying loves; let 'em flicker."

AN Irishman made his appearance at Mr. Weid's house the other day, from the direction of the Cahuenga Pass. His hands and stomach were much lacerated, and his clothes were torn to shreds. It appears that our adventurer had left his lunch basket, while seeking some cool nook, with water. During his absence, a young bear made his appearance. Bruin at once applied himself to despatching the viands. Our friend, seeing that the bear was only a yearling, thought he would tackle him. They took two or three rolls on the ground, with the result stated. They both had enough of the fight, and retreated in opposite directions.—Los Angeles Herald.

THREE-CARD monte swindlers are doing a flourishing business in Salt Lake City. The Tribune insinuates that the Mormon police are "in" with them.

DARWIN ITEMS.—We take the following items from the News of Saturday last:

The miners lately employed under Mr. Finley, in appreciation of his efficiency and capabilities as a miner, and kindly disposition and social qualities as a gentleman, determined to present him with something in token of their friendship and esteem. Accordingly an order had been given, the same filled, and on the evening mentioned he was presented with a magnificent gold watch, Guinard Bros., of Brents, makers. The watch is a stem-winder set with rubies, to which was attached a splendid gold chain, the whole valued at $350. After this presentation Mrs. Finley and MissFinley, his sister, were each presented with an elegant black silk dress.

Blue Glass Dan Williams and irrepressible W. T. Grant start to-day for the fishing grounds on Kern river. Grant is armed with a fine fish-pole and breech-loading rifle, while Dan packs a Gattling gun in the shape of several bottles of Cabinet.

The weather during the week has been exceedingly warm, the thermometer ranging from ninety to one hundred degrees in the shade. Were it not for the winds that have blowed almost constantly one could hardly breathe in this climate during the heated time.

Joseph Waterman and Charles F. O'Brion advertise in to-day's News their certificate of copartnership.

DOWN TO A FINE POINT.—A colored white-washer came to the Central Market to complain to Brother Gardner that a man for whom he did some work had gone into bankruptcy, leaving a balance of seventy-five cents unsettled and uncollectable.

"I doan' feel sorry for you a cent's worth," brusquely replied the old philosopher. "You doan' nebber hear ob nobody failing on me, does you?"

"Not as I remember of."

"In course you doan'. Why, cause I has bin right down fine on business principles ebber since the crash of '57. Now, Misser White, look me in de eye while I tell you dat de proper way is to keep your eyes rollin' around de business horizon. If you owes a firm, an' dat firm is shaky, doan' pay de debt, but wait till dey fail. If a firm is shaky and owes you, sit on the doah-step till you get the money. Now go 'long wid your white-wash."—Detroit Free Press.

WHATEVER you do, never set up for a critic. We do not mean a newspaper one, but in private life, in the domestic circle it will do you harm—if you object to being called disagreeable. If you object to any one's nose, or object to any one's chin, don't put your feelings into words. If any one's manners don't please, remember your own. People are not all made to suit one taste, recollect that. Take things as you find them unless you can alter them. Even a dinner that is swallowed cannot be made any better. Continual fault-finding, continual criticism of the conduct of this one, and the speech of that one, the dress of the other and the opinions of another, will make home the unhappiest place under the sun.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

SATURDAY, JULY 21.....1877.

THE SNODGRASS-HAMILTON CASE.—Upon the death of young Hamilton, reported last week, a coroner's inquest was held upon the remains by Justice Peterson, of Lone Pine—resulting in the issuance of a Coroner's warrant for the arrest of Wm. C. Snodgrass, on a charge of murder, and commanding him to be brought before Justice Schalten, of this place. Upon Snodgrass' first examination he was discharged from custody, on the grounds of having acted in self-defense, and it was then supposed that Hamilton's injuries were not dangerous. The hearing upon Coroners warrant came up before Judge Schalten, at the Court House on the 17th, when the testimony of Dr. Gelcich was taken. On the following day, Mr. Reddy for the prisoner moved his discharge—it appearing clear from the medical testimony that the deceased was in a fair way to recover on the ninth day, and that from the shock of a removal from the hospital to his own home hermorrhage set in and in five days thereafter he died. District Attorney Snelling conceded to the motion and the Justice ordered the release of the defendant. There were some eight or ten important witnesses subpœned from Lone Pine, four or five of them for the prosecution, but none of whom were called upon to testify by the people's counsel. While there is little probability that Snodgrass would have finally been convicted of any crime, yet there is considerable feeling in Lone Pine over the lack of effort on the part of the prosecution, and a considerable bitterness toward Snodgrass.

CAMP INDEPENDENCE.—After the sale of the vast amount of Government stores at Camp Independence, Tuesday last according to announcement, Lieut. Wotherspoon, with the two men left him at thePost--Ackley and Huntington, with families—started out to report to their Company at Portland in response to special orders. The Camp was until Thursday left without a military occupant, when Hubert Gillette arrived with his family from San Francisco to take charge. Mr. Gillette is an old Nevadan well known to many of our citizens, and as custodian represents the Interior Department.

DISAPPEARANCE.—He has very ungratefully slid out. For so distinguished a visitor to repudiate the well-meant hospitalities of our town by so unceremoniously striking out for his native sand and cactus, was very discourteous to say the least. In all probability we shall never again see the like of his ugly form, bright eyes and intelligent mug again. Being an old Cerro Gordoite himself, it was Kit Johnson's idea to domesticate him in and around the Aldine saloon, as a companion for the big sensible cat. Alas! poor misguided Chuckwallah.

A CALL.—Dr. F. T. Bicknell of Darwin, who has been on a visit to Independence during the past week, favored this office with a short call. The gentleman is one of the most eminently successful medical practitioners in Inyo, and would be an invaluable addition to our community could he be induced to locate. P. S.—We are happy to add a postcript to the effect that he has determined to make this place his home.

FIRE.—In Cerro Gordo last Saturday night an incendiary attempt was made to burn about 50 tons of coal, close to the lower furnace of the Union Company, and the flames got a very fair start toward making a good blaze of it. By a fortunate accident the fire was discovered, and a sufficient force of citizens turned out to save the pile and possibly the town, after a loss of about two tons of the coal.

SENATORIAL.—The Democratic Senatorial nominating convention is to be held at Bakersfield on the 28th instant. After the respective candidates for State Senator have been placed in the field for this (the Fourth) district, the completed tickets will be duly advertised by the County Central Committees.

GOOD.—Billy Davis, now of Lone Pine, has been at work for a month or more in manufacturing tools and appliances for sinking an artesian well near his blacksmith shop at that point. The enterprise is planned with a view of final success, and it is sincerely to be hoped that such will be the result.

IMPORTANT.—Capt. Denton of the sheep ranch wanted mention made among the funny things of the fact that he has a broom which has lasted his place for six years. We suppose that the "funny" part of it was that a shovel was used in place of that useful household article.

FIRE.—The Indian wickiup, just east of town, was destroyed by fire last Tuesday night. We presume that that last bottle of chain lightning caused a sort of spontaneous combustion, as it were.

GONE.—Our chief has gone off on a d——, a business and political tour to the northward. There is no telling where he will go, how long he will stay or what he may do the meanwhile.

FOR KERN RIVER.—Johnny Irwin and Kit Johnson sailed out this week to join the Darwin party of bald-headed hoodlums, in a fishing tour to the Kern river country.

BULLION.—Mr. Spaulding, one of the Rex Montis owners, arrived here to-day from San Francisco. Supt. Holt ships 500 pounds of fine bullion to-morrow.

LETTER LOST.—A letter from Dr. Matthews, addressed to Lieut. Wotherspoon, is among the things missing. Will the finder forward to this office?

THINK OF THIS!—Should your furniture need touching up and revarnishing, have it done in a thorough manner by calling on T. A. Gardner. *

THE TICKETS.—Should anyone wish to refer to the matter before the regular announcement comes out, we may state that the respective county tickets stand as follows: Republican—For Sheriff, S. G. Sneden, of Bishop; for County Clerk, Wm. B. Daugherty, of Panamint; for County Superintendent, J. W. Symmes, of Independence; for Treasurer, H. W. Gould, of Cerro Gordo; for Coroner, S. Zaun, of Lone Pine; for Supervisor, Second District, W. A. Cassidy; for County Surveyor, Jos. Seeley; for District Attorney, R. L. Peterson. Democratic—For Assemblyman, S. P. Moffat; for Sheriff, W. L. Moore; for Clerk, John Crough; for Supervisor, Second District, D. B. Curtis; for County Surveyor, John Alexander; for District Attorney, R. B. Snelling; for Coroner, John A. Lank. We quote from memory, without regard to any special order. The ballots are to be prepared as soon as the Legislative nominations are completed, in order to make no mistake about getting them distributed this time.

COULD IT BE DONE ?—If a suggestion of the idea provokes any comment or discussion at all we will take the trouble to examine into the militia laws of California, correspond with the Adjutant General and find out all about it. Without any present reference to the propriety or necessity of having an organized band of citizen soldiers in this county—whose duty it would be to show a real or apparant military strength to the Indians, and to answer any call of actual emergency—we may state the general fact that a regular company could be organized, receive its division, regimental and company assignment, officers' commissions and arms from the State. Out of the old soldiers now resident here, who have been successful as drill sergeants, there are quite a number who could lead off in this matter.

CEMETERY.—Among the important details to be considered anent the removal of the Camp Independence garrison is the arising question of—who shall care for the last resting place of our dead ? Doubtless there is a law of Congress reserving such places to the ownership of the government forever, as in the case of Arlington Heights and Gettysburg; but there must be some organized plan on the part of our citizens, in the absence of government representatives, to watch over the fence and walks, and apply the water necessary to preserve the growing trees.

JOINT CONVENTION.—The Inyo and Mono Joint Republican Legislative Convention, for the nomination of Assemblyman, is to be held at Benton to-day. Register Briggs, who goes there on land office business pertaining to the townsite question, is the only candidate so far mentioned, and will in all probability be the nominee. Paul Bennett and our senior are also up there fooling around about something.

REPORTED.—It will be interesting for many of our readers who knew Major Egbert, formerly commandant of Camp Independence, to learn the fact that, although absent from duty upon sick leave, he immediately joined his Company and reported for duty upon the outbreak of the Idaho Indians. Lieutenants Haskell and Dove are in the same old crowd—Co. B.

FOUND.—Pamelia, the daughter of N. F. Coburn, was promptly discovered in Texas, through the medium of of an advertisement in this paper and a simiiliar publication in the Corsicana Observer. We understand that by the terms of Coburn's will, the daughter and C. D. Begole, partner of the deceased, are to receive the estate in equal division.

CERRO GORDO.—In the new shaft of the Union Con. Co's works, on the 13th instant, the connection was made with the old workings of the Omega, by a raise of 240 feet. This will create a perfect ventilation and enable further prospecting to be done. The furnace was shut down on the 3d, but was started up again on Monday last.

ARTESIAN.—Mr. E. Robinson, the successful rancher of this immediate vicinity, authorizes us to say that he will contribute $100 toward the sinking of an artesian well in this town, provided the citizens will stand in and test the thing to a reasonable extent. The experiment should be tried by all means.

MUSICAL.—Some family man with growing girls upon his hands ought to purchase Cartier's piano, advertised for sale this week. We can certify that the instrument is a good one, and are assured that easy terms will be given.

SCHOOL ELECTION.—Notice is given elsewhere of a special school-tax election in Round Valley, August 10. The Trustees are referred to the fact that such election will not be legal unless the polls are kept open all day.

HOSPITAL.--Attention is directed to the new professional card of Dr. P. G. Gelcich, the popular druggist and physician of Lone Pine, to be seen elsewhere. The doctor has the finest private hospital in the county.

JUSTICE COURT.—In Justice Schalten's court during the week Ann Fulton recovered a judgment, by jury award, for $100, for services on contract, against A. W. Eibeshutz. The case excited considerable comment in town.

SURGICAL.—Dr. Colleau, with the aid of two strong men, successfully performed a difficult operation last week in setting a dislocated shoulder for Mr. English, of Cerro Gordo.

IN order to make a lasting job of it, when you have your wagons painted, the material should be of the right kind and properly mixed—Gardner knows how to do it. *

RECOVERED.—A greater portion of the Bowe band of stolen sheep have been recovered in the foot-hills east of town.

MASONIC lodge meeting to-night.

THANKS.—Lieut. Wotherspoon, who was accompanied to Lone Pine by Mr Eibeshutz and family, with Supt. Nelson, sends back word that in behalf of himself and brother officers and comrades at the Fort, he desires to publicly return his acknowledgements and most sincere thanks for the universal courtesy tendered them all on the part of the citizens. Such a message was hardly necessary, as our citizens know that the general feeling of good will was mutual.

GOOD THINGS.—Mr. Chenot, of the Camp Independence store, has favored this office with a lot of rare edibles, among which was a box of French truffes, a "yarb" that grows in a certain spot in that sunny land without being capable of cultivation or having tops, seed or roots. Consult your encyclopedia. A lot of hams from Belgium, intended for the same establishment, were lost among the freight of the City of San Francisco.

RAIN.—To-day we had thunder, lightning and rain, which is doing very well for this season of the year.

THE LOCOMOTIVE BUG.—There is in capitivity under a glass tumbler at Price & Read's store a new kind of bug, which on account of the peculiar noise it emits has been named the "locomotive bug." Its back is covered with a horney shield grayish in color. By a constant up and down movement of this shield, air is expelled from the space between it and the insect's back, which creates a sound similiar to the puffing of a locomotive. So strong are the puffs of air thus expelled that they will blow small bits of paper the distance of an inch. The insect's head is fitted with two horns placed and shaped somewhat like the horns on a Texas steer. These horns are brown in color, and capable of contraction and distension at the will of the insect. All who have examined this bug say they never before saw anything like it, and no entomologist has been found in town who is able to correctly classify the creature. It is evidently a young bug, and if its mother can be found it is possible that she may be utilized as an air-compressor in the mines. Price is nurturing this one tenderly, in the hope that it will at least grow up to usefulness as a fan for ventilating mines.--Austin Revellie.

Elected.

AFTER all the pros and cons by committees and others, the Washington Monument is to be finished in some form where the present unsightly pile stands, on the borders of the marsh and the canal of semi-putrid water. Gen. Meiggs proposes that it be finished for one hundred and forty feet by a metalic spire, making a total height of four hundred and forty-two feet, and a column resembling the tower in the public square of Venice—whatever that may mean. Gen. Meiggs also approves the plan of Mr. Larkin G. Mead, to complete the monument by placing a collossal statue of Washington, eighty-five feet high, upon the present structure. At any rate, it seems that the monument is to be finished, which will wipe away partially the disgrace of it, as it has stood for so long unfinished.

A GIANTESS DEAD.—The American giantess, Mrs. Ruth Beaton, alias Fanny Wallace, who has traveled with circuses all over the country, has just died at her residence in Vernon county, Wis. She was 54 years old, seven feet four inches in height, and weighed 585 pounds. Her coffin was seven feet eight inches in length, three feet six inches in depth, four wide at the centre, twenty-four inches at the head, and twenty-three inches at the foot, and it required eight men with block and tackle to lower the remains into the grave. She is described as having been "a kind, good neighbor, a loving mother, and was beloved by all who knew her."

CLOUD BURST.—We understand that a cloud burst occurred on Saturday night some where near Wellington's, on the Aurora road. It is said that the roads are washed away and rendered impassable; that the Mactarnahan ditch was broken and flooded the country near by; that the Walker river overflowed its banks, and that thousands of fish were washed up on the shore. Our information is somewhat crude, but sufficient to warrant the assertion that a large volume of water has gutted out the roads and destroyed much valuable property in the vicinity.—Carson Tribune.

An English Holiday.

The street seemed almost as thronged as the bar; it seemed to sway and undulate in great waves of beery jollity. Through the midst there was a constant succession of populous wagons, bearing westward; but many had turned aside to the rival hotels on either side of the way, where hasty hostlers loosed the horses from the shafts and led them to their hay. Westward, however, the main current of progress set, and westward drifted I along with it. Presently from behind sounded the rhythm of music, and approached, thrusting its way through the crowd, a brass band, some twenty strong, with gold-laced caps and red, distended cheeks. They moved at a quicker rate than the bulk of those going in the same direction; but a contingent of admirers kept pace with them on either side and behind, most of whom danced as they went in time with the brisk jig whereto the brass horns were giving utterance. This dancing was impressive, from the complete abandon of the performers, and the comparison it suggested between modern and and ancient times—when nymphs satyrs capered in Bacchus's train precisely as these worthy Britons were capering now. One stout-wasted monad, in particular, was wholly possessed and carried away by Saturnalian inspiration. Holding out in one hand the starched skirts of her gaudy print dress, while the other arm arched above her ribbon-frenzied bonnet, she jigged joyously round and round in advanced spirals, dizzying to behold, her features fixed in a fatuous smile of interior delight, oblivious of the eyes and comments of the outside world. Past she went, circling ever onward, the embodiment of the brazen tune, until she was lost to sight, as the music that inspired her to the ear, beyond the heads and shoulders of the vociferous crowd. What a blessing it is that people exist, even in this self-conscious and sagacious age of ours, ready and willing to make unmitigated fools of themselves! There is hope for humanity so long as they survive; and I am glad to record my meeting, on this day, with a really encouraging number of survivors.

In the course of half an hour or thereabout the street yawned so broadly as to admit within its jaws an open common some five or six acres in area. The main road skirted the southern boundary of this green space, and was itself fringed along its southward side with a succession of ugly little houses, almost all which now bore the badge of innship, except a few, upon whose shields was inscribed the legend "Tea-Garden." The opposite side of the street, abutting on the common, was occupied by a continuous line of cheap-jacks, peddlers, fruit, candy and shell-fish venders; hitting, weighing, height-measuring, lifting electric-shocking, and lung-testing machine proprietors; organ-grinders, daguerreotypists, jumping-ropers, panorama-exhibitors—but why attempt an enumeration? There were a thousand attractions, and as many swindles. In addition to these stationary spiders, the street was threaded to and fro by hundreds of mobile hawkers, who pressed upon you all varieties of unimaginable rubbish, paper rosettes to leaden squirt-bottles.

As for the cancan just alluded to, there was really next to no cancan about it; and it might be considered unjust both to the dancers and the dance to call it by that famous name. But, with the recollection of a Parisian cancan in one's memory, this British plagiarism upon it seemed hugely funny. Six persons—three of each sex—placed themselves opposite one another in immediate proximity with a hand-organ. Owing to the thickness of the shitting crowd round about, there was scarcely space enough between the opposing couples to secure them from treading on one another's toes; and, the affair taking place in the street, there was constant interruption from heedlessly-driven vehicles, which would cause an unpremeditated variation in the evolutions. Often, too, an uninvited recruit would stumble into the ring, execute a fandango independently, and be off again ere there was time to organize a remonstrance. Indeed, no remonstrance seemed to be expected; nor was it taken much amiss if one of these free-lances of Terpsichore saluted the lips of his fair vis-a-vis of a moment, before departing.

The dancing itself was of the most Arcadian simplicity. The gentlemen tilted their hats on the backs of their heads, threw back the lappels of their coats far enough to reveal a finger's breadth of shirt-sleeve at the arm-hole, bent their bodies forward from the hips, and, with their arms swinging loosely in front of them, executed a more or less elaborate double-shuffle, interspersed with occasional throwing back of the shoulders and flourishing of the feet. The ladies grasp their skirts in both hands, extending them breadthwise, and double-shuffled in like manner to their partners; the acme of agility always occurring just before crossing over, when the gentlemen would indulge in an extra flourish or two, and the ladies would lift the hem of their robes high enough to display the ragged darning of dingy stockings. Meanwhile the countenances of all parties wore an expression of earnest gravity which was quite the most absurd feature of the performance. They kept their eyes steadfastly directed upon one another's double-shuffles, and only raised them when the moment came round for changing places. All the grinning was done by the spectators, and even they seemed to consider the exhibition a matter for critical scrutiny than for smiles. And the hand-organ tinkled, and the dust rose, and the foreheads of the toilers flushed and glistened; and still they danced on, looking less as if they were enjoying themselves, than obeying the promptings of a lofty sense of duty.—Julian Hawthorne, in Appletons' Journal for August.

THE THEORY OF EVOLUTION.—The Popular Science Monthly reports Sir Wyville Thompson as saying, in a lecture to the natural history class at Edinburgh University, that the great stumbling-block, from the natural history side of the question, in the way of an acceptance of the evolution hypothesis, was, that any such passage from one species to another is entirely outside our experience. The horse has evidently been the horse since the earliest hieroglyphs were engraved upon Assyrian monuments and tombs, and the same held for all living creatures. There was not a shadow of evidence of one species having passed into another during the period of human record or tradition. Nor is this all. We have, in the fossil remains contained in the rocks, a sculptured record of the inhabitants of the world, running back incalculably further than the earliest chisel-mark inscribed by man—incalculably further than man's existence on this planet; and although we find from the record that thousands of specimens have passed away, and thousands have appeared, in no single case have we yet found the series of transitional forms imperfectly gliding into one another and uniting two distinct species by a continuous bridge, which could be cited as an undoubted instance of the origin of a species. Mr. Darwin's magnificent theory of "natural selection" and "survival of the fittest" has undoubtedly shaken the veil by pointing out a path by which an end might be attained; but it has by no means raised it. Still, even if we never found out the precise mode in which one species gave raise to another, there could be no further hesitation in accepting generally a hypothesis of evolution.

THE white whale exhibited at Cincinnati died there of fright, starvation and a broken tumbler on Sunday last. Upon the Thursday night previous during a fierce gale the canvas top of the tent covering the tank in which the whale was swimming was blown away. The whale was evidently greatly frightened and went the bottom of the tank, only to appear at the surface of the water a moment afterward and spout high in air a stream of muddy water. These wild movements continued during the following day and night. Saturday the attendant thought the whale gave tokens of being in great distress, and entering the tank he began to rub the slime off the suffering monster. He then steered the whale under a stream of water and washed it. For a few minutes after the whale appeared to have more life, but afterward spouted feebly and then sunk to the bottom of the tank and died. In its stomach there were found two quarts of small stones, the bottom of a glass tumbler and a small piece of stick. It is believed that the whale died of starvation. The proprietors fed it with several thousand minnows a few days before, but were afterwards unable to get live fish.

LIKE flakes of snow that fall unperceived upon the earth, the seemingly unimportant events of life succeed one another. As the snow gathers together so are our habits formed. No single flake that is added to the pile produces sensible change, no single action creates, however it may exhibit a man's character.

Do little helpful things and speak helpful words whenever you can. They are better than pearls or diamonds to strew along the roadside of life. They will yield a far more valuable harvest, as you will find after many days.

"WOULD you work if you had the chance?" asked a worthy resident of West Philadelphia, when two neatly-dressed tramps begged him for something to eat. "O, yes; just try us," exclaimed the beggars. He gave them lodging in his stable one night and set them to work in his garden the next morning. He even gave them old hats, waistcoats and aprons, so that they would not spoil their clothes. On the evening before the Fourth of July he told them he was going away for a day or two, and they could proceed with their work in his absence, sleeping in the barn, and protecting the property. When he returned to the house on Thursday evening he could not find his workingmen. They had forced an entrance into the house by smashing a wire screen over the cellar window, and had made their way up stairs by kicking in a door. Everything was in confusion in the kitchen, tins pulled out of place, carpets ripped up and pieces of broken crockery-ware lying over the floor. In the parlor the same scene of destruction met his gaze. A costly plate-glass mirrior was broken into a thousand pieces, chairs were hacked and cut, the keys forced out of the piano, and the front part of the house was flooded, the tramps having left the faucets in the bath-room running. The sons of toil had left behind them in a conspicuous place the suits of old clothes which he had lent them.

THE Chicago Times has this concise illustrated statement of the Mexican question: Gen. Ord's instructions carefully read, disclose only the fact that he can in no instance invade the soil of Mexico; that he can enter that territory only in pursuit of a band of Mexican thieves who have invaded our country, and then he is only directed to pursue the invaders wherever they may go only to punish them. Diaz says to our Government, "You have invaded our territory." Then we have unanswerably to reply, "But you invaded us first. Keep your thieves at home and you will not be troubled with invasion." As one of the Generals interested in the preparation of this order said this evening, "If you knock a man down upon the street, he has cause for action against you; but if he should come to your house and steal your goods, you could pursue him and knock him down in the effort to secure your property. Then he would not have a very good cause against you." This is the Mexican question.

IN one of the terrible battles in Virginia a Union officer fell wounded in front of the Confederate breastworks, and while he was lying on the ground and crying piteously for water, James Moore of Burke County, N. C., a Confederate soldier, leaped over the fortifications, canteen in hand, and crawling up to the poor fellow gave him a drink. The wounded man took out his gold watch and offered it to his benefactor, but it was refused. He then asked for the Confederate soldier's name and the two men parted. Moore subsequently lost a limb in one of the Virginia battles and returned a cripple to his home. The Raleigh News now tells the sequel to this strange adventure. A few days ago Moore received from the Union soldier to whom he had given the cup of water a letter announcing that the sum of ten thousand dollars would be paid to him in four annual installments.

A CLEVER swindler recently purchased some valuable diamonds of a Birmingham (Eng.) jeweler, tendering in payment some shares in the Eberhardt Tunnel Company. To prove the value of his shares he showed, in the market column of a London paper, the figure at which "Eberhardts" were selling in the open market. On this evidence, and fortified by the assurance of two local firms that he could not be wrong in accepting the shares, the jeweler concluded the bargain, giving his diamonds in return for the Eberhardt shares. By and by he wanted to turn the shares into money, and then he discovered that they were worthless. The shares quoted from the London paper by the ingenious purchaser were those of the Eberhardt and Aurora Mine; the worthless shares which he gave in payment for the diamonds were those of the Eberhardt Tunnel Company.

A PASSENGER on one of the Midland railroad trains has given to the Middletown (N. Y.) Press a sensational account of a recent thunder storm. The train was near Walton, and the storm was terrible. There was crash after crash of thunder with blinding lightning, accompanied by a deluge of rain and hail. At one time the train seemed to be enveloped in a sheet of electrical fire. A fearful crash preceded, and instantly the engine was in a volumn of electricity, balls of fire encircled the driving wheels as they revolved with lightning rapidity. Engineer Sanford beheld the phenomenon with wonder and awe, and supposing that the end of all things was at hand, involuntarily shut off the steam. Nearly every person on the train experienced a severe shock; a large tree by the track was shattered.

A MANCHESTER, England, doctor claims a lotion invented by him will prevent the absorption of the virus of hydrophobia by the capillaries. He also claims that he can give an antidote which will neutralize the virus after its absorption, which he states has been found efficacious in two thousand cases. The doctor's name is Verity, which is a suspicious circumstance, to say the least.

A REMARKABLE STATE OF AFFAIRS.

The news from the Eastern States for the past week is both astonishing and alarming. It reads as if of civil war on a gigantic scale. Thousands of railroad and other workmen are on a strike. Already they have destroyed millions of dollars worth of property, and are killing and being killed like savages. The outbreak originated at Pittsburg, and to a greater or lesser degree has spread to a dozen other cities, in all of which the greatest excitement and consternation is reported. It is truly a remarkable state of affairs, and as regretful as remarkable, for it seems to be nothing more nor less than the beginning of a bloody struggle between labor and capital, between threatened serfdom and overriding aristocracy. While we deprecate above all things a resort to force to right wrongs of any kind, and believe that such resort must entail greater evils in every instance like this, yet we cannot help but believe these workingmen have morally a righteous cause, and sincerely hope that the efforts in this sad business may be so far successful as to check the dangerous overriding and utterly selfish tendency of those great corporations—to make them and all such bear their equitable share in the cost of Government.

AFTER setting a great many similar points out in detail, a petitioner of the Kern county Board of Equalization asserts that "the estimate of the value all real estate of said Haggin in Kern county is placed on said Assessment Roll at $342,136, whereas it should be $238,000 in excess thereof. That the estimate of the value of the improvements of all kinds on real estate belonging to said Haggin in said county appears on said Assessment Roll at $17,000, whereas your petitioner is informed that the cash value of the same is $70,000."

ANOTHER PROCESS.—The Freyer process, by which low-grade gold and silver ore was to be worked at a profit, has not been much heard of recently. We understand, however, that the inventor is busy with details which are expected to remedy minor defects, and that when everything is completed, work by this process will be resumed. Meantime, Prof. E. J. Mallet, graduate of the School of Mines of Columbia College, New York City, is experimenting with a process of his own discovery in Adoville, Colorado. Prof. Mallet professes his ability to take all the silver out of ore at a cost of two dollars per ton. A correspondent of the Kansas City Times witnessed an experiment with forty-two tons, which was so successful that the conclusion is reached that immense amounts of silver bullion will be thrown upon the world as the product of ores that were rejected as worthless. It is quite apparent, however, that the Times correspondent was enthused by what he had seen. The Mallet process, as described, consists of pulverizing ores and in adding a chemical solution discovered by the Professor, which, when fire is applied will uniformly affect the mass. Experiments had usually been made with small lots of two or three tons, but on this occasion forty-two tons were reduced at once, at an expense in fuel of but two cords of wood. The correspondent brings out his arithmetic and shows that ores which assay five ounces of silver to the ton can be worked at a profit. Silver is quoted at $1 24 per ounce, and five-ounce ore would consequently yield $6 20 per ton. The entire cost of mining, hauling and milling this ore is estimated at $6 per ton. This estimate shows the sanguine temperament of the correspondent. We venture the assertion that there is very little silver-bearing ore in Colorado, or elsewhere, which can be taken from the ground, delivered at a mill and put through any process by which the metal shall be extracted, at $6 per ton. The Mallet process may be a great discovery, and we hope it will prove so, but if it is really valuable nothing will be gained in the end by magnifying its results.—S. F. Bulletin.

CLARENCE KING.—Clarence King, America's eminent and brilliant geologist, arrived in town on Sunday evening and visited the Ruby Hill mines yesterday. He is making an examination of the great mineral belt by invitation of the Richmond Company, with a view of testifying at the coming trial. Mr. King at a former period held the property in his possession in trust for the London company, and transferred it to the Nevada corporation. He was also a witness in the former trial, and his evidence as to the geological formation and the action which produced the deposition of the the great mineral belt existing in Eureka District was the most interesting feature of the suit. Prof. Rossiter J. Raymond, one of the best authorities on mineralogical matters in the United States, while on a recent visit to Eureka, after a careful examination of all the mines on Ruby Hill, indorsed Mr. King's theory, considering it fully established by after and deeper explorations.—Eureka Sentinel.

RUTHY to Mrs. Hayes (in a low tone)—"Don't be alarmed, my dear. It was merely lemonade with a strawberry in it. Berry got tangled in the ice and hence the color."

CAMP INDEPENDENCE.

Much interest is being manifested throughout the county as to what disposition is to be made of Camp Independence. There are very many who think it should by all means be again garrisoned with U. S. troops—not that anything like a general outbreak of Indians is anticipated, but at the same time, in the full conviction that it is in the power of almost any drunken or murderous hearted renegade or white desperado to inaugurate a state of affairs here that would certainly cause much alarm, bloodshed and pecuniary loss to the community, and expense to the Government. No cheaper or more certain guarantee against such unpleasant possibilities can be had than the continued occupation of this Post by a company of infantry, in whose commandant should be vested supervisory powers in Indian affairs. That should be so arranged for the welfare of the Indians themselves. To them our civil law is absolutely of no more avail than the edicts of the King of the Cannibal Islands. Natural good will among themselves and between them and the whites is their only appeal, their only safety for life or possessions. They find, after numerous trials, that they can murder each other, even in our public streets, with absolute impunity. Is it unreasonable to expect that some of them, particularly when frenzied with strychnine whisky, to which they are becoming more and more addicted, will not ere long do murder upon some white man or woman? And then what a call to arms there will be, what a cry to "wipe out the red devils!" innocent and guilty alike, should the thing get fairly started. With military authority to appeal to, to take the matter in hand at once, such murder by an Indian would be no more dangerous to the general peaceful relations between the races, than when whites alone were the parties. Without such appeal or recourse it would be a wonderful thing indeed if an effort at bloody retaliations was not inaugurated at once.

There are good reasons beyond anything here intimated why this Post should be re-occupied by troops. It is by no means certain that it will not be, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts of the late commandant, Capt. MacGowan, to induce its complete abandonment, "because troops have not been needed here for many years past, therefore the present plan of dividing the water among the farmers will not be interfered with!" (See Post order No. 16.) It will, however, be some time before a conclusion in reference to the matter is arrived at. While that is pending, and in view of a possible negative conclusion as to the re-occupation, it behooves the people of this county to take in contemplation the propriety of doing two things: first, the organization of one or two militia companies as a very proper precautionary measure; and, second, to take some steps with the view of making the Post grounds and buildings, if to be abandoned and sold, available for a public high school, for which purpose no better or more beautiful site can be found in the State, nor no section more in need of just such an institution. We shall have some suggestions to offer on both propositions, but must forego further remarks for the present.

BAKERSFIELD ITEMS.—We take the following items from the Bakersfield Courier-Californian:

Gen. Tom Thumb and troupe, in all numbering ten persons, including the coachman and agents, performed here on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock and in the evening at 8. The audience in the afternoon was small, and did not even fill the dining room of the Arlington House, where they gave their exhibition. The performance was not equal to any respectable amateur set of performers, except that the clog dancer was one of the best. The lilliputians were composed of Gen. Tom Thumb and wife, and Miss Minnie Warren. The coachman was a little negro somewhat larger than the General and said to 28 years of age. He was engaged a while in the forenoon and afternoon in driving the little horses attached to the coach, which was in the shape of a nut and about the size of a baby carriage. These little people no longer attract as formerly.

We have just learned that the fall feed on the Jewett & Anderson Ranch has been rented for $4,500. This lease allows Messrs. Jewett & Anderson to cut alfalfa thereon until the middle of September, and what is left until Spring or rather, during the Fall months, is all that is rented for the $4,500. This shows that alfalfa is a bonanza this year.

LAST Wednesday a man at Souther's Ranch fell from sun-stroke and died the next day. This is the first case of sun-stroke we ever heard of in this section of the State. The last few days have been the hottest of the season, but the weather has now moderated. So far our extremely hot days have not been so numerous as last year, and it is thought by the oldest inhabitant that the whole season will afford less heat than last summer.

THE grizzlies are playing the old Harry with Moore's band of horses in the big basin, Boulder Creek, Santa Cruz County. One pure brood mare the flower of the band, was among their victims.

THE area of cotton planted in the Southern States this year is four per cent. larger than that of last year.

DARWIN ITEMS.—We take the following items from the News of Saturday last:

During the past two weeks there have been made applications to the Examiners by four different persons to go to the County Hospital. All of them, according to their statemants made to Judge A. J. Gould, one of the Examiners authorized to grant certificates to entitle them to admission to the hospital, stated that they had been employed at the Modoc and Minnietta mines in Lookout—three from the Modoc and one from the Minnietta. Three out of the four were granted certificates, but the money to send them to Independence had to be raised in Darwin by private subscription of our citizens who receive but little of the money paid to Lookout miners and workers generally. Among those who subscribed liberally we may mention Mr. S. Lewinsohn. Through the exertions of Judge Gould sufficient was realized—after obtaining a liberal deduction from the Inyo Stage Company—to send them to Independence. We, in common with our citizens, think this is hardly fair. The mining companies and business men of Lookout, who reap the profits from the the labor and all the money from these men, should, see, when they are taken sick, that a sufficient sum is raised to defray all their expenses to the County Hospital. Darwin has a pretty good load to pack already, but at the same time our people are not so penurious as to see any stranger die in our streets, except when he's shot, and then we can't help it.

Drifting and sinking on the Defiance is being vigorously pushed ahead, under the direction of Martin Mee, the efficient foreman, while the contractors are daily taking out ore in goodly quantities. In the drift from the main hoisting shaft, the ledge matter is of that character which is a sure indication that they are just over an immense body of ore. A winze is now being sunk from the 300-foot level to tap this deposit, while the drift is being continued west to strike the third ledge. There is now sufficient ore on hand to start the furnaces. The order has been given, and Abe Leyda has commenced to haul ore from the mine to the furnaces, which will be started up early next month.

James Honan, the gentleman who has the contract for supplying wood for the kilns and pits of the Modoc Company, as well as the works at Lookout, and mostly that used at the mill of R. C. Jacobs, came in from Wild Rose last Tuesday, and from him we learn that the kilns and pits are now turning out coal, of an excellent quality, considerably in excess of the demands made upon them. There are now cut and piled up some 3,500 cords of wood, and the timber supply will not be exhausted for the next five years. There are employed in the camp about forty men, there being one family, that of O. B. Morrison, who has his wife and children with him. He superintends the burning of the coal in the kilns while Mr. Honan runs the coalpit business and the boarding-house. There is also a store owned by M. Scheeline, a blacksmith shop run by Ed. Hall, but there is no liquor sold in the camp and the consequence is that everybody is industrious with no riotous conduct, and all are happy and getting rich.

G. M. Jordan, of Lee district, brought in a magnificent specimen of ore last Wednesday, taken from the Samoan mine, owned by him and Frank Lecrone. They have gone down on the ledge 45 feet, at which depth the ore vein is 22 inches wide, the ledge being about 8 feet in width. Some eight or ten tons of ore are now on the dump, the ledge is looking well and gradually widening. The assays, made by Mr. E. Elias, of the Cuervo Company, show $900 in silver and $60 in gold.

Both furnaces of the New Coso are now running, but in consequence of some necessary exploitations required in the mine so as to make the extraction of ore more convenient and economical, the probabilities are the furnaces will have to shut down for a short time. Shafts are being sunk and crosscuts made so as to facilitate the stoping of ore from above. This accomplished ore can be taken out in such quantities as to keep the furnaces running to their full capacity.

The ore body in the Hidalgo mine, belonging to the Santa Rita Company, but leased to Robt. Williams & Co., for six months, is increasing in width and richness as depth is attained. The Hidalgo is situated above the Defiance and in close proximiiy to the Cuervo, and promises to prove to be one of the best mines in the big hill

Work on the Bella Union, one of the Coso Consolidated Company's mines, is being diligently prosecuted, and the amount of ore now being extracted and the indications generally are such as to warrant the belief that the owners will soon meet with the reward they justly deserve for their perseverance. Will ship ore to the furnace in a few days.

JACK THOMPSON, a negro, was recently hung at La Grange, Ga., for the murder of a colored girl. He made a most religious end, only he showed the usual reluctance to depart, by asking the officiating clergyman to preach his funeral sermon before the hanging, saying that he would die easier after hearing it. His request was refused, and with the words "Meet me in heaven" on his lips, he was turned off.

EPIDEMIC typhus prevails in Constantinople to an alarming extent. Ten thousand persons are under treatment, and the deaths have been very numerous. The filthy condition of the city, owing to the total lack of drainage, is the cause of the disease.

J. DEBARTH SHORB is our authority for the statement that the leaves of the castor oil plant are sure death to grasshoppers. He placed a few leaves under a tree that was being eaten up bodily by hoppers and there were killed over 500.—Colton Semi-Tropic.

A FRENCHMAN writing a letter in English to a friend, and looking in the dictionary for the word "preserve," and finding it meant pickle, wrote as follows, "May you and your family be pickled to all eternity."

Treatment for Lead Poisoning.

Our workers in lead and quicksilver will be interested in the following, from Iron:

To a Belgian professor, M. Melsens, the Paris Academy of Sciences awarded, last April, the prize of £100 by M. Anget de Montyon to encourage the invention of processes for diminishing the risks of unwholesome trades. This prize was decreed to M. Melsens for his method of curing and preventing lead and mercurial poisoning. The report of the committee appointed to examine into M. Melsens' process is as follows:

Thirty years ago Prof. Melsens pointed out iodide of potassium as a means for successfully combating the ill effects of lead or mercury on the human body. Experiments undertaken in conjunction with Prof. Guillot confirmed the results first obtained by M. Melsens, who has since for a long period been pursuing his investigations and experiments.

Considering the saturnine or mercurial affections as being due to the presence of metal in the organs which are the seat of those affections, M. Melsens administers graduated doses of iodide of potassium. The noxious metals are, by the action of this drug, carried away in the urine in the form of double soluble iodides. M. Melsen also advises the use of the iodide of potassium as a preventive in cases where men are exposed to the effects of lead-dust or mercurial emanations.

Numerous experiments in the course of 30 years have proved the practical value of this system of treatment. Workmen affected with lead paralysis have been cured; others, who were unable to follow their calling from their liability to saturnine colic have been enabled to take it up again fortified by a regimen of which a dose of iodide of potassium formed a part. The result of the observations made at Brussels and Lille, and the letters and certificates sent to the Academy, leave no doubt on the point.

The action of the iodide of potassium, according to M. Melsen's idea, is a purely chemical one. It consists in determining the metal rendered insoluble by the formation of some albuminous compound to take on a soluble form by the creation of a double iodide removal per viam urinariam. Whether this is the case or whether its action consists in determining by destruction the evacuation of the morbid tissues containing the fixed metal, it is not the part of the committee to determine. It is sufficient that the author of this process has fully succeeded in diminishing the danger of certain mining and manufacturing operations.

THE English fleet at Besika bay will, with the additional vessels ordered, consist of 24 vessels with 150 guns (all heavy), and with crews of 7,000 or 8,000 men. The Czar is said to anticipate a declaration of war from Great Britain within a month. Of course no especial importance is to be attached to the report, except in so far that it shows the prevailing drift of opinion in the minds of the correspondents who manufacture to order the secret thoughts and actions of the principal characters. It is still possible that England may disregard the expressed wishes of the Chicago Times and abstain from anything more than a demonstration—but we shall see what we shall see.

A YOUNG American who had been in Paris for a year studying medicine was visited by his father. Like a dutiful son, he parades the author of his being conscientiously through the city, and points out to him its social and architectural lions. Finally they halt before a huge and many-pillared building, surrounded by a massive grating. "What palace or thingummy is that lordly pile?" asked the old man. "Dumfino," replies the youth, "but there is a sergent-de-ville; I'll ask him," and, accompanied by his sire, he crosses over to the officer and puts the question. "That, gentlemen," says the municipal guardian, calmly and in a clear official tone, "is the medical school!"

BEARS and coyotes are very plentiful about Middleton, Lower Lake County, and are making things lively for the sheep-men.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, JULY 28.....1877.

RELATING TO THE M. D's.—The vacancy created by the withdrawal of Dr. Matthews, U. S. A., is not likely to remain long unfilled. Knowing the requirements of numbers of patients Dr. Matthews had to leave almost without a good bye, he, while in San Francisco, made a laudable effort to send relief, and, in response to his suggestion, Dr. Wm. Wilson, a physician of many years practice in that city, immediately came up with the view of permanently locating. He found, however, that Dr. Bicknell, of Darwin, had already been prevailed upon to take this practice, including the county sick, now and ever since Dr. Matthews' departure, in the temporary care of Dr. Wainwright, of Bishop Creek, a young physician of excellent repute. There is a fair practice here for one of the two, but scarcely for both.

SOME MORE OF IT.—The other day up at Round Valley a couple of Indians got hold of a bottle of stuff known as "Calamity Drops," and retired to the brush to enjoy it. The second dose produced the usual effect; one of them got out his knife and coolly carved the other's arm to the bone and exposed his entrails to the weather, besides other minor demonstrations in kind, which altogether came very near effecting a complete disruptment of their friendly relations on earth. The next day some white man asked the operator what made him stab his friend that way? "Oh; cause me drunk, that's all," was the excuse, offered in tone and manner as being an all sufficient and perfectly tenable excuse before all the world.

ANOTHER TILL ROBBER.—The money drawer of the Aldine saloon was again robbed of a sack of coin, containing about $30, in broad daylight, by some light fingered thief. There have been three or four of these robberies committed in town of late—the guilty parties in each instance only escaping arrest and conviction from a flaw in the necessary positive proof. The lesson seems to be that our saloons and hotels should supply themselves with the bell, or alarm locks. An attempt to get into one is useless, and the instant detection of the would-be thief is certain, if there is anyone in hearing distance.

A GOOD MOVE.—It is in contemplation to organize a company of State Militia at Bishop Creek, the object being to procure arms and be prepared for any possible emergency, but more particularly, by such showing to lessen the chances of a real emergency. It is asserted as a fact that there are not reliable arms for twenty-five men to be found in that whole settlement, Round Valley included, and for this reason there are a good many sensible people who strongly advocate the plan as a very proper precautionary measure, and as the surest means of averting possible if not probable danger.

STEALING EXTRAORDINARY.—Some enterprising thief has capped the climax of heavy thieving in having removed bodily a house about 20x40 in size, from the ranch of R. A. Loomis, George's Creek. Mr. Joclyn authorizes us to say that Rockwell will pay a reward of $500 to the person who will designate the party or parties removing the same and replace the property as it stood.

THE TICKETS.—In our advertising columns will be found the complete county tickets of both parties, for Inyo and Mono. They will be found authentic and correct, with no "quoting from memory," as in our items of last week, in which the name of our present worthy County Treasurer—Henry M. Isaacs, the Democratic candidate for re-election to the same position—was inadvertantly omitted.

THE BISHOP CREEK HOTEL.—We are willing to bear testimony that no hotel on the road from Nevada to Aurora furnishes better accommodations than does the above named, kept by Pete Swearingen. And it seems to be receiving an extensive local custom, which fact bears out our assumption.

STARTED UP.—The Bishop Creek flouring mills were to start up last Tuesday on new wheat—and now it is to be hoped the price of flour will soon come down a dollar or so. Eight and nine dollars a hundred for flour is pretty steep for a farming country like this.

OFF FOR SCHOOL.—Charley Barry, the well known young law student with Messrs. Reddy & Conklin, started last Saturday for a course of studies in the Santa Clara College. His plan comprises a term of six years, and with his habits of hard application to study, will undoubtedly make a mark for himself in the future.

DARWIN BREWERY.—The firm of Davis & Kleiner, of the Darwin Brewery, has been dissolved, Joseph Davis assuming entire ownership. See his advertisement among the many brewery cards. Without an exception in this county, the beer manufacturers understand the benefit of advertising.

IMPORTANT.—Moffat fell out of bed and Gardner fell into the creek during the week. A Burlington Hawkeye, Danbury News or Reese River Reveille man could do these items up in shape. They are somewhat sensational—or were, at least, to the parties hereinbefore first mentioned.

DISSOLVED.—The old time firm of Lubken & Meyer, brewers at Lone Pine, is now dissolved by mutual consent, John Lubken having become the owner of the whole institution, and will continue the business on his own account.

THE LONE PINE ARTESIAN WELL.—Up to the 26th a depth of 106 feet had been reached in W. T. Davis' artesian well in Lone Pine, the work progressing finely and the prospects good.

BENTON.

Following is the sum of our personal observations while at Benton last week:

Geo. E. Webber, Superintendent of the Comanche Mining Company, has just returned from San Francisco, where he had purchased a heavy engine, pump and pipes with which to sink the shaft 250 feet deeper, making a total depth of 1,000 feet. That done, enough ore can be stoped out to keep the mill running steadily for two years thereafter. Owing to the vast quantity of water now coming into the mine, filling it some 40 feet above the 750-foot level, it has been found quite out of the question to keep the mill supplied with ore, though we are told there is an abundance of it, and of the richest quality in the mine. For some weeks past the mill has been kept running on tailings which are made to yield about $16 per ton, therefore a good profit. The batteries were started on ore last Monday but will probably not find continuous work until the big pump is in operation.

C. H. Aaron, the first to successfully amalgamate Benton ores, has just been placed in charge of the Diana mill. This mill has an abundance of very rich ores on the dump at the mill, and plenty more in sight in the mine, which is down some 500 feet and perfectly dry. As depth was attained in this (the Diana) mine, and also the Kerrick, belonging to the Comanche, the ores grew constantly more and more difficult to amalgamate. Heretofore, on surface ores, the Aaron process was equal to a saving of from 90 to 94 per cent. Toward the last, however, scarcely anything could be saved, so that thousands of dollars were every week run away in the tailings. Mr. Aaron, whose experience and judgment is considered unequalled as regards this particular class of ores, was induced to try his hand as above stated. After three days' run he came to the conclusion that it would be impossible to make a satisfactory success in amalgamating these deep ores without previous roasting, therefore it is very likely milling operations will have to be suspended until a roaster can be built, which we suppose, will require three or four months time. With ordinarily successful amalgamating, so rich and plentiful are their ores, this five-stamp mill is expected to turn out well on to $30,000 in silver bullion per month.

Tregembo & Thomas have been running a drain tunnel into the Yellow Jacket ledge, and will soon have it completed and re-open the Illinois, a mine which in 1872 produced quantities of ore of extraordinary richness, but upon which no work has been done on account of water, now to be removed by means of this tunnel.

Near this is the Tower mine, belonging to Tregembo and the Hightower estate. This is also considered a first-class mine, but, like the Illinois, so much troubled with water nothing further can be done in getting out ore until drained by pumping, for which purpose heavy steam machinery is now on the ground, and will be put in place as rapidly as possible after the return of Superintendent John Howell, expected from San Francisco early this week.

Albert Mack has been disappointed in his hopes of his mine, the Kearsarge, a supposed extension of his old mine, the Comanche above referred to, and after expending some $15,000 in prospecting it, thinks he will soon abandon it as a failure.

Eight miles southerly from Benton is an immense ledge, cropping high above ground, of gold quartz paying from $12 to $50 per ton. The leading location on this belongs to Messrs. McNeil, Shea and McBride. For some weeks past the two former have been running a horse arastra upon these ores in hopes to obtain a reliable working test of their general value. Their hopes, however, are likely to be disappointed measurably, inasmuch as the sulphurets make perfect amalgamation by this process impossible. At least such were their own anticipations though they had as yet made no clean up to fully determine results.

The general confidence in the permanence and undoubted value of the three leading mining properties, to wit, the Diana, Comanche and Yellow Jacket, each comprising two or more opened mines, was never better assured than at this moment; yet, owing to the partial suspension of operations, particularly in hauling ores, for the reasons above given, times in Benton are very much duller than at any time previously for the last two or three years. And it is not unlikely this state of affairs will continue for perhaps three or four months yet, after which, we feel assured, Benton will enter upon a livelier era than ever before witnessed in all her remarkably prosperous history.

The Mack & Fargo saw mill, a costly and very complete institution, was recently completed and is now turning out lumber rapidly, as, also, is that of Hightower & Yaney, so the lumber market will be amply supplied and some to spare. These mills, both located on the Adobe Meadow Slope, some eighteen miles westerly from Benton, supply the entire demand for lumber for the Belleville and Columbus region, embracing an area of say a hundred miles to the eastward.

It is worthy of remark that immense quantities of gin and other substitutes for cold water are consumed in Benton, so that class of mills keep on a full force, and don't throw the produce market out of balance by stopping to put in pumps and the like of that.

John Kremkrow is erecting a fine stone structure for his new brewery located about equidistant between the the two towns, Partzwick and Benton, and therefore much more convenient than the old establishment, nearly a mile to the eastward. This change was made necessary, not for reasons of convenience entirely, but because of a question of title to the site of the old establishment.

Speaking of titles, another hearing of the case between certain settlers of Benton and E. C. Kelty, involving the Benton town site, was had before Register Briggs at Benton last Monday, and the taking of the evidence concluded on the following day. Bennett, of this place, and Mitchell, of Benton were the respective attorneys. The result is exciting more and more local interest, and is likely to be warmly contested to the end, which cannot be finally reached for some months to come.

Among the Farms.

No one can take a view of the green pastures and teeming grain fields throughout this valley from end to end but must conclude that it has really no superior, agriculturally, in the State. Even our own citizens who have had no recent opportunities for direct observation, would feel astonished were they to take a look at our farms, particularly through Bishop and Round Valley. In the last named, where small grain is more of a specialty, there are numbers of fields of wheat, barley and oats, containing from fifty to one hundred and fifty acres, where the grain, yet of a deep green, stands as thickly on the ground and as tall, even, and well headed as in the most favored grain growing localities of the coast counties. And the surprise at the number and size of these fields is still greater when noting the remarkable uniformity of the stand, one farm with another. Notwithstanding this uniformity, though, John E. Jones is credited with having the best stand of wheat in Round Valley—probably the result of superior husbandry, rather than of better soil. But, speaking only of what we saw, the crops to be seen on either C. H. Parson's or Thos. Jones' places would make any coast farmer feel envious if there was any envy in his composition. These are not mentioned as exceptional to the majority in that beautiful little valley, but only as instances in point coming under our own hurried observation.

Round Valley contains some 5,000 acres, all in a body, with scarce an acre that is not good farming land. The exceptions are the spots too wet for the plough. During some twelve years of cropping no failures of crops have ever occurred, except partially on a few farms by untimely frosts on one or two occasions. The wheat yield averages about twenty bushels to the acre, and as a whole, produces rather the best flour of any in the county. Some Bishop Creekers, though, will take issue on that proposition.

Bishop Creek valley proper is far more diversified in soil and productions, and coveres a much greater area. Another point of difference is that though but a few miles distant, and but a few feet lower altitude, wheat, for instance, will ripen and may be marketed as flour before the same crop in Round Valley has begun to turn yellow. Bishop is more given to corn than wheat, but seems to be quite as well adapted to one as the other. To a mere casual observer it would be difficult to point out the finest farm or field among the many. Perhaps, though, they would be found in the vicinity of Spencer's store—Hutchison's, Bourland's or some of those. Some magnificent crops are to be seen all over the valley—much of the wheat is already in the stack, and quite a quantity now in the sack. On all these farms there and elsewhere there is manifest a spirit of thrift and a desire for permanent improvements, that will, ere many years, be a source of local pride as well as profit. This remark applies to many farms and farmers throughout the whole extent of Owens river valley, not alone to the two sections of same above specified. Among those giving attention to improvements of this class and to labor and money saving appliances and machinery, may be mentioned Tim Lewis, whose thresher is run by water power, and by the same, a feed mill, planing machinery, and to which is now to be added a complete flouring mill. If we are not mistaken the Hutchison Bros. run their threshing machine by water also.

Here, we stop to remark, that we were not on a tour of observation this time, not having time to make even so much as a halt at more than two or three places—next time, and soon, will do better, though we make lots of friends around the country think it is the Tax Collector himself that is coming.

Down nearer home is Big Pine, which, as a whole, will take the premium as a place to farm, and to raise good crops of corn and alfalfa. A field of this grass belonging to J. W. McMurry, would command admiration, even from a Kern Islander. So would certain corn fields, and, likewise, Hessian's string of sod fence, neat and substantial enough to excite remark by passers-by. This style of fencing is also in use by many Round Valley farmers, as well as some on Bishop whose ground is suited for it.

Notwithstanding the dryness of the season, and the short supply of water for irrigating purposes in the valley south of Big Pine, at that place and at Bishop and Round Valley all requirements are satisfied, and in each there is yet water running to waste, enough, it would appear, to irrigate double the area now in cultivation.

But, speaking of the wheat yield we have reason to believe that the heaviest turn out per acre will be that on Lafe Gill's place near Camp Independence. The crop, already threshed out, foots up a yield of forty tons of good wheat from thirty acres—over 41 bushels to the acre.

In conclusion we will add that crops of hay and grain were never heavier than this year, nor was there ever quite as many acres in cultivation.

PERSONAL.—"Jeemes" Perham writes us that he is in San Francisco, and is going to stay there during the "heated term," after which, as we infer, will come to see his many old friends in Inyo.... V. A. Gregg Esq., and family are still making their home at Santa Cruz instead of having located in Bakersfield as reported.

AS USUAL.—The Indians were on a general drunk last Sunday, same as they will be to-morrow.

The Joint Convention.

Pursuant to order of the respective County Conventions the Republican Legislative Joint Convention for Mono and Inyo, met in Benton, Mono county, July 21st.

Present, L. E. Tubbs, elected delegate and J. W. Cross, proxy for J. G. Thompson, for Mono, and P. A. Chalfant, elected delegate, and proxy for J. C. Mills and John R. Westerville, for Inyo.

T. E. Tubbs, Esq., was elected Chairman and P. A. Chalfant Secretary.

R. M. Briggs, Esq., of Inyo, was, by an unanimous vote, nominated for the Assembly.

The resolutions endorsing President Hayes' Southern and Civil Service policy, as adopted by the Inyo County Convention, were fully endorsed.

T. J. Goodale was endorsed as the choice of this Convention for State Senator for this District.

There being no further business the Convention then adjourned sine die.

STAGE MATTERS.—Our northern stage line don't advertise here lately, so it is a pretty hard matter for some to keep the run of things connected therewith. Notwithstanding the above fact, though, this office acknowledges itself under considerable obligations to Division Agent Clark and all his drivers—a good set of boys all through. Owing to the limited amount of travel as a general thing between this locality and Benton the fine, light coaches and four-horse teams we used to have were hauled off sometime since, and instead we now have the light "jerky" or two-horse stage running on alternate days with the buck-board, each three times a week. From Benton to Aurora, they have light four-horse coaches; thence to Genoa the full-fledged Concord coach and, for the most part, six-horse stock. Passengers from here to Genoa or Carson lay over one night at Benton, making no other halt except for meals until another night is passed, reaching Carson in time the second morning to connect with the San Francisco morning train. The time from San Francisco here is the same as by the southern route. The latter being but a tri-weekly, while the northern runs daily, or six times per week, on certain days we receive mails one day in advance of those by the southern. All of these lines in this State and Nevada hitherto belonging to Tuller & Clugage now, since the death of the first named, belong to Mr. Clugage, who is as thorough a stage man as there is on the Coast; one who will give the traveling public every dollar's worth of accommodation possible for the small mail pay and limited patronage received. Under his management and "cash down" way of doing business these lines hold a high place in public estimation, notwithstanding we used to hear some deep growls from Nevada about the "Clugage outfits." Uncle George Smith, one of the most popular general road agents, has for some time past been staging on his own account between Genoa and Silver Mountain, but still acts as Paymaster for the Clugage lines, in which capacity he was down here over this line last week.

A WARNING.—As it is a conceded fact that statute law is totally inadequate to check the rapidly increasing Indian-whisky traffic, and as people are fully resolved that the safety of lives and property and the peace of the country shall not be jeopardized that a handful of white scoundrels may gather a few dollars of Indian whisky money, we are desired to give this note of warning to the aforesaid white scoundrels, not one of whom but is known and "spotted," namely: throughout this region from here to Round Valley it is a common expression that at the very first outrage traceable to this traffic the "Jonsing Family"—to-wit, special vigilantes—will personally call on these parties wherever they are to be found, and, in a manner that cannot be misconstrued, invite them to suspend that traffic absolutely or be suspended themselves. Further, that the principals, and not the old stiffs whom they employ as agents, are the ones who will receive the most unmistakable attention. We repeat that the best and most law abiding citizen to be found in the country, and particularly those in isolated homes, have a depth of feeling in regard to this matter that will culminate in something those contemptible creatures who sell whisky both directly and indirectly, to Indians, will have occasion to regret. It is a shame and an outrage that respectable people must live in dread and alarm, as many of them do at this moment, that these wretches may get hold of the hard-earned silver pieces of these otherwise well disposed savages.

WHAT HE WANTED THE PUBLIC TO KNOW.—Chris. Mangel, the other night at Bishop, desired us to state that the reason he was drunk was that he had just sold his threshing machine to Seth Sneden and John Clark, and that that was an experienced threshing firm and that if anybody wanted their corn, turnip and other crops threshed out in good shape then Sneden & Clark with this machine were just the firm to do it. Further, that the first named was to be General Superintendent, while the latter would see that the work was done if he didn't do it himself. How it is we can't say for certain, but that is the way we understand the matter and give it according to request.

THE ECLIPSE MILL.—Next Monday a general and thorough clean up will be made at the Eclipse mill after a continuous run of thirty stamps for twenty-two days. It is confidently anticipated that the result will be the most satisfactory of any for many a day. By the way, Supt. Nelson advertises in this issue that men are wanted to do contract work, so go at once, those who want work.

THE STATE SENATORSHIP.—By next issue we hope to be able to give the names of the respective candidates for the State Senatorship. The Independents, it seems, are threatening to put a man in the field also.

AN INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE.—By reference to a notice in our advertising columns it will be seen that John R. Westerville now comes out as an independent candidate for the Supervisorship of this district. We understand this to have been done at the earnest solicitation of numbers of friends. We won't undertake to name the successful candidate, but will venture to say that two out of the three will not be elected this time.

DEAD SHEEP.—Several men have found employment this week in taking dead sheep out of Lone Pine creek, 104 by actual count being the result of their labors. It is noted as a strange fact that no owners have yet come forward to claim property in these defunct muttons.

READY FOR BUSINESS.—The flume from Jim Smith's saw-mill is now complete to the open ground at the mouth of the cañon, and by Monday next the business of sending down lumber and wood for market will begin in earnest.

PROMOTED.—Lieut. Haskell, of Co. B 12th Infantry, formerly of this Post, has just been promoted to a 1st lieutenancy, and assigned to Co. F, same regiment.

HOW TO CHOOSE PICTURES FOR A ROOM.—Most people know that light colors make rooms look larger than dark ones, though it is probable that few can entirely realize the wonderful difference between them until they have seen the walls painted dark or the reverse. A light picture by the same law makes a room look larger, and a picture darker than the wall it is hung upon will reduce the size of the room, unless the lightness of the room is sufficient to compensate for the difference. Perhaps the present decided taste for light pictures is partly due to this. A rule in the arrangement of interiors may be deduced from these observations which is, that when a room is smaller than we should like it to be we ought to hang very light pictures in it, and when it is uncomfortably large we should reduce it with dark ones. But there are other things to be considered. Pictures which represent narrow interiors do not enlarge rooms much, because they convey a feeling of confinement; but landscapes with vast distances enlarge rooms immensely. In engravings and water colors the margin has an important effect.—Worcester Spy.

THE Lexington, Ky., Gazette favors the restoration of the whipping-post as a punishment for larceny, but despairingly says that there is "no use of arguing with the mutton-headed members of the Legislature on the subject."

WHEN President Hayes got to Rhode Island he said: "Now, friends, I have come to see your beautiful State—where is it?" "Excuse me, sir," replied a polite citizen, "but you are stepping on it now; it is right under your feet."

THE Occidental Hotel, San Francisco, announces in a general order to the Army, that until Congress makes an appropriation, it will send no bills to such officers as may wish to patronize it.

A POLITICIAN, who was a great stickler for equality in all things, perceiving two crows flying side by side exclaimed, "Ah, that is just as it should be; I hate to see one crow over another."

A CHICAGO man, at the point of death, was asked if a clergyman should be sent for. "No," said he, "send for a brandy cocktail."

Culture of the Memory.

The student lamenting his lack of ability to remember his lessons, and jealous of another who spends only half the time which he employs in their preparation, sees that his rival's memory always serves him in the recitation room, may take encouragement from the following, condensed from the Philadelphia Public Ledger:

It is a common idea that a good memory is a ready-made gift, which Nature whimsically confers upon some and withholds from others. Now, the truth is that the memory is a faculty, which as much as any other, needs development.

Like all other powers, the memory is strengthened and developed by exercise, and weakened by disuse. In whatever direction we make constant demands upon it, it responds obediently. The same attention which we bestow on our daily business, and which enables us to recall its details with so much ease, will be equally effective if exercised in other matters. To strengthen the memory on any given point, the first requisite is to bring all our mental energy to bear upon it. We are charged with some message or commission, perhaps, which we promise in all good faith to convey or to execute; but not being in the line of our thoughts, it passes out of our minds and is unfulfilled. We commonly excuse ourselves for such dereliction, on the ground that we are unable, by any effort of the will, to command the power of memory. Yet had we, by a strong self-control, fixed our attention wholly upon the matter when presented to us, had we dismissed all wandering thoughts and concentrated our mental energies for the time upon that one thing, the impression would have been so strong that, in all probability, it would have been remembered and accomplished. The mental concentration is the first and most important means of improving the memory. It is largely within our own powers of will to enforce this, and he who is conscious of neglect in this respect cannot claim to be excused for forgetfulness.

Another valuable method of training the memory is through the laws of association. Our knowledge must be arranged and classified if we would recall it with facility. We must base rules upon principles, and effects upon causes, if we would imprint them firmly on our minds. That this is not done with sufficient thoroughness is the chief cause why so much of the knowledge which we acquire passes from us.

There is one great encouragement to the cultivation of the memory in the fact that the work will grow easier with every effort. If we patiently and steadily fix our attention on every subject we wish to recall, the power of concentration will become habitual. If we constantly arrange and classify our knowledge, it will grow more and more available.

MR. GLADSTONE has rooms at Oxford, and whenever he has any great work on hand he goes and shuts himself up in that beautiful old home of scholars, and writes uninterruptedly for three or four days. Then he goes home with a magnificent speech like that given at Birmingham, or a startling magazine article like that on Montenegro.

MR. WEBSTER left his famous silver service, presented by the Somerset Club, to his grandson, Ashburton Webster, and most of it was sold by that young gentleman's guardian. Some portion remains in the family.

THE well-known philanthropist, W. W. Corcoran, distributed $20,000 among the poor men and women, who were recently thrown out of employment by reason of the reductions in the departments.

Cossack Women.

These Cossacks have some very curious customs. They are all comparatively young men, and nearly all of course married to young wives. It often happens, as in the present instance, that they are away from home during a war for one or even three or four years, and the natural result is that many of the wives left behind do not prove to be Lucretias. The Cossacks are quite aware of this and many of them on starting home buy a white scarf or handkerchief, which they take with them. Upon entering their villages the whole population—women, girls, old men and children—come out to meet them, including, of course, the wives of the returning wanderers. Now, those of the wives who have been unfaithful to their lords, of which there is usually a considerable sprinkling, go forward to their husbands, kneel down before them in the road, put their faces in the dust, and place their husbands' foot upon their necks. This is a confession of guilt, and at the same time a prayer for forgiveness. If the husband then covers his wife's head with the white scarf, it means that he forgives her, asks no questions and obliterates the past. In this case no one has a right ever to reproach the wife with her inconsistency, and if any one should be rash enough to do so he would have to count with the husband, who is the protector of his wife's honor. If, on the contrary, the white handkerchief is not produced, the woman returns straight to her father's house without again entering her husband's dwelling, and a divorce is pronounced. Although there is generally a considerable sprinkling of women who come forward to kneel down and put their faces in the dust, it rarely happens that they are not forgiven. A very tragical case, however, is related in which the reverse took place. A returning Cossack was informed by a malicious neighbor before he reached his home that his wife had been unfaithful, without waiting to see whether the guilty woman would come forward and confess her sins. The comrades of the Cossack perceived that he had all of a sudden taken to drink and dissipation, although he was not a man given to these vices. When he reached home his wife, as he feared, came forward, knelt down, and put her face in the dust at his feet. The spectators saw him look at her as she lay in the dust for a long time. Two or three times he put his hand to his breast for the white handkerchief, as if he were going to cover the repentant woman's head—two or three times the movement was restrained. Finally, as if driven by a sudden impulse, he all at once drew his shashka, and with one stroke severed the head from her body. The punishment for the crime was two months' imprisonment, while the malicious neighbor who had taken the trouble beforehand to inform him of his wife's misconduct was sentenced to Siberia for three years.

SUCCESSFUL MEN.—Who are they? They are those men who, when boys, were compelled to work, either to help themselves or their parents, and who, when a little older, were under the stern necessity of doing more than their legitimate share of labor; who, as young men had their wits sharpened by having to devise ways and means of making their time more available than it would be under ordinary circumstances. Hence, in reading the lives of eminent men who have greatly distinguished themselves, we find their youth passed in self-denials of food, sleep, rest and recreation. They sat up late, rose early to the performance of imperative duties, doing by daylight the work of one man, and by night that of another. A banker of high integrity, and who started in life without a shilling, said, the other day.—

"For years I was in my place of business at sunrise, and often did not leave it for fifteen or eighteen hours."

Let not any youth be discouraged if he has to make his own living, or even to support a widowed mother or sick sister, or unfortunate relative; for this has been the road to eminence of many a proud name. This is the path which men have often trod—thorny enough at times, at others so beset with obsracles as to be almost impassable; but the way was cleared, sunshine came, success followed—then the glory and renown.

NOT long since a preacher of our acquaintance described a pond in which he had many fine fish, and brought it into an illustration in one of his discourses. On the following Sabbath morning six deacons were missing from their pews, but when the pastor took a stroll after service, he saw the absent six sitting on the verdant bank of that identical pond, and half a dozen corks were bobbing on the surface of that stream.—New York Dispatch.

THE man who had horse-radish and turnip on his plate and swallowed a quantity of the former by mistake, after he had gulped down all the goblets of water within his reach and squeezed an equal bulk of tears into view, said, sadly: "No carrots there! Home-raised, wan't it?"

To be properly dressed in London a woman must wear a tiny bonnet, hanging upon a knot of hair, an immense crinoline, heelless boots, a black lace shawl, and her front hair pasted down over her cheeks like horse blinders.

GLASS bottles were first made in England about 1558. The art of making bottles and drinking glasses was known to the Romans eighteen hundred years ago, as they have been found among the ruins of Pompeii.

Greeley and His Old Foreman.

A conversation between Thomas Rooker, the old foreman of the New York Tribune, and Horace Greeley, the last time the latter was in the Tribune office, is given in the Troy Press, and that paper says it never has been printed. Mr. Greeley's denial of the "Crumbs of Comfort" article had been twice suppressed, and the old man climbed the stairs to the composing room to see Rooker about it. The latter was sitting at his desk as he heard Mr. Greeley coming, and knew the cause of the visit. He rose as Mr. Greeley approached him, and offering him his hand, said: "Mr. Greeley, I am very glad to see you."

Mr. Greeley said, "Tom, how is it that that article I ordered to put under the editorial head has been left out twice?"

Mr. Rooker grasped Mr. Greeley's hand tighter, and replied, "Mr. Greeley, I have received orders to-day positively from the stock-holders to no longer recognize you as editor-in-chief. I am very sorry, Mr. Greeley, it was a terrible blow to me after such long service in the Tribune office under your management."

Mr. Greeley, still holding Mr. Rooker's hand, said, "Tom, is this my reward? Good bye, Tom; I shall never darken the door of the editorial room of the Tribune again."

This was on the 8th of November, and Mr. Greeley died two weeks later, a broken-hearted man. The Sun has given a fac simile of the article that was "killed." "We imagine," concludes the Press, "that the Sun obtained the original document (if it is original) from Mr. Rooker, who undoubtedly preserved it, and who, on account of the recent strike, has, we believe, severed his connection with the Tribune, and consequently feels under no obligation to keep its secrets.

Whether Mr. Rooker has or has not severed his connection with the Tribune, it is known that he is absent from his post, and has been ever since the strike.

The New York Sun published what purports to be a fac simile of Mr. Greeley's repudiation of the "Crumbs of Comfort" article."

A MAN WHO SAYS HE DOESN'T SLEEP. The man who does not sleep, Saunders, now resides near Parkersburg. Some time in 1861 or 1862 Saunders enlisted in the Fourth West Virginia Volunteers. For several years he had not slept at all, so he says. But it becoming known directly in camp that he made such pretensions, it aroused the curiosity of many of the men and officers, and they set a watch upon him. I am told by a Colonel that he and a great many others lost a great many nights' sleep in endeavoring to entrap Saunders, but during the whole time that he remained a member of the Fourth he was never caught asleep. He stood guard night after night and week after week, paid by sleepy-headed soldiers to take their turns, but never was caught napping. He hauled coal several weeks in succession, only stopping long enough to eat and change horses, and plowed in the fields with five or six stalwart men until he wore them out completely, but never seemed to tire. During the year 1863, I think it was, he went to Philadelphia and was examined by the leading physicians of the country. They sat up with him in relays of five, night and day, and kept up an almost constant stream of conversation with him, and at the expiration of twenty-nine days discharged him with a certificate, but could give no explanation of this freak of nature. Many stories of the untiring energy and activity of this man are told, and all agree who know him that this antipode of Rip Van Winkle is the most sleepless man they ever met. Mr. Saunders is now about fifty-six years of age, and says that he has not known what sleep is for eighteen years. He himself cannot account for it, as he says the change in his physical organization occurred within three days, and he never was sick in his life, and took medicine but once, and that when he had catarrh, about three years ago. He is a hale, hearty man, and bids fair to live many years yet. He is conscientiously opposed to making a display of himself, or no doubt would long ago been before the public as one of the human curiosities of the world.

A MARRIED lady, alluding in conversation to the 148th Psalm, observed that while "young men and maidens, old men and children," were expressly mentioned, not a word was said of married women. An old clergyman whom she was addressing, assured her that they had not been omitted, and that she would find them included in the preceding verses, under the description of vapors and storms.

BEN HILL has been making a speech in Georgia. He justified the Southern members in their action respecting the Electoral Commission. He said that expediency, if not conscience, justified them; that it was either war or Grant—who was worse than war—or Morton, who was worse than war, pestilence and famine.

A SUNDAY-SCHOOL teacher was attempting to teach a very small boy the meaning of wages in the passage: "The wages of sin is death," and asked him, "What does your father get on Saturday night?" "Drunk ma'am," answered the boy, without any hesitation.

A PROMISING youth, about to be chastised by his father the other day, called upon his grandfather to "protect him from the superfluous middleman."

FRED. DOUGLASS very strongly insists upon it that the colored people should put money in their purses.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 4.....1877.

DEMOCRATIC DISTRICT SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

The Convention for the 4th Senatorial District, comprising the counties of Mono, Inyo, Tulare, Kern and Fresno, met at Bakersfield, in the county of Kern, on Saturday, July 28th. After the transaction of the usual preliminary business, Hon. Thos. Fowler was, by an unanimous vote, nominated for Senator.

A resolution was passed requesting the papers in the several counties to publish proceedings, and resolutions adopted. As the whole would occupy about two columns of space THE INDEPENDENT can only print a brief synopsis. The preambles recite that the present depraved and discorded state of society is traceable to Republican misrule; that Hayes was not lawfully elected President; declares for an equitable distribution of water running in natural streams.

The resolutions denounce in the most unmeasured terms the conspiracy against Constitutional Government, called the Electoral Commission; that it was conceived in iniquity and brought forth in sin; but rejoice that local self government has been restored to the Southern States; declare for a Democratic U. S. Senator not controlled by or connected with any railroad corporation or monopoly; favor a Constitutional Convention to "revise the Constitution of the State, to prevent the double taxation of property and to put an end to the aggregation of power by corporations, and to secure for the people a better and more economical system of laws;" denounce the "Desert Land Grab;" maintain the right of legislation to fix fares and freights; oppose the repeal of the no fence law; oppose Chinese imigration, and demand the repeal of the Burlingame treaty.

The Chairman and Secretaries of the Democratic County Central Committees of the counties of Inyo, Mono, Kern, Tulare and Fresno were appointed as a District Senatorial Committee. There were no delegates present from either Mono or Inyo.

THE REPUBLICAN SENATORIAL CONVENTION.—Mr. T. J. Goodale was appointed delegate to cast the vote of this county for State Senator, and departed on his mission by last Sunday's stage. It was not then known when or where the Convention would be held, but through a note addressed to this paper from P. Y. Baker, Secretary of the Tulare Central Committe, it is suggested that it take place at Visalia to-day; and no doubt it will be so arranged. Mr. Goodale is also the representative candidate for Senator for this side of the mountains. There appears to be two or three on the other side to come before this Convention, but still we are inclined to think he will get the nomination.

LAURA WHITTEMORE, formerly employed in the custom house and mint at San Francisco, has brought a libel suit against the De Youngs, in El Dorado county, claiming damages in the sum of $30,000, for the publication of an article in which it was alleged that she had been the mistress of Congressman Page.

THE yield of the Mexican mines since the conquest by Cortez, up to 1860, amount to $2,039,000,000, and all from a comparatively limited district. The registered coinage of the mint of Mexico for the last 135 years ending January 1st, 1874, amounts to $1,642,963,107.

THE Eureka Sentinel is informed by one who pretends to know, that Gen. Thomas H. Williams will make one more attempt to represent Nevada in the Senate. With this intent he will give personal supervision to the management of the Savage mine.

THE Nez Perces are effecting a change of base, passing over the line into Montana, the people of which Territory do not consider them emigrants of the most desirable class.

THE San Francisco Stock Report finds consolation in the fact that times are harder and people poorer in the Eastern States than in California.

THERE appears to be a disposition amongst all trades in San Francisco to seize the present opportunity to better their condition.

THE little unpleasantness in this country has had a depressing effect on every class of American securities in the European markets.

DEACON PARKINSON'S Carson Tribune has lately entered upon its ninth volume, on a career of much usefulness and continued success.

THE POST GROUNDS.

It is a common expression and desire that this county procure the Camp Independence buildings and grounds for a high school. It is conceded by all who have given the matter sufficient thought, that such an institution is a prime necessity, not alone of this county, but of all this sage brush region, including a portion of the adjoining State of Nevada. Scattered over an area here equal to some of the larger Eastern States, are hundreds of families with children rapidly approaching manhood and womanhood; among them are scores of youths strongly desirous of higher educational acquirements than can be afforded by the common public schools. Save in the cases of a few of the more wealthy, the opportunities for such are wholly beyond reach. It is full 600 miles travel to the nearest high school. To send youths such a distance, and maintain them there through a full course, would, in a great majority of the cases be beyond the financial ability of the parents. For this reason many parents, and among them, the most desirable citizens, work on from year to year only that they may accumulate enough means to warrant them in seeking homes elsewhere, and for no other leading motive in the world than to give their children better educational advantages. Everywhere throughout this country, both in the valley and mountain settlements, that is quite the common desire and intention. Were hopes of financial success realized by all in this category, it would be but a short time till quite a large portion of our family people would be on the move to other homes, and all for the sole reason above named. But for that desire their efforts would be given toward building up a permanent home in our midst, and, in most every instance, in the full conviction that when so built up, with society advantages to correspond, such homes would be as desirable in all essential conditions as could be found elsewhere, in this or any other State.

In this view, nothing could do more to bring contentment, to identify individual with common interests and to permanently build up our county generally than this very institution now proposed, and easily obtainable, if we are determined to obtain it. There is hardly a youth in the country but would be able to take special if not thorough academical courses. In the nature of the case the expense of their maintainance would not necessarily be but a trifle in excess of what it would be under the parental roof. The risk to health would be nothing like as great as in a change to a different climate. Nor, in case of need from sickness or other causes, would parents and children be so hopelessly beyond mutual aid.

Besides all this and much more in kind, such a school would make a vast difference in its public financial benefits. Already, counting back only four years, it has cost the very few families able to stand the outlay not less than $75,000 to maintain their children at outside schools. As the number of children requiring such advantages are rapidly augmenting every year, it would be safe to say it would now cost this county that much every year to satisfy the requirements of such children, provided, first, that they, as now, had to be sent to distant schools, and, secondly, that the parents were possessed of the means to do it. We will venture to say one-tenth that sum, with this proposed home institution, would give just as good facilities and to twice the number.

"First catch your rabbit." The Post with its fine grounds and buildings, do not belong to the county. How to secure the county in the ownership is the first business in hand. There are numerous precedents to be cited leading to the hope that Congress will make the grant of the lands, if not the buildings, in fee simple for school purposes, whenever it decides to vacate the reservation for military purposes. The War Department may decide to hold on to it for some years yet. If not, the next Congress may turn it over to the Interior Department with instructions as to its final disposition. In anticipation of that, and the certainty that in any case speculators will make another attempt to steal the whole concern, the first business in hand is to place our Congressional delegation in possession of all the facts, in the hope they will use their influence to procure the Post as a grant to the county, or the two counties, Inyo and Mono, for college purposes. Fort Gratiot Reservation was granted to Port Huron for a park; Point San Jose Reservation to San Francisco; Fort Brady, Michigan, donated to Sault Sainte Marie school district. Several other instances of such grants of vacated military reservations may be cited. So we feel quite confident if the matter is attended to in proper shape, Congress will give us for school purposes all that portion of the Camp Independence reserve covered by the buildings, being some 120 acres. Some objections may be made to the absolute donation of the numerous buildings, since, in such cases they are disposed of separately. The rule is to have them appraised and sold by the local land officers. It is quite likely these buildings would have to be paid for if the land should be donated. As separate property the appraisement would be pretty much the same as old lumber, so it would not run the county necessarily in debt were it to become the prefered purchaser. There are enough of these buildings to not only accomodate the school and teachers, and a common boarding house, but also for private families or students' messes, and land enough in cultivation to greatly reduce the cost of living.

THE Emperor of Brazil has recently been offering inducements throughout Europe to his empire. He promises a free passage, provisions for six months, half the cost of bullding a house, and 160 acres of land for $150. The Russian Government has met this by posting warnings in the public offices and churches throughout the country against emigration to Brazil, and recommending the United States in preference.

PRESIDENT HAYES stands by his Civil Service reform policy. He is reported as having in a recent conversation stated that no political services can be rendered by a Government employe at any time while he holds such a position, even though it does not interfere with his duties. The President reiterated his intention to forever divorce politics and Civil Service so far as lies in his power.

BEN BUTLER'S ranch in Colorado still continues to attract interested attention. A Denver paper says that the General became rather anxious about his fees in a certain questionable case, and insisted on having a deed of property from his distrusted client. It now seems that part of the property had been previously transferred, and the rest of it mortgaged and encumbered in various ways.

LATE reports from British India show that the distress from famine is by no means at an end. It is said that there will be grave cause for apprehension in Southern India unless rains fall soon. The work of the benevolent societies has done much good, but is of slight avail in comparison with the vast suffering to be alleviated. Meanwhile fears of outbreaks are expressed.

SITTING BULL admits that he has had enough fighting. He has been interviewed, and says that he desires to remain with the Canadians during the Summer; that he would do nothing against the law; he came there because he was tired of fighting, and if he could not make a living in Canada he would return to the United States. Mr. Bull may not be a good Indian, but he is certainly a shrewd one.

THE boys of the country will learn with deep feelings of regret that study is very injurious to the eyes, causing near-sightedness. Dr. Home, of Buffalo, reaches the conclusion that the tendency is increased by study, and that one pupil out of every four who is a graduate at a high school is made near-sighted for life.

H. F. TERRY, civil enginneer, has published a map of the gold fields in Amador and Calaveras counties on a scale of half an inch to the mile, showing the position of the notable mines in the two counties. It is marked "No. 1 of the Series," implying that similar maps of other counties are to follow.

THE Senatorial Commission will probably return a verdict of "not proven" as to Grover. Aside from Stiles' testimony, there is nothing direct; and as to Stiles, he does not seem to be altogether lovely.

THE product of the State quicksilver mines is placed at 80,000 flasks for the current year. At average quotations this would be worth $2,400,000.

Costly Enterprise.

To those who think a great journal can be founded and put upon a paying basis without much trouble or expense the following figures may be of interest. The Chicago Inter-Ocean is one of the great newspapers of the upper Mississippi valley. Of its career we copy the following from its own columns:

Few people have any idea of the vastness of an undertaking to establish a great daily newspaper. Ten or twenty years ago it was a comparatively insignificant undertaking. But in these days of telegraphic wires, extending over two hemispheres, and cables stretching under oceans and seas, with an educated public that demands the latest news from Constantinople, St. Petersburg, London and San Francisco, as well as that from Rockford, Bloomington and Kanakee—that requires ability and cultivation in the editorial chair—that insists that there shall be reporters learned in law, science, theology, art and music—that insists that an epitome of the world's doings shall be laid upon the breakfast table at early dawn—"early and regular," these, all these but faintly show forth the increased difficulties of making such an undertaking a success—the magnitude of such an enterprise. It cannot fail to be a draft on the purse, the body and the mind, taxing endurance. If a man has come to gray hairs and has plenty of money, let him refrain from embarking in the hazardous experiment. Even if he have youth and money, let him hesitate.

The Inter-Ocean was christened on March 25, 1872, and met with unusual success. It secured a fair circulation and drew toward it a goodly share of business, but balancing on the 31st of December showed a loss of $62,571 75. The year 1873 showed a loss of $34,847 92, and the year 1874 a loss of $60,849 67. As the profit and loss account had nothing to do with that of machinery and fixtures, and the latter account was large, it is easy to see that the sum necessary to keep the paper afloat, outside of its earnings, must, necessarily have been very large. The leading proprietor having been crippled by the panic of 1873, trouble began to culminate with 1875, and after sinking in that year $71,116 65, the old company sold out to a new organization on the 20th of October. So trying was the situation that the new company lost before the close of the year, less than seventy-five days, $14,005 78. And during the year 1876, in spite of every effort at economy, the loss of the new organization was $59,313 26.

The article quoted from above further says that the tide has turned and that the profits of the paper for the first five months of this year amount to $42,208 44. It is a pretty serious business to establish a great newspaper.

THE STORY OF THE TREES.—The Stockton Independent has gained some interesting information from Hon. J. Wilcox, of Mariposa. That gentleman met in the wilds of Mariposa a modest scientist who has for several years been reading the Book of Nature as printed on the trees. Taking the section of a tree he selects an average specimen; he has the surface planed off smooth across the grain. With a microscope he then examines, counts the measures of the annual rings of growth. Counting from the bark towards the center he finds that for the thirty years, more or less, in which a record of the season has been kept by the inhabitants of California the record of the trees exactly coincides, the wet seasons being represented by thick rings and the dry ones by thin layers, which are too small to be distinguished by the naked eye. Having established this coincidence conclusively from repeated observations he further finds that counting back eighty or ninety years ago there was fifteen consecutive years of drought. Further back, for several hundred years, the period of drought, in groups of three, four and five consecutive years, alternated with periods of wet weather of from twenty to fifty years each. The record of different parts of the State correspond so nearly exactly that another link in the chain of evidence was thus proven. He therefore reasons that as we had such long periods of drought in the past we are likely to have them again.

THE miners are beginning to find out that when they have a mine that has good prospects it is as cheap to patent it at once as to keep up the necessary annual expenditures. The law provides that certain work shall be done each year on all mines until a patent is allowed; so that when a patent is granted these enforced expenditures cease. The United States patent to the ground gives a clear title, and intending purchasers always feel easier when a mine is patented. In fact some will not look at a mine with a view to purchase unless it is patented.—Scientific Press.

SOME one suggests the following as an effective method of getting rid of the annoyance of flies: Take, when flies are very troublesome, a handful of elder-leaves and bruise them in the hand, and rub on the face and hat. When riding rub them over the pony's head and body. If this be properly done the flies will not settle. Flies do not like the neighborhood of an elder tree, and some people plant such trees near the doors of stables.

SOMEBODY says, always face the person you are talking to. It is evident that this writer never stood in front of the man who comes into the offices as he gets sober to have his name kept out of the police report. Only a man with a nose on the back of his head could do it.

AN old Scotch woman recommended a preacher who arrived at the kirk wet through to get at once into the pulpit. "Ye'll be dry enough there."

IMPORTANT SUIT.—The Austin Reveille of July 19th says:

The great suit of the Eureka Consolidated against the Richmond Consolidated will be commenced in the United States Circuit Court at San Francisco Monday, July 23d. The plaintiff will be represented by Solomen Heydenfeldt, Garber & Thornton, H. K. Mitchell and R. S. Mesick; the defendant has Thomas Wren, Wilson & Wilson, Williams & Thornton, R. M. Clarke, Lansing & Baily, A. M. Hillhouse and Crittenden Thornton. All the most noted mining experts of the Pacific coast will testify in the case, and in addition a number of noted geologists and scientists from England and the Eastern Universities will apper on the stand. It promises to be the most interesting mining case ever tried in the United States.

THE latest advices from all quarters in the East indicate, with one or two exceptions, that the recent labor difficulties are about ended. Business on most of the railroads has been resumed.

THE Committee of Safety of San Francisco has adjourned to the call of the Chairman, though the organization is to be maintained. The police force of the city has been doubled.

RUNK, the hoodlum who murdered the policeman in San Francisco, is to be hung on the 7th of September.

Personal property—money on hand or deposit, $12,393; steamers, water craft, etc., $6,000; goods, wares and merchandise, $203,849; wagons and other vehicles, numbering 528, value, $47,321; harness, robes, saddles, etc., $17,026; libraries, $3,317; farming utensils $12,203; horses—4 thoroughbred, $950; 193 American, $15,316; 3,239 Spanish, $71,613; 367 colts, $2,916; 4 thoroughbred cows, $400; 1,825 American $28,-154; 179 Spanish, $2,675; 1,467 calves, $7,120; 7,037 stock cattle, $62,247; 69 beef cattle, $1,422; 800 Cashmere goats, $925; 14,401 sheep, $18,877; 961 mules, $61,970; 142 oxen, $5,650; 1,739 hogs, $6,284; 329 bee hives, $2,142; 337 tons, of grain, $16,292; 692 tons hay (old crop at Spring values), $34,802; 4,500 pounds wool, $360; 811 tons charcoal, $20,672; 129 showing machines, $5,080; 154 watches $6,365; jewelry or plate, $1,465; furniture $419,372; saloon and store fixtures, $6,325; musical instruments, $1,235; wines, $945; brandies and other liquors, $5,175; 435 dozen poultry, $2,419; fire arms, $2,749; 103,000 feet lumber, $38,870; 2,188 cords wood, $11,012, and $5,710 worth of machinery. Total valuation of all classes of property, $2,102,994.—REMARKS.—Last year the total valuation was $2,093,625, showing $9,369 increase for this year. It is very likely, after the Board of Equalization get through the sum total of this year's values will be some thousands less than last year's; nevertheless, the showing is two or three hundred thousand better than was anticipated at the beginning of the season, and as a whole is quite satisfactory. But isn't it surprising though how badly off Inyo people are for watches—it would appear that about every other man and boy in the county has one, to say nothing of those belonging to the ladies, and yet, out of the whole number, say 1,500, there were only 154 but forgot to mention the fact to the Assessor. It is also clear that our people are not in the least given to extravagance—in short, are quite economical, even of the truth—in the way of jewelry, plate, and the like of that, since there is only some $1,400 worth altogether. And who would have thought there was only $5,710 worth of steam engines and the like of that? But the drought over in San Joaquin has played the mischief everywhere.

THIRTY DOLLARS' WORTH.—Last Sunday Oregon Akers came to town, and started in to have a good time. For some reason he thought it advisable to slash Denny Carroll over the head with his six-shooter, thereby spoiling a good deal of fun he might otherwise have had with the $30 it took to satisfy costs of the judicial inquiry had before Justice Schalten on the following day. From this inquiry it appeared that the assault was entirely unprovoked. Fortunately Carroll's injuries are not at all serious.

LETTER LIST.—The following is the list of letters remaining in the Post Office at Independence, and unclaimed on August 1st, 1877: Boniface Baur, Ildefonso Brisena, John Cadden, David Casey (2), Wm. H. Davis, Thos. Ferynson, James Gundry, (3), Peter Hamston, Edwin Hicks, (2), Mrs. E. E. Snow, Mrs. Maria A. Laine, (3), Wm. Lyal, T. M. Miller, (2), Julian Orilla, (care of I. Breseno), J. W. Oaks, John Peterson, R. R. Stephenson, John Thomas, Wm. Twaddle, A. Warren.

THE CLEAN UPS.—The Rex Montis brought down four bars of fine bullion to-day, but it is understood that future operations may be retarded for a time on account of a dispute regarding the mill property. The production at the Eclipse was fully as large as anticipated—in fact, the run just completed was by far the best ever made in the mill, but we are not in possession of the exact figures.

ABOUT SOME HOGS.—There is a gang of voracious swine running about town causing a good deal of trouble. Several aggrieved parties desire us to give notice that if these swine are not kept within bounds henceforth, they (the swine), will surely come to grief, and of a sort not contemplated in the trespass law.

LOST A FINGER.—Frank Drake, one of the engineers of the new Union hoisting works at Cerro Gordo, and a thorough going young fellow generally, was in town yesterday for medical treatment by Drs. Wainright and Bicknell, he having got the end of one of his fingers knocked off by an accident.

THE EUDEY HOUSE.—In addition to the best of hotel accommodations, patrons of the above named private boarding house will now find, in connection, stables, hay and grain to satisfy every requirement of their teams.

CATHOLIC SERVICES.—Father Auguilar, of Visalia, will hold Catholic services at the school house in this place to-morrow, beginning at 9 A. M.

MASONIC lodge meeting to-night.

A LONELY TIME OF IT.—Some four years since the owners of the Waucoba mining property, across the Inyo range opposite this place and thirty miles distant, suspended operations for what was intended to be but a very brief period, during which Mr. M. Young was placed in solitary charge. Well, for all that time Mr. Young, Casabianca like, has stuck to his lonely post—one stretch of twenty-one months without seeing the face of a white man. The other day he came out to see if his tongue by long disuse had lost any of its pristine cunning wiggle (it hadn't), and find out whether Napoleon Three P's was after the Dutch yet. He was astonished at the statement by a Teuton that there were no Dutch near the late Emperor's present dominions. Let that be as it may, from what we personally know of the mines of Waucoba, we truly believe it will not be many years 'ere the noises of a flourishing town will awake the echoes where now silence reigns supreme.

CHANCE FOR A NEW EXPERIENCE.—By his advertisement in this issue it will be seen that James or Jim Smith is now ready to fill orders for lumber, no matter how large or how many the orders may be. Not only that but parties, ladies included, desiring a new and somewhat exhilirating experience can have a chance if they will come up to the mill and take a ride down the flume—two miles in two minutes more or less. Jerry Mairs, the experienced shipping clerk, and train dispatcher, will take pride in giving said parties a good send off, and B. L. Brown, at the other end, no less pleasure in receiving the remains. The dump is at the edge of the open plain, near the stage road, and but six miles from the Post cemetery, so, if an accident should happen the trouble to friends will be but trifling. So, likewise for the same reason, teams can get get to the lumber yard as easily as to any other point in the open plain.

ALFALFA'S DRAWBACKS.—It would be difficult to overestimate the value of alfalfa for pasturrge and forage, but there are some drawbacks connected with its use. Several fine cows hereabouts have died from eating it. The circumstance would not be remarkable but for the fact that all of these animals had been feeding on it regularly for months, and that when affected by it at last, it would be scarcely ten minutes from the first noticeable symptoms of sickness till they would drop dead, and without any previous swelling of the stomach, the obvious cause of death from gorging on the common clover, and wherein the free use of the knife often saves life. In the above instance the knife was of no avail whatever.

HE was a man of sedentary occupation and he said he was fast going into decline, because his appetite was failing and his digestion was a wreck. He was sitting at the Blaney House table and as the accommodating Bones lingered to take his order, said he: "John, I cannot eat; but kindly bring me a mutton chop, breaded; a beef steak; broiled ham and eggs on the side and cup of strong coffee—and I say, John bring some toast and liver on the side;" and, after hitching up his chair: "Oh! John, you might bring me a veal cutlet and a small—yes, a small—broiled lamb with round complete, and,"—but John had rushed off muttering sotto voce, "what a fragile pile of humanity!"

APPRECIATED.—It would seem that the Internal Revenue boss at Washington has a very correct idea of Civil Service reform, since he practically demonstrates that an efficient and honest officer is worthy of something more than a starvation salary; the other day Deputy Internal Revenue Collector Childs of this Division, received notice that his salary was now increased 50 per cent. This token of appreciation was both unlooked for and unsought.

MORE HAY BURNED.—Last night parties here observed a bright light as if of an extensive fire down about George's Creek. This morning we learn that Mr. C. M. Joslyn was unfortunate enough to lose his hay stack, containing some forty or fifty tons, by fire, accounting for the light. As the flames were first observed long after nightfall, and as no one slept near the stack, the probabilities are this was the work of an incendiary.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.—The times for the meeting of the County Board of Equalization having, by order of the State Board, been postponed thirty days from the regular day, the meeting for equalization purposes took place on Wednesday. There being but two members, Messrs. Garretson and Curtis, present, it was decided to adjourn to Monday next, the beginning of the regular term of the Board of Supervisors, so no business was transacted.

FLY EXTERMINATOR.—Parson English of Cerro Gordo is credited with having invented a fly exterminator. He caused a practical test of its efficiency at the Union Hotel, the other day, but the proprietors of that establishment are disposed to be reticent in regard to its success.

A VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE.—By reference to an advertisement in this issue it will be seen that Sr. Juan Meza offers to sell his fine farm, located half a mile north of Lone Pine, together with farming utensels, live stock, etc., and some town lots in Lone Pine.

CHANGE.—Dr. H. W. Gould, the regular nominee on the Republican ticket for County Treasurer, has declined to run, and Nathan Rhine, of the substantial firm of Harris & Rhine, has consented to take his place on the ticket.

LAGER.—Anybody wanting lager from, or having other business with the Germania brewery, Lone Pine, will take notice that John Lubken is now sole proprietor and boss of that concern.

EXPECTED HOME.—Mrs. V. G. Thompson, of the Blaney House, who has been spending a month or two with her daughter, attending school in Oakland, is expected home to-day.

DANCE.—Sheriff Passmore took a notion he would get up a dance on his own account last night, and did, making a big success of it.

SURVEYING.—As will be noticed by his card elsewhere John Alexander is in the field, ready to survey and civil engineer to order.

AND NOW FOR PROPHECY.—We have been looking for the Prophet of the Period to step forward and announce the imminent destruction of this sublunary sphere. He will certainly never have a better opportunity than the present, for we have as pretty a kettle of fish in the way of wars, rumors of wars, strikes, riots, Indian massacres, natural convulsions, fires, earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, demonstrations generally, as ever bewildered or overwhelmed chroniclers of current events, or set the pious to hunting parallels in the Book of Revelations. Everybody is fighting all over the United States. Arson, pillage, murder, lawlessness, grape and canister, insurrection and bloodshed, prevail everywhere. In Europe a general war is impending. England is embarking troops for the East, Austra is mobilizing her armies, Italy is restless, France is armed, Germany stands by her guns, Russia and Turkey are in the throes of a mortal struggle. Meanwhile Nature has entered the arena elsewhere, and is doing her best in South America to equalize the balance of that region by tidal waves, earthquakes and eruptions of Cotopaxi. Altogether it is like the last scene in a frontier melodrama, where all the company are slaying or being slain, and the only persons disengaged are those who are waiting in the wings to turn on the red and blue fire. It is evident that this is a particularly favorable time for vaticination about the end of the world.—Record-Union.

FINANCIAL.—The commercial editor of the San Francisco Bulletin has this to say: "An anomalous condition of things prevail at present; money is a drug and the times are hard. It is a queer condition of affairs. Low rates of interest do not always insure prosperity—else the country would be on the top wave, for money is more plentiful and rates of interest are lower than at any previous time. The trouble is not in a want of money but in its free circulation. The reason why money does not circulate more freely is because the country is overstocked with goods and producers decline to put out their dollars until they can see their way to get them again. Labor-saving machines have been multiplied more rapidly than the consumptive wants of the country have developed a demand for the articles produced. We have been manufacturing goods and valuing property by a fallacious financial standard."

THE Grass Valley Union deprecates the practice of choosing legislators on account of their ability as talkers, and justly remarks:

In committees is where the principal part of the work of legislation is done, and there is where the clear-headed and competent business man gets in his work for the good of the State and the salvation of the tax-payers. As a rule, the talking man does but little of that committee work. It is his habit (again we say as a rule) to wait until the work is cut out and ready for him, and then he gets up and makes speeches about it, and is estimated to be a "leading member;" he gets the glory.

SECRETARY SCHURTZ has an eccentric adviser in Brooklyn, who is doubtless insane. About once a month he sends to the Secretary a large package by express containing disconnected advice, in which the writer generally speaks of his queen, connecting her name with that of Gen. Sherman in the management of Indian affairs. One of his communications said: "You must live during the summer upon a diet of seal oil, and in the Winter content yourself with living upon chipped potatoes."

THE Santa Barbara Index of July 17th says: A good deal of excitement has been created by the recent discovery of gold mines about ten miles from town in the mountains just above Montecito. The gold is found in decomposed sulphites of iron, free from any base metal and very easily worked. The same parties have also discovered, it is said, a tin mine, one that will yield $40 to the ton.

AN Australian newspaper is responsible for the story that Lord Beaconsfield's great delight in his evenings of gout is, while he is preparing for his after-dinner nap, to set two favorite tom cats, the one named Gladstone, the other Bentinck, against each other. When Bentinck triumphs the sleep of the just overtakes the premier.

A MAN cannot walk down street now with his collar hanging limp and starchless about his neck, his forehead beaded with perspiration, and his shoes smacking as if he had been wading in water, without some chap asking him if it's warm enough for him today. There are some men in this world who are too inquisitive for comfort..

A FRIEND of ours who pretends to know what he is talking about, tells us that D. O. Mills & Co., are about to commence the survey of a railroad from Carson to Aurora. Go ahead with your surveys. It is always a good subject for an item if nothing more.—Genoa News.

THE United States District Attorney for Utah, Howard, has been informed that the Mormons will no longer submit to have their leaders imprisoned, and that the prosecution of the Saints has proceeded as far as it can without trouble.

WM. B. MOSHER, of Los Angeles, has been nominated as a Cadet to West Point Military Academy, by Hon. P. D. Wigginton, in place of E. A. Hicks, of Merced, who failed to enter West Point at the examination in June.

An Ancient California.

An English exploring party, under command of Capt. Burton, is investigating the gold fields of the Midianites. They describe large towns, built not of mud, as Arab towns so often are, but of solid masonry, such as the Romans always used, roads cut in the rocks, aqueducts five miles long, remains of massive fortresses, artificial lakes—all these signs of wealth and numbers are reported by Capt. Burton. According to him, the reason of it all is not far to seek. The rock is full of mineral wealth. Gold and silver they found, and the former seems to exist in quantity sufficient to repay the labor of acquisition. Quartz and chloride occur with gold in them, just as they are found in the gold districts of South America. The party tested both the rock by crushing and the sands of the stream by sifting, and in each case with good result. Tin and antimony they also discovered, and they had evidence of the existence of turquoise mines. Each ruined town had its mining works; dams for washing the sand and crushed rock were frequently seen; scoriæ lie about near ancient furnaces; in short, the traces are numerous of a busy mining population in a country which seems to be full of mineral wealth. From Makua, the capital of the land of Midian, up to Akaba at the head of the Gulf, Capt. Burton reports the country as auriferous, and he believes the district southwards possesses the same character. He even goes so far as to say that he has brought back to life an ancient California. The party evidently had no object in view except the acquisition of scientific or archæological information, and apparently did not search for gold with any other view than an attempt to verify some historical statement. A rush of prospectors to those re-discovered fields of Egypt is now in order.

THE CASA GRANDA.—Col. W. G. Boyle, Managing Director of the Aztec Mining Company, has kindly sent to the office of the Stock Report a photograph of one of the most remarkable of Arizona's relics, known as the Casa Grande, which is situated about ten miles west of Florence and five miles south of the Gila River, in Pinal county. This remarkable ruin has been the source of great curiosity to antiquaries ever since its first discovery by the Spaniards about the year 1630. It was then the remains of a colossal structure, with eight stories of the main building in good preservation. It has now melted by the friction of time and rain to four stories. Its walls are from eight to ten feet in thickness, and presents evidences of architectural knowledge on the part of its builders which shows that they had reached to a creditable stage of civilization. It is in the centre of a vast plain, surrounded by minor ruins, and probably formed the focus structure of a great city. Tracings of acequias, or aqueducts, are still to be found in the vicinity and the debris of pottery cover the ground for miles. The walls of the casa are built of concrete, and in a manner to challenge the ravages of time. The presumption is that this portion of Arizona was at one time inhabited by a civilized tribe of Aztecs, and that the barbarous Apaches swept down on them and after extirpating and reducing the inhabitants to slavery, turned their place into a waste. The Casa Grande was too strongly built to share in the common fate to the rest of the city, and its walls stand to-day a wonderful monument of the progress and civilization of a people who are now extinct. S. F. Stock Report.

PREVENTING SUFFOCATION BY SMOKE. I omitted in my former letter to you on this subject to give any suggestion for the prevention of suffocation by smoke. A pillow-case, well saturated with water, and having a small hole torn in it to look through, placed loosely over the head, will be found an admirable impromptu respirator in the densest smoke. I am indebted for the idea to Vice-Admiral Jerningham, who told me how, when he commanded the Cambridge training-ship at Plymouth, he made his first experiment with this pillow-case respirator. He had twelve pounds of loose powder exploded in a confined part of the ship, which, although screened off with fearsought, emitted so dense a smoke that those outside had to lie down on the deck. A common pillow-case, with a small eye-hole, was placed over the head of a man, who, with the hose in hand, went inside and remained ten minutes, when, to assure his friends outside of his safety, he sang a comic song.—W. H. Lewis in London Times.

NOTHING undermines one's faith in a man's liberality to the church so much as to see him stick his hands down deep into his pockets as the contribution box is traveling his way, look astonished and then remark to his next neighbor: "I've got on my other pants."

Fight between a Turkish Monitor and Four Torpedo Boats.

A most interesting affair occurred on the Danube here during the operations attending the passage of the Danube—a fight between a Turkish monitor and four Russian torpedo boats. It was somewhere near the mouth of the Aluta. This monitor had been giving the Russians a good deal of trouble, and showed an amount of activity and energy very unusual with the Turks, continually shelling the Russian batteries, and destroying the boats. The Russians accordingly determined to destroy it.

Four torpedo boats were prepared and sent against the monitor. Hiding behind an island, they laid in wait, and when the vessel was steaming past suddenly darted out from their hiding place, and bore down on her in broad daylight. This monitor, it soon became evident, was handled and commanded in a very different manner from others with which the Russians have had to deal with. With wonderful quickness and skill she was prepared for action, and, nothing nothing daunted by the fate of others, made a successful defence against the four terrible enemies, a defence of which the Russians speak with the greatest admiration.

Her commander began by likewise thrusting out torpedoes on the end of long spars, thus threatening the boats with the danger of being blown into the air first, at the same time opening a terrible fire on them with small arms and mitrailleuses. He beside manoeuvred his boat in a most skilfull manner, with a dexterity and address which with the torpedoes protecting, made it impossible for the Russian boats to approach sufficiently near. He beside tried to run them down and very nearly succeeded in doing so. The reason soon became evident. The commander was a European, whom the Russians believe was an Englishman, and who directed the movements from the deck. He was plainly visible all the time, and was a tall man, with a long, blonde beard, parted in the middle. He stood with his hands in his pockets, giving orders in the calmest manner possible

The torpedo boats continued their attempts for more than hour, flitting round the monitor and seeking the opportunity to get at her, but without success. The monitor was equally active in trying to run them down, avoiding a collision by quick and skillful movements, backing and advancing, turning, and ploughing the water into foam as she pursued or avoided her tiny but dangerous adversaries—a lion attacked by a rat. At one moment one launch, in rapid manoeuvres, found itself between the monitor and the shore, with no great distance between them. The monitor's head was in the other direction, but her commander instantly began backing her down on the torpedo boat, with the intention of crushing it against the bank.

Just at this moment the engineer of launch was wounded. There was some confusion and delay in starting the engines, while the current carried her head aground in such a position as to render escape impossible. One of the crew sprang out into the water and pushed the ground, while another started the engines just in time to escape with a scrape, the shave was so close. One Russian officer sprang ashore, and seeing the captain of the monitor coolly standing on the deck with his hands in his pockets emptied his revolver at him, three shots, at a distance of not more than forty feet. The captain of the monitor, in answer, took off his hat and bowed, not having received a scratch. Later, however, the gallant fellow seems to have been killed or wounded, for he suddehly disappeared from the deck. The monitor immediately afterward retired precipitately from the scene of action.—London Daily News' Turna-Magurelti Correspondence.

THE TRESPASS LAW.—There is a great necessity that the trespass law should be so amended as to make the trespasser bear the burden of the prosecution, and that the farmer should be relieved of the chance of being charged with felony in having stock run onto the lands of others while being driven to a pound. We need a pound master for every judicial township, to whom trespassing stock should be delivered, and let him institute proceedings.

The trespass act as it now stands is a dead letter, except in those settlements where there is an overpowering public sentiment, capable of enforcing the rule without the law.

Again, it is almost a necessity that it should be amended so as to place sheep husbandry upon a more healthy and enduring basis. There is nothing more apparent than the fact that that industry as now conducted is more of a curse than a blessing. Every year three or four hundred families in the foothills have their pleasant homes rendered desolate by roving bands of sheep, while they make the whole country a desert, and remove every vestige of vegetation. The miner is thus forced to stay out of the mountains because he cannot sustain his pack animals, and the lumberman searches for lumber where he can find the cheapest hay.

One sheep will will eat as many acorns during the year as a hog; and at the end of the year will be worth perhaps one dollar, while a hog would be worth ten.

The business of sheep raising as now conducted, is at once unprofitable, senseless, extravagant, demoralizing and unjust; and although the misfortunes of the sheep men, during the present year, may call for a measure of sympathy, still, if the industry can be put upon no more respectable and enlightened basis it would be well for the county that every sheep within its limits should perish.—Visalia Iron Age.

CHEERING THE FLAG.—The incidents reported as having occurred during the recent cruise of the war steamer Plymouth, up the Mississippi, forcibly illustrates the feelings of the people of the Southern States. Now that the President has removed the military rule from the people of the Southern States they no longer look upon Government war vessels and crews as the instruments of tyranny, and upon the national flag as the emblem of injustice. On the contrary they fraternally greet the former as the defenders of the integrity of a nation in which all possess a common interest, and hail the latter as the emblem of that nationality in which all American citizens take pride. No better evidence of the wisdom of the President's policy could be given. With one wave of the magisterial wand—one stroke of the Presidential pen—the fires of national frevor have been relighted, and an era of national fraternity and general patriotic feeling reinaugurated. May they never be disturbed.—Sac. Bee.

THE Czar is said to be a child in money matters. A most intimate friend, Count Adlerberg, is often in debt, and the Czar, since his accession to the throne, has ungrudgingly paid millions to release him from his embarrassments. One day last Winter the count appeared at court coughing violently and looking very ill. "What is the matter with you Adlerberg?" asked the Czar: "Severe bronchitis, sire," replied the count. "My doctor says I ought to go to Nice for a couple of months." "Then why don't you go? I will give you leave." "I cannot afford the journey, sire." "Never mind the expense; I will defray that." The count brightened up. "I will defray the expense," in the emperor's mouth, could not mean less than 10,000 or 20,000 roubles. The next morning his majesty sent for the count and graciously handed him a 500 rouble note—less than $350 at the present rate of exchange—for a two months' trip from St. Petersburg to Nice and back again. Count Adlerberg got rid of his bronchitis in Russia.

DRS. MURPHY and Wells got into a little unpleasantness at Sisson & Wallace's store in Tulare a few days since, the cause of which appears to have been some damaging remarks concerning the former by the latter in regard to Murphy as a candidate for coroner. Dr. Murphy got out his gun and in the scuffle which ensued the weapon went off, burning Dr. Wells' face and planting a bullet in the floor. The parties clinched and fell, Wells underneath, when others interfered and separated them. Dr. Wells picked up the pistol which had fallen to the floor and discharged it without effect at his retiring combatant. Both parties were arrested and placed under bonds.—Visalia Delta Aug. 4.

GLYCERINE FOR OIL STONES.—Almost every one has more or less use for an oil stone, but in these days a good oil is hard to obtain, and kerosene is often used instead. This is a bad plan, for although it makes the steel "take hold," it ruins the stone. Glycerine is much better, does not dry on the stone, and is easily washed off when dirty. Use soap or soda and water to clean the stone, and then apply the glycerine. Clean water is only needed to wash the stone with, and if treated in this way it can be kept bright for a long time with the grit unimpaired.

A VERMONT exchange says that a gentleman's "only surviving child" was recently buried. And did Vermonters stand by and witness the horrible atrocity?

THE POSSIBILITY IN LIFE.—It is estimated that, as a general rule, the length of an animal's life is five times the period of its growth to maturity. According to this estimate, the natural age of man would be about one hundred years. The fact that this age is sometimes attained, shows that it is within the capabilities of the race. But the facts that not more than one in 10,000 do reach it, that more than one-half of all who are born die before reaching maturity, that the average age to which men live ts less than forty years, and that the great majority of men hardly know, by actual experience, what vigorous health really is, would seem to indicate that there must be some deleterious influence at work to thus cut short the days of man, and entail upon him so much misery, especially since this great premature mortality is reserved for him alone of all the animal kingdom. What these deleterious influences are can only be ascertained by making the human constitution our study, and subjecting our habits and modes of life to the test of the laws which we find inscribed therein.

SECRETARY DEVENS says: "When Wendell Phillips calls you a liar, a villian and a scoundrel, he merely means that he does not agree with you. He is a maker of phrases, and must have some one to apply them to. One thing is very evident, that the emancipation of the negro, while it was a very good thing for the negro, was a very bad thing for Phillips. It took away his stock in trade. There is no use in calling names. Here is this difficult and important Southern problem to be settled. We are all desirous of having the negro protected and of having his interests advanced; but his interests cannot be advanced by keeping him perpetually in a state of war with men who are superior to him in intellect, and wealth, and courage."

COUSIN AMARANTHA, from the city, to Cousin Jane in the country: "The day before we left town there was the awfullest runaway, right near our house. Just as the carriage was turning the corner it upset, and the gentleman's leg was broken and the lady fell against the curbstone and fractured her skull, and there was the awfullest crowd!" Cousin Jane, mournfully—"I do wish we lived in town, so we could see something."

"It's all very well," remarked a red-nosed man in a bad hat and an ulster of the vintage of 73; "it's all very well to say 'let business revive,' but what we want, sir, is confidence—public confidence, sir. Each of us must be willing to bring out our hoarded dollars and put them once more in circulation. Then the skies will brighten, then—by the way, I changed my vest this morning—lend me fifty cents, will you?"

JUDGE SEPULVEDV is being urged by the Los Angeles Herald, Ventura Signal etc., for the U. S. Senate. They claim that the Senator this time belongs to the Southern part of the State. Ex-Governor James G. Downey, Col. E. J. C. Kewen, and George H. Smith are candidates for the State Senate from the Los Angeles district on the Democratic side.

THE wealthy who keep their balances at Coutts', says the London World, are somewhat nervous. The senior partner, aged eighty-five, died the other day, and the management of the bank is intrusted to the junior partner, a raw boy of eighty-two with not more than sixty years' experience in the house.

IRRELEVANT DETAILS.—The Court severely: "Prisoner, this is not the first time you have been here. You have been convicted six times of vagrancy, twice of theft, once of—." The prisoner: "Your honor, let's omit all these irrelevent details and come to business."

A ST. LOUIS paper tells a story of a disconsolate widower who, on seeing the remains of his late wife lowered into the grave, exclaimed with tears in his eyes. "Well, I've lost gloves, I've lost umbrellas—yes even cows and horses; but I never—no, never—had anything cut me like this."

THE New York Times believes that the Ultramontane party in France has drawn Italy and Germany together, has caused these two, with Austria, to gravitate toward Russia, and has made a French alliance with Protestant England almost an impossibility.

COLORED LEAD PENCILS.—Red, brown green and other colored lead pencils are made by bringing kaolin or pipe-clay to a doughy consistency with water, and then mixing the mass in a paint-mill with an earthy or metalic pigment of the color desired.

A MAINE editor, in noticing the marriage of a contemporary, remarks of the bride: "She will do the State a servtce if she makes him a beter and more truthful man."

TEXAS wants it distinctly understood that no more lawyers need enter that State, unless it be to kill off the doctors, of which the supply seems inexhaustible.

"No," she said, and the wrinkles in her face smoothed out pleasantly. "No, I do not remember the last seventeen-year locusts. I was an infant then."

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, AUGUST 11.....1877.

A FAILURE.—That law making the State the purchaser of property sold for delinquent taxes is just of the kind that should be repealed at the earliest possible moment. The State is the owner by tax purchase of hundreds of pieces of property in this county, and to all appearances always will be the holder of by far the greater number. But in several instances, the original owners remain in possession and enjoyment precisely as if they were the proprietors in fee simple, save that now they take all the benefits and have no taxes to pay. This is notably the case in mining property. We could mention at least one, quite a leading mining property, upon which the original company is operating, levying assessments, selling stock, taking out ore, and all that, but paying no taxes because the State owns the property. The case is an imposition upon the State, the county and county officers alike.

THE Democrats of Sacramento county have indorsed the Administration of President Hayes. Following is the resolution of the Convention on the subject: "Gov. Hayes having been declared President of the United States by the constituted authorities, we hereby announce our intention to render him a hearty support in his efforts to purify and reform the civil service; to restore to the civil power its rightful prerogatives in the several States of this Union; to build up the Democratic theory of a Government resting upon the consent of the governed, and to make us once again a united people." N. Greene Curtis was nominated by acclamation for State Senator.

THE fall elections commence this year with Alabama and Kentucky, Aug. 6th, the former electing a legislature and the latter legislature and county officers. Then follows California, Sept. 5th, legislature and county officers; Vermont, Sept. 5th, full ticket; Maine, Sept. 10th, full ticket; Iowa and Ohio, Oct. 2d, full ticket; Colorado, Oct. 2d, legislature; Wisconsin, Virginia, Texas, Tennessee, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Nevada, Nov. 6th, full ticket; Pennsylvania, Louisiana, South Carolina, Mississippi, Nov. 6th, legislature; New York, Nov. 6th, legislature and minor State officers; New Jersey, Nov. 6th, legislature and county officers.

SENATOR SARGENT has commenced a libel suit in the 12th District Court against Frank M. Pixley and the Argonaut Publishing Company based on an article published in the Argonaut of July 14, saying in effect that Sargent is responsible for the loss of one million dollars through Pinney's operations. Damages are asked for twenty-five thousand dollars.

THE executive committee of the State Grange have resolved in favor of a constitutional convention, and that the law taxing crops be repealed; that national banks be taxed, that legislation depreciating any currency of the United States is unjust, and that the charges for freight and fares by railroad and other corporations be restricted by law.

THE meeting that was held by blacks and whites in the region of Ellenton, S. C., a few days since, was fruitful in happy omens of a peaceful and satisfactory adjustment of all difficulties. Their resolution not only looked towards a dropping of pending prosecutions in State and Federal Courts, but to a greater harmony in general relations.

THE greatest problem of the age, that now awaits solution, is this: The proper adjustment of the relations between labor and capital. The wants of the millions must be carefully regarded; and the just claims of the few should be equally as well protected.

EX-GOV. BROWN, of Georgia, is reported to have said, lately that President Hayes' Southern policy thus far is approved by every intelligent citizen of Georgia, and by the whole South, so far as he is advised.

DURING the week ending on the 29th ultimo, 708 tons of ore was taken from the Northern Belle mine, and 704 tons was crushed, yielding $35,632, of which $14,000 was sent down to San Francisco.

MARCUS D. BORUCK is no longer a candidate for United States Senator from California. In withdrawing he professes to think that the success of his party is more important than his own advancement.

AN assessment of 20c per share has been levied on the stock of the Belmont mine.

FOR A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

The only issue common to all the counties of the State to be settled this coming election is that to decide for or against calling a Convention to revise, or reconstruct, the State Constitution. It is all the better that such an important matter should come up for settlement at a time when there are no exciting political issues of a general nature to divert attention from it. The public mind seemed to have been too much engrossed with officer making at the 1875-election to give this issue anything like due consideration; owing to that cause, probably more than any other, the mass of the voters gave no expression in relation to it whatever, either yes or no. Of the ballots actually cast containing one or the other of these words quite a majority had the former, so far, deciding in favor of the Convention; but it was ruled by the Supreme Court that all ballots having neither of those words on them, or both without the "no" being cancelled, said ballots should be counted in the negative; and that is how "Constitutional Convention, Yes" was defeated that time. About the only active opposition the measure met with then came from the Liquor Dealers' Association, and this was on the absurd pretext that a proposed amendment increased the chances for an effective Local Option Law—as if the fundamental law could make a general one wholly special in application, as was the local option law. The Association were evidently encouraged in this opposition by the big incorporations, particularly railroad, as one of the proposed amendments was expressly intended to bring all such within reach and control of law. Since that date the United States Supreme Court has decided that State Governments do have some rights with respect to such incoporations—that is to say, that as a mere abstract legal question, the creature is not so much greater than the creator as most of these incorporations (the creatures) seem to think.

Nevertheless, there is no doubt but our Constitution is susceptible of great improvement in that portion relating to the amenability of incorporations. It is also quite likely that the fear of such improvement in the instrument in the peoples' interest will now, as before, induce a strong opposition to the call for the Convention. It is noticeable that the railroad papers, or the few that have yet noticed the matter at all, are pronouncing against the call. They claim that if Constitutional alterations are really needed the proper plan to obtain them is through the Legislature by specific amendments. Considering the multifarious duties, and peculiar make-up of such bodies, such questions might just about as well be submitted to the vivâ voce of a mass meeting. If a State Constitution needs doctoring at all, call in doctors specially for the purpose, not risk it with a lot of Legislative quacks, each with a score or two of pet cases of his own to trade on and occupy his limited and valuable time.

Besides the prominent issue above referred to, it is plausibly claimed that our Constitution can be materially improved in several other particulars, some of decided importance. Prominent among these is a radical change in the judiciary system, as set out in the amendment submitted two years ago. Also, to give the Governor more time in which to examine, before pocketing or approving, the legion of bills rushed into his hands at the close of each Legislative session; to abolish the special judicial election—in short, to make changes better suited to the requirements of the day and vastly altered conditions of population and business brought about in the quarter of a century of our existence as a State—equal in results to a full century's experience of the old States. This is a progressive age, so much so that even State Constitutions fall behind. Ours needs overhauling, and should receive it from only those especially chosen for the work.

County Conventions and Central Committees of both parties have pronounced in favor of the call, and, like the State Convention of the Grangers, recommend that all tickets be printed with the words, "Constitutional Convention, Yes," so that voters opposed will have to mark out and write in, or have their votes counted in the affirmative. Then it cannot be beaten by mere indifference as it was before; and if voted down the result will be accepted as a fair expression of the will of the people on this important matter.

In this view, and by orders as to both regular tickets, all ballots printed at this office for Mono and Inyo counties will be printed as above designated. The expression of every prominent man of both parties on this side of the mountains is favorable to the call, so far as we have heard. We regret that lack of space forbids a recapitulation of the points in favor of a revision of the Constitution as given in these columns two years ago, and at other times. It is hoped, however, our readers and voters generally will give the question full consideration so as to vote understandingly.

THE REPUBLICAN DISTRICT SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

This body met in Tulare, Tulare county, on the 4th instant. We have no report of proceedings other than a copy of the platform and resolutions, as subjoined, and the information that T. J. Goodale of this county was nominated for State Senator by an unanimous vote; also, that the Convention of Independents unanimously endorsed him for the same position.

Resolved, That we heartily endorse the policy of reconciliation pursued by President Hayes toward the Southern States.

Resolved, That we are opposed to the demonetization of silver and consider it opposed to the interest of the working classes, and favorable to bankers, capitalists and speculators, depriving the laboring man of his just dues and obliging him to accept a currency upon which there is a discount of from six to ten per cent as may be directed by the money kings.

Resolved, That we are in favor of the repeal of the Burlingam treaty.

Resolved, That we are in favor of a just and equitable distribution of the water running in the various streams in this district so that all farmers shall receive their pro rata of said water, and that our candidates be obliged to pledge themselves unqualifiedly to exert their utmost endeavors to secure legislation to this end, and also to prevent the passage of any bills favoring or giving these water rights to corporations, monopolists or speculators, and depriving our small farmers of their rights and privileges.

Resolved, That we are opposed to the tax upon growing grain, believing that in this State of uncertain seasons it is an unjust tax and retards the growth of our country and the development of our great agricultural resources.

Resolved, That we are oppoaed to the repeal of the no fence law, or the passage of any amendments that will make the law less effectual, and in favor of only such amendments as will make the law more favorable to the farming interests.

Resolved, That we believe that under the constitution and laws of the United States, we have the right to regulate fares and freights on railroads, and prevent any unjust discrimination in favor of or against certain places and localities.

Resolved, That we are in favor of redistricting the State so that all districts will receive the number of Senators and representatives their population entitles them to.

Resolved, That our candidates for Senator and Assembly pledge themselves to vote only for such men for United States Senator regardless of party as are of known integrity, and are not the tools of corporation or in the interest of any railroad or monopoly.

Resolved, That as water for irrigation is indispensable to the proper cultivation of the soil, that we favor the same power to be vested in the Board of of Supervisors to condemn the right of way for a ditch as for a public road.

THE Supreme Court of Nevada has rendered a decision sustaining the constitutionalty of the Drummer Law, so-called. Lewis & Deal, of Virfinia, counsel for the appellent in the test case on which the decision is based, are not satisfied with the result. The Enterprise says: "They claim that Congress alone can regulate commerce between States, and that the statute in question does interfere with the free interchange of commodities between California and this State. The case will probably be appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States.

WHERE IS JOHN ELLIS?—John Ellis, who left his home in Onarga Illinois, in February, 1866, and went to Cincinnati, whence he is supposed to have gone to California or Colorado in the Summer of the same year, and whose whereabout no trace has been discovered since, is requested, should this notice ever meet his eye, to communicate with his sisters, by addressing "The Index, Rosita, Colorado." All persons observing this notice, who may happen to know anything of his whereabouts since 1866, or perhaps of his death, are also requested to write to the Index.

He himself drove his flock over the sand which covered those that had precesed him and had perished.—Virginia Enterprise.

ALL SORTS.

The Pioneer Woolen Mill Company, of San Francisco, have forwarded for exhibition at the first Territorial Fair of Montana a pair of superb, highly-finished blankets, very creditable specimens of high class manufactures, that will doubtless command attention. The seal of the Territory is worked into the cloth in colors by hand—showing the sun raising above the mountains, a buffalo drinking at a stream, and bearing the motto "Oro y Plata."

The Austin Reveille of July 30th says: A man named Pat. Carroll was brought from Grass Valley yesterday, suffering with a severe sickness. It appears that he had been dipping sheep in carbolic wash, and getting overheated and then wet in the solution, the drug which forms the base of the wash had impregnated his blood. At least, such is the theory as regards his illness.

The Lancet considers the following lamentable occurrence to be confirmatory of the opinion that diphtheritic poison may be communicated in water like the germs of typhoid fever: A few weeks ago an innkeeper at Ellesmere lost all six of his children by diptheria. It seems that, being thirsty, they asked for a drink of water at a cottage in which a child lay ill of that disease, and so contracted it.

SUIT AT LAW.—As near as we understand the matter at present, one or two or three or four of the denizens of Smoky Hill—i. e., Cerro Gordo—have gone out of their usual course and got their backs up at one and another. A general statement of the case may be summed up in this way: J. T. Belshaw & Co., merchants, bring suit against Issendorf & Tanner, who have been running the Union Hotel, for an amount in assumpsit, which comes within the jurisdiction of the Justice Court—Judge Bowen. The Judge in accordance with law issues an attachment for the hotel fixtures and things, but it seems that Messrs. I. & T. had made a transfer of their property to Chris. Crohn, the owner of the hotel building, previous to the commencement of the action. Now comes a specially deputized constable and takes possession, after some little resistence and protestation on the part of Mr. Crohn. For the aforesaid resistence and protestation, Chris. and Butch (alias Julius Chelius) are called upon to appear before Bowen, who intimates judicially that they will please pungle a fine of $100 each. Chris. had some irregular remarks to offer in court, whereupon he is requested to ante $100 more for contempt, and is placed in charge of Bill Ritche as acting constable, pending payment, the same special officer also having charge of Butch. Bill told them to go off and go to bed, and presuming that they had good sense enough to take his advice, followed out the plan himself—per inclination. But friend Crohn, as before stated, had got his Dutch up a little on account of the brash action of the other party, and instead of awaiting for the erratic Justice to remit the fine in the morning (as he presumably would have done), with Butch gets onto a mule apiece and starts for Independence. Here he enters suit before the County Court for damages, saying something about forcible entry and detainer and all that sort of thing, and Judge Bowen and a whole crowd of them were called upon to be at hand upon the trial to-day. The above report is somewhat jocular, but there may be a few serious facts worth bringing out. However, we think it were well that our friends from the Hill should cry quits and have a general compromise.

REPORTED INDIAN OUTBREAK.—Considerable excitement was caused by a report that two white men had been killed by Indians, Sunday or Monday last, near Mono Lake, Mono county. It was also stated that the Indians of that section had resolved to make a raid on Round Valley in this county, for the purpose of killing Indian Jerry, spite of the whites who had protected him from their vengeance on a former occasion, Jerry being an Indian doctor. In fact, according to rumor, it looked much like there might be quite an Indian war on hand. On receipt of the news a strong party started at once from Benton to the relief of exposed families in the vicinity where the murders had been committed. Before the party had proceeded many miles they learned satisfactorily that no such murders had been committed by Indians; that the whole story was a humbug. What gave rise to it remains a profound mystery. There is one thing pretty evident, though—that is, that in common opinion, such murders are liable to occur almost any day, but for which the whole responsibility will rest upon these white blooded Piutes who furnish whisky to the Indians.

STOLEN PROPERTY RECOVERED.—Deputy Sheriff Dad Moore some three or four days ago received a letter from Darwin to the effect that a certain petty thief and one-horse sport, known thereabouts as "Shorty," had suddenly shaken the alkali dust from his feet at that locality, and desiring to be held in fond remembrance by some of his friends there took into his own safe keeping a bull-dog pistol belonging to Jack Wilson and a fine silver watch owned by Mike Martin. Dadual kept a look out for the interesting individual, and upon the arrival of a high-toned gentleman answering to the description, affectionately laid his delicate hand upon his shoulder. Scene: New Arrival indignant; Dad pugnacious, and seizing Mr. Indignant, extracted from his person the particularly described articles, to-wit: Jack Wilson's pistol and Mike Martin's watch.

FATAL MINING ACCIDENT.—On the 7th instant Giacomo Aimonetti, an Italian miner working in the Union, while descending the shaft, accidentally fell to the bottom, sustaining injuries which proved fatal. Supt. Porter immediately took charge of the matter, and after seeing the unfortunate man conveyed to his cabin, despatched a messenger to Lone Pine after Dr. Gelcich, but who could not get there before the poor fellow was dead.

SOME SHAKES.—There was quite an earthquake shock here about half past 4 Wednesday morning, and still another about 10 yesterday. One lady living on George's Creek said she found herself out of bed and on the floor immediately after the shake Wednesday morning; but it does not appear from any evidence yet received that the shake was the cause of her being there—more likely to have been bed-bugs, or something of that kind.

PHYSICIAN.—The professfonal card of Dr. F. T. Bicknell will be found among our advertisements of to-day. It will be seen that his office and residence are at Camp Independence. We predict for the doctor a popularity equal to the enviable one of his predecessor in this locality—Dr. Matthews.

RELATING TO THE INDEPENDENCE SCHOOL.

An Appeal to the Citizens Generally, and Parents in Particular of the Independence School District.

As I am per contract with the Trustees to open school in your district the last of September, I deemed it my duty to see to the condition of the school house. I found it, I am sorry to say, in anything but a desirable condition. It certainly is past redemption. All that can be done is to repair and brighten it up so as to make it do for the present, at as little expense as possible; this, Messrs. Schalten, Gardner and Cartier have generously offered to do without cost to the district, as soon as the lumber can be procured. Again, most of the seats are, if possible, worse than the house and look as if intended for a house of correction. To expect children to progress in knowledge, morality or dignity under such circumstances and influences is an absurdity of the first degree. Observation has convinced me that the only reason why things are thus is the want of some one to call attention to the facts and take the time and trouble to act as the children's leader in a move towards an entire change. This I now propose to do, feeling confident that every gentleman and lady in the community will take pleasure in contributing towards making the little ones comfortable at least, by giving them comfortable desks and seats if nothing more. In order to give every one an opportunity to contribute something towards this, the children will call on everybody next week with a subscription paper. Even the smallest subscription or present of cash will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Remember that most of the working hours of your darlings are passed in and about the school house; therefore is it meet and just that it should be made as comfortable, bright and attractive as possible. Let it be such as none of them will blush for, but rather be proud to exhibit to you when you come to see them in their place of business.

I am, with much respect, the children's rights advocate.

MRS. A. LOWE.

SAD, INDEED.—We have rarely ever had a more saddening record to make, all the circumstance considered, than now in the announcement of the death of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Goodale's little girl, their youngest child, aged a little over two years, and the dangerous illness of their only remaining one, a boy, and the pride of their hearts. Beyond ordinary, the very lives of the parents seemed wrapped up in these interesting and unusally strong and bright children. As mentioned last week Mr. Goodale had gone across the mountains as a delegate to the District Senatorial Convention, and was far away while death was ravaging and threatening his home, where the mother was fighting the grim monster as best she could without the father's sustaining presence. To the mother came a message that the father had just received the high honor of the Senatorial nomination: simultaneously, to him the crushing news of death's doings, and "to come immediately or he might never see his boy again!" It takes time, and as yet Mr. Goodale has not returned. We have not heard as to the nature of the disease that carried off the little girl so suddenly, nor as to the condition of the remaining child, but are assured it is not of a contagious character.

CALL at Rothchild's and satisfy yourself as to the quality as well as price ere purchasing elsewhere. *

NEW MINING MANAGEMENTS.—The Rex Montis Company have a new Superintendent in charge—Mr. W. J. Spaulding, vice J. H. Holt, Esq. The company propose contesting for the right to retain possession of and work the old Silver Sprout mill, under lease, and propose to put a heavy force on the mine....The Eclipse has had an accession by the arrival of Prof. W. T. Rickards, Fellow Geological Society of London. He is a man of wide mining experience on this Coast and in fact nearly all over the world. Having thoroughly investigated Eclipse affairs, he has appointed Mr. Nelson as assistant superintendent, and is rapidly putting things in a proper shape for successful work.

Go to Rothchild's, $8 50 pants reduced to $5 50; hats from $1 50 to $4 50. *

CROWDED.—The working force of this office is engaged upon the Inyo Great Register, and much other election work that must be got out on time. As the said force is by no means a strong one, and as there are no available means of strengthening it here where stray prints are rarely seen, particularly when most needed—it is quite impossible for us to give due attention to these columns this week: and the same condition of affairs will necessarily continue until after the next issue.

Go to Rothchild's and get the best flour @ 7 per cent or best ground Java coffee @ 37½ cents; tea 75; 8 bars soap $1. *

COUNTY HOSPITAL.—Of the sixteen county patients now on hand there is one of them who thought himself physically able to everlastingly clean out a prominent Granger the other day. The aforesaid patients are said to average well in the matter of health.

Go to Rothchild's, California made boots $6 50 to $8 50; boys California made boots $4 to $5; shoes $1 50 to $2. *

BENTON.—A letter from Benton under date of 3d instant, states that both the Comanche and Diana mills are running, and the prospects are that they will keep on steadily crushing for some months to come.

RESIGNED.—R. L. Peterson, Esq., Republican candidate for District Attorney, has tendered his resignation as Justice of the Peace for Lone Pine.

S. township line between townships Nos. 17 and 18—thence following said township lying west to where said line is intersected by range line between No. 39 and 40, thence south following said range line to a point due west from the main shaft on said Grand mine, thence due east to place of beginning.

Ordered, that a new election precinct to be known as election precinct No. 18 or Crystal Springs precinct, be established, with boundaries as follows:

Commencing at a point two miles north of the house of J. B. White, at Crystal Springs, thence running east three miles, thence south eight miles, thence west six miles, thence north eight miles, thence east three miles to place of beginning.

Resolved, that the order made by the Board of Supervisors of Inyo county on the 6th day of May, 1867, establishing precinct No. 2 in election district No. 2 be amended as follows:

Said precinct to be known as election precinct No. 19 or Kearsarge precinct, and with boundaries as follows, viz: A line running north and south on the base of the Sierra Nevadas one half mile east from the Silver Sprout mill and including all that portion of territory lying between Little Pine Creek on the south and the south branch of Oak Creek on the north, and the county boundary line on the west. And it was further resolved that the County Clerk is hereby authorized to order 60 additional copies of the Great Register of Inyo county for the year A. D. 1877.

The Supervisors then as a Board on election precincts adjourned sine die.

Board of Equalization.

AUG. 4, 1877.

Supervisers met as a Board of Equalization, all members present.

On application of the Modoc Mining Company, the assessment on the Confidence and Modoc mines was reduced from $100,000 to $50,000.

Same company's assessment on furnaces and machinery reduced from $20,000 to $17,360. Cerro Gordo water works from $15,000 to $10,000. Darwin water works from $150,000 to $40,000. Same for water pipe on hand from $4,500 to $1,500. Cerro Gordo Freighting Company from $143,970 to $50,265. $70,845 of the above reduction was on the tenfold assessment of property found after listed. Union Consolidated Mining Company from $136,200 to $47,800. New Coso from $192,590 to $78,125. Water & O'Brion from $14,700 to $12,700. Harris & Rhine on merchandise from $40,000 to $30,000. John Broder on land from $7,800 to $4,550.

NIPPED.—John T. Denton, for some years past the proprietor of a place some 8 miles north of town known as the Sheep Ranch, where whisky could be had by any one traveling that way willing to take the chances of drinking it, was on Monday last arrested by Sheriff Passmore on charge of selling whisky to Indians. In a jury trial before Justice Schalten, he was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $300. As a stay of proceedings he has filed bonds on appeal to the County Court, pending which we forbear comment.

GOING.—We understand that Dr. Wainright's care of the hospital sick ceases to-day. He has made many friends hereabouts, more particularly for his faithful attention to Charley Dale, who is now at Mr. Reddy's residence.

PROCEEDINGS.—As the Board of Supervisors have not yet completed their labors for this term we will have to wait till next week to give a full report of proceedings, particularly of numerous bills presented and allowed.

OFF ON A TRIP.—Our Teutonic friend Geo. Burckhardt, the generally known jeweler of Lone Pine, has gone off on a Los Angeles trip, for health and recreation, expecting to be absent some two months.

TO COME.—A new advertisement of L. Wood, whose business house is fast increasing in public favor and popularity, is among the things to come next week, it being necessarily delayed.

THE time occupied in traveling between Benton and San Francisco, by the Vallejo route from Sacramento and under some new stage arrangements, has been reduced to 53 hours.

CERTAIN facts connected with proceedings of the Supervisors relating to new election precincts, and of interest, should be given here, but will have to go over.

Go to Rothschild's, 10 best candles 50 cents; 10 yards print $1; 6 yards best muslin $1. *

DIGNIFED—The way our senior was snaked off to town by that Cerro Gordo crowd yesterday.

THE DEEPEST WELL IN THE WORLD. The Warran farm well, says an English paper, one of the deepest, if not the deepest, dug wells in the world, was commenced on the South Downs above Brighton in 1858, and after four years' persistent digging the water was reached at a depth of 1,285 feet, the shaft being six feet in diameter down to 400 feet and four feet for the remainder. The operation cost between £6,000 and £7,000, and was watched with the greatest interest by geologists.

IT PAYS EVERY MANUFACTURER, MERCHANT, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer or Professional man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

IT PAYS the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical and Scientific Progress of the World; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes and improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

The Scientific American has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress published in the world.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

The Chronicle Libel Suit.

The Placerville correspondent of the Alta says:

The public will remember that the occasion of the assault on Sargent and Page was the return of Pinney, who had cheated the banks out of $500,000. The Chronicle, on the strength of his statements, and going beyond them, at once charged that Sargent and Page were members of a ring who had contrived and executed these frauds and then induced Pinney to abscound, that all these iniquities might be saddled on his head; that he was their tool in these frauds, and was made their scapegoat. Both Sargent and Page indignantly denied any knowledge of the false certificates, or that Pinney intended or needed to flee. This only whetted the Chronicle's appetite for slander until attempts were made to indict the proprietors, when the Chronicle began talking about the employment of men at the Navy Yard, and about Goat Island, removals from office, the doings of the Customs Collector, and things entirely foreign to the malicious charges originally made, and tried to make the public believe that these were things in controversey. So now, in this trial, by the witnesses they have called, by their libellous affidavits, and by side bar remarks in Court, they are trying to ignore the real offence they have committed by raising false issues. Of course, the prosecution comes prepared to prove the libel charged, not to try libels not named in the indictment. That the persons complaining are Republicans, that they are politicians, that they have recommended changes in office or advocated or opposed public measures, may be true; and their action may be criticised or even misrepresented by a hostile press, may all be true and be uncomplainingly submitted to. That does not tend, however, to show that they aided Pinney to steal or escape, as defendants will probably find when they attempt to introduce testimony on their false issues.

A BLACK HILLS CHARACTER.—"Calamity Jane" is a Black hills character who reminds one strongly of Bret Harte's heroines. As she sits astride her horse, there is nothing in her attire to distinguish her sex save her small, neat-fitting gaiters and sweeping raven locks. She wears buckskin clothes, gaily beaded and fringed, and a broad rimmed Spanish hat. She comes from Virginia City, Nev., of a family of respectability and intelligence. Donning male attire in the mining regions, where no restraints were imposed for such freaks, she "took the road," and has ever since been nomadic in her habits—now one of a hunting party, then in a mining stampede, again moving with a freight train, and it is said she rendered service as a scout. She has had experience as a stage-driver, and can draw the reins over six horses. She handles her revolver with dexterity, and fires it as accurately as a ranger. She is still in early womanhood, and her rough and dissipated career has not altogether "swept away the lines where beauty lingers."

GEN. SHERMAN, in a letter to the Secretary of War, says: With the new post at the fork of the Big and Little Horn, and that at the mouth of Tongue river, occupied by strong, enterprising garrisons, the Sioux Indians can never regain that country, and they will be forced to remain at their agencies or take refuge in the British Possessions. The country west of the new post is a good country and will rapidly fill up with emigrants, who will in the next ten years build up a country as strong and as capable of self-defense as Colorado. The weather has been intensely hot. I am impressed with the value of the country on the upper Yellowstone.

A CHINESE INTERPRETER.—There is a young man named Sears now in Austin, he having recently arrived here, who can talk the Chinese language as fluently as a born Chinaman. His services as interpreter were called into requisition in the opium case yesterday, and he rattled of the Chinese as glibly as the rest of us can talk English. He is a nephew of Capt. Hunt, of Reese River valley, was born in Oregon and raised is San Francisco, in which latter place he acquired the Chinese language He is the sensation of the hour among the Chinese population, and they are clamorous for him to open a school for the instruction of Chinamen in the English language. He is thoroughly posted in Chinese manners and customs, and the celestials look upon him as almost one of themselves; in fact, they refuse to believe that he is of white parentage on both sides, and insist that either his father or mother must have been Chinese. He is apparently a young man of considerable intelligence and his conversation in regard to Chinese manners, customs and habits is quite interesting.—Austin Reveile.

WHERE HE FOUND HER.—A member of the Police Department was reporting to the Chief the other day the result of his search for a recusant female witness in the classic precincts of the Sacramento Barbary Coast, which comprises a block on Second street and portions of two or three blocks on L street. Evidently he had a long search for her, but stopped at nothing short of success. Said he: "I looked in at the Hole in the Wall, but she wasn't there; heard she had been in Noah's Ark, but had lit out; then I prospected the Iron Jaw and the Woodpecker's Nest, but didn't have any better luck; a fellow in the Calf Pen was sure he heard her singing as he went by the Frog Pond, but when I went there it was all a mistake. Just as I had about given it up as a bad job, I dropped into Hell's Blazes, and there she was."—Record-Union.

THE SPEED OF A RAILWAY TRAIN.—In a recent lecture in Edinburgh, on "The Stars," Prof. Grant said that a railway train traveling day and night, fifty miles an hour, would reach the moon in 6 months, the sun in 200 years, and Alpha Centauris, the nearest of the fixed stars, in 42,000,000 of years; a cannon ball traveling 900 miles per second in 2,700,000 years. Light from some of the telescopic stars takes 5,760 years to reach the earth; from others, 500,000 years. These stars, therefore, may have become extinct thousands of years ago, though their light comes to our eyes. Alpha Lyra is 100,000,000,000 miles from us, and its magnitude and splendor are as twenty to one compared with our sun. The sun is neither greater nor smaller than most of the stars.

RAILWAY THROUGH EDEN.—The scheme of making a shorter route to India, by constructing a railway along the valley of the Euphrates, appears to receive a good deal of attention at present. The project is no doubt a fascinating one, but the difficulties in the way of such an undertaking are, however, enormous, if not insuperable. That the line, if accomplished, can be anything more than a military road for British troops, few who know anything of the country will contend. The climate may be described as deadly, and what was once a vast fertile garden teeming with life and industry, and having a magnificent system of irrigation, is now an arid waste, traversed only by bands of plundering Arabs.

VOLTAIRE: A hundred thousand mad animals, whose heads are covered with hats, advance to kill or be killed by their fellow mortals covered with turbans. By this strange procedure they want to know whether a tract of land, to which none of them has any claim, should belong to a certain man whom they call the Sultan, or another whom they call Czar, neither of whom ever saw or ever will see the spot so furiously contended for; and very few of those creatures who thus mutually butcher each other ever beheld the animal for whom they cut each other's throats.

HERE is a scene at the opening of the Chicago riot: Down on Canal street the mob passed by an old man who was digging a hole to get at a leaky gas pipe sr drain. No one paid any attention to him, nor did he to any one, until a big newsboy, with a bundle of papers under his arms, espied him. Grabbing a stick, the urchin approached the hole and shouted, "Get out o'there you old son of a gun, and come along!" Without a word of reply, the terrified old fellow climbed out and went along into the rabble, the newsboy grinning at his heels.

THOSE who believe that no strike prevails in this city could not read without tears the harrowing letter sent us by a candidate, who was obliged to flee the country. He says: "I was struck by some bummer, for sums ranging from 25 cents to $5, at every corner I turned. One of them even came to my house at two o'clock in the morning and begged me to 'loan' him $2 50, as there was a faro game down town that he was sure he could beat."

A NEW JERSEY newspaper says: "Amos Quito, with a numerous corps of assistants, has begun to give his annual entertainment in this village. The band have been recuperating for several months in the swamps and marshes in the vicinity. Their performances touch the feelings in a way to arouse the most dormant natures."

THE pleasure of doing good is the only one that does not wear out.

IF there should be a Constitutional Convention, the requirement that all enactments be printed in Spanish should be abolished. At this late day, this is but a waste of money. Irrespective of this, however, the Code needs amendment in the matter of translating the laws into Spanish. It now provides that the two Houses shall appoint a Joint Committee, which shall award the contract for such translation. It provides the way in which the Committee shall proceed; but it makes the action of the Committee final, whether they have proceeded regularly or not. At the last session this Joint Committee made the award in violation of the law. The facts were reported to both Houses and both passed a resolution disapproving of the irregular action. The only answer was, "What are you going to do about it?" And it seemed nothing could be done about it. This thing is likely to happen again next session. —S. F. Alta.

THE Oil City Derrick has this story: "Jim Brown, a worthy German, died in Franklin recently, and his next friend, also a worthy German, was appointed administrator, to settle up the affairs of his estate. The administrator called at a printing office the other day, to have posters printed announcing that the goods of the late Brown would be sold at public auction. 'I vant you write up dose bills in some kind of sthyle,' said the administrator, whose mind runs much to business. 'I vant somedings dat vill addract der public eye, und pring der beoples from der koundry.' The printer asked for a suggestion or two. 'Mrs. Brown und mineself haf dalked it over,' continued the business man, 'und we vant you to head dose bills somedings this way'—and he marked on the wall with his cane to show that he wanted big letters —'Hoor-raw! hoor-raw! Jim Brown is dead!'"

A LONDON correspondent claims that 10,000 British soldiers are under orders for Gallipolli, on the European side of the Dardanelles. As regards the effective strength of the British army for immediate operations in the East, it is stated that an army corps of twenty thousand men can be ready to embark at a fortnight's notice, reaching Constantinople a fortnight after. This force can be followed a fortnight afterward by 36,800 men, and within a month these two corps can be joined by a force of 40,000 men from India. This would make an army of 86,800 men that could be placed, in six weeks or two months, in an impregnable position, as Gallipolli is said to be capable of being made a second Gibraltar in ten days.

SENATOR DAVIS, of Illinois, when he answers the letter of an applicant for a recommendation to office, tells him he has not asked and will not ask anything from the Administration, although if the contrary was the case it would give him great pleasure to bear testimony to the high character of the person addressed, and his eminent fitness for the position sought. The Judge then tells him that he shall be greatly pleased to hear of his appointment, and will regard it as only another evidence of President Hayes' good sense and sound discretion. Several letters of this character have been presented at the State Department by applicants for foreign appointments, and Secretary Evarts is beginning to think that Judge Davis is a sly old dog.

LANDSBOROUGH, an Australian explorer, traces the increasing density of forests in Queensland, and the consequent greater humidity of the atmosphere there, to the early introduction of sheep farms. The sheep kept down the grass, and when the dry season came on, there was less and less chance every year of the devastating conflagrations called bush fires. Now rain is becoming abundant, rendering agriculture profitable and causing the discontinuance of sheep-pasturing in Queensland. The hints thus given of the probable causes of a transition of the people of other countries from a pastoral to an agricultural life is highly suggestive, and will bear elaboration.

TWELVE YEARS AFTER THE WAR. Twelve years ago, Richmond with 45,000 inhabitants, lay in ruin. Now she has rebuilt the whole of the burnt district, has established two hundred factories, and, with a population of 75,000 people, is the handsomest city in the world. Norfolk ships nearly 1,000,000 bales of cotton this year, and has developed a trade in vegetables, fruit and fish, which has extended through our great Northern cities, across the Atlantic, and has increased the value of lands in the adjacent counties many hundred fold.—Danville News.

NOT a lodger weak and weary, or a drunkard bleak and beery, not a tramp or vagrant dreary, had a couch upon the floor; for the station house was empty, not a mortal there to tempt the long-tailed rats to play at sentry, as they often played before. Said the turnkey, never more.—Reading Eagle.

THERE are $66,000,000 in legal tender notes lying idle in the Treasury, showing that the volume of currency is at least not contracted. The Secretary thinks one-sixth of the volume of legal tender notes is not needed for circulation.

IT is aptly suggested by the Rochester Democrat man that it's a waste of time to swear at the flies—they don't understand the language.

AN utter contempt of public opinion, and a sensitive regard for it are equally the ear-mark of a fool.

ADVICES from Ecuador state that the damage done by the late eruption of Cotopaxi, amounts to over $100,000. Many lives were lost, and over 1,500 head of cattle destroyed.

To show the universal shrinkage in every thing of value in San Bernardino since they allowed the railroad to leave them four miles out in the cold, we note the following: Born—To the wife of W. R. Pearson a daughter weighing two pounds. Mother and daughter doing well.—Colton Semi-Tropic.

A water spout fell above Chuckawalla, Arizona, on the 22d ult., which swelled the arroyo running by the station to the hight of fifteen feet, washing away buildings, corrals, etc., doing considerable damage. The stage was somewhat delayed on account of the ravines being impassable.—Prescott Miner.

The Arizona Enterprise of July 24th notes the birth of a double-headed female child near that city, and says she has a perfect trunk like any other newly born being of the female species, but from the cervical vertebræ the fusion seemed not to have taken place. Mother and child are doing well.

Some of the Meadow Lake ore is to be tested by the Pioneer Reduction Company. Professor Crosby feels confident he can work the rock easily, and save all the gold there is in it. If so, it will be a grand thing for the owners of ledges in that section of our county. —Nevada Transcript.

THE Interior Department has decided that an adverse claim to be considered must be sworn to by the party claiming adversely, and not by the attorney. Hearings may be had to determine whether the legal expenditure has been made on the mine for which a patent is desired. The expenditure of more than $1,500 by the owners of an adjoining mine on a portion of a tunnel running through the premises embraced in the application for a patent in case the applicants were to have an interest in such tunnel, is considered an expenditure under the mininig law upon the claim applied for.

AN Eastern exchange says a prominent Chicago lawyer takes the position that the strikers being public enemies there can be no recovery for property destroyed. In other words that the railroad companies cannot recover from cities in which their property is destroyed; insurance companies cannot be required to pay losses caused by these public enemies nor can owners of goods destroyed or stolen while in transit hold the railroads responsible.

MR. E. P. RAINS was one of the arrivals from San Francisco by Thursdry's stage. Mr. Rains has been interested in some of the largest mining operations on the coast, which he has carried on in the interest of Senator John P. Jones. He negotiated the Panamint and several other large sales. He is here on mining business.—Arizona Enterprise.

Wonder how Mr. Rains got out of "that bullion speculation" the authorities of San Francisco made such a row about?

THE Colusa Sun explains that the Board of Equalization of that county reduced the tax on growing crops to one dollar only in cases in which a practical failure was shown. There was not $3,000 in value stricken off.

THE STATE SENATORSHIP.

Since the Republican and Independent District Senatorial Conventions have both named Mr. Goodale, of this county, as the opponent of Mr. Fowler for the State Senatorship for this district, the Kern, Tulare and Fresno papers each have considerable to say about the "sagebrush" candidate, their remarks and opinions all, of course, taking color according to their respective partisan predilections and individual characteristics. The sum of the conclusions of the Democratic journals is to the effect that Mr. Fowler is invincible, and that it is little else than presumptuons for Mr. Goodale and his backers to assume the contrary; one of them indulges in considerable uncalled for ridicule at Mr. Goodale's expense, and by token of the same, as much for his backers and the locality within the district he represents in this contest. On the other side the Republican and Independent or anti-Fowler papers all express themselves strongly in Mr. Goodale's favor, and not without hope of his success notwithstanding the conceded twelve or fifteen hundred Democratic majority in the district. From these papers we learn that Mr. Goodale invites his opponent to speak with him on the general and local issues of the canvass in every place in Kern and Tulare and elsewhere, if time permits, but that Mr. Fowler has not yet assented. With this brief review of the Senatorial situation to date we shall in as few words as possible and once for all state our own views in relation to this matter.

THE INDEPENDENT has not one word to say for nor against either of these candidates or any others whatever in any party interest. We are fully aware of the fact, however, that to advocate or oppose the claims of any candidate is, in some measure, to advocate or oppose the claims of the party putting him forward, and that there are plenty who will so construe it; now, while we care little or nothing for the opinions of such in that regard it is proper to submit that a strictly independent newspaper is sometimes as much obliged to ignore the party obligations of its individual managers as those of other people; that is to say, community interests must in such a paper take precedence above all or any party considerations simply, and that, too, without prejudice to the political sentiments and standing of its proprietors individually. In that view, then, we shall endeavor to show why Mr. Goodale is entitled to a liberal support from all parties on this side of the mountains, and at least an equal showing on the other.

But, first, we have no word of disparagement to offer against his opponent, other than that he cannot in the geographical nature of the case be any more of a real representative and advocate of our special "sagebrush" interests than the Stockton, or any other cow county representative on that side of the mountains, simply because he has no greater identity of interests or personal knowledge of our requirements. On the other hand, the three counties of the district on that side of the mountains have no need of general legislation in which the two on this side would not be equally interested. But we (meaning Inyo and Mono) have interests in excess of theirs, or those of any other part of the State. These are the only two counties in the State where every other pursuit of residents is so entirely dependent upon mining, therefore the only two that may in reality be classed as mining counties, and for that reason, the only two having a special interest in mining legislation, and as such, having greater need of a strong voice in both Houses of the Legislature. Moreover, we claim that the mining resources of either of these sagebrush counties (a term we use for the sake of distinction) give promise of greater commercial value to the State at large than does the exclusively agricultural dependence of the other three combined; and yet our agricultural interests are not materially of less importance or extent than those of any one of them alone. It is contended that our mining interest would be promoted greatly by legislation to radically change the present system of taxing that class of property; that is true, without doubt, and it is obvious that anything that would enhance that interest would do as much for our every other. If anything is to be done in that direction it is high time the lines should at least be marked out. If there is any section of the State having need of a full and direct representation in State affairs, it is this, cut off as it is geographically, and so distinct in many requirements, from all the rest. But most of all, it will need and demand a voice in the coming Constitutional Convention, to assemble, if at all, within a year. Excluding Fresno, the other four counties will be allowed not to exceed three delegates. It will be in the power of the Democratic majority of Kern and Tulare to name them all regardless of the wishes of the same party on this side, unless the latter can command a combined local or sectional vote regardless of party lines. That it could quite surely do, not only in that Convention, but future Senatorial contingencies, by now giving this home candidate for Senatorial honors a square home vote, just such as his pluck and energies and qualifications entitle him to, and just such as is necessary to give force to our determination to demand commensurate sectional if not party recognition in the future. If Mr. Fowler secures anything like the strict party majority known to exist, and claimed as sure for him, in his own section it is not possible to beat him if every vote of these two counties were cast against him—while, if he should tag so far in the rear of his party vote at home as, unexpectedly, to suffer defeat from any possible adverse majority from this side it would in that event be nothing for even a "machine," much less, a liberal, Democrat to very deeply regret. We claim that the Democratic party here could not lose anything by very liberally supporting Mr. Goodale—he is the first to practically assert the right of this outlying region, with its important and distinct interests, to a full voice in State legislation. We take it as a matter of course that none of his own party would cast an adverse vote.

LIBERTY.

MESSRS. EDITORS—Its true meaning is, freedom to labor and to think for yourself. Said Col. Ingersoll, in a recent lecture at St. Louis: "About two years ago I saw models of the old instruments of torture that were used by our ancestors for the purpose of convincing a man that he had made a mistake in his reasoning. I saw the old instruments of torture; I looked at them; and until I saw and examined them I never had really appreciated what had been done in the world. I saw there a little thing they called a thumb-screw—two little innocent-looking pieces of iron, with a screw at each end, and the inner surfaces of these pieces of iron were covered with protuberances to prevent their slipping from the thumb of the victim. Where a man had made a mistake in religious conviction, where he was not entirely right upon the subject of infant baptism or some other tenet of church formula or belief, they put upon his thumb this instrument of torture, and these people, in the name of God and in the name of religion, would screw down this end and then that end, and ask him if he was not yet convinced. If he still persisted in his heresy they would screw it down still more, and say, "Examine your mind; haven't you made a mistake? haven't you left something out in your chain of reasoning?" and so they would keep turning, and so they would keep asking, and finally, if he was not yet convinced, they would leave it to swell in order to convince him; or they would throw him into a cell, where in the silence of the throbbing darkness he endured this torture. That was done in the name of that religion which says pray for your enemies; that religion which teaches the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of man; in the name of universal love and forgiveness, that was done by men who taught if you were smitten on one cheek to turn the other also."

The other day I was taken to task for expressing my liberal opinion, and was told that if I persisted in doing so, I might be made to retract by the above method of conviction—the thumb-screw I replied, if I must cease to bear witness to what I believed and know to be truth, that the soul being more sensative than the body, I should not torment it by refusing to live up to, and speak out, my highest convictions; since by this alone is progress of thought and of the race possible.

The thumb-screw arrangement though very forcible, is not convincing to the mind; and man acts far better from choice than coercion, and it is too late in the day to either force one to labor or to think from fear or compulsion. War and oppression as well as the spirit of intolerance and persecution, spring from the ignorant and narrow views men take of the Universe—the grand system of unnumbered worlds of which our earth is so small a part.

It is only by taking higher and broader views of the grand destiny of man and his unlimited possibilities in the future, that the crude convictions of life in the present can be comprehended and its true relations to the ultimate of existence realized. The world progresses through cycles of changes both physical and mental, like the seasons; each is useful and benefitting the corresponding conditions of life as then existing; and these took place in due order before man was an inhabitant, spectator or dictator of events; and happily, the laws that govern the unfoldment and progress of worlds and the destiny of immortal souls, are not subject to the control of man; especially, while he is disposed to use power to better, rather than to free the bodies and souls of his fellow beings. All governments and institutions of men are like garments, destined to change and wear out, and these can never be permanently repaired by patching up the old, but the natural growth of the new.

L. HUTCHISON.

INDEPENDENCE, Aug. 16.

MESSRS. EDITORS—I have recently learned that among a considerable number of voters the impression prevails that, under the law, a person to be eligible to the office of District Attorney must be a practicing lawyer, or have been admitted to the bar. Now, the idea is entirely erroneous; any citizen qualified to vote may be so elected and can qualify, exactly the same as in the case of the County Judge.

Yours, etc., B.

A BIG FIGHT.—Gen. Gibbon's command, at daylight on the 10th, attacked Chief Joseph's band at Big Hole, Montana, and came very near getting decidedly the worst of it. He lost some fifty-three men and several officers killed, and one howitzer, besides many wounded, himself among the number. It was reported that he had also lost his supply train and Gatling, guns but this turns out to be untrue. As it was he drove the Indians from the field. Gen. Howard, who was sixty-five miles distant with his command, left the latter to come on as fast possible, while he with his staff only, crowded through and reached Gibbod's camp that same day, and at last accounts was pressing pursuit of the enemy.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.—On Tuesday the Supervisors met as a Board of Equalization, and transacted business as follows: Whereas, the taxes on the property of the Defiance Mining Company were unpaid for the year A. D. 1875-6, and whereas, the State Board of Equalization by their order dated——, and duly filed by the Tax Collector herein directing said Tax Collector to avail himself of the provisions of Section 3806 of Political Code which said Tax Collector did and passed such property on the Delinquent List of 1875-6 without sale, it is hereby ordered that the Assessor enter up such unpaid taxes upon the Assessment book of this year A. D. 1877 against said Defiance Mining Company. Having completed their labors for the year, the Board then adjourned for the term.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 18.....1877.

Disastrous Fire—Destruction of the Union Con. New Hoisting Works.

At 10:30 o'clock on the night of Tuesday, the 14th instant, the dread alarm of fire roused the entire town of Cerro Gordo, and in a few minutes after the whole of the large structure comprising the hoisting works over the new shaft of the Union Con mine were in sheets of flame. Thirteen miners were working below at the time, ten at the 700-foot level and three at the 900. In the rapid destruction of the works it was feared that these men would be suffocated by the descending fire and smoke before being able to reach the newly-made connection with the Omega or old works, or even before they could comprehend the situation, but they all managed to finally escape—so that we have not to record the loss of life in connection with the disaster. This result is due to the fact that one of the men happened to be at the station instead of at the face of the drift, and, seeing the fire on top, gave the alarm to his partners and those below—the lower workmen having to climb the shaft ladders for 200 feet. Under rapid orders from Supt. Porter, at the first outbreak of the fire, men were sent down through the old works, who succeeded in constructing a platform of timbers and earth across the shaft, at a point 190 feet from the surface. Intending by this to save the lives of his men, Mr. Porter has also the satisfaction of knowing that the costly shaft and heavy timbering below that point are uninjured. In the magazine, a 75-foot drift connected with the mine, was stored about a ton of powder. To insure safety the mouth of this drift was caved in, a wise precaution which possibly saved the whole town from being destroyed.

On the surface, the citizens worked with almost desperate zeal, and by means of water and wet blankets, saved the Company's office and houses. Besides the works, some 400 cords of wood was consumed, together with a large quantity of lumber and mining timbers surrounding the building. Four or five cabins, with contents, were also burned, some of the occupants having a close call for their lives. Mr. Porter, who roomed in the office of the works, lost everything. There was no one seriously hurt, and but a few bruises sustained.

The hoisting works destroyed were the completest and greatly exceeded in value any other in the county. They were mainly constructed during the past year, at a cost of not less than $40,000. The entire machinery, saving perhaps the boiler, is a total wreck. It is not stated that there was any insurance, nor can it be known at this time what the Company intend doing. Taking into consideration the loss of time and delay of operations consequent, the disaster amounts to a serious calamity for the Company and this community. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it supposed to have been caused by a spark from the smoke stack.

LOOKING UP.—Aurora, Nevada, very favorably affected by the success of her sister mines at Bodie, and also at the prospect of having a deep exploring shaft sunk upon their once enormously rich belt of gold mines, is assuming the position of a lively camp. Two mills are running; the merchants, saloon and hotel men are thriving, one or two new houses are going up and lot-jumping is in order. So reported.

CO. D.—A note from a member of Co. D, dated at Lewiston, W. T., July 31, states the command had arrived at that place five days previously, all well, recruited to thirty men, and were not likely to be ordered to the front. A postal of a later date from the Captain says that "Gen. Howard is the right man in the right place."

OPENED.—The politcal canvass is taking shape. Judge Briggs spoke at Darwin the other night, and, as advertised elsewhere, will address the Bentonites next Saturday night. His opponent, S. P. Moffat, Esq., has gone up that way—to try and hold the old gentleman level, we suppose,

GOOD.—It is gratifying to learn that the child of Mr. and Mrs. Goodale, the death of which was last week reported, is still alive and out of danger. We supposed that the statement of its death had come straight enough to us, but it seems that the report grew out of the child's serious illness only.

SHOOTING.—Felix Rios, the Mexican whose death is announced elsewhere as having occurred at Bodie, Nevada, on the 9th instant, came to his end from a pistol shot, executed by John Wheeler in self defense. Another countryman of deceased was wounded by another man, in the same affray.

NEW SALOON.—Another saloon has been added to the numerous ones of Lone Pine, making in all, we believe, seventeen. It is located next to Lasky's store—called the Sample Room, and is run by John Schulte. His "ad." will appear next week.

ON DIT.—It seems to be understood that a prominent citizen and Democrat is to take the field for the position of District Attorney. It remains for the honor of the party that the plan be carried out.

SHUT DOWN.—We have seen it stated in a private letter from Lookout that the Modoc Company had shut down their furnaces and all works except a small force on the mines.

CORRECTION.—Our report of the new Superintendent of the Rex Montis, last week, should have given the name of W. J. Hutchings instead of Mr. Spaulding.

BULLION.—The Rex Montis shipped on Thursday last 179 pounds of bullion, the express valuation being $1,700.

SATURDAY, May 11.

In the matter of the application of the following named parties, to-wit: H. Fehrman, F. Broder, C. A. Walters, W. Dean, Adolf Miller, Jacob Vagt and Hardy & Cassidy, for a reduction of their assessments on their several growing crops, said applicants were severally and respectively sworn and their evidence reduced to writing and filed, and the evidence having been heard and duly considered, it was ordered that in the cases of Fehrman, Broder, Walter, Dean, Adolf Miller and Jacob Vagt, that the assessments on their several growing crops be reduced in each instance to the nominal sum of $1 00 each. And in the case of Hardy & Cassidy it was ordered that the assessment on their growing crops be reduced from the sum of $750 to $356, said reduction being made on the grain crop included in said assessment.

MONDAY, Aug. 13.

In the matter of application of Messrs. Reddy & Conklin for payment of second instalment in contract of said firm to defend the interests of the County in suit of the Union Con. Mining Co., vs. Thomas Passmore, Tax Collector:

P. Reddy appeared before the Board and introduced P. W. Bennett, Esq., who, as counsel for said plaintiff, produced and read a portion of a letter from B. S. Brooks, Esq., senior counsel for said plaintiff, said letter written under date of June 25, 1877, directing said Bennett to inform said Brooks of time of entering judgment when he (Brooks) would then prepare an appeal to the Supreme Court.

P. Reddy was then sworn and related a conversation between M. W. Belshaw and himself in which, after reading the decision of the Supreme Court in a similiar issue, he, the said Belshaw, stated that he would not go on and appeal the case.

Action on the matter deferred by the Board until 3 P. M., same day.

The County physician recommended the adoption of rules for the County Hospital, and presented same which after being duly considered were adopted, filed, and the Clerk directed to furnish said physician a certified copy of said rules.

In the matter of application of J. H. Cook for an order from the Board to adopt some certain one of roads leading through his lands—It was ordered that the lower or eastern road leading through said lands of J. H. Cook from the north line of Willett's ranch toward the town of Independence, be declared the county road so far as same runs through the lands of said Cook.

In the matter of the decision of application of Messrs. Reddy & Conklin for the second instalment of fees for legal services as already described, upon a vote being taken by the Board Garretson and Curtis voted aye—Meysan no. Carried.

TUESDAY, Aug. 14.

Resignation of Wm. B. Daugherty as Hospital Examiner tendered and accepted, and John C. Irwin appointed in his stead.

On application, the Clerk was authorized to purchase such books and stationery required for office use, and to draw a warrant on the Expense Fund for payment of same.

Resignation of R. L. Peterson as Justice of the Peace, 3d Township, said resignation to take effect Sept. 1, 1877. Accepted.

Upon a petition from citizens of Lone Pine, duly signed by qualified electors, C. S. Swan was appointed Justice of the Peace for the 3d Township, to fill the vancancy occassioned by the resignation of Justice R. L. Peterson, commencing Sept. 1, 1877, until the unexpired term. Another petition from citizens of 3d Townshsp asking the appointment of Henry Bachman as Constable, granted.

In the matter of the rejected bill of T. F. A. Connelly for work done on road leading from Willett's ranch to the town of Independence coming up again for consideration, Supervisor Chas. Meysan moved that said bill of $184 16 for the construction of the new road be rejected because the said road was laid out without authority of law and in conflict with the requirements of sections 2698, 2700 and 2706 of the Political Code.

Supervisor Curtis offered the following amendment: Whereas, it appears by the affidavit of T. F. A. Connelly annexed to his bill that the work charged in said bill was done on a line drawn by an order of the Board of Supervisors Feb. 6, 1872, and declared to be a public highway, therefore, ordered that the aforesaid bill be audited and allowed. Said amendment was adopted in the following vote; ayes, Curtis and Garretson; no, Meysan.

TREE CULTURE.

ROUND VALLEY, Aug. 10.

MESSRS. EDITORS—Even in this windy country we have heard farmers speak disparagingly of tree culture. The other day I picked up a scrap of paper which contained a valuable article that ought to convince the most obtuse and stubborn, of the efficacy of belts of trees. Said article being so badly torn that I copy it and wish you to publish it in THE INDEPENDENT, believing it will interest your readers and is applicable to this entire region.

WIND AND WATER.

"These two elements are in a measure antagonistic, although the former generally accompanies the latter when it comes to us in the form of rain. A free circulation of air is no doupt healthful to most plants and animals; but too much or too rapid movement is seldom beneficial to either; and what of late years have been called "dry seasons" were more pernicious on account of high winds than an actual scarcity of water. The humidity of a climate does not depend wholly or in great part upon the amount of water falling in the form of rain during the year, or at any particular season; but it is the manner in which it falls and the kind of weather immediately following it which determine the question of humidity of climate. For instance, England is said to have a humid climate and London fogs and rains are much complained of by both residents and visitors; but the average annual rainfall in London is only about one-half that of New York, and still the climate of the latter is too dry for the support of many kinds of plants which thrive admirably in Great Britain. A glance at the meteorological tables will show that, taking the average of the entire State of Kansas, the rainfall is equal, and in some seasons greater, than that of London; but no one would think of considering the climate of Kansas a humid one; in fact, want of moisture is one of the greatest drawbacks of the entire country west of the Mississippi, and for the simple reason that the rain falls in copious showers, but irregularly, and is followed by high winds, which dispel the moisture rapidly, leaving the earth parched and dried up, when it would under other conditions remain moist for weeks, even without recurring showers.

We have experienced showers in Colorado which, if they had fallen in the Eastern States, would have sufficed for crops during two or three weeks, but under the bright sun and drying winds of the plains the moisture was licked up and dispelled in an hour, and the earth became as dry and dusty as before; and this accounts for the short, thin growth of grass and herbage generally, as well as the scarcity of timber in all that region of country, formerly known as the Great American Desert, and now as the Great Western Plains.

Belts of trees would help very much in retaining the moisture coming in the form of rain; and every possible effort should be made to get timber to grow, if for no other purpose than to check the high winds which are almost as constant and regular as the revolutions of the earth. The annual or average amount of rainfall in the older States has not perceptibly changed since the settlement of the country and still in many localities the climate is drier and colder than formerly, all owing to the wholesale destruction of forests, which afforded protection to lesser plants and animals, keeping off the cold blasts which are now unchecked by these natural barriers.

A glance at Central New York, Eastern Pennsylvania, or any other extensive region of country from which the forests have been removed, will convince the most casual observer that man has it in his power to produce a wonderful influence upon climate. The barren knolls in many a field, the thousands of leaning shade, fruit, and ornamental trees, show which way the wind blows as well as its power to do harm. It is not so much the want of water as it is the means of keeping it when obtained; and wherever the wind has full sweep this will always be difficult.

The above brief hints in regard to wind and water are worthy of consideration of every farmer, for each one may do a little toward benefitting the climate of his immediate surroundings by planting belts or groups of trees as a protection against prevailing winds, and if all in a town or county would join in this work, beneficial results would certainly follow."

After copying the above from a torn, castaway piece of paper, I find it to be an editorial by the agricultural editor of the N. Y. Sun.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, AUGUST 18.....1877.

Gen. M. V. Sheridan, brother of the General, has written to Buffalo Bill denying the report that he had said that all men as Bill and Capt. Jack were arrant cowards. He concludes: "I believe, however, that about nine-tenths of the men on the frontier, behave well when Indian troubles come. The old mountaineers get together a pack of cowards, and seem to be the fact as well as the line to be held responsible for the manner in which newspaper correspondents choose to illustrate my report."

Judge Hunt on the supreme bench of the United States will probably be Judge Hunt, of Louisiana. The Western States have no representative on that tribunal, and, it is only fair that they should be represented. Judge Hunt is a native of Louisiana, and a jurist of acknowledged eminence and ability.

The Secretary of War has received a letter from the Committee of Public Safety at Pittsburg, thanking him for his action during the recent troubles, and requesting a permanent garrison as long as the condition of the army will admit of its being stationed at Allegany arsenal.

Two brothers in Baltimore 6 and 8 years old, have been arrested for stealing door-keys. They had a string of over 100 keys, and when they were locked up they asked for some chewing tobacco and cigars.

One of the gentlemen who shook hands with the President in Providence, was Mr. May D. Mason, who was 90 years last May. It was mentioned as an incident that he had also shaken hands with Gen. Washington.

Reynard Caught.

An amusing incident occurred at the City Hall Headquarters Sunday afternoon, it being at the expense of Col. Ward, who had charge that day. Capt. Ireland, who commanded one of the cavalry companies, lounged in during the afternoon, and, in conversing with Col. Ward, seemed very serious about something. Finally he said:

"Colonel, I've made an arrest; his name is Reynard. I know him to be a professional chicken thief, but can't say he had been doing anything when arrested. Still I thought he might have had some connection with the mob, and that if I spoke to you about it you might interrogate him."

"All right, bring him over," said the Colonel; "send a guard for him."

Ireland departed, but in a few minutes returned, apparently perplexed, and said, "Colonel, the jailer refuses to let the prisoner go with two unarmed men."

"Oh! I can't see the necessity of such technicality," replied Colonel Ward; "but send over two armed men."

Ireland again bowed himself politely out, and returned in a few minutes, remarking, as he came in, "Colonel, the prisoner is out in the hall. Will you see him?"

"Bring him in," was the response.

Thereupon there appeared two men, heavily armed, carrying between them a fox, which had been captured somewhere. Col. Ward gazed for a moment, saw the joke, and said, "There's no need of interrogating him. I can tell he's guilty by his looks."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A TRADE CONUNDRUM.—A whimsical commercial problem has been propounded. But under its absurdity lies the key to many a question where the assets of a firm have disappeared. Two men, on the way to a race course, conveyed a demijohn of whisky which they held in partnership, and propose to vend on the grounds. A condition was made and kept in all good faith, that neither should drink on the way without paying. One soon drank, and paid the other the stipulated dime. The other grew thirsty and drank, paying his partner the same dime. And so they drove a prosperous trade till, when they reached the race course, they found themselves in possession only of the one dime, and the empty demijohn. Like many other absurd jokes, this has the germ of truth in it, and expresses one of the causes of "hard times" better than many a labored financial treatise. The astonished firm had no more need to be astonished than many a bankrupt. The sales were matters of fact; and the payment for each drink no less certain. But the assets were nowhere. "Liquidation" began with the begining of the trade; and profits and capital ran away together. So many an apparently active business is only the consumption of capital stock, or, more commonly, the disappearance of merchandise obtained on credit. The dealer swallows his own capital (if he has any), and wonders what has become of it.

The editor of the Kern County Democrat has forsaken the tripod and gone on indefinite "fishing." After arrogating to himself for prosecuting the Russian-Turko war, for moving the niggers to Liberia and nominating Tom Fowler as State Senator, he says: "For the rest, it is a dry year, the weather is hot, we have had all of this kind of fun we want for the present, and now we are going a fishing. Ta-ta!"

A CATHOLIC priest of a Russo-Polish village, while recently reading to his congregation the Czar's manifesto, inadvertently gave it in Polish, and was at once sent to Siberia.

A POWDER-MILL.—A powder-mill is not in the least like other mills. Instead of one great building, it is composed of many rough-looking little sheds—sometimes as many as seventy or eighty. These are long distances apart, separated by dense woods and great mounds of earth, so that if one "house" is blown up, the others will escape a like fate. Of some the walls are built very strong, and the roofs very slight, in the hope that, if an explosion happens, its force will be expended upward only. Other houses have enormous roofs of masonary covered with earth; the roofs of others are tanks kept always full of water.

The constant danger inseparable from the work would be greatly increased were there not strict rules, always enforced. No cautious visitor can be more carefull than the workmen themselves, for they know, if an explosion happens, it will be certain, instant death to them. So no lights or fires are ever allowed; no one lives nearer the mill than can be helped; some of the buildings are carpeted with skins, and the floors are kept always flooded with an inch or two of water; and in front of every door is a shallow tank of water. Before entering, every person must put on rubber shoes and walk through the water, for the nails in the boot-heel might strike a spark from a bit of sand or gravel, which might explode a single grain of gunpowder, and cause wide-spread disaster. So the rubbber shoes worn in the mills are never worn elsewhere. Then, too, every one is expected to keep his wits about him; there is never any loud talking and laughter, and no one ever thinks of shouting. Yet, with all this extreme care, explosions sometimes occur, and then there is seldom anyone left to tell how it happened.—St. Nicholas.

WITHOUT A NEWSPAPER.—A contemporary thus strikes the key note and reaches the truth of this matter in the following: "Nothing presents a sadder commentary upon the present condition of society than the large number of families, both in town and country, but more especially the latter, that subscribe to no paper of any kind. Hundreds of thousands of families are thus growing up utterly ignorant of what is transpiring in the world around them—ignorant of the mighty events of the day. But who can tell of the vast amount of injury that is being inflicted on the rising generation—those who are to take our place in the busy world at no distant day—growing up without any knowledge of the present, or any study of the past, this ignorance, too being imbued into them by the sanction of those who should, and doubtless do, know better, did they only think of the injurious effect of their insane course. Let the head of the family think of this, and place in the hands of those for whom he is responsible the means of acquiring some knowledge of the moving panorama in which we act our different parts."

WE have no doubt that Eli Perkins told the truth when he wrote that Senator Sharon said that "Ralston robbed the rich and gave it to the poor; but Flood robs the poor and keeps it himself." A great many remarks are made by people which they would not like to see paraded in print, and doubtless Sharon, when he thus spoke in the presence of Perkins, thought he was talking with a discreet gentleman who would know what to report and what to suppress. But everything is fish that comes to Perkins's net. He knows lightning when he sees it, and he never fails to use it, no matter who is hurt. Yet, as he acknowledges himself, Perkins was generously and hospitably treated by Sharon at the very time when he was storing up this flash of forked lightning against his host. It was undoubtedly a flagrant breach of hospitality.—Los Angeles Express.

THE somewhat remarkable statement—and certainly discouraging to invalids—is made in a California paper that there is a firm in San Francisco who purchase the thousands of dogs slaughtered by the poundmaster of that city, or that may have been otherwise killed, for which they pay forty cents each. The carcasses are conveyed to their manufactory in San Francisco, where the skins are removed and sold to the tanneries, the hair taken off and resold to plasterers, the hide tanned, and the denuded carcass then boiled in a huge caldron until the flesh separates from the bones; the latter are ground to a fine powder and used to clarify sugar, while the oil that rises to the surface of the boiling mass is skimmed off and made into cod-liver oil for medicinal purposes.—Eastern Exchange.

A REWARD of $1,200 is offered for the arrest and return to A. J. Meany, Sheriff of Merced county, of Joseph Dumont (or Dummond), who in cold blood, shot and killed Mrs. J. F. Arees and two of her children at their home on Los Banos creek, Merced county, June 18th last. The murderer was a native of Leon, France, aged about 35 years, height 5 feet 8 or 9 inches, weight 160 or 170 pounds, square built, a stout muscular man, having blue eyes, black hair turning gray, and unless since shaved, has a short, full black whiskers; is a little bald on the top of the head, his left eye is defective, having the appearance of being blind; his right eye has a straight staring look, giving him the appearance of being cock-eyed.

JOHN SEDGWICK, late Collector of Internal Revenue for the first district, has received notice from the Comptroller of the treasury that all his accounts, involving about twelve millions of dollars, have been adjusted and that they are all correct.

COL. WALTER H. TAYLOR, of Norfolk, Va., who was Adjutant-General of the Confederate Army of Northern Virginia during a portion of the civil war, has contributed to the archives of the Southern Historical Society an interesting paper in regard to the battle of Gettysburg. He says that the first great disadvantage experienced by Gen. Lee was the unexpected absence of his cavalry. Certain discretionary power had been left with Gen. Stuart as to where he would cross the Potomac. It was arranged that the movements of the enemy and his own judgment should determine this, but he was to connect at once with Gen. Lee, keep on flank and advise him of the enemy's movements. After crossing the river Gen. Stuart consumed some time in pursuing and capturing a train of wagons, and when he turned to join the main column of the army he found that Gen. Hooker had interposed between him and Gen. Lee, and so was compelled to make the circuit of the Federal Army. He did not join Gen. Lee until the evening of July 2. On May 31, 1863, the effective strength of the Confederate Army was 68,352 men. Pickett had only three brigades at Gettysburg, and the available force was reduced to 62,000 men. On July 20, after the retreat from Gettysburg, there were about 49,000 men under arms. The net loss during the campaign was 19,000 men. The effective strength of Gen. Mead's army Col. Taylor estimates at 105,000 men.

A LITTLE BEHIND THE TIMES.—A South Carolina resident came down out of the mountains one day lately, and asked the first man he met:

"What's the news from the war?"

"Oh, it is booming right along," said the stranger.

"Richmond keeps holdin' her own, then?" quizzed the mountain man.

"Richmond!" yelled the stranger: "there isn't any war in Richmond—it's on the Danube and around Batoum and Erzeroum, and pointing on towards Constantinople."

"Oh, yaas," observed the mountain man, hesitatingly, "it's drifted 'round to them 'ere places, has it?"

And as he passed on around a cliff, the amazed stranger heard that mountaineer mutter to himself:

"I hain't read the paper much lately, that's so, and I reckon I'm gittin' a little behind on the news."

SOUTHERN NEVADA LOOKING UP.—The Carson Appeal of August 8th says: The southern stage brought in an unusually large amount of bullion last evening, in care of Wells, Fargo & Co. From the Standard mine at Bodie, two bars, the aggregate value being $23,316, consigned to the Nevada Bank of San Francisco; from the Northern Belle mine, seven bars, valued at $13,000, and from the Silver Peak mine, eleven bars, valued at $3,702. The southern country is looking up, and great things may be expected from the mining operations being conducted there.

NEW APPOINTMENTS.—The Bulletin contains a Washington dispatch, under date of the 11th instant, saying that Tipton Lindsey had been appointed receiver of public moneys in Visalia. The appointments was made two days after the return of the special agent sent here to investigate desert land transactions, and it is understood that Col. Andross is removed on account of his relation with Carr & Haggin, who made such an immense desert land grab.—Visalia Iron Age.

FIRST Briton—"Hi suppose you've 'eard the news from Hamerica?" Second Briton—"Hi cawn't say that hi 'ave. Hi don't take much hinterest in Hamerican affairs." F. B.—"Well, the Hamericans, you know, 'ave 'ad what they called a republic. Now, the 'ole thing is gone, hand they've put the government hunder a count." S. B.—"H'im not hastonished at all. Hi knew that blasted country would soon be haping hour hinstitutions."

CALIFORNIA piety: "Oh, my," she sighed, "wasn't it a beautiful sermon? So spiritual and heavenly," she continued, as they walked away; "it was really melting. And, oh, my dear," she added, "I hear they've struck it at last in the Mexican, real rich ore, and if you can buy it to-morrow for $12, get a hundred. Its bound to go up. Good-bye. God bless you, darling. Ta! ta! Sweet sermon wasn't it?"

COWARDICE.—You are a coward, if afraid to tell the truth when you should do so. You are a coward, when you insult the weak. You are a coward, if afraid to do right, if you shrink from defending your opinion, from maintaining that which you know to be just and good; and you are especially a coward, if you know certain things of yourself, and care not to own them yourself.

The San Francisco Argonaut reports an interview with a burnt-out Chinaman as follows: He was sitting on the wreck of his wash-house, calmly smoking a pipe of opium, when a sympathizing passer by inquired: "Much damage, John?" "Not muchee; wash-house gone hellee. Ebly dam hoodlum clean shirtee first time this morning. City payee bime by."

IT has been noticed as a remarkable fact that the rate of interest in England and this country has been the lowest ever known during the past year. On the stock exchange in London and New York it has for considerable periods been as low as one per cent.

THE BAROMETER—Master (soliloquizing aloud).—"This hand doesn't move a bit!" Housemaid—"No, sir. Please sir, I think it wants oiling."

An enthusiastic miss exclaimed, as the sun broke through a shower, "What an elegant trimming that rainbow would make for a white overdress."

SATURDAY, AUGUST 25.....1877.

THE PLACERVILLE TRIAL.—There has been a trial going on over there at Placerville for some weeks, in which a man named A. A. Sargent and another named H. F. Page appear to be the defendants, and some newspaper publishers named De Youngs, are the complainants. As near as we can make it out the charge is that Sargent wears a No. 7 hat and is a United States Senator, while Page is charged with the crime of having been a stage driver at one period of his life, and subsequently of becoming a Congressman. The penalties are nothing short of absolute dissection, such, in the live newspaper code, being considered capital crimes. The jury in this case is also liable to similiar penalties, should they render a verdict favorable to the above named defendants. In that event it is considered a settled thing that their individual portraits, each with a remarkable nose and a very flat forehead, will be published in the San Francisco Chronicle, together with enough of their respective personal histories to show that their grandmothers were not just as good as they might have been, else their grand sons would not have turned out to be such perjured villains. The case was to be submitted to the jury Wednesday last.

THE WAR.—The Russian army is receiving very heavy re-inforcements, there being something like 180,000 recruits on the march to be added to the army in Bulgaria. The Emperor is in the field in person, and it is thought a decisive battle will be fought on or about the 1st of next month. A battle was fought on the 16th lasting eleven hours, the Russians finally falling back in good order, with a loss of some 1200 men, that of the Turks being less than 200. The accepted incapacity of the Grand Dukes in command of the Russian army is having a very demoralizing effect not only among their soldiers but throughout the country. Opinions differ very materially as to the prospects of peace; some of the European journals claiming to know, think war is likely to continue for another year at least, while others think peace will follow the pending pitched battle, let it turn out as it may.

A DIFFERENT STORY.—A short time since it was mentioned as a remarkable circumstance that a small Russian battery on the Danube had, the first shot, blown up a Turkish ironclad, anchored two miles down the river. Now, on the authority of the commander of the ironclad himself, we have it that the explosion was an accident, and an astonishingly careless one at that. It seems that one of the sailors was smoking near the magazine, which was open at the time, and that he knocked the fire and ashes out of his pipe on to the deck amidst some grains of scattered powder, which, taking fire, communicated with the magazine, causing the whole to explode. This happened just as the Russian shell struck the water near by. The Russian gunner was decorated by the Czar for firing that shot.

CHIEF JOSEPH.—The latest news from the seat of war in Montana indicates that the Nez Perces are making their way steadily eastward, apparently with the view of striking the head waters of Tongue river, through Yellowstone Park. So fully convinced is Gen. Sheridan of this he has sent orders to all the Posts along the Little Horn and Tongue rivers to keep a sharp lookout for Joseph and his band, and to give them a warm reception if they show themselves. There are at these Posts several hundred men, and more will be ordered there from contiguous Posts if found necessary. A great deal of anxiety is felt for the safety of Gen. Sherman, who is supposed to be in the Yellowstone Park, and with an escort guard of but five men.

WHAT ALABAMA HAS DONE.—The new Constitution of Alabama introduces a sweeping reform. It reduces the Legislature to 33 Senators and 100 Representatives; changes the session to biennial ones of not more than 50 days' duration; reduces the pay of members from $6 to $4, and their mileage from 40 to 10 cents; requires that all bills be passed by ayes and noes; making lobbying a crime; forbids the passage of local or special bills for the benefit of of individuals or corporations; reduces the number of judicial districts, and abolishes a large number of officers, the whole effecting a saving of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

MRS. COOPER, of Virginia City, is about to bring suit against Col. Weller, President of the Ophir, for defamation of character and injury to her business.

THE DESERT LAND ACT.

Virtuous people are raising a terrible howl because of the swindles being perpetrated under the Desert Land Law. Already one land officer, Mose Andross, Receiver of the Visalia Land Office, has come to grief on account of it, having been dismissed because he permitted Billy Carr and some others to grab a vast area of the public domain under this law. There is no doubt in the world but that it opens the door for most outrageous frauds—that is, in some localities. Was a land law of these United States ever yet devised that did otherwise? Never. This, and every other frontier State has been robbed of millions of their very best acres under the innocent and time honored pre-emption and homestead laws, saying nothing about the swamp land act which was expressly designed to promote fraud and scondrelism of all degrees. It was not possible for any one person to steal large quantities of land under either of these laws except by subornation of perjury of the most shocking and demoralizing character. But the big thieves and perjurers never went amiss for lesser thieves and perjurers to help them to steal, and to keep on stealing till the last quarter section of the so-called farming land was gobbled up, and there was nothing left within reach of a market that any poor man could afford to take at any price. But over in the San Joaquin, particularly Kern and Tulare counties, there yet remained many thousands of acres of the richest quality and most desirable kind. There was enough of this kind not taken to furnish hundreds, perhaps thousands of poor men each a splendid farm. But there was a draw back attached to these rich and desirable lands that discouraged even the big thieves, so long as they had to hire men to swear to lies for them under the 160-acre limitation laws. Without means of artificial irrigation they saw that it was not possible for any settler to make a living on any portion of these rich lands. Experience had shown that once in say every three or four years these lands would produce immense crops, and would make the heart of the proud husbandman overflow with gladness, and all that, without expense for artificial irrigation. But then it was also noticed that during the intervening three or four years, when there was little or no rainfall, these rich lands would discount the Desert of Sahara for desertness. As it was obviously impossible for any poor man or his family, or his animals to go all these years between times without something to eat, the poor men said as with one voice, they couldn't be hired to claim such land, and would have none of it. And the rich men would't have it either because they couldn't hire numbers of men to stay on it and hold enough of it in a body for them, to justify the great outlay necessary to redeem it by artificial irrigation. So all these broad acres lay there begging for cultivators without number, but none came, or if any did, they only came and looked and speculated on the chances of living by means of quadrennial crops, and then went away satisfied it would never do for them, being poor men in search of homes. But now see what legislation can do. The desert law is enacted, or rather extended so as to cover the said San Joaquin and other plains. It is so framed that speculators can secure large bodies of dry lands, just such as nobody else would have. It enabled them to do this on much better moral terms than any other law that has ever been tried, because in this, no subornation of perjury is demanded—claimants are not required to take a solemn oath that they have no thought of speculating, and that they do not intend to sell out to somebody. That is why we claim that this is the best land law ever yet enacted. It is also better for other reasons. The Government, before it will issue patents, must receive every cent of the Government valuation of the land. No patents can issue in any case, except it be shown to the satisfaction of the local land officers, that enough money and labor has been expended on said lands to bring them under regular cultivation, and make them available for permanent homes, and which can only be brought about through the expenditure of money and labor in amount, generally speaking, far beyond the means of the ordinary settler. That no such expenditure would take place, no such lands be opened to actual settlement and taxation, were it not for the inducement of the additional acres to justify the outlay.

But we were going to remark what a wonderful effect may sometimes be produced by legislation. Prior to the extension of this Desert Land Act, nobody, not even the live San Francisco dailies nor any political convention, but seemed to think these desert lands utterly worthless. Now we are led to infer from their howlings that they are really the most valuable in the State, or ever was in it, and but for this law, hundreds and thousands of poor men could obtain the very homes they have been all their lives seeking for. But demagogues and live newspapers must have something to "resolve" and rant about, and that is another commendable feature about this Desert Land Law.

BODIE ITEMS.

BODIE, Cal., Aug. 20

MESSRS. EDITORS—I have been absent for some time, and on my return find myself very busy, and therefore have not written you sooner.

On the 6th instant the ball opened here by J. Wheeler shooting and mortally wounding a Mexican by the name of Reversa; cause—the Mexican owed Wheeler and he wanted Wheeler to take an $800 check which he did not want to take; after a little growling, shooting commenced, resulting as above stated. Wheeler had a Mono county examination before the magistrate here and was acquitted. About one week after this two Mexicans had a few words, and shooting commenced, in which one Revis shot and killed another Mexican. Cause unknown, but is said to be an old grudge. Revis had no examination because his whereabouts were not known, and are yet unknown.

On the night of the 17th instant while Mr. McMullen, a miner in the Standard mine, was ascending the incline in the cage, and not holding his head low enough, was struck by a roller on the head, instantly killing him and throwing him from the cage. He fell about 300 feet, bruising and mutilating the body horribly. He had only been working for this company a few days; he was buried at Aurora.

MINING.

The mines are looking fine and are prospecting favorably. The Standard mine (Bullion) owned by a corporation, is at a depth of 600 feet, and the mine is still better than at 400 feet. They have their new mill running and are shipping about $27,000 per week, in fine gold bullion. Their 20-stamp mill is one of the finest in the State, having all the modern improvements, such as self-feeders, elevator for quicksilver; all quicksilver tanks are of iron; the retort is set in a great massive iron pan or dish, to prevent loss of amalgam and quicksilver; a Blake steam pump pumps the tanks dry. The grade of the mill is such that the ore from the team decends until it finally lands in the tailings-reservoir. This mill reflects much credit to the builders, Messrs. Lynn & Co., also to the owners, who may be proud of so complete an institution. It is under the direct supervision and efficient management of Jim Dolly.

Zack Taylor and his associates are taking ore from their mine and shipping it to Aurora and having it reduced at Buckley & Co's mill, yielding them a handsome profit. Many others are prospecting their claims with good prospects. Several sales have been made within the last month. There is but little doubt but that this camp next Summer will rank among the best on the Eastern Slope. We now have an Express Office and Postoffice here, and are supplied with mail and express matter seven times per week from Aurora.

Election matters are quiet; the people here do no seem to take any interest or care much how election goes. The weather is as fine as could be wished for. MAX.

A GRAVE CHARGE.—A grave charge is preferred against Justice Bradley of the United States Supreme Court by the New York Sun. That paper says, on the alleged authority of Justices Field and Clifford of the same Court, that a short time before Bradley's vote turned the High Commission in favor of Hayes and against Tilden, he (Bradley) had written out and read to Field an elaborate opinion, taking the other, or Tilden side, as to the votes of Florida and Louisiana. It is possible that Justice Bradley may have written his first opinion before he had a knowledge of all the facts bearing on the case, and therefore that his subsequent change of view is justifiable. But for all that the fact that he did change, and so soon if it can be established by thet estimony, will inevitably weaken public confidence in Justice Bradley's judgment, if not in his integrity and perfect impartiality. And the charge, if so sustained, may even lead to his impeachment. At all events, it is now in order for Justices Field and Clifford either to publicly deny or affirm the truth of the Sun's allegation so far as it affects themselves. If Justice Bradley in fact showed them such a document written by himself, they should say so over their signatures. If he did not, they owe it to him to say so also. It is proper to add that both of these Justices were Democrats at the time and for some time before the sitting of the Presidential High Commission, and that Field was credited by public report with having committed himself on the question before the Commission was organized and before it could have been known to him or any one else that he would become a member of it.—S. F. Chronicle.

BIGGAR MAN NOR OLD MCMAHON.—An American named Biggar called President McMahon an ass. Well, what of it? All McMahon had to do was to prove that he was not. If he did not or could not, then Biggar had him; that's all; and Biggar should be praised for his sound discrimination. If each of our Presidents are not called an ass by somebody (say Fitzhugh) they get mad.—S. F. Spirit of the Times.

DISCRIMINATION IN FREIGHTS AND FARES.—The Southern Pacific Railroad Company have shown their enmity to Los Angeles county by putting up freights and fares to such figures as to kill off, if possible, all travel to and from the county, and stop the transportation of produce to San Francisco and Arizona. The people of this county looked forward to the completion of the railroad to Yuma with bright anticipations, believing that it would open up a market for all our surplus produce. But the rates of fare have been raised so as to virtually shut out that market from our people. That Company has violated its promises to the people of this county in the matter of freights and, instead of being an advantage to the business interest of the county, it has been a decided disadvantage. But we have a highway over which the Company can have no control, and we hope the business men of this county will entirely ignore the presence of the railroad in shipping produce and freight. Give them a wide berth. Let them know that there is a power stronger than their own, and, if they carry out their ruinous discrimination against this county that we are indepedent of their railway.—Santa Ana News.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, AUGUST 25.....1877.

INSTILLING MORALITY.—Sheriff Passmore is doing considerable in the way of instilling better ideas of morality into the heads of these heathen Piutes. A few evenings since he, by dint of some very tough work, managed to collect a congregation of them, in numbers about equal to the capacity of the cell in which he had locked them up to get sober so he could talk to them to some purpose. They were drunk as lords, and had been having a fine time cuttin g and slashing and calling each other vile names. This fun they thought tokeep up after they were put in chokey, and it took some pretty emphatic persuasion to make them stop it—the cell looked like a butcher pen the next morning. While gathering in this congregation the Sheriff tackled one tall buck who thought he wouldn't have any of it, and so determined was he on this point Passmore had to reach up and tap him on the head so as to bring him down to a common level and a more reasonable frame of mind, but, by that time, though, the Sheriff had no shirt or other good clothes left to speak of. In sober truth Sheriff Passmore is entitled to credit for his determined efforts to put a stop to this Indian-whisky traffic and the beastly displays occasioned thereby.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES.—W. B. Daugherty's "Biographical Sketches of Inyo People," was issued from this office early this week, and will be submitted to the critical judgment of parties in interest about the 5th of next month. It is a very well gotten up book, giving a brief sketch of the lives of no less the 1,353 of Inyo's best and worst citizens. As many of them have gone to that bourne whence no traveler returns, still others to Arizona, the Black Hills and elsewhere, the sketches might quite properly be designated as memoirs, and the more valuable for that reason. It is a work that should be in the hands of every young lady of an uncertain age or an inquiring mind, for, in connection with the Assessor's returns, it is liable to afford them information of material value. The regular election officers of each precinct are agents for the work, and it cannot be had from any others.

GOT A NOTICE.—The other evening Under Sheriff Steve Gregg took a Mexican in charge for being in the Indian-whisky business. Only a week before this same enterprising Greaser had been locked upon a similar charge. It was a moral certainty that he was guilty in both instances, and at all other times when he could get the opportunity. As the legal chain of evidence lacked an important link he had to be turned loose both times, but with a word of advice on the last occasion that he will do well to heed—that is, if he don't want to be a victim in a mighty severe accident, should he ever come back here again. There are also some young men from the country, given to similar practices, who are liable to hear something drop most any time.

HOW THEY WENT TO THE FIRE.—The other day a fire broke out on Al Johnson's place, below Lone Pine. Everybody around about became excited wonderfully, so much so, we are told, that they each "got a tin pail and ran with it empty expecting the pails to put out the fire." We don't vouch for that part, though. It's possible our informant might have been led into an error as to the matter of expectation. They "squelched" the fire, however, someway, and without further damage than that implied in the excitement part.

THE NET RESULT.—After the Board of Equalization got through with the Assessor's returns the totals stand thus: On real estate, other than town lots, $639,640; improvements on the same, $250,570; city or town lots, $37,535; improvements on the same, $125,030; personal property, $671,715; money on hand, $10,608; total amount of taxable property $1,735,098. This shows a reduction on the original returns of $367,896. The total number of acres of land assessed is 48,365.

IN FULL BLAST.—The Defiance furnace has been in full blast for several days, and is working splendidly. We have the gratifying information that the ore is unusually rich, and that quite a large bonanza of it has recently been struck in the mine, so that the general outlook for the property is firstrate. Mr. Reddy is now making his headquarters at Darwin, and will make the "old thing go or bust."

MIXED.—A Washington press dispatch of the 19th says a "new Postoffice has been established at Big Pine, Inyo county, James Newton, Postmaster." We suppose this means that James Newlon, not Newton, has been appointed Postmaster, vice McMurry, resigned, the office having been established there years ago.

LOOKING UP.—Times in Lone Pine must be improving, as several new saloons have recently been started, making a total of seventeen for that place. This leaves three or four men, more or less, without any saloon of their own. Something ought to be done for these unfortunates.

THE UNION FIRE.—Contrary to reports received early in the week, the Union Con. shaft is now ascertained to be uninjured by the fire lower than the platform put in at the depth of 190 feet, although escaping steam and gases make a descent to that point impracticable as yet.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Our readers will not fail to consult the new business advertisements of this issue, comprising those of Wood, Levy, Schulte, Fromm, Schmidt and others, to which attention is called.

ABOUT SOME BOYS.—Two fourteen-year old school boys of this locality came up missing at their respective family breakfast tables one morning early this week. There was some wonderment but no particular alarm just then. In a few hours, though, it was ascertained that the young gentlemen had, sometime during the previous night, mounted their horses and struck out to see the world on their own account. It was surmised that they had been reading some yaller kivered literature, and by virtue of the same had concluded it would be just the thing to go forth into the cold world and have some adventures, and get to be pea-nut merchants, or great generals in the army, or sailor men and sail the deep seas over, or, mayhap, become sheep-herders for $15 a month and grub, and sleep out in the sage brush and study astronomy, and in due course of time come back to the old folks and help eat up the prodigal calf they thought would be turned on the alfalfa to get fat expressly on their account. Let that all be as it may, a German man was deputized to go after the young gentlemen. About breakfast time on the third day this deputy arrived in Benton, eighty miles to the northward, and stepping up to the boys who were about to take some breakfast at the hotel, said, "Poys, you petter go back mit me." That seemed to strike the boys as a very good thing to do, indeed, so the following day found them smiling safe at home under the parental roof-tree—and then they learned that any time they wanted to run away, just to say so and they would be fitted up in good style, and permitted to depart in daylight with the fathers' blessing. This was a new view of the case to the boys and knocked their romantic notions sky-high. In truth, these are unusually good and industrious boys, and without the slightest excuse in the world for such an escapade, except they wanted to do something romantic and surprising, the same feeling that affects all boys at some period of their existence. We knew a boy once, thus troubled, who wanted to die and be laid in his coffin for no other reason than that he might see what his too indulgent mother and the rest of them would say about it. He thought it would be such fun. So it would, pretty much the same as these young gentlemen would have found it had they kept on for a few weeks, or long enough to have given strange people a chance at the wire edge of their romance.

DOMESTIC INFELICITY AMONG THE DUSKY SONS.—The pistol shots, followed by a general commotion among a collection of Indians in town on Thursday last, was the result of a little domestic row in the family of Long Jim. Mrs. Long Jim, it seems, was enamored and captivated with another bold "Injun," although her liege lord was possessed of a six-foot stature and wore a No. 6 boot, and was generally shunned by all his tribe, yet Mrs. Long Jim longed for another Jim, whose christian name wasn't Long. The original Jim waxed wroth and fiercely demanded his legal spouse or the sum of $16 50 which he paid for her. This was a reasonable proposition and probably would have been acceded to had not a George's Creek Indian, Geo. Rodgers, put in an appearance in behalf of the guilty pair, and, fired with whisky, proceeded to flourish his pistol around his head and scatter the congregation in something less than four seconds. He got in two shots at the flying figure of Long Jim jumping over willows and sage brush, but missed him. The latter waited on the Sheriff and entered a complaint for $16 50, or the frail maiden who had so wounded his pocket and failed to soothe his savage, etc.

THE REX MONTIS.—Operations by this company have been suspended for some days by reason of some trouble about the ownership of the mill. We understand that work is now to be resumed, the company having purchased the mill, which was held by Sheriff's deed by Messrs. Harris & Rhine, being the old Silver Sprout property.

OUR MONO LETTER.

BENTON, Aug. 28.

MESSRS. EDITORS—I will break the silence by saying Rural Jacob has been awaiting anxiously and expecting every week to see a letter in your columns from the Hon. Jos. Absquash, whose letters are always read with more interest and enthusiasm than Rural's. However, Absquash has absconded or evidently absented himself from the haunts of the aborigines, else he would not have abdicated the office of correspondent to your valuable paper.

Times are looking up now; both mills are running and all mines now being worked are looking better than ever, whilst the the old stand-bys are holding their own, viz: the Comanche, Kerrick and Eureka. Other mines which have hitherto attracted but little attention are looking far better than they ever have, and are not kept for ornaments in the shape of mines, but are being worked with a handsome profit to the owners. Of these "hitherto less important mines" the Diana stands at the head and is now second to none. She is working about 30 men and more than keeping her mill going, which has a capacity of 5 tons in twenty-four hours. The Laura comes next on the list, which is superintended by Mr. Muggler, who is a successist at the business—he having about 16 men at work constantly taking out ore, which he has worked at the Comanche mill. The Laura Mining Co. have paid up the old score and have funds on hand. Next is the Modoc mine, which is superintended by one of the owners, Mr. Thomas Albright. The Modoc always has paid its own way and is now promising handsome dividends. The Centennial, owned and worked by Alverson & Kellogg, is looking better. although up to the present time it has been a dead expense, but the never failing energies of the owners, methinks, ere long will be rewarded, for they have every indication except the metalic substance, and a little of that. There are numerous other mines on the hill worthy of note, but time and space will not permit a detailed account this time.

The miners at the Yellow Jacket are about now turning out ore and sending to the Comanche mill for reduction. Water is less troublesome in that district now than usual, and the miners with but little bailing are enabled to put in full time taking out ore.

NEW DISCOVERY.

James Parker, an old prospector and formerly of Inyo county, has found the largest bonanza outside of Virginia City. It is located in the Sierra Nevada mountains, at the north end of Long Valley, in this county, and south of the trail from Long Valley to Yosemite Valley. Parties living here have just came in and say the ledge is gold and silver bearing quartz, assaying $36 per ton, and being from 30 to 100 feet wide. These parties we know to be reliable men, and they have loaded their animals and returned. They say there were quite a number there from Bodie, Aurora and other places. I would not recommend much of a rush, however, this Fall, as it is getting too late in the season, but there are indications that by this time next Fall there will be a lively camp there.

INDIAN TROUBLE.

Last week there was considerable talk about an Indian war in this vicinity, and the report was that a man had been killed at Mono Lake; that report has not been confirmed; Mr. Witherill, of this place went out to the lake to find out what truth there was in it, and ascertained that the Indians had resolved to proceed to Round Valley and kill one Indian Jeremiah, for some bad language said Jeremiah had used in reference and derogatory to the character of the Piute Indians. So "the cruel war is over."

RUNAWAY.

Last Thursday Benton was the scene of a first-class runaway, which occurred thusly; The Comanche team of six horses, drove up to the express office loaded with bullion, where they took a fright (and the advantage of the teamster's temporary absence) and started down the street at full speed, which resulted in the scattering of bullion from the office to Hightower's shop; there the team took the side walk, where the off wheeler ran against an awning post and broke his neck, the balance of the team keeping the sidewalk the full length of building and the off wheel occasionally tearing out an awning post, and finally out in the street, thence down in the valley below town, where the balance were picked up in an exhausted and tangled condition.

BIRTHS.

Since Jake or Squash have written there has occurred several births and deaths, also; about two weeks ago the wife of James Tregembo presented him with twin daughters, both of which have since died; about six weeks ago a daughter was born to the wife of John Tregembo; about seven weeks ago to the wife of Peter Gelhard, a daughter, all of which signifies peace to the United States for eighteen years at least.

DIED.

The daughter of James Argill, aged nine years. Her bereaved parents, sister and brother have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.

Saturday evening in the Comanche mine John Boase was found dead with pick in hand. Judge Cross was sent for to hold an inquest; the Judge ascertained that Mr. Boase had been complaining for about two weeks, and the supposition was he died with the heart disease; hi funeral was preached Sunday at 3 P. M., by the Rev. Pratt, and his remains were attended to the grave by a large audience. Rumor says that two Spaniards were killed at Bodie last week, one of whom was killed by John Wheeler, in self defense. As yet have not learned the particulars of the death of the other.

ALL SORTS OF TRUCK.

Judge Cross has put green window shutters on the windows of his residence; Judge Decker is in the northern portion of the county electioneering; I believe Justice Cross' court was well patronized last week, having had some half dozen cases, too numerous to detail. Sheriff Patterson was here last week after criminals. L. E. Tubbs and G. Rowan start out electioneering tomorrow. Benton has eleven fat men, and not a good place for men to fatten either.

RURAL JACOB.

A RAMBLE IN LONG VALLEY.

MESSRS. EDITORS—For many years Long Valley has been a great Summer range for horses, cattle, sheep and hogs. With the exception of a school section claimed by the McGee's, Long Valley was, until recently, common property, and besides the tens of thousands owned by stockmen, farmers generally in these regions, would drive in the Spring their few head of "loose stock" to roam and grow fat in Long Valley during Summer.

However, the best portions of this large valley are taken up at present, although there are thousands of acres yet vacant. Mr. J. Somers has secured over 6,000 acres. At the south end of the valley Hilton & Sons, of Round Valley have secured a fine range with abundance of water. The wagon road into the valley is worse than the "rocky Dublin," yet Oscar Hilton has hauled over 7,000 feet of lumber, with which they have built a commodious house, wherein a dance was given a few weeks ago, when a dozen ladies and eighteen gentlemen were present. Music by Stockly and Meratty. This was the first fandango by whites in Long Valley, consequently the event should be chronicled. There are other families located on the east side of the valley, Arrison, Shelton, Reynolds and Cromwell. Mr. Arrison, also, has a claim in the vicinity of Casa Diablo, where he is making excellent shakes and hauling the same to Bishop and other points. Thompson & Bailey have a fine range near Bald Mountain, about 20 miles north of Hilton's camp. These two noble bachelors' families are increasing so rapidly that they had to seek "pastures new." Lairds and Hutchisons have also fine ranges secured.

Han Gunter still holds forth at the old reliable hotel—McGee's camp—where, constant as the northern star, Han watches over 4,000 sheep. Some of the above parties are in the dairy business and making considerable butter, but as yet we know of no cheese factory in this entire region. It strikes a greenhorn that cheese making would be profitable, and undoubtedly, some enterprising genius will ere long engage in it.

Being that Long Valley contains thousands of acres of rich soil and abundance of water, the question, "Will farming pay—will small grain do well there," is frequently discussed. The altitude of Long Valley is between 7,000 and 8,000 feet above sea level. Some vegetables have been raised, but grain production is yet an experiment. Mr. Hutchison put in a few acres of wheat last Spring, but whether the cattle have threshed it we know not. Mr. Sherwin, whose farm is on a bench north of Round Valley, at an altitude of nearly 7,000 feet, has raised good crops of small grain, potatoes, etc. He has also planted a variety of fruit trees and grapevines, and is sanguine of success. The Long Valley settlers may learn something by Mr. Sherwin's experiments. However, whether Long Valley will ever become an extensive farming country or not, it will surely be a great grass, hay, beef, mutton, pork, butter and cheese producing locality.

Very fine bodies of timber are in close proximity to the Valley, and some rich mines are reported to have been lately discovered in the mountains near Casa Diablo. Some huge fires are raging in the timber north of Long Valley, started by French sheep men. Such graceless scamps should be pelted out with dead frogs.

The great natural curiosity of Long Valley is Casa Diablo (the devil's house), situate about 12 miles northwest of Hilton's. There are innumerable hot springs in this vicinity. A large volume of boiling water issues forth from the principal spring. Within a few steps of this is a mud spring where the devil himself appears to be underneath, hissing and incessantly spitting the boiling, bubbling mud. Messrs. Gill Bros. & Murray, thinking that the old man (the devil) is too slow in making a proper display of his "house," have condescended and kindly tendered their services, and with three or four more are working like Trojans, making improvements, bathing facilities etc., for the accommodation of tourists and invalids. It is evident that the "boys," being on good terms with the old gentleman are in no dread of hell and darnation, for they can be seen camping and working on very delicate ground, where the hot vaporings of the infernal regions belch forth day and night. It is claimed that the Casa Diablo springs contain wonderful curative properties, that a few ablutions will speedily dispel rheumatic twinges, and other ailments which flesh is heir to. A few hundred yards north of these springs is a cold water lake which the boys intend to stock with fish. A few miles south is Convict Lake. This is a beautiful sheet of water with millions of fish (suckers) sporting in it.

Han Gunter leaves his mutton occasionally, and, with spear in hand, accompanies visiting friends to the lake and then and there makes desperate raids on the suckers. Gunter wisely suggests the planting of trout in this lake. Those beautiful mountain streams of Bishop, Round Valley and Long Valley should be stocked with the the sparkling beauties, trout. Let us make a move in that direction.

Taking a general view of the Casa Diablo region—his satanic majesty's habitation—the fine timber, lakes, streams, springs, hot and cold, the big flats, hills and rugged mountains, a wild romantic scenery, we are induced to believe that Long Valley will ere long be a noted Summer resort, and as Bill Gill has it a "second Saratoga," providing old Beelzebub will not shake up things shockingly.

DINKS.

A PERIPATETIC quack applied to a village mayor in France to obtain permission for the public sale of his elixir. "It can do no harm to the people who take it, can it?" anxiously inquired the mayor, adjusting his spectacles. "Nothing in it but but molasses, licorice and water." "That's right. Here's your permit."

Senator Conkling.

Mr. Conkling returns to find party questions and issues put aside by all thoughtful men for considerations of greater and immediate importance. The railroad strikes have advertised to everybody the want and suffering brought upon all interests, employers as well as workingmen, by the prolonged stagnation and prostration of all our industries. When hundreds of thousands of honest and industrious families are suffering, when hundreds of thousands of willing workers stand in enforced idleness, when factories and workshops of all kinds are stopped it is an impertinence to stir up faction quarrels and magnify the petty and vulgar strife for office. The two parties are dead. The country calls for statesmen able and willing to rescue it from want, for men wise enough and strong enough to push aside the squabblers for office, the demagogues and partisans, and to bring forward measures needed to revive our perishing industries and commerce and to set the people once more at work. We hope to see Mr. Conkling take the lead in this needed work. He is a man of great influence in the Senate, his talents and his position combine to raise him above the position of a mere partisan. He can do the country great and real service, as he has done before. We trust he will come at once to the work, and that he will show, in the first days of his arrival, that he means to play the part of a statesman; and not of a partisan as his enemies pretend. In our judgment he has a great opportunity, the greatest of his life, and we hope he will not hesitate in using it. A few ringing words from him, calling men from partisan strife to attend to the country's needs, will be hailed with joy all over the land and make him in all men's eyes the leader in the new questions.—New York Herald.

WE have a court note which could hardly be written of any other place on the continent but Los Angeles. Three divorce cases were tried before Judge Sepulveda, last week, in the Seventeenth District Court. They showed that the infelicities of married life are confined to no particular nationality, and that the yoke becomes as unbearable when domestic objurgations are uttered in the soft, latinic languages as when launched out in round and vigorous phrases from Saxon lips. The first was an application in which two Spanish-speaking principals were interested. The counsel on each side examined their witnesses and conducted their case in Spanish. The second was an Anglo Saxon couple, and their case was tried in English. The third was the suit of a French couple, and their witnesses were all from the home of Béranger and Rousseau. As soon as the Court ascertained that the counsel on both sides were familiar with the French language, an interpreter was dispensed with, and the case proceeded in that tongue. The regular court loungers were somewhat disgusted when they found that out of three divorce suits only one was to be conducted in a language with which they were familiar.—Los Angeles Express.

AN English woman, who was born without arms, has just had twins. She wears her wedding ring on her toe, and does all the housework with her feet with a dexterity that is surprising. How she will manage to nurse her twin babies is a problem yet to be solved.

DARWIN says a monkey "takes after man more than any other living thing." There are other animals, however, that "take after man" more than a monkey does. A tiger, or a cross dog, for instance.

Hoped for Conquests in Asia Minor.

Whatever the political or military importance of Asia Minor to the Russians, it is of some interest to note that within the limits of their hoped for conquests in Asiatic Turkey are very many places of august and memorable traditions in the world's histor . For the Turk's possesions east of the Bosporus include the scenes of many momentous events. If the Russians at last succeeds in conquering them, he will have won what the Crusaders failed to do after an effort which lasted two centuries. The Christians will rule in the Holy Land. With such a conquest, not only Bethlehem and Damascus, Mount Sinai and the banks of the Jordon, but Jerusalem itself, will be crowned by the banners of the Cross. Mount Ararat, too, whence may be said to have grown forth the parent trunk of the religious alike of the Jew, the Mohammedan, and the Christian, would fall into Muscovite hands.

But the historical value of their conquests would not be confined to Palestine and the holy places—to the sacred spots once familiar with the footsteps, voice, and deeds of Christ. Much nearer Constantinople, their battalions would find themselves, perhaps camping on, at least treading, the classic soil of the Troad. Besika Bay, whither the British fleet was lately sent from Greece, is the very inlet, we are assured, where the much feebler barks of Agamemnon, King of Argos, Menelaus, his brother-in-law, put in, freighted with the doughty Greeks, who were destined to besiege Priam's city. The Russians may find it romantic to bivouac within the excavations of Dr. Schliemann; at all events, the czar could not but feel a thrill of pride at adding to his dominions a site so famous and so consecrated to the veneration of man by the greatest of epics.

In another direction his acquisitions would be scarcely less interesting to the respecter of historical remains. In the long and lovely valley of the Euphrates—that valley by which, we may fairly infer, the Russian hopes one day to penetrate to the Persian Gulf, and thus find at once a point d'appui whence, sooner or later, to attack India, and an outlet for that Oriental commerce which he hopes to monopolize—in that valley are ruins as suggestive of mighty traditions, of titanic warriors, of collossal power and arrogant wealth, as any that still remain to attest the towering pride of man. The still stately ruins of Nineveh would become his, and the still not wholly revealed remains of haughty Babylon.

Another famed city of old, now sunk in sloth and decay, would become a portion of his victory. To all who have read—and to be pitied is he or she who has not, in childhood or youth—"The Arabian Nights," the name of Bagdad will always fall pleasantly and romantically upon the ear. As the city of the good Caliph Haroun-al-Raschid, it is dear to to millions who have greedily devoured those marvelous tales. Bagdad, too, would become Russian. The birthplace of Homer, as well as the memorable scene of his Iliad, would pass from the Moslem to the Christian, and Aleppo, and other once great and thriving seaports of the eastern Mediterranean, together with Cyprus, that realm of romance and beauty, would change hands.

To the antiquary and archæologist this transfer of the dominion of the teeming East would would be welcome. It is probable that under Russian rule obstacles would no longer be put in the way of those researches and excavations which will some day bring to light many marvels of those departed empires, and make us more familiar with the men of old. We should probably see the walls of Jerusalem wholly revealed; the secrets beneath the soil of Babylon would become open facts; and in many places, now held as a sealed book by Turkish jealousy and dog-in-the-manger obstinacy, revelations would result from the indefatigable toils of new Schliemanns and Cesnolas illuminating periods intensely interesting to modern Christendom, as being periods during which the faith of the Christian was founded and nourished. Thus the present war may bring its contribution to learning, gained, however, at a terrible and cruel cost.—From Appleton's Journal for September.

MEN have been somewhat cynically defined as a contrivance of wise men to keep fools at a distance. Fashion is shrewd to detect those who do not belong to her train, and seldom wastes her attentions. Society is very swift in its instincts, and if you do not belong to it resists and sneers at you, or quietly drops you.

HIGH SCHOOL boys in San Francisco wear a uniform of blue coat and brass buttons. This dressing in livery is getting to be the style all over the country. The earlier boys of the country used to wear a uniform of tow linen and bare feet, and they made healthy and great men.

ROYAL TALES.—English gossip is of late having a royal feast, in which Her Majesty, Queen Victoria, and the Prince of Wales are the leading characters. The old lady is jealous. Her jealousy is of such a nature as to henceforth place in doubt the popular idea that there are but two things in this world making one incapable of jealousy—a child and a pupil. The story goes that at the recent review of troops Her Majesty perpetrated the unpardonable omission of a failure to secure the attendance of the heir apparent on that occasion, for the reason, as is alleged, that the Prince is too popular with the army and the Queen is afraid of losing caste. And then the Queen is accused of that awful sin of royal stinginess. The Prince does all the entertaining of the Kingdom on $550,000 a year. The Queen has an income of $3,125,000, never spends a dollar outside of family expenses, and is said to be unhappy lest she should spend her old age in the poor-house. It is sinful in the English press to thus let us into the green-room of royal infirmities. Blood may be thick there, extending clear back to the Plantagenets. But Guelph is human, and no amount of purple will cover its weaknesses.—San Jose Mercury.

"COULDN'T LIE FOR THAT MONEY."—A story is told of a young Waterville (Maine) lawyer, who was of convivial turn, who had in his hands a number of unsettled accounts against an old farmer in the vicinity, who never paid any debts until he was sued, and then only after loud outcries against the lawyers for "grinding the face of the poor." One day he came to settle a bill, when the lawyer offered to discount him a dollar and a half if he would go into the street, mingle with all the groups of people he might meet, and lead the conversation up to a certain point where he could accidentally remark the he (the lawyer) was a sharp and worthy fellow. The old man wanted the money, but finally he said impressively: "Squire, I'm a very old man, and have done many wicked things in my life; but with my views of eternity, I can't lie like that for money." The dollar and a half was discounted without extorting any recompense therefor.

THE Southern Pacific Railroad Company is pushing its construction through Arizona to the banks of the Rio Grande in Texas. Ties for six hundred miles of road are now piled upon the banks of the Colorado river, opposite Fort Yuma. Iron for this road is purchased, shipped, and a part is now due. Labor of grading is now going on. The object of this activity is, that when Congress meets, and Tom Scott, with his active lobby force, demands subsidy, the Southern Pacific may point to the work it has already accomplished and to its force engaged in building the road. To secure this Arizona, Southern Nevada, New Mexico and Texas trade to San Francisco, is most desirable. To allow Tom Scott, or any body else, to control a transcontinental road, would be a severe blow at the progress and prosperity of this city and State.—Argonaut.

AN intelligent and thrifty farmer says: "But for the co-operation of my boys I should have failed. The eldest is near twenty-one, and the other boys in the neighborhood, younger, have left their parents; mine have stuck to me when I most needed their services, and I attribute this result to the fact that I have tried to make their home pleasant. I have furnished them with attractive and useful reading, a good organ, and when night comes, and their day's work is ended, instead of running with other boys to the railroad station and adjoining towns, they gather around the great lamp and become interested in their books and music."

CHANGE OF PARTIES.—The Louisville Courier-Journal says: The cause of depression is universal. It pervades the whole country and reaches every group of public interest. It consists in years of class legislation and corrupt government. Mobs are fruitless. They simply intensify the trouble. A total change of parties is essential, and when this is accomplished, patience until the new policy has time to make itself felt.

THE Indianapolis Sun says: This is not a contest between labor and capital. Labor itself is capital. Farms are capital. Factories are capital. The labor of the country is not inimical to any of these. The contest is between labor with all of the above on one side, and the Shylocks and debt-holders on the other. It is insurrection against the Shylocks—the usurers and extortioners. Keep the distinction clear.

A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

It has appeared necessary for some years that a change should be made in the organic law of the State. Taxation should be equal and exact, but under the ruling of the Supreme Court it is not; as now interpreted the monied man has a decided advantage over the small property holder. It will be far better to have an improved system established for arriving at values of property, a more certain and reliable way of assessing. There are so many things that can be incorporated in a Constitution that will meet the necessities and requirements of the present, so much better than the instrument in force, that it warrants an attempt to create a new law. The present Constitution has proved an admirable one, formed as it was during the exciting times surrounding the men of that day. It has performed its mission, and the people now require something different. There is but little hope of making proper changes through the Legislature, if it can be done that way, too much time is required with too much uncertainty as to success. The shortest cut to get what is wanted is for the people to take the matter directly in hand. There is more or less danger that certain influences may get control of the Convention; those chances must be taken. If a proper instrument is wanting after the labors of the Convention are ended as it must be submitted for approval, the people can refuse to ratify. There is no chance to get a Constitution outside of a vote of the people, therefore the proposition for a Convention should meet with no serious opposition.

THE LIBEL SUIT.

After a trial lasting eighteen days the jury in the Page-Chronicle libel suit came into court with the announcement that it was impossible for them to agree on a verdict, standing six to six. The court sent them back once after the announcement of their inability to agree. Politically, the jury were also equally divided, being three Republicans and three Democrats in each six. The Chronicle claims this failure as a substantial victory for itself. We conclude after reading the whole of the testimony that the Chronicle made an failure in its efforts at justification, considered as a legal proposition simply. Page avows his determination to renew the suit until he does obtain a verdict one way or the other.

THE regular Democratic nominee for State Senator, the bloviating cattle lord from Tulare, the election of whom is important as a matter of party but disgusting as a matter of fact—is a nauseating dose for our Democratic farmers of Inyo to swallow. Better stand by your home candidate, if home interests are the consideration.

A NEW Song and Dance, entitled, 'She's just a Sweet Boquet,' received from Messrs. Sherman, Hyde & Co., is said by those who have heard it to be "just splendid." The music is by Chas. E. Pratt, author of the popular 'Is my Darling True to me?' Mlle. Aimee is singing it throughout the United States. The price is marked 35 cents, too cheap by half.

THE STATE FAIR.—The annual State Fair of California will commence at Sacramento on Monday, September 17th, and continue throughout the week. Forty thousand dollars will be distributed in cash premiums. A premium of $100 will be offered for the most valuable gold bar exhibited.

BEGIN TO SEE IT.

The Los Angeles people are just beginning to see things in their proper light; beginning to appreciate the fact that they have made fools of themselves, to put it as politely and truthfully as possible. They laid back and rested and made themselves comfortable and languidly told Jones if he wanted to build a railroad for them, "all right, we won't object. But, really, my dear sir, you can't expect us to help you. We have a situation; we have a back country; above all we have climate, and it makes no difference who builds and owns our railroads, we are bound to become a great people; bound to have a great commercial city, a grand railroad center, an immense sanitarium. Besides, we don't want to do anything to offend Mr. Stanford. But still, go on with your road, Mr. Jones, but please don't compromise us, so as to get Stanford down on us." That was all that could be got out of them, notwithstanding it was made as plain to them as that two and two make four, and time after time, by their leading newspaper, the Express, and by far-seeing citizens, that the very existence of the place as a city in fact depended upon the completion of Jones' great enterprise. "That might be," they said, "but Stanford—we don't want to vex him." So they let Jones struggle along, while the admired his pluck from afar, and pocketed $300,000 the first year, savings in freight charges caused by Jones' bit of opposition road just from town to his sheep ranch by the sea. They began to figure then: "If 14 miles of an opposition road running to a sheep ranch on the west side of town makes a saving for us of $300,000, and that without creating any new business of itself, then a hundred miles or so on the east side where there is a world of rich mines would surely profit us millions every year." Then they hurrahed for Jones, quietly like, and wished him well, raised city rents, likewise prices of real estate, but refused to help him a cent's worth. Couldn't think of taking such risks—would furnish Jones money enough to build two such roads at two per cent. per month on approved collaterals; otherwise, it was waste of time to talk about it. Never was there such acute business men as those down there at Los Angeles, except the mining men of Inyo, who would rather pay Stanford $45 a ton freight than $25 to Jones.

They all had big faith in Jones, and were quite willing he should reap the glory if he succeeded, in which event they knew the most of the profits must fall to their share, while, if he failed they wouldn't be out a cent. They did not think Jones could fail, after such a beautiful and promising start. They never stopped to think that it was impossible for Jones to go on with this great work and at the same time write a six-hundred-page report on the silver question, and that as he was bound to give up one or the other it would be the railroad he would abandon. And no doubt lots of them felt they had been abused when they found out that Jones really had sold his road and turned the City of the Angels over to Stanford, who wanted it for a calf-pasture, for which it was well suited, being already fairly stocked with a gentle breed willing to suck the hind teat, or take skim-milk if nothing better offered. It just suited the pastoral Leland's ideas of rats to have a railroad with a calf-pasture at one end and a sheep ranch at the other, and it just suited the Senator to supply him—then he could go on with his report on the silver question. Nevertheless, there is much bleating all along the line, as witness this from the paper above referred to:

"The people of Los Angeles are called upon to confront a vital issue. It is no less an one than whether the great railroad corporation shall be permitted to inflict on us an injury of almost irreparable proportions, or whether we shall, from the very outset, resist it and seek for a remedy. The monopoly has adopted a policy of charges and discrimination toward this city which is calculated to paralyze every class of business. It has established a rate of freights and fares so exceedingly unjust as to menace every interest in the county. It will leave the farmer with no living return for his products, the mechanic without employment, and the business man without any perceptible margin of profit. It will cut off from the merchant the custom of our natural tributaries, and shut us out from markets that are ours by right of proximity. It will leave us helpless at the feet of a great and powerful corporation [without a soul to save], with the permission to exist only at the pleasure of the men who control it."

And so on through dozens of similar articles. And our Inyo mining men, as they struggle along and wonder what becomes of all the profits from their big mines, and how much of an assessment they had better levy to pay freight on the next lot of bullion, hardly know whether the fool-killer, had he been out on business about a year ago, would have gone for them or the Los Angeles fellows first. They see, though, he would have been duty bound to have taken all or none, just as plainly as they might see that Jones' road would have saved them not less than forty per cent. on freight charges, and that the aggregate of that saving for one year, say, invested at the proper time to encourage Jones, would surely have insured the completion of his road, and ever thereafter an additional margin of from $10 to $20 for profit on each ton of mineral shipped—a difference that would have put life into hundreds of new mines, and insured a brilliant future to some now dragging out an uncertain existence by means of assessments. But the "baby died a bornin', kase nobody wouldn't do nothin'," so let us search that silver report for consolation, and not sniffle so loud as to annoy the Governor.

THE Times' Washington special says, in relation to the President's alleged intention of changing the Indian policy to conform to that of Canada: Some features may be borrowed from the Canada plan, and that at once. Canadian Indians are not confined to reserves, but are allowed to roam about at will. They are not fed by the Government, but support themselves principally by hunting; an annual stipend and some supplies being, however, distributed to them by the Indian Agents, of which there are thirty; they are brought to trial for offences committed upon each other or upon white men, and white men are as liable to punishment for offences committed upon the Indians. To carry out these rules there is a system of magistracy among the Indians, the magistrates trying all offenders brought before them by the mounted police, a body of 200, who ride through the country preserving law and order and making arrests. Ammunition and arms are distributed and sold to the Indians by agents. This plan is diametrically opposed to the system of our Government, and there are many reasons why it cannot be introduced into the United States. There are also many reasons why the Canadian Indians should be more easily managed than ours. One is, that there is plenty of game in the vast country over which they roam, and hunters are not allowed to ruthlessly slaughter any. The Indians can therefore always support themselves. Another strong reason is, their country is not entered by emigrants, and fights which generally ensue when these two elements come in contact are avoided. It is probable the President will hereafter have army officers detailed to take charge of the extreme outposts, and retire the agents. It is believed he will also recommend in his annual message the establishment of a code of laws for the punishment of Indians guilty of crime.

THE MINT INVESTIGATION.—A San Francisco dispatch of the 22d says: The Mint Investigation Commission resumed its sessions this evening, but the sitting was short and very little evidence of importance was taken. Gen. LaGrange was placed upon the stand, and took an oath as to the substantial truth and correctness of his long written statement recently read to the Commission and published at length in the city papers, though not swearing as to the verbiage in all cases. Pinney then demanded the privilege of cross-examining LaGrange on his statements, to which the latter demurred, but the Commission held that it would be in order. The cross-examination was, however, postponed until the next session. During the evening some very sharp passages occurred between LaGrange and Pinney, and it was considered advisable to put the two belligerent parties on opposite sides of the table, to prevent a possible collision.

WIGGINTON VS. PACHECO.—Referring to the contest between Pacheco and Wigginton, candidates for Congress in the 4th district, in which Pacheco had a majority of one vote, the Examiner of the 24th instant says editorially: "We are informed that an error has been discovered in the returns of Kern county for Representatives in Congress, by which Wigginton receives an addition of three votes, which were erroneously credited to Pacheco. This will give the seat to Wigginton, as it more than counter-balances the claim of majority heretofore made for Pacheco."

THE farmers and orchardists of the Lower Sacramento river are holding meetings on the Chinese question. They claim that the unreliable quality of the white labor obtainable has forced them to adopt the plan of employing and renting to Chinamen, but that they would much prefer white labor and will avail themselves of it whenever practicable. Incendiary documents have been distributed among them, warning them against employing Chinese, but they appear to care nothing for such threats.

THE time is coming, says the Los Angeles Express, when no man will feel that he is doing himself proud by the assurance that he has never scratched a party ticket. The people ought to scratch like cats any and every ticket which contains objectionable candidates. The voter who always swallows his straight, must gulp down many a bitter draught. Machine politics are out of date.

THE CONVENTION QUESTION.

All ballots of the which will be used in Inyo and Mono counties on Wednesday next are printed favorable to the proposed Constitutional Convention. The wording only differs from the requirements of the Governor's proclamation and those of the County Boards of Supervisors thereunder in having annexed to the prescribed form the word "YES." The only possible construction of this is that it "distinctly conveys the intention of the voter," and consequently the vote—if not "scratched"—will stand recorded as favorable to this acknowledged necessity of the day.

The difference in the form and wording on the printed ballots from the Governor's instructions, immaterial as it is, is due solely to the fact that in order to supply outlying precincts many thousand ballots were printed prior to the tardy arrival of the Governor's proclamation, and the copy was prepared in accordance with our view of Constitutional provisons, and in conformity with the requirements of the Code. After having so many supplied it was decided not to change the form in any particular.

THE INTERESTS INVOLVED—Elsewhere we give an extract relating to the verdict in the Consolidated Eureka-Richmond mining suit. We are told that the principles attached are now tested judicially for the first time. The principal geological question involved is whether the limestone belt in that country over the underlying quartz and under the superimposed shale, and in which limestone belt the ore bodies are found, can be considered within the meaning of the act of Congress as a lode, and if the several bodies of ore can be called one mine. The experts were questioned upon this vital point. Professor Rodgers and others testified that the limestone belt is a lode. Clarence King and others testified that the limestone belt is not a lode, but was the country rock inclosing the ore bodies, which were found in what they denominated pipe vein. The property in controversy runs into the millions. A verdict in favor of the Eureka Consolidated Mining Company being rendered, the Richmond Mining Company will be mulcted in the sum of $4,000,000 for damages alone.

THERE appears to be a regular war in the Pennsylvania coal regions. The miners are on a strike, and regular troops and militia are moving to the scene. Besides, there are numbers of soldiers now there, guarding the property of the companies and maintaining the peace. So far there have been no battles, but the probability of encounters between the troops and the strikers is not far removed. There has been bloodshed enough caused by the labor troubles in this country, and one would think that in this instance there should be enough concession from both sides to effect a compromise, and thus avoid a recurrence of the bloody scenes of a few weeks ago.

THE lot of the laborer must be hard indeed in the East. An exchange relates that at Scranton, Pennsylvania, a large number of miners recently waited upon a wealthy mine owner of that place and made the following proposition: "We bind ourselves to you, to toil early and late as our strength will admit for you, during one or five years, and never will ask you for one cent of wages, if you will only give us and our families plain and sufficient food, such clothing as we really need, houses to live in, doctors and medicines when we are sick, and bury us when we die."

FOURTEEN school boys competed for the cadetship at West Point in a Congressional District in the city of New York, recently. A young negro beat his competitors, which creates considerable excitement. If the negro has the best brain he is entitled to the honor and New York has no right to become excited.

A GENTLEMAN, prominently interested in the proposed inter-oceanic Nicaraguan canal, says the work will cost $80,000,000, and can be completed in five years. No appropriations will be asked of Congress, but subscriptions will be opened in all parts of the world. He speaks confidently of the success of the work.

THE Visalia Delta says there are many farmers on the plains in that county, whose crops were an entire failure this year, and who have not the means to procure seed for winter-sowing.

THE Reno Journal says that emigrant travel on the C. P. has become reduced to two cars a day and that travel on passenger trains has fallen off one-third.

CLERKS in the Treasury Departmen at Washington have been notified that failing to pay their just debts they will be dismissed.

The Eureka-Richmond Decision.

Having no knowledge of the reasons given by Judge Field in his decision in the case of the Eureka Con. vs. the Richmond, we, of course cannot express an opinion as to its merits; but, if we are not greatly mistaken, its effect is to declare the existence of a fissure vein of mineral-bearing ore in Ruby Hill. Such may exist, and does to all intents and purposes if the Court has so decided; but its creation by the geological convulsions of the law demolishes the theory so long and so tenaciously held by miners that ore-bodies in limestone are merely deposits or pockets, and not true fissures. It is just possible and not by any means improbable that the mines of Ruby Hill will ere long be embraced in the Comstock one-ledge theory—a theory bought and paid for in the courts and which has robbed hundreds of men of their just rights, to further enrich those wealthy enough to buy a verdict. We do not write this with any intention to cast a reflection on Judge Field or his decision, but only to call attention to the fact that the old notions about mines in limestone must be dismissed and mines in that formation prospected and worked as are veins confined between walls; in other words, there is no difference between a Lander Hill razor-blade and a Eureka ore-deposit except in the matter of extent.—Austin Reveille, Aug. 22.

A MOTHER, who had left her babe sleeping in one of the coaches, telegraphed from Reno here to have it stopped. It appears that she was coming from Virginia City to Reno, where, upon arriving alighted, forgetting her offspring, which she recovered, we presume, though the kindness of some fatherly railroad hand. We refrain from comment, but must say, deliver us from such.—Truckee Republican.

OATMEAL BREAD.—One quart fresh oatmeal, two quarts of water; let stand half a day or over night. When ready to bake, add one quart of fine, or Graham flour, half a cup of sugar, one teaspoonful fine salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder; mix with a spoon. No kneading is required. If too stiff, add water.

DEFIANCE.—Prospects brightening with every day's work, and goodly quantities of ore being extracted and hauled to the furnaces, which are turning out bullion at the rate of ten tons per day. A shipment has been made since starting of the furnaces, and teams are now being waited for to take away that on hand.—Darwin News, Aug. 25.

SHEEPmen in the mountains are getting quite anxious about feed for the few remaining sheep there, and talk of feeding them for a month or more during the early Fall on alfalfa. The hills are so barren that not even an insect can live on them. The squirrels seem very scarce, and it is thought that they too have been starved out.—Courier-Californian.

THE HOWLERS OF FRAUD.—The Springfield Republican says: They are precisely in the attitude of a defeated suitor who goes about lamenting the justice of his case after he has lost it in the court of last resort. It is certainly open to him to free his mind and have one good "cuss" all around—we have exercised that privilege ourselves sometimes—but when it comes to seriously teasing people to take up the case in his behalf, there is a general recognition of the very stale character of a lost lawsuit.

NEW PATENTS.—Through Dewey & Co., Patent Agents, San Francisco, we receive the following list of U. S. patents, granted to Pacific Coast inventors, viz:

F., tightening and stretching ropes, belts, etc.; Jesse Tailing, Umatilla, Oregon, carpet fasteners; George Harris, Petaluma, Cal., driers for fruit and other articles; Painter & Calvert, S. F., (label) the stock condition powder.

A SALT LAKE dispatch of the 25th says: A fearful wind and rain storm passed over Eastern Nebraska and Kansas last night. It blew a hurricane at Omaha. At half-past three o'clock this morning two spans of 250 feet each of the Missouri river bridge at Omaha went down, supposed by the force of the wind. The piers are all standing. AT Petaluma a few days since, the Norman stallion Cognac, kept at the race track, broke out of his stable, and being of a very vicious temper, at once took charge of the track. The savage brute attacked James Kenney, who occupied a house within the inclosure, threw him down, striking him with his hoofs, and shaking him with his teeth as a terrier would a rat, until life was extinct. He then attacked one or two other men on the track, but they escaped by scaling the fences. A couple of well mounted vaqueros then came on the track, and after a hard struggle lassooed and overcame the stallion. The beast is reported to have heretofore killed one or two men, and is well known in the neighborhood as a dangerous animal.

IMPORTANT TO MINING COMPANIES. The attention of mining companies operating on the Comstock is called to the provisions of the amendments made last Winter to the law relative to requiring foreign corporations to file certified lists of the officers of such corporations as often as changes in such officers occur, and to the penalty attaching to any person who shall act as managing agent or superintendent of any such corporation without such certificate being filed—which is a fine of from $50 to $500: to which may be added imprisonment for any period not exceeding six months.—Stock Report.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 1 .....1877.

REX MONTIS.—The Rex Montis mill question has been settled by the purchase from Messrs. Harris & Rhine (who held under Sheriff's deed) of the entire property of the Silver Sprout Company, including the mill, the Silver Sprout and the Lamb mines, with other ledges and the ranch, the purchase price of the whole being only $8,360—probably the lowest sum ever paid for so valuable a mining property. The Rex Montis men have improved the mill alone to the extent of $5,000, which amount would have been lost had they not effected the purchase. Under Supt. Hutchings, he having authority from the Company to go ahead in full force, the Rex Montis will soon rank second to none of the "outside" mines. It is the united opinion of the many mining men who have examined the property that, by availing the magnificent opportunity for deep expl ration, the Rex Montis series are destined to prove most valuable and extensive. As to the quality of the ore, the bullion shipment of the season from the little mill best speaks for itself.

AT HAND.—Before our next issue the choice of our next set of county officers will have been made. There is scarce one of the candidates whose fitness for the position he aspires to is not quite well known to every one of our readers having an interest in the result. If voters will cast their ballots according to that knowledge, and as good citizens resolved to do right by themselves and the community, regardless of purely abstract party requirements, a set of county officers will be chosen that we need not be ashamed of. That is the only plan to bring home true responsibility to nominating conventions, to secure party respectability and decent government. Parties are good things, and necessary, but neither good or necessary when made to work as machines and by machines, compelling men to do that they know to be wrong.

WILL HAVE A BETTER LOOK.—Thanks to Mrs. A. Lowe's energies, and Squire Schalten's and T. A Gardner's voluntary labors, our shabby old school house will look nearly as good as new when they get through painting and white-washing and wainscoting, and a full set of new desks and seats in place. As the volunteer carpenter man who was to put in the wainscoting has resigned without reservation there is a fine opening for some public spirited "chips" to take hold and do something creditable.

ECLIPSE.—Supt. Rickard has closed down the Eclipse works, and for the present only will confine operations to work at the bottom of the shaft—intending to sink 100 feet further before opening new levels. The ore at the bottom is of a better quality than elsewhere in the mine; besides, we understand, the upper levels have been pretty well worked out, necessitating the opening of new ground. The manager undoubtedly starts in the right direction—downward.

TAKING A VACATION.—A Granger man informs us that the reason why hen-fruit is so very scarce these days is because the hens have been taking their Summer vacation, or if not eggsactly that, have gone a strike, or hauled off for temporary repairs—so Hennery, the Granger man, supposes the case. He thinks he has lately noticed some symptoms of reform as if they intended to get down to their regular work again pretty soon.

THIS SEASON.—For the last day or two we have been having cloudy weather, much as they have it down there along the coast. Also had strong winds nearly every day, and altogether, rather a remarkable season, among the rest the Summer having been shortened up considerably more than common. As yet there has been no frosts in the valley, but the symptoms are getting quite favorable for an early nip.

FRUIT.—This locality is abundantly supplied with fruit of home growth, notwithstanding it was expected to be so very scarce. The quality, as a general thing, is not as good as in former years, but prices range lower, peaches, for instance retailing at 8 cents per pound. Residents in the upper portion of the country, where little or no fruit is raised this year, may be interested in knowing that they can obtain here all they are likely to want.

HALF TIME.—Owing to the unprecedented scarcity of water at this time of the year, Bell's Flouring Mills can be run only about half the time—that is, from about 1 in the morning till the middle of the day. During that period the water in the creek is much more plentiful than later in the day when reduced by evaporation, or previous effects of the cold at the sources of the stream above the snow line.

IN OPERATION.—The Beaudry furnace, of the Union Con. works at Cerro Gordo, is in operation, running on silver ore from the San Felipe ledge and iron and low grade lead ore as flux from the old Union mine, which mine was not affected by the fire that destroyed the hoisting works.

"FLEAS BITE, EH!" said an emigrant to an old forty-niner, who was vigorously rubbing his back against the corner of his cabin. "Flea pe tamed! its a youse. You dinks I'm a tam tog, eh?" replied the Teutonic gentleman, indignantly.

AGENTS.—Those having unsettled accounts with Dr. Mat hews, late of Camp Independence, will observe his notice, under the head of "New Advertisements."

SHIN-DIG.—The boys threaten to get up a dance Tuesday evening, after the political spouting closes.

FISH FARMING.—Four years since the first attempt was made to stock the little streams and lakes in this vicinity with salmon-trout from the rivers on the opposite side of the summit. A more gratifying success could not be asked for. From the three or four hundred little minnows, the largest not exceeding three inches in length, then planted in Little Pine and Oak creeks, and in a lake or two at the head of the former, thousands of fine fish have sprung. Any quantity of them have been taken during the last two years ranging in length from ten to fifteen inches. Out of one of the lakes, the other day, one was taken which by actual measurement lacked only one-fourth of an inch of being twenty-six inches long. In these mountain lakes, however, there is a notable absence of little fish; the supposition is that during the frozen season the small-fry are gobbled by the big cannibals. Fish farming in this valley is in no sense an experiment. Were all of the scores of streams from Bishop to Cottonwood now stocked as were the two in this neighborhood, in two or three years the money value of the product would reach into the thousands of dollars, to say nothing of the equally valuable recreation afforded thereby. Not only ought every one of these lateral streams be so stocked, but the river itself, where there is no doubt whatever but these fish would thrive and become an inexhaustible source of profit and amusement. Nature has most fortunately filled the river with minnows or "chubs," the natural food of game fish, and with the latter once planted (there being no mining debris to pollute the water) Owens river would in time become a veritable paradise for fishermen. The idea that trout or other game fish would descend to the lake and consequently perish, is now entirely exploded. So, by all means, let citizens in the several localities club together and stock their own streams, and at the same time contribute a few dollars towards placing some fish in the river, at the several points opposite the settlements. Once planted, the speckled little rascals have considerable pride in taking care of themselves; such a crop matures without attention, and the harvesting thereof is "way up." But a dollar or two would be required from anybody, though each and every interested resident of the valley ought to contribute something—the more fish put in the more infinitely will they multiply. We no not know that either of them want a such contract, but A. B. Kitchen and Billy Lake would prove as reliable as they are experienced in the business.

CUSTOM WORK.—By announcement elsewhere it will be noted that the Eclipse mill will receive gold and silver ores for reduction. The new Superintendent and the Foreman of the mill are men of unquestioned ability and thoroughness in their calling, and now it behooves our mine-owners to get out ore and realize on it—or at least ascertain its worth by an actual working. It is understood that that the mill will be open for engagements of this sort only during the time occupied by certain sinking and improvements on the mine.

RETURNED.—Mr. M. S. Clark and family passed through here this week, returning to their old home at Bishop after a residence of a year or two at Darwin. M. S. himself spent the Summer in the southern part of the State, hoping to obtain relief from an affection of the chest, nearly causing a total loss of voice. His hopes were not realized, we regret to say.

SPEAKING.—There will be some political speaking at the Court House Tuesday evening. R. M. Briggs, Esq., will lead out. Others will probably have some "suggestations" to offer from a different standpoint.

DRY.—John Broder's "swamp" lands up there in Monache valley, in the high Sierras, have become so dry this season that he has recently had to remove his beef cattle because there was not water enough there for them to drink.

BALLOTS.—Will some friend in each of the precincts kindly gather up all the unused ballots, tie them together, address them to THE INDEPENDENT, and leave them at the several stage offices? And oblige.

BILLIARDS.—Any saloon in this particular "interior" wishing to add a billiard table to its attractions will learn of an opportunity by consulting our advertising columns this week.

For some time past efforts have been taken to arrange a trotting match between Occident and Sam Purdy, for a purse of $5 0, and it is said that final arrangements have at last been completed and that the match will come off at an early date, probably at Agricultural Park. Sam Purdy will be driven by James Gannon and H. R. Covey will handle Occident.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 1.....1877.

CURE FOR A SCALD.—A scald is most painful, it matters not whether it comes from a huge steam boiler or a cabbage-kettle, and a cure should be borne in mind. Dr. Waters, of Salem, recently showed before the Massachusetts Dental Society that bicarbonate of soda, such as used for cooking purposes, or any other alkali in neutral form, would afford instantaneous cessation of pain from the severest burns and scalds, and would cure such injuries in a few hours. Deliberately dipping a sponge into boiling water, the doctor squeezed it over his right wrist, producing a severe scald around his arm and some two inches in width. Then, despite the suffering occasioned he applied the scalding water to his wrist for half a minute. Bicarbonate of soda was at once dusted over the surface, a wet cloth applied, and the pain, the experimenter stated, was almost instantly deadened. Although the flesh on the wrist was literally cooked down to the sweat glands, and the wound was of a nature to be open and painful for a considerable time, on the day following the single application of the soda the less injured portion was practically healed, only a slight discoloration of the flesh being perceptible. The severer wound in a few days, with no other treatment than a wet cloth kept over it, showed every sign of rapid healing.

REMEDY FOR INSECT BITES.—We read the following in an exchange, and shall give it a trial: When a mosquito, flea, gnat, or other noxious insect punctures the human skin, it deposites or injects an atom of an aciduous fluid of a poisonous nature. The results are irritation, a sensation of tickling or itching. The itch produced by a flea, or gnat, or other noisome insect, disturbs our serenity, and, like the pain of a wasp or bee sting, excites us to a remedy. The best medicine for the sting of insects are those which will instantly neutralize this acidulous poison deposited in the skin. These are either ammonia or borax. The alkaline reaction of borax is scarcely yet sufficiently appreciated. However, a time will come when its good qualities will be known, and more universally valued than ammonia, or, as it is more commonly termed, "hartshorne." The solution of boxax for insect bites is made thus: Dissolve one ounce of borax in one pint of water that has been boiled and allowed to cool. Instead of plain water, distilled rose water, elder, or orange flower water, is more pleasant. The bites are to be dabbed with the solution so long as there is any irritation. For bees' or wasps' stings, the borax solution may be made of twice the above strength. In every house this solution should be kept as a household remedy.

EDUCATIONAL DIFFICULTIES.—An old man who owns a stall at the City Market, took a notion a few days ago to use his spare hours in bettering his education. Procuring his spelling book, his face was seen behind it when trade was dull. He tired, however, of spelling the words to himself, and engaged the services of a boy about thirteen years old, having the next stall, to hear his lessons. Everything passed off all right for two or three days, and then a storm arose and a climax came. Holding the book in both hands the boy observed: "We now come to the word 'welcome.' How do you spell it?" "Well, sir, I spell it w-e-l-c-u-m." "Not correct." "K-o-m?" "No, sir." "Then its k-i-m." "No, sir." "Boy don't you lie to me," warned the man. "I guess I'll resign my office," replied the boy, as he laid down the book. "I've let you go on and spell 'cat' with a k, 'horse' without and e, 'boy' with a double o to it, because you are old, and I didn't want to hurt your feelings. But when you call me a liar, and don't even know how to spell the word, it's about time for me to resign."

THE Pittsburg Gazette publishes the following for a true story: At Hawkins Station, Pennsylvania, a day or two ago, a dog attempted to pass under a train, but was not quick enough, and the tip end of his tail was caught and cut off. He whirled around to see what was the matter with that extremity, and almost instantly his head was cut off.

CHANGE OF FORTUNE.—There is a lady not a thousand miles from Eureka, who, a dozen years ago, was married in a two-thousand dollar dress. Now she takes in washing to support a drunken husband and three pairs of twins. —Sentinel.

THE shortest and surest way to live with honor in the world, is to be in reality what you would appear to be; and if we observe, we shall find that all human virtues increase and strengthen by the practice and experience of them.

THE other night a Burlington woman found the long expected "man under the bed." It was her husband. The bed was rather high and so was he, and he missed connection when he tried to get in.

ACCORDING to the Sumter Republican, a South Carolina colored debating society has been considering the question, "Which is the most beneficial to the country, the lawyer or the buzzard."

A MISSISSIPPI granger is opposed to railroads. He says that when he goes to town they "bring him home so quick he hasn't time to get sober before he arrives."

A SINGING beggar in San Francisco says: "Here ve gits half-tollars, quarters and times; in ze East ve gits ze miserable coppaire."

A YOUNG man who went to Texas last Spring has telegraphed home to his father: "Fatted calf for one."

IN order to live justly and be respected, we must refrain from doing what we blame in others.

THE LIGHTNING EXPRESS.

Rushing thro' the fertile valleys
Amid the waving corn:
Dew-drops lingering on the grass,
Are sparkling in the rosy morn.

Rumbling over limpid streams,
Babbling sweetly as they go,
Moving swiftly towards the ocean
With a never ceasing flow.

Speeding past the green turfed meadows,
Horses snuff the air with fright,
Watch us moving onward swiftly
Like a meteor, out of sight.

Dashing past the dear old homestead,
Dear to those who've lived there long,
"Home, sweet home," in all its glory,
What other theme should be their song?

Birds of every lue and plumage,
Warbling midst the scented flowers,
Cheering with their happy songs
The long and weary hours.

The shades of night have o'er us drawn
From our front the headlight gleams,
Fiercer, brig ter, stronger, lighter,
Than the great Aurora's beams.

Flinging its rays thr'o the deep'ning gloom,
Tearing aside night's murky veil,
Shedding its lustre on before us;
Before us on the iron rail.

Onward our iron horse goes plunging
Never weary, without rest,
Plunging madly onward,
Madly, on toward the West.

CERRO GORDO.

What Underlies Sacramento.

The boring of an artesian well at Sacramento shows the character of the underlying strata. The Record-Union says: After passing through strata of loose sand, gravel, clay, boulders, etc., the tools at a depth of 886 feet struck soapstone, then passed into cemented sand and at 1,090 feet struck wood, which was met with at intervals until a depth of 1,108 feet was reached. This wood is black, but in a good state of preservation; looks like pine or redwood, and remains solid after exposure to the air. Soapstone followed the cemented sand, and was in turn followed by cemented sand at a depth of 1,160 feet, and the boring tools have been in that substance ever since. The tubing is full of water to within about 50 feet of the surface of the ground. About the time a depth of 1,075 feet was attained gas commenced bubbling up through the water, and one night when a candle was lowered down to look at the water there was quite a little explosion. Last Sunday the hole in the tubing was covered over at the top, leaving an opening in the center through which a piece of half inch gas pipe was passed. The gas escaping through this pipe was ignited and blazed up to the height of two feet and a half, burning with a bluish flame, but neither when burning nor otherwise did it emit any odor. Monday forenoon the gas would not ignite, but that afternoon it burned freely again. Wood has been found at several depths besides that mentioned above, the lowest being 1,320 feet, when some of the pieces taken out had a coating of cemented sand, showing that the stick of timber from which it was taken was lying in that species of deposit.

HUNDREDS of lives might have been saved by a knowledge of this simple recipe:—A large teaspoonful of made mustard mixed in a tumbler of warm water, and swallowed as soon as possible, acts as an instant emetic, sufficiently powerful to remove all that is lodged in the stomach.

Shooting Under Water.

Major-General Von Uchatius, the inventor of the new field gun adopted in the Austrian Army, publishes in the Vienna Artillery and Engineer Journal an account of some interesting experiments recently made by him with the object of ascertaining the effect produced by firing a rifle under water.

It is known, he says, that fishes, when they are not too much below the surface of the water, can be shot from the shore or from a boat. The armor plates of ships of war, however, do not usually extend any lower than from two to three metres below the surface, as beyond that depth, ships are regarded as unassailable even by the largest shot. This is so, no doubt, when the shot is fired above water, but Major-General Von Uchatius wished to find the result which would be attained by firing under water.

For this purpose he procured a wooden raft, to the under surface of which a Werndl rifle was attached with iron clamps, in such a manner that when the raft floated on the water the rifle was fired horizontally at a depth of half a metre below the surface. An attendant then opened the lock, introduced a cartridge, placed the rifle at full cock, and fired it from the shore by means of a string attached to the trigger. The target consisted of a wooden board an inch thick.

The result of the experiment was as follows: There was no difficulty in loading and firing the rifle, and there was the advantage that after each shot the inside of the barrel was cleaned by the water. About thirty shots were fired without doing the smallest damage to any part of the rifle. At each shot there was a dull sound, which could not be heard beyond a distance of fifty paces, and bubbles of smoke rose above the surface. At a distance of one and a half metres no impression whatever was produced on the target; at one and a quarter metres the bullet entered to a depth of from three to four millimetres, and at one metre the target was pierced through.

Major-General Uchatius also made some experiments with the view of ascertaining whether a greater effect could be produced by corking up the barrel at its mouth so as to keep the water out, and thereby diminish the resistance to the egress of the bullet; but he found that for all practical purposes, the resistance of the air in the barrel was equal to that of the water, the target being penetrated only at a maximum distance of a metre, as in the previous experiment.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.—A very small object close to the eye will obstruct the views of Sirius, though the distant star is 2,700 times the size of the sun and incomparably larger than this little globe of ours. Similarly, the recent railroad strikes, owing to their nearness, have made most of us blind to the progress of the far off conflict in Europe, though this is much more murderous and far more influential on the destiny of the human race. Moreover, our domestic troubles affect us all injuriously, whereas the foreign contest is more likely to benefit than to injure this country, and we are all more deeply impressed by the evils that afflict us than by the blessings we enjoy. The length and complexity of the names of places and leaders, also, contribute to our lack of interest in this semi-barbarous warfare, and lead us to admire the propriety with which Shakespeare puts into the mouth of the sentimental, inconsiderate Juliet, the hackneyed phrase. "What's in a name?" Like many folks in private life, both Turk and Muscovite are heavily handicapped as regards popular sympathy by the names they struggle under; for even a reference to the dictionary can hardly excite a lively interest in sesquipedalian cacophony.

LONDON.—The following particulars, taken from the Student's Journal, may interest our readers. London, the greatest city the world ever saw, covers, within a fifteen-mile radius of Charing Cross, nearly 700 square miles. It numbers more than 4,000,000 inhabitants. It comprises 100,000 foreigners from every quarter of the globe. It contains more Roman Catholics than Rome itself; more Jews than the whole of Palestine; more Irish than Dublin; more Scotchmen than Edinburgh; more Welshmen than Cardiff. Has a birth in every five minutes, and a death in it every eight minutes; has seven accidents every day in its 7,000 miles of streets; has 123 persons every day, and 45,000 annually, added to its population; has 117,000 habitual criminals on its police register; has 23,000 prostitutes; has as many public houses as would, if placed side by side, stretch from Charing Cross to Portsmouth; has 38,000 drunkards annually brought before its magistrates; has as many paupers as would more than fill every house in Brighton; has 60 miles of open shops every Sunday, and has an influence on the world represented by the yearly delivery in its postal districts of 238,000,000 of letters.

THE Dardanelles (Hellespont) is a winding strait, forty miles in length, and from one to three miles broad, leading to the Sea of Marmora from the Grecian Archipelago. It was about the middle of its course that the bridges by which Xerxes spanned it were thrown across from Abydos, on the Asiatic, to a point between Sestos and Medytus, on the European shore.

THE deepest point attained on the Comstock lode, according to the Virginia Chronicle, has been reached by the south winze below the 2200-foot level of the Savage mine. The winze is 2,420 feet below the surface.

Heating to Forge.

Of the evil effects of improper and unequal heat in the bar, as it comes upon the anvil, none is more conscious than the man who swings the hammer. Messrs. Miller, Metcalf & Parkin, of Pittsburg, streel manufactures, furnish the American Manufacturer with a letter on this subject, from which, perhaps, our smiths may get suggestions. They say: As much trouble and loss are caused by improper heating in the forge fire as in the tempering fire, although steel may be heated safely very hot for forging if it be done properly, but any high degree of heat, no matter how uniform it may be, is unsafe for hardening.

The trouble in the forge fire is usually uneven heat, and not too high heat. Suppose the piece to be forged has been put into a very hot fire, and forced as quickly as possible to a high yellow heat, so that it is almost up to the scintillating point. If this be done in a few minutes the outside will be quite soft and in nice condition for forging, while the middle parts will not be more than red hot. The highly heated soft outside will have very little tenacity; that is to say, this part will be so far advanced toward fusion that the particles will slide easily over one another, while the less highly tempered inside parts will be hard, possessed of high tenacity, and the particles will not slide so easily over each other. Now let the piece be placed under the hammer and forged, and the result will be that the soft outside will yield so much more readily than the hard inside that the outer particles will be torn asunder, while the inside will remain sound, and the piece will be pitched out and branded "burned."

Suppose the case to be reversed, and the inside be much hotter than the outside; that is, that the inside shall be in a state of semi-fusion, while the outside is hard and firm. Now let the piece be forged and we shall have the outside all sound, and the whole piece will appear perfectly good until it is cropped, and then it is found hollow inside, and it is pitched out and branded "burst."

In either case, if the piece had been heated soft all through, or if it had only been heated red hot all through, it would have forged perfectly sound and good. If it be asked, why then is there ever any necessity for smiths to use a low heat in forging, when a uniform high heat will do as well? we answer—In some cases a high heat is more desirable to save heavy labor, but in every case where a fine steel is to be used for cutting purposes, it must be borne in mind that very heavy forging refines the bars as they slowly cool, and if the smith heats such refined bars until they are soft, he raises the grain, makes them coarse, and he cannot get them fine again unless he has a very heavy steam hammer at command and knows how to use it well. In following the above hints there is a still greater danger to be avoided, that is incurred by letting the steel lie in the fire after it is properly heated. When the steel is hot through it should be taken from the fire immediately and forged as quickly as possible. "Soaking" in the fire causes steel to become "dry" and brittle, and does it more injury than any bad practice known to the most experienced.

LEMONADE.—It is not in vain that nature has given us a taste for lemon juice, and that some persons have often a craving for it; this indicates a want of the system. Ships going on long voyages now take lemon juice on board as the best antidote against scurvy, that dread of the mariner, and the result of the privation of vegetable food or fruit, for which lemon juice is a general substitute.

We notice an item of the effectiveness of lemon juice in another form of impurity of blood, of which carbuncle is a symptom and an outlet at the same time. Dr. Gibbons, having been a sufferer from carbuncle, relates his own case, in which lemon juice (for which he felt a desire) seemed to have a most beneficial effect. Wine, whisky, tonics and all the usual remedies, gave him no relief, and did not help digestion. As soon as he took lemon juice digestion improved, as well as the local symtoms; and the effect was such that he intends to treat his patients in the same way. We have found in other diseases lemon juice a most grateful remedy, especially where (as Dr. Gibbons mentions in his own case) there is a desire for acid drinks and vegetables.

WHY GOLD CHANGES COLOR.—It is well known, says the Jeweler, that the human body contains humors and acids, similar in action to, and having a like tendency towards, baser metals, as nitric and sulphuric acid have, viz: to tarnish and disolve them, varying in quantity in different persons; and of which theory we have abundant proof in the effects which the wearing of jewelry produces on different persons. Thousands wear continually, without any ill effect, the cheaper class of jewelry with brass ear-wires, whilst others wore the same articles for a few days, they would be troubled with sore ears; or, in other words, the acids contained in the system would so act on the brass as to produce ill results. Instances have occurred in which articles of jewelry of any grade below 18 carat have been tarnished in a few days, merely from the above named cause. True, these instances are not very frequent; nevertheless it is as well to know them, and they are sufficient to prove that it is not in every case the fault of the goods not wearing well—as it is generally called—but the result of the particular constitution by which they are worn.

IT is found the the steamship City of San Francisco is so badly injured that she cannot be raised.

POLITICAL PROPOSITIONS.

That the man who may hereafter assert that Inyo is not Democratic ought to be indicted in every county in the State.

That Sneden and Daugherty do not care one cent.

That, through THE INDEPENDENT, Misther Con. Vention got away with the works. That upon this point Inyo and Mono are entitled to the banner.

That the best men have NOT been elected in all cases.

That the intelligent citizen who harps about there having been "bogus tickets" out is a fool, the whole theory and practice of the law being such as to compel men to know who they are voting for.

THE WAY IT LOOKS IN OHIO.—The Chicago Inter-Ocean has sent a special correspondent to Ohio to hunt up the trouble about the anti-Hayes movement in that State, and he has reported that it "is not of a local nature. It is shared to a greater or less degree by Republicans throughout the State." He ends his letter with the comfortless statement that, "the reader must, of course draw his own conclusions," and there are few Republicans so sanguine as not to conclude that the Republican was right when it said a few days ago that Judge West will be the worst beaten man the Republicans ever ran for Governor in Ohio, if he does not drop from the ticket before the election.

DEATH OF AN OLD EDITOR.—On Tuesday evening of last week, J. E. P. Weeks died at his residence in Sacramento, after suffering for a long time from a stroke of paralysis. Deceased was for nearly twenty years news editor of the Sacramento Union and Record-Union, a native of New Hampshire, and 64 years of age. For a week previous to his death Mr. Weeks was delirious, and, at times, raved wildly; but a few hours before his decease he became quiet and calm, and past away as though going to sleep.

THE terrible fighting, which has been going on so many days in front of Schipka Pass, has ended at last in the repulse and defeat of the Turks. It would seem that during these battles that both the Turks and Russians displayed a degree of desperate bravery that has rarely or never been excelled by such large bodies of men. Of course the carnage was fearfully great on both sides. The Czar is straining every resource to the very utmost in the hope of ending the war before Winter sets in.

THE number of Brigham Young's widows is set down variously from fifteen to eighteen, exclusive of Ann Eliza. He was the father of 75 children, 45 of whom are now living, and was grandfather to upwards of five hundred children. He had one or more spiritual wives, so called, in every Mormon settlement in Utah, these in the aggregate numqering upwards of five hundred.

THE following paragraph cost the manager of the Paris Mot d'Ordre newspaper two months' imprisonment and $1,000 fine: "Mr. MacMahon (who descends from a mere apothecary) having arrived from the British Isles of Autun to seek his fortune, dexteriously allows the rumor to circulated, without ever contradicting it, that his ancestors occupied the throne of Ireland."

BRIGHAM YOUNG DEAD.—On Wednesday afternoon of last week, at half past four o'clock, Brigham Young breathed his last. He had been suffering for several days from cholera morbus and inflamation of the bowels and these diseases were too much for his enfeebled frame.

S. S. BURDETT, United States Commissioner of the General Land Office, who suddenly disappeared in 1876, and was thought to have committed suicide, has returned to his family in Missouri.

MESSRS. DAUGHERTY AND RHINE, late Republican candidates for Clerk and Treasurer, ought to notify their opponents that they might as well make the thing unanimous and be done with it.

DEATH OF BRIGHAM YOUNG.

Brigham Young was a remarkable man, and his death is a great event which will fix the attention and excite the comment of the civilized world. Though not the founder of the Mormon religion, yet he has been the head of the Church, with almost unlimited power, for thirty years. He was a man of more executive capacity, of more business prudence, and of more sedate character than Joe Smith, whose early death was lucky for the superstition which he invented. While Smith lived, disaster after disaster followed the adherents of the new faith. Under Brigham they suffered many hardships, but they also enjoyed a general current of prosperity. The thriving community of Utah owes its existence mainly to Brigham Young. He had a moderate education, and his mind was in some respects coarse, but in political and financial management, he was eminent. He was born in Vermont in 1801, became a convert to Mormonism in 1832, became the President of the Mormon Church in 1844, crossed the Rocky Mountains with a party of his Saints in 1846, laid off Salt Lake City in 1847, was Governor of the Territory for several years, and maintained full control of the orthodox Mormons to the last. Whether the Church can hold together after his death is a question that time will solve.

THE Hungarians hate the Russians because the latter interfered, in 1849, to suppress the Hungarian Rebellion; and they like the Turks because they are akin to them in race. These feelings are so strong that if the Hungarian Administration were entirely independent, it would probably espouse the cause of the Turks in the present war; but they cannot have their way, as the Emperor is German, and is desirous of maintaining neutrality. They can, however, show their feelings by sending friendly messages and presents of swords to the Turkish Generals, and, recently, Hungarian priests have gone so far as to celebrate the Turkish victories by Te Deums. The numerous Sclavonians in Hungary sympathize with the Russians, and regard any rejoicing in their churches over Turkish triumphs as insulting to them, and some of them have refused to attend Catholic Church. The Pope has requested the Hungarian Bishop to prevent rejoicing for the victories of Mahammedans over Christians.

THE Directors of the State Agricultural Society have adopted a resolution that the full amount of money appropriated as purses to horses winning in the races, must be paid to the winners. The purpose is to deprive the Judges of the privilege of spending part of the cash for liquors and cigars, according to their custom, and of ordering articles much more costly than they usually consume. It is considered an honor to be a Judge of a grand horse race, so that the persons selected have no right to demand a pecuniary, liquid or gaseous compensation; but the appropriation of a small part of the stake is so small an affair, as compared with the other abuses connected with the Sacramento horse races, that it scarcely seems worth the trouble to check it.

THANKS to Hon. P. D. Wigginton for public documents, among which is the "Memorial Addresses, Life and character of Orris S. Ferry, late speaker of the House."

A MOST destructive fire occurred in New York last week. Loss, many hundred thousand dollars.

New Orleans in 1830 exported 360,000 bags of cotton.

CHIPKA PASS.

Chipka pass, the point in the Balkan mountains on which interest in the Turco-Russian war now centers, is still in the hands of the Russians, who are strongly entrenched, and all attempts by the Turks to capture it result in terrible carnage and heavy losses on both sides. If report is to be relied on, the Turkish military commander has abandoned the idea of taking the pass and hopes to force a passage through the mountains by other routes. The Sacramento Record-Union, which is one of the most intelligent of the Pacific Coast press in its observations and comments on this war, has the following to say in reference to the situation, in which it sets down the fighting in the pass as the "test struggle" of the war.

There has evidently been fierce and prolonged fighting over the possession of the Schipka pass, and the comparative ease with which the Russians have defended it against greatly superior forces may be taken as a measure of the c iminal folly displayed by Abdul Kerim in failing to occupy and fortify so important a position at the beginning of the campaign. It is at present doubtful how the struggle will terminate for neither side can afford to give way. The Russians are in a position to send forward reinforcements from Tirnova, but it is doubtful whether they can weaken their position there without rendering themselves liable to an attack from the Turks in their front. Suleiman Pasha has a large force engaged in the assault upon the pass, and some of the reports indicate that he may be able to surround or starve out the Russians. Should he succeed in regaining the pass it is evident that the decisive movements of the campaign will be at hand, for with his army joined to those of Osman Pasha and Mehemet Ali the Ottoman forces will be strong enough to assume the aggressive from Schumla to Plevna, and the battle of the year must then be fought. The temporary failure of the Turks to carry the pass does not, however, expose them to like dangers, for since the Grand Duke can only continue reinforcing the troops defending the pass by weakening his own position, the probability is that Suleiman Pasha has only to persevere in his assaults to succeed at last; and he can even afford to sustain heavy losses rather than fail. The fight for the Schipka pass in fact is in many respects a test struggle, and the issue of the Danubian campaign is largely dependent upon the result.

BULLION SHIPMENTS.—Last Saturday Peter Taylor, Superintendent of the Emigrant Company, came in with and shipped bullion to the amount of 125 pounds, valued at $1,800. On Monday W. E. Brown, Superintendent of the Minneatta Belle, brought in and shipped seven bars, valued at $7,500. In addition to this fine bullion the Defiance has some 500 bars, averaging 108 pounds each, ready for shipment. The Cuervo is making its usual shipments of high grade ore.

MODOC.—From reliable parties in from Lookout, and who are in a position to know whereof they speak, we learn that the Modoc furnaces will again be started on the 10th instant. On account of the extreme dry season their water supply has been short, but they find as the Fall season approaches that their springs are increasing in volume, and by the time they start their tanks—which have a capacity of about 50,000 gallons—will be filled, giving them a full supply for both furnaces until the springs still further increase their waters. The Company has now on its dumps at the furnaces 500 or 600 tons of good smelting ore, 150 tons of iron ore, 40,000 bushels of coal, besides 5,000 bushels in reserve at the kilns, and a good supply of wood. The tunnel, which is to be run in some 1,200 or 1,500 feet, has been contracted for at a very low figure, and when completed will open their mines from 800 to 1,000 feet below their present workings. It is the intention of the Company to remove their works as soon as possible down into the valley (where they should have been placed at the first), near the mouth of the tunnel, which will enable them to reduce their ores and carry on operations of develment at a saving of not less than $10,000 per month.—Darwin News, Sept. 1.

LETTER FROM ROUND VALLEY.

Indian Excitement.

ROUND VALLEY, Sept. 5.

MESSRS. EDITORS—Considerable excitement has prevailed in this valley since last Sunday morning, when the report of Jerry having been murdered by the Indians, was circulated. Few years ago it was rumored that the Piutes desired to kill Jerry, but the whites interceded and warned them that should they carry out their brutal desires, severe punishment to them would surely follow, which probably had the effect to stay proceedings for a while. However, the Indians never abandoned the idea of killing Jerry, and last Saturday night they treacherously murdered him. Jerry had been frequently warned by whites of the contemplated attack on him, but all to no purpose—he laughed at the idea and considered it all "talk."

Last Saturday night, after Jerry and a number of Piutes had been playing at cards, Jerry, Jasper Shipley and the Indians who had been playing, started for a neighboring Indian camp, and on the road was attacked by a crowd of Piutes. Shipley was held by a few Indians, who told him, "Jasper, you no go, Injun heap kill'm Jerry now." At the same time he heard deadly blows dealt to Jerry, who mercifully implored for help thus, "Oh help me, help me for God's sake, Jas," but Jasper could render him no assistance—the redskins being too numerous, about 26 in number—so he made big tracks and long strides, as soon as his friends turned him loose. Jasper says that the Indians were in high glee, yelling, laughing, singing and jumping high in the air, while butchering poor Jerry.

Next morning (Sunday) Jerry's body was found horribly mutilated, his head, face and neck were cut and bruised, and both arms and thighs broken. Jerry was a Crow Indian (some say Sioux), and was captured when only 2 years old, by Gen. Harney, during the battle of Ash Hollow, on Platte, in 1852. Hence he was 27 years old. For some time Jerry was cared for by Dr. Coonwell, whose surname he adopted. Subsequently Judge Colman of Sacramento kept him for six or seven years. Jerry first made his appearance in this Valley twelve years ago next May, Mr. Birchim having hired him at Walkers river to assist in driving the former's stock to Owens river. Ever since then Jerry has resided in Round Valley. He filed on 160 acres of land and has farmed the same for a number of years, and has raised excellent crops. Jerry was considered a good workman, peaceable and accomodating—was a citizen, land owner, and paid his taxes. He did not speak any Indian language, but spoke English fluently, and having had considerable experience among the whites he was quite intelligent.

Why the Indians wanted to kill Jerry is not yet fully understood. Some of the whites are inclined to believe that Jerry contracted the bitterness of the Piutes by marrying into the Piute tribe. With an exception or two, all the Piutes bitterly opposed his getting a Piute woman, still Jerry persisted until he got two, one at a time. His first wife and both children died, the second and baby still survive. This latter woman is the Captain's sister, which has made the Indians envious of Jerry, that he would eventually assume command, etc.

The Indians version of the matter runs thus: That Jerry had been a good Indian, but during the last few years Jerry was "no good." That he had extorted "heap money" under false pretense. They say that Jerry threatened to do "heap," that he could burn up the mountains and willows; prevent taboose and pine-nuts from growing; that he could poison the air and cause sickness whenever he pleased among the tribe. But Jerry told them that if they would pay him money nothing of the kind should occur. The Indians all say that they have paid Jerry large sums of money one time and another, still they say, "Injuns heap die last Winter, and Jerry no give back money." According to their doctrine even their doctors deserve death as soon as pronounced "no good" (after losing three or four patients). Jerry being considered something more than a doctor, a kind of a seer, prophet and revelator, they did for a long time place great confidence in him, but when they perceived that he did not conform with their wishes or did not sufficiently intercede in their behalf he, like Jesus Christ, should be murdered.

Jerry had but little ambition to mingle with the whites—aspiring not for information and mental culture. He was an Indian by nature and no amount of training would have made him a white man. His congenial friends were the Piutes, with whom he would continually gamble, attend fandangos, and be off for weeks (neglecting his own business), on rabbit hunts etc., with the Indians. He was addicted to gambling, and generally came out loser. He would gamble off blankets, grain and horses with the Piutes, and when driven to desperation over the cards, it is presumable that he would resort to any means to extort money from them. Considering these facts, some of the whites believe that Jerry did play on their credibility and impose on his more ignorant and superstitious Piute friends, and that he brought on his own destruction. Others think that they killed Jerry in order to get his land and other property; while others believe that this bold and treacherous attack on Jerry was merely a "feeler" by the Indians to ascertain (being that Jerry was considered "all same white man") whether it will be safe for them to step a little further, when so felt disposed, and cut up a white man occasionally for breakfast. The Indians had been told by the whites that the last one of them would hang by the neck if they should molest Jerry.

After the killing of Jerry all the Indians of this Valley and some from other points, huddled together in the upper end of Round Valley and showed fight. Their leaders told some of the whites that having killed Jerry "may be white man now kill'm Injuns, all same talk long time." They are prepared, and well armed, defiant and say that they want to know right away what the whites are going to do about it. If the whites acquiesce—didn't mean anything serious by all the thundering threats, then Mr. Indian says he'll go to work and attend to his corn crops, but if the whites make any demonstrations, the Piutes are ready for war. These cunning, blood-thirsty, red devils know very well that the whites are destitute of arms and ammunition, and not a soldier in the country.

Aaron's Process in Mono County.

Mr. Aaron, of Benton, writes to the San Francisco Scientific Press as follows:

Editors Press—In reference to the article on "Mono county mines," in your issue of the 18th instant, I wish to state that the editor of THE INYO INDEPENDENT formed his conclusions somewhat too hastily from remarks of my own. The failure of the Aaron process to work the ores of the Diana mine, for the past year or two, was owing to the want of knowledge of the operator. I am now working ores of $431 per ton, and the tailings average $18 only, and might easily be made poorer. The bullion is from .960 to .990 fine, from ore carrying 30 or 40 per cent. of copper, with some lead and considerable antimony. The only troubles arise from the very depressed state of the company's finances, caused by the fact that some $20,000, which should be in the treasury, is in a pile of tailings, where, though not irrecoverably lost, it is not immediately available in the purchase of the material and machinery required.

I have not enough barrels to amalgamate the rich ore as fast as the stamps can crush it; quicksilver is scarce, and the separator is so poor a machine that I have not been able to make it work satisfactorily.

Benton, Mono county, Aug. 22, 1877.

ABOUT the 13th of August a lot of horses were stolen from Sterling's ranch down on the Island. Harry Bludsworth arrested three of the thieves, one of whom was a woman, and they plead guilty and were lodged in jail. A fourth thief escaped and made his way to Los Angeles county where he was arrested by officers of that county. Deputy Sheriff William McFarland went down after him and returned with the prisoner, whose name is Juan Soto, last night. The woman turned State's evidence and will probably be discharged but the men will no doubt go to San Quentin—Kern Co., Gazette.

Very likely the female horse thief above referred to is the lovely Lizzie, who cut such a figure in the same line in this section some two years since, all her pals and victims being sent to the Penitentiary, she getting clear because she was a—woman.

THEY have a neat way of doing things in Maryland. When a hoodlum has been sentenced to receive thirty lashes, the executioner bestows twenty well applied strokes, then casts him loose with instructions to come again three weeks or a month afterward and receive the balance. INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 8.....1877.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT TO A CHILD.—Yesterday evening little Minnie Harris, daughter of Isaac Harris, met with a most lamentable accident, by which her thigh and arm were both broken. She, and quite a number of other children, have been attending Mrs. Lowe's school at the Post, going and coming all in Lewis Schalten's light two-horse wagon. On this occasion, and as they have frequently done before, when starting for home most of the little ones started on ahead, waiting for the wagon near Mrs. Gerrish's residence. When the team came up the children standing by the road side made a rush, each one apparently trying to see which could get in first; little Minnie, it seems, attempted to climb in just in front of the hind wheel, and as the wagon was yet moving lost her hold, or was struck by the wheel, which passed over her with the result stated. It does not appear that any of those in the wagon saw just how it did happen, nor could the driver possibly have stopped the team in time, after discovering her intention to climb in between the wheels, for the reason that it was the habit with the children to run up close to the wheels so as to swing on the tail board till the team came to a full stop. The little sufferer was immediately carried into Mrs. Gerrish's house where Dr. Bicknell was soon in attendence, and shortly after, her parents, who brought her home. The little pet the stands terrible mishap with astonishing fortitude.

SOMETHING TO COME OF IT.—We feel pretty certain we will have a regretful occurrence to record, one of these days, growing out of this contemtible Indian-whisky traffic. To show how things are shaping, we will mention one recent occurrence in a half a dozen or more of a similar nature of which we have been informed: Up near the Post one evening last week a drunken Indian was chasing his mahala with a drawn revolver, swearing he was going to kill her. The squaw sought safety at a farmer's house; the lady interceded for the frightened squaw, whereupon the drunken brute told her in effect to attend to her own business or he would shoot her! There was no one around at the moment to blow the top of his head off, as there is apt to be sometime, so he got the mahala's money, and presumably went after more beer. This beverage seems to have become an essential to the comfort to the mahalas also—when called on to do a day's washing there is scarce one who does not demand her regular perquisite in beer. As the bucks are much in the habit of firing off their pistols of nights, some of the farmers deem it safest and best to lose a portion of their crops rather than take the risks of irrigating at night as they would otherwise do.

MONO.—Following is a statement of the votes cast at the two largest polling places in Mono, the returns for Antelope and Bridgeport not having come to hand: Benton—For Senator: Fowler, 47; Goodale, 79; Assemblyman—Moffat, 39; Briggs, 89; Sheriff—Rickey, 66; Patterson, 62; Clerk—Jeffreys, 39; Rowan, 88; District Attorney—Watkins, 13; Tubbs, 49; Whitman, 64; Tre surer—Tinkum, 70; Towle, 56; Coroner—Yaney, 69; Stanton, 55; Co. In Bodie the result was: Senator—Fowler, 32; Goodale, 40; Assemblyman—Moffat, 41; Briggs, 31; Sheriff—Rickey, 23; Patterson, 48; Clerk—Jeffreys, 46; Rowan, 26; District Attorney—Watkins, 7; Tubbs, 27; Whitman, 37; Treasurer—Tinkum, 34; Towle, 37; Coroner—Yaney, 32; Stanton, 37; County Superintendent—Connell, 30; Elliot, 42; Surveyor—Thompson, 47; Supervisor—Hunnewill, 48; Convention—For, 68; Against, 3.

P. Thrasher, J. H. Vaughn, John Young, (2).

MASONIC.—The stated meetings of Inyo Lodge, No. 221, F. & A. M., will be held at Masonic Hall, in Independence, as follows. Saturday, September 22; Saturday, October 20; Saturday, November 17, and Saturday, December 15. A cordial invitation is extended to all brethren to visit the lodge.

THANKS.—We return warm thanks to all those gentlemen in this, and Mono county, for their promptness in sending us the returns of their respective precincts. To requite the obligation as far as practicable, we have sent out printed slips by every mail, giving in detail all returns previously received.

NEW GOHICLES.—A number of elegant new turnouts in the shape of buggies have lately been added to the good things of Inyo, including those of George Shedd, Dr. Bicknell, John Shepherd, V. G. Thompson and Mr. P. Reddy.

ON DIT.—It is expected our highly efficient District Attorney will soon commemorate his re-election by another of his recherche Piute reunions, and high orgies with the drunken dusky beauties.

THE New Coso Mining Company have put on another assessment of 50c per share, amounting to $50,000 dollars.

A MISUNDERSTANDING.—There seems to have been quite a misunderstanding about that volunteer carpenter work on the school house, the upshot tending to place Mr. Cartier, the carpenter alluded to last week as having "resigned," in a false position. Our knowledge of the matter consisted of two facts, viz: that it was stated in the published communication over the signature of the energetic lady who had the matter in hand that Mr. C., and other parties named had kindly volunteered to do certain work; second, that, after the other parties had performed their part, it was ascertained as a matter beyond dispute that Mr. C. was not going to do the work, consequently it would be necessary to issue a call for another volunteer or two, which was done. But we are now assured that Mr. C. never consented to do the work, having distinctly stated at the time his unwillingness to undertake so much of a job, as his other duties would not permit it, but would cheerfully contribute liberally in cash. It seems that his intentions were misinterpreted some way, notwithstanding all this, consequently both previous references in this connection have been equally out of place—innocently enough in the first instance, we do not doubt, proper enough in the second, provided there had been no mistake in the first; there was a mistake in that beyond question but, certainly, it was not ours. It is due to Mr. C. to add that he has frequently and freely done considerable work on this school house without charge, and is still willing to do so up to reasonable limits, and always up to the full extent of his agreement let the amount be what it may.

THE CERRO GORDO RETURNS.—We have, and publish elsewhere, the complete returns of Wednesday's election in every precinct far and near in the county, to say nothing of one of the most distant of Mono, save and except Cerro Gordo, which would be right under our noses if we had noses not to exceed 45 miles long. Now, ain't that a little remarkable, also about seven times more aggravating than it is remarkable? Will some fellow there rise up and explain and apologize and accept a promiscuous blessing, and give us to understand that Cerro Gordo wants to make a name for itself, all the same as Deep Spring did four years ago, when it held the balance of power on leading county officers, and no civilized man knew how it was for weeks after. Then, everybody had something partially complimentary to say about Deep Spring; for the first time everybody knew there was such a place as Deep Spring, and took comfort in telling what they thought of the manners and customs of its people. But such a hope of notoriety, if any such had been entertained as it wasn't, would be disappointed in this instance inasmuch as common report has given details enough to enable us to determine the fate of every candidate, if not to complete the table of results. In truth we are believe the returns were started for this office or place, but miscarried some how.

THE SHOTGUN AT BODIE.—A friend, writing from Bodie, on the 3d says: "Yesterday our town was startled by the report of a shotgun. 'B g Frank,' a notorious character was in Bryant & Co's store, and being a little full of whisky was flourishing a six-shooter, making threats and abusing people generally, when some of the employés of the firm called on Deputy Sheriff, one armed Davis, to arrest the offender. When requested to surrender by the officer he said that all the officers of the county couldn't arrest him, all the time flourishing his pistol. Officer Davis had to retire; getting his shotgun went back and demanded Frank to throw up his hands, but in reply made a spring for the officer's gun but was met by a charge of shot which took effect in the left breast, causing death instantly. Justice Cammeron held an inquest, and the jury's verdict was in accordance with the foregoing facts. To-day officer Davis waved an examination and has been taken to Bridgeport to await the action of the grand jury."

THE CONSTABLESHIP.—The votes fired at the office of Constable for this Township scattered, somewhat. In the course of the day it transpired that G. W. Brady and A. B. Kitchen had consented to become candidates, and accordingly they were regularly elected by 33 and 19 votes respectively—there being two to be chosen. Among the "scattering," however, were the following: Tom Webb, 4; A. W. Eibeshutz, 4; old Fairchilds, 4; Stauffer, 1; Al. Rose, 1; H. Levy, 1, Dave Thomas 1, and N. Rhine 1. An evening or so after the election a delegation of citizens met at Irwin's saloon and, through a chosen spokesman, formally presented Mr. Brady with an appropriate badge of office—a policeman's star, which he was expected to wear with becoming dignity while maintaining the peace. He accepied the compliment in terms to this effect: "You can all go to the d—l." Then there was some drinking at Brady's expense, and considerable uproarious fun.

THE SITUATION.—As mentioned heretofore, an effort was made at Bishop to organize a militia company. We regret to learn that it cannot be done for the reason that the State Militia is full, and therefore no other company can be accepted or supplied with State arms. This fact, together with the certainty of the lamentable scarcity of arms of any description in the valley, taken with the present defiant attitude of the Indians in Round Valley, not to mention instances in kind elsewhere, causes a great many to look upon the situation as decidedly grave.

NOTICEABLE.—Somehow, we find on making up for this issue that election day has really extended over almost the entire week. There wasn't a soul in anyway responsible for said make up either drunk or very idle. Nevertheless, the said make up is not near as satisfactory to us as it ought to be.

Indian Jerry Murdered by Indians.

At Round Valley, Saturday last, Jerry, an Indian citizen, was most brutally murdered by other Indians living in that vicinity, The facts appear to be about as follows: Along towards evening of that day Jerry proposed to Jasper Shipley to go over to the the Indian camp at the north end of the valley, to play poker. Shipley told Jerry that he did not believe it would be safe for him (Jerry) to go there, for reasons that will appear directly. Jerry said they would not hurt him; that he was was not afraid, so the two finally started in company with a number of Indians mounted belonging to that camp, and with whom Jerry had been engaged in gambling that afternoon. It was about 9 at night when the party arrived in the vicinity of the camp. Just before reaching the camp Shipley noticed that the Indians were endeavoring to keep him in the rear, stopping him to give them "tobac," and on other pretixts. By this means Jerry, and a portion of the Indians, got some yards in advance. The night was quite dark, so that nothing but outlines could be distinguished. While parleying about the tobacco, Shipley heard a thud as if a man was struck by a club or something of the kind, and soon after, Jerry's voice frantically calling, "Jas, come quick, for God's sake! They are killing me!" Shipley started to run to Jerry's assistance, but the surrounding Indians drew their revolvers, and told him to leave, saying. "White man say 'if we kill Jerry, white man kill Injun.' Now, you kill us right now." In the meantime, Shipley could hear the blows falling upon Jerry, and the latter's appeal for help. Shipley saw that his own life was in imminent danger, and while the whole party were crowding around where Jerry was being butchered, ran back on the trail some distance, till hearing horses running after him, he hid in the brush and staid there for some hours. Early the following morning the whites, having learned what had occurred, went to the camp finding the body literally hacked and pounded to pieces. A blow from an axe had cut from the mouth clear through the head, the top of which was also crushed in with a stone; both arms were broken, and altogether, it was a horribly mangled bit of humanity. By the body sat his wife; otherwise the camp was entirely abandoned.

Jerry was a Sioux Indian by birth, but had lived with a white family from infancy. He was a land owner and farmer, and in all respects ranked as a citizen and tax-payer, well liked and respected by the whites. He had married into this Round Valley tribe, and as a natural consequence, had also affiliated with them. His mahala died a year or two since; according to customs of the tribe it then became incumbent upon him to take another wife from the same family. This he refused to do, but took one of the same band but of another family, while yet there were several unmarried sisters of his deceased mahala. For this he became an object of dislike and suspicion in the band.

The Indians made no secret of their intention of killing him at the first opportunity. They made one or two very determined efforts to fulfill this threat, but, in each case he was saved by the whites. After they had butchered all their hereditary doctors, who were the very best men of their band, because of their inability to check the ravages of the measles epidemic of last year, they were notified by citizens of Round Valley and Bishop both that that sort of business must be stopped or the whites would take it up; they were further told that if they killed Jerry, as they were threatening, the whites would hang all the Indians implicated. It seems that, in addition to the enmity caused by Jerry's second marriage as above given, certain Indians, and it is said, a white man or two, took pains to kindle the flames against him by charging him with being a witch; that is, of being the cause of so many Indians being sick. This charge, together with the irritation caused by the expressed determination of the whites to protect Jerry, seems to have greatly exercised not only this particular band but others for a hundred miles around. That, in consequence, they were determined to kill him and defy the whites to do their worst. From this, it will be seen why this particular murder of an alleged Indian doctor becomes a matter of possibly very serious import. The murder was an agreed predetermination among all the Indians from Bishop Creek to Mono Lake, and in the face of the warning that the whites would surely avenge his death by hanging his murders and all concerned. The settlers in that section and elsewhere cannot but help look upon Jerry's murder as nothing else than a challenge for the whites to take up Jerry's cause if they dare. It is not surprising then that the occurrence has occasioned a great feeling and no little alarm.

Justice Alexander proceeded as soon after the murder was made known to him as possible to hold an inquest, with the view of issuing warrants for the arrest of the guilty parties under civil law. We cannot to highly commend this action and plan, and hope that no stone may be left unturned to show these Indians that the whites will hold them responsible for this diabolical deed as well as the defiance thereby implied. But nothing could be more ill advised than for citizens to attempt to do this in any other than a legal manner, the force and import of which is both understood and respected by most of these Indians.

SCHOOL ELECTION.—By the advertisement published elsewhere, it will be seen that Round Valley proposes to hold another election to raise a school tax. This is the second one for the same object, and is deemed necessary because the first, though decided favorably, was not held strictly in accordance with law, and is therefore to be repeated to avoid cavil.

A NICE OFFICIAL.—The other day at Aurora, F. Stahler, ex-County Commissioner of Esmeralda county was fined $75 and cost, with the alternative of one day for each $2, for selling lager beer to Indians. A high old ex.

The machinery and timbers are being prepared in San Francisco, the intention being to complete the works first and build over them afterwards. Whistling Girls.

I have known quite a number of whistling girls, and each one came to such a bad end, that I've a notion to give you some particulars. There is a law in China to punish any female above six years old who whistles, and there used to be a law in Scotland to the same effect. Husbands have been divorced from wives who whistled around the house, young men have broken engagements with young ladies who whistled over the front gate; and now let me tell you of the sad fate of several whistling girls.

Betty Clare, of Chicago, didn't chew gum, nor like molasses candy, nor tease for peanuts, but she whistled. She whistled "Yankee Doodle" when she got out of bed in the morning, and she whistled "Muldoon, the Solid Man" as she unlaced her shoes at night. Her mother boxed her ears, her father scolded, and her brothers made fun of her, but Betty went on whistling ballands, and waltzes, and good old tunes. Everybody predicted some dreadful fate and it finally came. She had opened her mouth one day for an extra whistle, when a big beetle flew into her throat and suffocated her. The wind now whistles over her grave, but it is all right for the wind to whistle.

Annie Handy, of Cincinnati, began whistling when seven years old, and at ten she could whistle faster and louder than a robin. Her mother was a widow, and many a time and oft did she warn the girl of the fate in store for her. Annie would stop for a day or two, but then the first thing she knew she would find herself whistling "Shoo Fly" or "The Girl I Left Behind Me." One day, when she was trying to whistle louder than a locomotive, her mouth puckered up, and couldn't be smoothed down again, and after a day or two lockjaw set in, and she died. A factory whistle now whistles near her grave, but that whistle's whistle is all right.

Celia Snow, of Toledo, lived with her aunt in Omaha for a year, and a young man out there learned her to whistle. She left Omaha whistling, "Going Home to Dixie," and arrived in Toledo whistling "No Place Like Home." Her mother was shocked, her father displeased, and her sisters sorry; but she continued to whistle in spite of all said and done. She whistled to strange dogs, until they howled in dismay, and she whistled to strange boys until they threw brickbats at the house. She lived only two years after becoming an accomplished whistler. She was one evening holding four hair-pins and two buttons in her mouth, to make her whistle sound like a canary's note, and some way they were sucked into her windpipe, and produced death. Bullets sometimes whistle over the cemetery in which she lies, but you can't stop bullets from whistling.

Now, girls, remember the old adage "that whistling girls and crowing hens will always come to some bad end."

Horses and Mules Eating Dirt.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune asks why horses and mules eat dirt when turned out of close stables, to which Prof. Low replies: "Most commonly the habit is an indication of acid in the stomach, and to be corrected by improving the digestive functions. Horses are at a special disadvantage in the matter of stomach complaints, inasmuch as they cannot rid themselves by vomiting of anything that disagrees, and are unable even to belch up accumulated gas. Then the stomach is much too small to allow of heavy feeding or the formation of much gas without injurious overdigestion, hence, of all domestic animals, the solipeds should be fed with the greatest care and judgment. Like human beings, they have their periods of acidity, or heartburn, and having no opportunity of taking soda or magnesia, they lick the lime from their walls, or the earth from their pathway. For temporary relief chalk may be kept in the manger, but we should seek to remove the radical evil by giving a better tone to the stomach. Feed sound grain and hay in moderate amount and at regular intervals, and don't drive or work hard an hour after each meal, lest digestion be impaired. Give a few carrots, turnips, or other roots, if available; water regularly, and never just after a meal, and put an ounce of common salt in the food or water daily. Any existing weakness should be corrected by a course of tonics such as oxide of iron, two ounces; calcined magnesia, two ounces; powdered nux vomica, one and a half drachms; powdered fennel seed, two ounces; mix. Divide into eight powders, and give one morning and night. The habit has been sometimes caused by a deficiency of mineral matters in the food grown on very poor soils, but this may be corrected by a similar treatment.

The Courts Against Polygamy.

Only one serious effort was ever made to break down the institution of polygamy by the aid of the Courts. During the year 1871 the Federal officials in Utah, headed by Chief-Justice McKean of the Supreme Court of the Territory, began an organized attack upon the polygamist, which necessarily involved a personal attack upon Brigham Young. At the September term of that Court, objections were made to the acceptance of several Mormons of prominence as grand jurors on the ground that they were living in open violation of the law of the land in practicing polygamy. Chief-Justice McKean rendered a characteristic decision, sustaining the challenges with a florid eloquence seldom heard on the bench, and combating the argument that polygamy was a religious practice, and could therefore claim the benefit of a religious toleration secured by the Constitution. He closed his opinion by declaring that "when the burglar is a fit juror to inquire into the crime of burglary; when the robber is fit juror to inquire into the crime of larceny; when the assassin is a fit juror to inquire into the crime of murder—then the bigamist who swears in substance that his crimes are his religion, may be a fit juror to inquire into the crimes of bigamy and adultery." The Judge concluded: "But, thanks to centuries of Christian civilization that time is not now; and judging from the steady progress of the human race, that time will never come." At the same term of court a number of prominent Mormons were indicted under a statute of the Territory, which prescribed a penalty of imprisonment (not exceeding ten years and not less than six months) and a fine to the crime of unlawful cohabitation or "open and gross lewdness." Brigham Young himself was among those indicted, as was also Daniel A. Wells, Mayor of Salt Lake City. Young was brought before the court on the 3d of October. Judge McKean refused to allow him to give bail, but granted him the privilege of being imprisoned in his own house. The Judge also overruled a motion to quash the indictment. One conviction was reached under these suits, that of Thomas Hawkins, whose first wife brought suit against him for adultery. He was sentenced to three years hard labor and a fine of $500, Judge McKean explaining that he did not wish his judgment to be "so severe as to seem vindictive, or so light as to seem to trifle with justice."

This passage from his speech in passing sentence was evidently aimed at the head of the Mormon Church: "My experience in Utah has been such that, were I to fine you only, I am satisfied the fine would be paid out of other funds than yours, and thus you would go free—absolutely free—from all punishment; and then those men who mislead the people would make thousands of others believe that God had sent the money to pay the fine; that God had prevented the Court from sending you to prison; that by a miracle you had been rescued from the authorities of the United States. I must look to it that my judgment gives no aid and comfort to such men." No other conviction was ever reached, either in these cases or in the indictments found subsequently against Young and others for the murder of Buck at Iron Springs, in 1857, about the time of the conflict with Cumming, the newly-appointed Territorial Governor. These indictments were evidently brought in the hope that they might help to break the Mormon leaders, but they came to nothing. The funds of the Court were insufficient to defray the expenses of these trials, and Judge McKean and Attorney-General Bates visited Washington and applied to Congress in December, 1871, for an appropriation. But such slight prospect as existed of their getting funds to carry on the war against Young was destroyed by a unanimous decision of the United States Supreme Court, reversing one of Judge McKean's test cases. In this he had advanced an absurd and fantastical theory to the effect that the Supreme Court of the Territory of Utah was in some way a part of, or allied to, the Supreme Court of the United States. The decision of the Court showed plainly that Judge McKean was either ignorant of the law, or willing to pervert it to gain his object, and the judicial crusade against Mormonism was over. It had never gained any great popular sympathy, as it was evidently a fight made by one faction in war upon another, rather than an honest attempt to do away with a great evil.

Some Astronomical Notes for September.

The chief event of the month is connected with planet Mars, of which we have heard so much during the past fortnight. Everybody now knows that, thanks to the big telescope at Washington, and the unusually near approach of Mars to the earth, two satellites or moons have been discovered circling around the firey planet. The inner moon is about 5,700 miles from the centre of Mars, or 3,700 miles from its surface, and revolves around the planet once in 7 hours 48¼ minutes. The outer moon is nearly 14,500 miles from Mars's centre, or 12,500 miles from its surface, and it goes round the planet once in 30 hours 14 minutes. Both moons are exceedingly small—probably not more than 100 miles in diameter. The average distance of Mars from the Sun is 139,270,000 miles. His distance from the Earth at the time of the discovery of his satellites was 35,500,000 miles. Sometimes he comes as near us as 34,000,000 miles, when he shines with exceeding brilliancy; and then is nearly as far off as 250,000,000 miles, and is so small as to be practically invisible. The diameter of Mars is 4,155 miles. A day there is thirty-seven and a half minutes longer than a day here, but a year in Mars is 687 of our days. The Earth travels around the Sun at the rate of 1,092 miles in a minute. Mars does not go quite so fast—only 883 miles a minute; but that is very much faster than a cannon-ball. Fancy a big ball like the Earth or Mars hurled from New York to San Francisco in three or four minutes! And how much bigger the Sun is than either Mars or our own little planet, since it would take 319,000 earths, or three million balls as large as Mars, to make one Sun. On September 5, at 6:44 P. M., Mars is in opposition to the Sun, rising when the Sun sets, crossing the meridian at midnight, and shining with his greatest brightness. He is at his nearest approach to us on September 2, when his distance from the Earth is 34,400,000 miles. On September 6, 1878, he will be at his greatest distance from the Earth during that year, or 243,000,000 miles. Mars is still on the borders of Aquarius. He rises at 7 h. 9 m. on September 1, and at 4 h. 54 m. on the last day of the month.

The Sun is rapidly retreating to the South, and at 6 P. M., of the 22d, crosses the equator, when Autumn commences. On the 7th there is a partial eclipse of the Sun visible only in South America. Mars is in opposition to the Sun on the 5th, Saturn on the 9th, and Jubiter is in quadrature with the Sun—or 90 deg. distant—on the 17th. The path of the Sun during September passes through the Lion and a part of the Virgin. Jupiter is still in the Archer and souths at sunset. Saturn is near Mars, and his dull, leaden hue contrasts strongly with the brilliancy of his fellow-traveler. In reality, Saturn is some 800 times as large as Mars, and he only looks so much smaller because he is so much farther away. His distance from the Earth on September is 790,300,000 miles.

The early part of the month is a good time to look out for Mercury just after sunset. He may be found a little below Venus, which is now beginning to be brighter in the Western sky. The Moon starts on her mighty circuit in the Bull, and is rapidly approaching the Sun, passing through the Twins on the 2d and 3d, through the Crab on the 4th, and entering the Lion on the 5th. On the 8th it begins to reappear in the Virgin, and is very near Mercury that evening. It is near Spica on the 9th, is approaching Antares on the 12th, has just passed Jupiter on the 14th, enters the Archer on the 15th, the Horned Sea Goat on the 17th, and is near Mars and Saturn on the 20th.

The principal stars visible now in the evening, outside of those which, circling near the North Pole, never set, are Arcturus, Vega, Altair, Antares, Alpherat, Markab, Algol, Capella, and Fomalhaut. Following these are Hamel, Aldebaran, Aleyone, Bettelguenx, Rigel, Caster, Pollux, Procyon, and Sirius. Among the constellations which are now prominent early in the morning are Orion, The Ram, The Bull and The Twins.—"O. F." in New York Tribune.

EX-GOVERNOR PACKARD has gone out of politics, and spends all his time feeling the gums of the twins for teeth, and trying to teach them to talk. And when the twins are simultaneously smitten with the worst kind of nocturnal anticonciliation colic, Packard just sits up in bed and holds both his hands over his ears, and says: "Merciful heavens! This is worse than the river parishes."—Burlington Hawkeye.

"MUSING on the infinite, eh?" said a facetious chap to a melancholly looking individual who was walking along the roadside with bowed head and serious countenance, "Well, yes; same thing—thinking of my debts.

Battle Echoes from Montana.

The New North West publishes the following incidents in connection with the fighting at Big Hole: A negro boy, servant of Lieut. Jacobs, who was back with the train, was put on camp guard after the train came up and given the Lieutenant's shotgun loaded with No. 6 shot. During the night he saw some men a short distance off and hailed them. "Who dar? Who dar?" and immediately blazed away with both barrels, wounding two of the command whom he had mistaken for Indians.

Otto Leifer was shot by a comrade in his rear—an act of gross carelessness.

A white man was found in one of the Indian teepees during the battle, and was killed with those he had chosen to cast his fortunes.

Sergeants Daley and Fredericks, Corporal Sailes, Bennett, driver, and privates Gould and McGregory (the two last the missing men) were with the howitzer when the Indians attacked it. The Sergeants were wounded, the Corporal killed, and the horses being shot one fell on the driver—Bennett—a veteran of 35 years service. He called to McGregory for a knife, but the latter fled exclaiming, "This is another Custer massacre." One of the Sergeants then handed Bennett a knife, with which he cut the harness, and then plunged the knife hilt deep in the horse and got from under him as he made the death struggle, and struck out for the brush, with balls whistling around him like bees in a bonnet.

Capt. Logan and Lieut. Bradley fell at the first fire.

Having passed the Bitter Root in safety, the Indians seemed not to have apprehended danger from that quarter, and Gibbon's daring night march and surprise seem to have unnerved them, or White Bird would have rallied the braves to charge on the intrenchments and—well—few, if any, would have been left to tell the tale.

An Indian scout recognized two of Joseph's wives and a daughter of Looking Glass among the slain.

It is said that many of the squaws used rifles and revolvers with considerable success in the fight; also young bucks of twelve and thirteen years did nearly as well as their elders. With these additions to the regular Indian force the odds against Gibbon was fearful.

The Indian scouts that came with Howard dug up many of the Indians buried by Gibbon and scalped and robbed them of clothing, jewelry, etc. Howard ordered them reinterred.

Capt. Rawn, Post Commander at Missoula, was in the thickest of the fight on Big Hole, and is highly spoken of by officers and men, not only for good fighting qualities, but for the alacrity with which he shared in every danger. It now seems that his judgment in deferring the attack at Lo Lo until the arrival of reinforcements was also good.

Judge Bradley and the Electoral Commission—Judge Field Criticised.

The Newark Advertiser, whose editor is a personal friend of Supreme Judge Bradley, referring to Justice Field's recent alleged insinuations that Bradley's original opinion was against Hayes' title to the Presidency, says Judge Field nagged John Bradley during all that trial. He worked in the interest of Tilden with an untiring zeal and entire disregard of the courtesies of the Bench. He haggled and pumped: he was indecent in his attempts. Doubtless he got on all sides of the argument and every phase of constitutional law, and exhausted every possibility to attempt to ascertain what might be an honest decision from Judge Bradley. But he never in any moment pumped so deep that he found water. How did Judge Field know that there was, especially, 17 carriages that night at Judge Bradley's door, and who were their occupants? Was that the proper function of Judge Field? Did he sit on the curbstone and see who came? There was no politician who so persistently and impertinently followed Judge Bradley as Judge Field himself. Six months have passed since we have had a communication, direct, or indirect, spoken or written, with Judge Bradley upon this topic, and then his every word rang with purity of heart and honesty of purpose. At that time his waste basket was filled with letters threatening assassination as cowardly and Tildenish as man could write them. He was without personal motive in the fight. All that he cared for was the judicial ermine. Can any person under heaven tell why Judge Bradley should have acted otherwise than as he did? He may be construed as controlled by bias of political opinion; in other words, by personal opinions of political motive and constitutional law. We grant that he was dealing with the law, and, if he had no opinion, he had no right to pronounce one. He did pronounce it, and he spoke in solemn certainty. The Advertiser is not Judge Bradley's organ. With him, as with others, we speak whereof we do know, and we do know that the Florida question was considered and held in doubt and looked at in all its aspects as the crucial problem of the controversy, and we are solemnly inclined to believe that Judge Field pettifogged that case with his learned brethern on the bench with more zeal than he ever manifested in a patent case. The Field family were supremely active just then. They are men of hopeful temperament, and it is possible that one Justice of the Supreme Court in trying to pump another got slightly mistaken. If he did, it was his own fault. His own conduct was unbecoming of a Judge.

DEPRIVE yourself of nothing necessary to your comfort, but live in an honorable simplicity.

WHEN President Hayes was in Newport he slept under a satin bed-quilt once used by Washington. He has sent the following letter to Concord Ellery, of Newport, R. I.:—"I write to thank you for the honor of sleeping under the beautiful historic quilt once used by Washington in Newport many years ago. The quilt, the cordial welcome of the good people of Rhode Island, the many pleasant surroundings, all combined to secure sweet sleep and pleasant dreams."

THE RESULT.

Enough is now known of the result of the late election to show that the next Legislature will be sufficiently Democratic to satisfy the worst Bourbon on the coast. The Senate stands: 28 Democrats, 11 Republicans, and 1 Independent. Assemblymen: 54 Democrats, 27 Republicans and 1 Independent; on joint ballot, Democrats, 82; Republicans, 36; Independents, 2; Democratic plurality on joint ballot, 48. The Bay papers for some reason not at all apparent, count the member elect for this and Mono county as a Republican—which he ain't—and thereby figure up the Democratic plurality at 46.

GETS HIS DESERTS.—A. J. Davis, better known as Jack Davis, was killed while attempting to rob the stage between Eureka and Tybo on the night of the 3d. Davis and two pals went to Willows Station a short time before the stage was expected along and tied up all the men about the place. When the stage drove up Davis ordered Eugene Blair, Wells Fargo's messenger, to "get down and surrender or I'll kill you." Blair jumped down and commenced shooting, Davis closing in upon him soon after. At that juncture James Brown, another messenger yet on the stage, fired at Davis, who fell, and said he would give up. One of the other robbers fired at Brown wounding him in the leg; both then run, making good their escape. Davis lived but a few hours, refusing to divulge the names of his partners to the last. He was a noted robber, having been the leader in the famous railroad robbery at Verdi, for which he was sentenced to ten years in the Nevada State Prison, but was pardoned out at the end of five years. Blair and Brown, the messengers, get high praise for their pluck. Blair has had considerable experience of the same kind before, one with this same Jack Davis, and has always come out first best.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The Tybo correspondent of the Belmont Courier makes some comments on the question of public schools which are eminently sound. The following sensible remarks are from his well-guided pen: "The common school system of America is the bulwark of its liberties. Abolish this system, or allow sectarianism to control it or have a hand in the direction of its affairs, and you sap, so to speak, the very foundation upon which rests the glorious superstructure of both American freedom and American greatness. Intelligence, like vigilance, is the price of independence. There is no other country outside of this, except Prussia, perhaps, that provides such magnificent educational advantages for its youth of both sexes as does America. Wherever a community establishes itself, even amidst the dreary wastes of Sageland, there is sure to be found a temple of learning. A good education, as a general thing, is the stepping-stone to greatness in almost every phase of life and especially so in this country."

IOWA GUBERNATORIAL NOMINATION. Hon. Jno. P. Irish, of the State Press, of Iowa City, is the Democratic nominee for Governor of the Hawkeye State. He is an old-time confrere of the members of this institution, and of course has THE INDEPENDENT'S warm indorsement as the man of large brain and profound acquirements that he is. We predict a terrific onslaught upon the 35,000 Republican majority in Iowa, if not his triumphant election. John H. Gear, of Des Moines, is the Republican candidate.

ONE day last week a tired looking man, with the smell of the swamp upon his garments, came sneaking into Tallahassee with the returns of the backest county in Florida. They gave the State to Buchanan and Breckenridge by an overwhelming majority.

AN artesian well has been bored at the paper mill in Stockton 210 feet in four hours and a quarter. The borer is not taken up, but the water is forced up through its two lips, the pipe being hollow. The instrument is known as the Hass well borer.

IT is announced that a large number of national banks in the East are reducing their capital. In common with all other banking houses, commercial and savings, they have felt the stress of the weather and are forced to reduce sail.

THE estate of the muchly wived and copiously children surrounded Brigham Young, is valued at $2,000,000. The proceeds of the Mountain Meadow massacre were a great addition to his wealth.

BACKBONE NEEDED.

Isn't it remarkable that the all important railroad or fares and freight question cut such a trifling figure in the election canvass just past? Except in Los Angeles, it has scarcely been referred to. Perhaps it was because the newspapers and politicians were too full of the Chronicle-Sargent fight to think of anything else. Under cover of that fight nearly every Legislative candidate made his run without challenge on the railroad question. How many of the veriest corporation tools have thus been smuggled in remains to be seen. It is remarkable indeed that this great question should have been so completely ignored. The meanness of the great railroad company is cropping out all around. It is threatening the very existence of our hitherto most promising southern city. But for the fact that the ocean route is also under control of this same anaconda, Los Angeles, the city referred to, could ship her farm products first to San Francisco by sea, then load it on the cars, send it back in sight of the starting point, and on out to the Colorado, its market and original destination, for less money than it could send the same on the cars of this same company direct, and only one-eighth the distance. Such is the discrimination in favor of San Francisco and against this once flourishing city of the southern coast, that with the latter it is really becoming a struggle for existence. That is not the only channel by which this railroad company gives vent to its innate meanness. It robs its own employés like a veritable thief. According to the Virginia Enterprise it has just paid its employés on the Central Pacific another month's wages in silver. This is a deliberate swindle of from five to eight per cent. It is literally a robbery. The highwayman meets his man on the road and takes his money by force. This is precisely what the Central Pacific Company does. The single victim has to give up his money or his life; the employé is obliged to give up a portion of his wages or his place. Those accumulated wrongs will some time cause an insurrection on this coast which will cost more than all that has been saved by the petty larceny devices of corporations. From the first the Central Pacific Company has been most severe on employés. It has worked them long hours and given them the lowest possible wages. We are told that the individuals composing the railroad company are all heavy owners of government bonds, and that every one of them looks upon the proposition to pay those bonds in silver as an outrage which would justify an open rebellion. And yet the obligation of the government to pay those bonds in gold is certainly not more than is the obligation of that company to keep its covenants with the men who lead perilous lives to carry on their employer's business. The owners of the road are building costly homes in San Francisco. Those homes are in daily jeopardy because of the roving hoodlums of the street. Had the company commenced ten years ago and put a hundred of those hoodlums in school yearly, and when a generous education had been given them, furnished them situations on their roads, the San Francisco hoodlum would, by this time, have lost his terrors. But they would not do it, and, looking over the coast, we cannot find where that company has ever performed one act to endear it to the people. They have simply levied perpetual tribute on the people of the coast. The result is that they are very rich. They have the finest houses, horses and wines on the coast, but they are obliged to go to sleep every night with the thought in their minds that if they die before dawn—outside of their immediate families—there will not be a tear shed for them, and they will be no more missed than would any ten of the men who, for honest work, they cheat by paying them in silver.

The right of Legislatures to legislate to crush out these crying evils is beyond question. But we have never yet had one that had the ability and courage to do it. The conditions under which the present one was put up and elected does not give us much grounds to hope for material improvement in this regard. There is not a leading paper in the State that dare back them should they undertake it. It will devolve upon the country press, and country members to urge on this work, or nothing will be done. If something of the kind is not soon done or begun in dead earnest, the people of this coast will be reduced to absolute serfdom as regards all these political and commercial rights, standing in any degree counter to those asserted by these great corporations, mining and others as well as railroads, the most exacting of all.

A NASHVILLE paper publishes a list of eighty criminals of Tennessee now at large, and for whose arrest rewards amounting to $30,000 are offered.

THERE are 811 railroads in the United States, of which only 196 pay dividends.

VICK'S new Illustrated Monthly Magazine, which is an enlargement and improvement of the Floral Guide, will commence on the first of January next, but the first number will be ready to send to subscribers on the first day of December. Each number will contain thirty-two pages of reading matter, numerous fine wood-cut illustrations, and one colored plate. It will be printed on the finest paper, and will be in all respects a beautiful floral or garden magazine, giving the fullest and simplest directions for the culture of flowers and vegetables. The price is barely above cost, being only $1 25 a year. Send to Jas. Vick, Rochester, N. Y.

SPEAKING of the India famine, a correspondent of the Christian World says, "English people here only suffer in their pockets; their tables are well spread day by day, though bills amount up with more than ordinary rapidity. But to multitudes around us each day brings starvation, disease and death. One of our newspapers the other day anticipated that the mortality of the next three months would be increased a million and a quarter by the famine. I think it very probable this may be so. It is a terrible time, and my heart often sinks to see poor wretches, who have come into the town from the villages around, lean, gaunt and dying."

REVOLUTION IN LOWER CALIFORNIA. A San Diego press dispatch says the Secretary of La Frontera, Lower California, and Pedro Badillo, who only a few hours ago escaped to this side of the line by hard riding, report the whole frontier in a statement of revolution. A party of fifty armed men, armed to the teeth, rode to Badillo's ranch, where the Secretary was staying. An Indian boy gave the alarm and they barely escaped with their lives, coming directly to San Diego. The effect of this is feared as to the Elliott boys, who have not as yet been delivered across the line, but were expected to be on their way about this time.

INCREASE OF THE ARMY.—Public sentiment in favor of a more liberal provision for the regular army is being wonderfully quickened by the fact that Sitting Bull's fighting force outnumbers all the troops that the Government can put in the field against him, and Joseph, if the expected junction of the savage chieftains shall be effected. This spectacle and the lessons of the strikers' riots have stimulated propositions for an army increase of fifty per cent. It is proposed to vest in the President discretionary powers to temporarily increase the force when necessary.

GOOD authority states positively that paint spread in the Fall or Winter will last twice as long as that put on in the Spring or Summer. When applied in cool or cold weather, it dries slowly and forms a hard surface or crust, while that which is spread in the hot weather loses most of the oil by being driven into the wood by the heat, leaving only a dry lead, easily crumbled off. Another advantage gained in Fall painting is the absence of small flies that so often collect on the paint.

CONFIDENCE in Egyptian recuperation has been impaired by the refusal of the Khedive to repay $800,000 advanced by the Bank of Egypt, without security, to pay the interest on coupons and save the credit of the Goverement when in dire distress.

THE WAR.—The Russians have taken Plevna and other cities, after series of tremendous battles, and at this time the advantage seems to be decidedly in their favor.

THE Mississippians are taking measures to induce Northern workingmen to emigrate to that State. It is probable that a colony will go from Indianapolis.

WHAT CAUSED THE NEZ PERCES OUTBREAK.—Many theories have been advanced and many adventures have been told in answer to this question, but here we have an Indian version, which has not yet been in print. The Nez Perces and their friends collected, as they semi-annually do, upon Camas prairie to gamble and run horses. Sometimes, too, a marriage takes place, and it is then they usually have a "way up" time. At their last meeting everything went on as before, but, says the Indian, they had liquor there, and that caused hard words among themselves. One Indian, who was engaged to a young maiden from the Umatilla reservation, was considerably enraged by sundry taunts from his half drunken comrades. They told him the girl would never be his squaw because he was a coward, as he had never yet killed a white man. Then they bantered him, and even bet him, that he dare not do it, because his heart was "skukum," and that he was afraid. He stood it for some time, but presently went away, and no one cared. Toward evening he returned to the camp and yelled: "Now I have killed a Boston man!" And he proved it. They went back to the house and found the dead man, but all was quiet and deserted. He kept a store and the Indians began helping themselves from the shelves. They also found some liquor and all drank freely, because a strange feeling pervaded them, and they said, "liquor will drive it out." That night they killed three more white men, and with one accord shouted the war whoop. And this is the way, says the Indian, the war began.—Portland Standard.

CLOSE AFTER HIM.—Goodale hurried Fowler up considerably over there in Tulare, the home of the latter, Fowler having but one majority. In Kern his majority is reported at 116. We have nothing definite from Fresno. If Inyo had done as she ought in this matter and as we believe she would if the thing was now to be done over again, this sagebrush region would have had its first State Senator, and Fowler would have been elected to stay at home.

ENCOURAGING accounts are given of the grain crop in the Great West. Estimates are to the effect that Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin and Kansas will this year turn out 117,000,000 bushels of wheat as against 93,000,000 bushels in 1875, and 61,000,000 in 1876.

THE Washington Monument is still sinking. If twenty centuries should ever look down from its summit, their chief wonder will be what has become of its base.

NINETEEN times within the last hundred years the Russians have crossed the Danube with hostile intent, without including the present crossing.

Partners in Mines.

A matter of great importance to any person who is going to apply for a patent on a lode where there were at one time partners, but the partners having failed to perform their proportion of the annual work, is at the time of application an individual enterprise, will be found in the recent decision of the Department of the Interior given below:

Proof required in application for patents, where proceedings were had against co-owners of a mine who failed to pay their share of the required expenditure under section 2324 of the Revised Statutes. Full decision as follows:

"Where a party proceeds against one or more of his co-owners under section 2324 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, he must file with his application for patent a copy of the original notice of location and abstract of all conveyances made of the claim; a copy of the notice published to delinquent co-owners (which notice should embrace the names of all delinquents), to which must be attached the affidavit of the publishers of the paper in which the notice was inserted, that the attached notice was published for 90 consecutive days (giving dates); the affidavit of the claimant or claimants who have made the required expenditures (corroborated by the sworn statement of two or more disinterested witnesses), showing the character and extent of the claim, and the time when such improvements were made. There must also be filed the sworn statement of the claimant or claimants who have made the required expenditures as to whether or not either of the parties whose names appear in such published notice contributed his proportion of the required expenditure either during the 90 days' notice by publication or the succeeding 90 days. The evidence must be full, positive and explicit on all these points.

PETER CLINTON, a Mormon Justice of the Peace, has been indicted at Salt Lake for complicity in the infamous assassination of Dr. Robinson in that city several years ago. Dr. Robinson, a gentile, had located some Government land in the suburbs of Salt Lake, on which there were afterwards discovered some valuable sulphur springs. The Church ring wanted these valuable lots, and Brigham Young prophesied that the shortest way to get possession was to assassinate the owner or drive him thence. Dr. Robinson refused to sell, and could not be frightened out of town. One night a band of "destroying angels" came to his house; one rang the door-bell, telling the Doctor he was wanted to see a patient. As the Doctor stepped out of the door he was riddled with bullets, and the cowardly assassins fled. At last they are being brought to trial. There are letters in evidence against Clinton and Brigham Young, Jr.—San Bernardino Argus.

BRIGHAM YOUNG'S BOARD BILL. Brigham Young was a good house and sign painter, and followed his trade for some time in Port Byron, Cayuga county, New York before joining Joseph Smith. A few of the old signs over stores and warehouses, are still to be seen in that little canal village, were from his skillful fingers. He left there in debt to many. Among these debts was one for a considerable amount, to old Squire Pine, for board. Many years afterward Young sent back his son John W., from Utah, to pay his old debts. Squire Pine, then a very poor old man, nearly lost his senses over $630 in gold coin, his old forgotten claim against Brigham Young, with compound interest at ten per cent. The payment of these debts came near converting the whole town to Mormonism.

HYPOSULPHITE IN DIPHTHERIA.—A very large number of diphtheria cases are cited by a Boston physician as having been successfully treated, in his own practice, by the use of hyposulphite of soda, in doses of from 5 to 15 grains or more in syrup every two or three hours, according to the age and circumstances; as much as the patient can bear without physicking being a good rule in the severer cases. The tincture can be used in doses of five drops to half a drachm, in milk, the amount for thorough stimulation being greater than can be taken in water; and, in the treatment of children, the milk thus used answers for food. As, however, the hyposulphite prevents the digestion of milk, it should not be given in less than an hour from it, though they may be used alternately in frequent doses.

SAID a Poughkeepsie alderman to a Kingston alderman after a Centennial introduction: "Where's Hall?" "What Hall," said Kingston alderman. "Alcohol," replied Poughkeepsie. "Oh," said Kingston, "he's with John." "What John?" said Poughkeepsie. "Demijohn," said Kingston, and then both crawled into the hold of a canal boat and died.—Poughkeepsie Eagle.

THE racket between ex-Judge Hilton and the Jews recalls the famous tilt between O'Connell and Disraelli. The Irishman taunted the Jew with being a "lineal descendant of the impenitent thief on the cross." Disraelli's answer is not so well known. He conclusively replied that "one half of Christendom worshipped a Jew and the other half a Jewess."—Boston Journal.

The coinage of San Francisco Mint in August amounted to $6,652,000, in 2,570,000 pieces. There were 253,000 double eagles, 1,329,000 trade dollars, and $273,000 in subsidiary silver.

Ex-President Thiers, of France, is dead.

A DILEMMA.—A strong argument against the Chinese is that they are not citizens and do not intend to become such, the inference being that they come here as aliens, without the expectation of remaining longer than is required to obtain a Chinese fortune. Now, if the Chinese really wished to take out naturalization papers and to file certificates of intention and exercise the right of suffrage, they would be met with a storm of abuse quite as strong. If they don't vote they are aliens who have no interest in common with us. If they do, they are a herd of ignorant coolies driven upto the polls by the managers of the great companies. Nice arrangement, isn't it? John evidently understands the situation and holds aloof from expressing his opinion as to the selection of candidates. If he should ever attempt to mix in politics he knows he would be worse than an alien. He would be an intruder. One of his kind qualified and voted in this city at the last election. If his example had been followed by a dozen or so of his brethern there would have been a row. As it was, the case passed unnoticed.—Stock Report.

HARD LUCK.—We have heard of no greater misfortune during the whole of the campaign just ended, than that which happened to our esteemed compatriot, Mickey Free. For thirteen days previous to the election, during which he enjoyed temporary freedom from the chain gang, Mickey restrained every baser impulse of his nature, and refrained from the intoxicating bowl. More than fifty chances were offered him to get drunk as a lord, but he scorned them all, and kept in a tolerable state of sobriety for the sole purpose of depositing his vote to-day. Finally, at the last hour of the last day of his probation, he was tempted and fell—Mickey drank himself blind drunk and was locked up in the cooler. The trouble was that he could not stand the anticipated excitement. Mickey's 1 st remnant of faith in human nature is now irretrievably lost, and he swears that he will never more try to keep sober; no, never!—Los Angeles Express.

WE have noticed that many of our exchanges, in speaking of Mohave county, spell it "Mojave." The latter is the Spanish spelling of the name, and Camp Mojave is officially known as "Mojave." But in speaking of the county, "Mohave" is the correct spelling; as the name is so spelled in the Act creating the county, and so appears upon its records. So with "Hualpai" and "Wallapai." Camp Hualpai, in this county, was recognized by that name by the military authorities, but in organizing the mining district, which is named after the Wallapai Indians, the miners enacted that the district should be known as "Wallapai" district. There was, at the time, considerable discussion as to the orthography of the name, but it was finally decided to discard the Spanish spelling and adopt a phonetic English one. In this they succeeded, with the exception of the last syllable, which is pronounced "pi" and spelt "pai."—Arizona Enterprise.

BERMUDA GRASS.—We notice that the Bermuda grass, which at one time grew only in one locality here, is generally spreading to the back streets of the town, and seems likely to displace salt grass. It has a strong resemblence to the latter, possessing its desirable qualities, and likely to prove much more healthy in time of drouth. It is a sweet and nutricious grass, and it is said that the joints and roots will sprout like an onion after being thoroughly dried. We believe the first sample was brought here by Joseph H. Thomas.—Visalia Iron Age.

DIED AFTER ELECTION.—A dispatch received here from Placerville gives information that Col. William Jones died at that place from a paralytic stroke. Jones was a candidate on the Republican ticket of El Dorado county for Assemblyman, and had been elected by over 100 majority. During the day he had been in apparent good health and at night he retired, and in the morning he was found dead.—Record-Union, Sept. 7.

DOWN TO A FINE POINT.—The lowest priced stock ever sold at in a stock board was sold on Tuesday last at the Nevada Exchange. Four thousand shares of the "Southern Cross" changed hands at a trifle over one-eighth of a cent a share. The whole 4,000 shares brought $6 50! Who wouldn't buy stocks at that figure?—Eureka Sentinel.
